Hinebaugh Files Suit Against County Officials

A 16-page law suit was filed this morning in Garrett County Circuit Court by John E. Hinebaugh, Sang Run, against the Garrett County Commissioners, County Clerk Robert Fousck, and the Gress Equipment Company, Frostburg. Robert Watson is serving as Hinebaugh's attorney.

The suit concerns the county's method of purchasing machinery in the fall of 1993, which Hinebaugh maintains was done in a manner contrary to county law.

At a press conference about the suit held this morning at 11:45 a.m., Watson stated that the defendants in the case did not answer a demand letter, sent over a week ago, that requested, in part, that the purchase contract be voided. This prompted the filing of the suit this morning.

Hinebaugh stated at the press conference that he had no political motives in filing the suit, but rather took interest in the case out of a sense of civic duty. He went on to say that this suit should set an example that county officials must obey the law.

Watson remarked that if the defendants meet the demands of the suit, the suit will be dismissed.

In a letter faxed to Watson's office during this morning's press conference, County Attorney Gorman Getty asked Watson to delay filing the suit until Sept. 9. Getty explained that he needed more time to review the suit. However, the case had already been filed.

On the county's machinery purchase described in the suit, Hinebaugh, who commented that he had worked as a contract consultant for many years, stated, "I have never witnessed a procurement that has been this lax."

Over $4,000 In Building Items Reported Stolen

The theft of over $4,000 in construction materials from a building site is currently being investigated by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office. According to Detective R. Shaffer, the items were taken from a house under construction in Kitzmiller.

ONE WOMAN REMAINS HOSPITALIZED from injuries she received in this two-vehicle mishap last Friday afternoon on Rt. 219, north of Oakland. Betty Lipscomb, 63, Davis, W.Va., an occupant of the vehicle shown above, is listed in "fair" condition at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, according to a hospital spokesperson. The driver of the vehicle, Marie Smigel, 70, also of Davis, was hospitalized at Garrett Memorial, but has since been released. According to Maryland State Police, Barrack W. McHenry, Smigel was traveling north on Rt. 219 when she pulled into the path of a southbound vehicle, as she attempted to make a left turn near Brodus's store. The driver of the other vehicle, Suzanne Ryan, Min. Lake Park, was reportedly treated and released at Garrett Memorial. Smigel was cited for failure to yield right of way following the 3:48 p.m. mishap. Also responding to the scene were members of the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department and Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad.

BIRDSEED THIEF SIGHTED - Don and Jeanne Larsen, two Virginia natives who maintain a summer house on the North Glade Cove of Deep Creek Lake, were surprised recently to find this black bear eating from their birdfeeder. The Larsens suspect that the furry visitor climbed a nearby tree to gain access to their deck, which does not have stairs to the ground. After reaching the high porch, the bear "perched" on the railing and enjoyed a dinner of birdseed. Before it ambled off, the Larsens noted that the bear was tagged on both ears.

Commemoration Of World War II To Begin September 23 At GCC

The year-long Commemoration of World War II set as the theme for the new academic year at Garrett Community College will begin with a convocation September 23 in the college auditorium at which former Secretary of the Army John O. Marsh Jr. will be the keynote speaker. The Convocation is the first of two programs planned for September which will focus on "Great Events of the War."

Garrett Community College President Dr. Steve Herman will open the Convocation at 10 a.m. with a brief welcome. Secretary Marsh will speak at 10:15 on "The War that Changed the World." Following that he will present a workshop on three National Guard units from this area that were at Normandy on D-Day June 6, 1944. Marsh, a veteran of World War II and former four-term Congressman from the 6th district of Virginia, is a recognized authority on military history.

Following a break for lunch, two other noted historians will do presentations on other events of the War. Paul Stillwell, head historian of the U.S. Naval Institute, will present "The Japanese Attack on Pearl Harbor" and Karl Larew, professor of history at Tow-

The first will be the serving of an Oktoberfest meal at the Oakland fire hall along Third Street the afternoon of Thursday, Oct. 13. Tickets for German-style food and beverages will go on sale at the fire hall at noon that day and the meal will be served from 4 until 7:30 p.m.

The meal will be followed by the annual Autumn Glory Firemen's Parade at 7 p.m., featuring bands, drill teams, fire equipment, antique fire apparatus, and rescue equipment from as far away as 200 miles. Participating departments will be judged in several categories prior to the parade. Judging will be held at the Farmers Market parking lot along Rt. 219 just north of Oakland from 5:30 p.m. until parade time.

After the parade will be the annual Oktoberfest Celebration at the fire hall, an event that will include more German-style food and beverages and music by the OVID Oktoberfest Band. Blaze Destroys Friendsville Area Residence

A fire of unknown origin destroyed a Friendsville area house early Saturday evening.

Volunteer fire fighters from Friendsville, Deep Creek, and Bittinger fire departments were summoned to the Terry Nottingham residence at 5:23 p.m. Upon their arrival they found the wood-frame structure fully involved in flames. No one was home at the time, according to Jim Martin, fire investigator for Allegany and Garrett counties.

Some 50 volunteers battled the blaze for over three hours. The structure and most of the contents were destroyed, as the loss was estimated to be $40,000.

Also responding to the scene were tanker units from the Addison, Terra Alta, and Bruceton Mills VFDs, as well as the Northern Rescue Squad. There were no injuries reported.

Martin said that the origin of the fire is still under investigation.

Grantsville Youth Killed When Struck By Truck At Bus Stop

Garrett County's return to school this week was marred by tragedy Wednesday afternoon, when a 6-year-old Grantsville boy was struck and killed after he stepped from a school bus along Rt. 219.

Thomas Firl Maust II, a first grade student at Grantsville Elementary School, died from injuries he sustained in the 3:32 p.m. accident. According to a report filed by Tfc. C.E. Goldstrom, Maryland State Police, Barrack W. McHenry, the child apparently exited the school bus and was struck by a dump truck. He was transported to Meyersdale (Pa.) Community Hospital, where he was pronounced dead.

The dump truck, operated by Thomas Humberston, 31, Grantsville, was traveling south on Rt. 219 when the accident occurred, just north of the Hilltop Inn, near Grantsville. According to written reports, the truck then swerved into the opposite lane, and struck a car that attempted to avoid the accident. The car went onto the shoulder of the road and collided with the truck. Humberston was not injured.

The driver of the car, Mary Knecht, 26, and her passenger, Hobbie Klink, 25, both of Salisbury, Pa., were transported to Cumberland Memorial Hospital. Knecht is listed in "serious" condition, according to a hospital spokesperson, and Klink was not listed as a patient.

The police report indicated the school bus driver, Thomas Bender, 66, Grantsville, apparently pulled the bus to the side of the road, but failed to put on the emergency flashers.

Traffic on Rt. 219 was at a standstill until about 6 p.m. following the tragedy. Also on the scene were personnel from the Finzel Weigh Station, because a dump truck was involved in the accident, the State Highway Administration, a commercial vehicle reconstruction specialist, the Grantsville Volunteer Fire

McHenry Area Rated Among Top Vacation Home Areas In Nation

Century 21 Real Estate Corporation, the world's largest real estate sales organization, announced this week its annual list of the top 21 residential real estate markets for vacation homes in the United States, and McHenry was among those 21.

The McHenry area was one of four listed in the Northeast region, along with Nantucket, Mass.; Lake Placid, N.Y.; and Penn Yan, N.Y.

Other top vacation markets identified, by region, are: West - Sedona, Ariz.; Vail, Colo.; McCall, Idaho; Kalispell, Mont.; Bend, Ore.; Ogden, Utah; and Jackson Hole, Wyo.; Midwest - Boyne City, Mich.; Grand Rapids, Minn.; Lake of the Ozarks, Mo.; and Siren, Wis.; and South - Hot Springs, Ark.; Amelia Island, Fla.; Key Biscayne, Fla.; St. Simons Island, Ga.; Emerald Isle, N.C.; and Mt. Vernon, Tex.

Nearly 140 second-home markets around the country were evaluated in May and June of this year through a nationwide opinion survey of residential real estate brokers affiliated with the Century 21 system.

The selection of the 21 markets was based on home price appreciation between 1992 and 1993, availability of the widest range of recreational opportunities (including beach access, boating, fishing, snow skiing, golfing, hiking, camping, and other outdoor activities), and proximity to population centers.

"These top markets are representative of the types of communities that weekend vacationers, retirees, and investors look for when considering the purchase of a second home," said Richard J. Loughlin, president and chief executive officer of Century 21 Real Estate Corporation. "Today's second-home buyer wants a place to get away that is not too far from home and offers year-round access to recreational activities."

According to Loughlin, the appeal of second-home markets like those included in this list, combined with a stronger economy, bode well for second-home markets around the U.S. in the years to come.

"The combination of an improving economy and a variety of demographic factors point to a growing demand for homes in vacation and retirement communities across the country," Loughlin said. "The baby boom generation has reached the point when people historically consider purchasing a second home, either to take advantage of weekend recreational opportunities or for future retirement."

Century 21 Real Estate Corporation is a wholly owned subsidiary of Metropolitan Life Insurance Company which includes approximately 6,000 independently owned and operated franchise broker offices throughout the world.

Buchmann Optical To Phase Out Manufacturing

Garrett County Director of Economic Development Tom Jones has reported that Buchmann Optical, Inc., will phase out its manufacturing operation beginning in October. This action will result in a loss of 30 jobs by April, 1995, he stated.

The Buchmann facility, which is located in the Southern Garrett Industrial Park, will continue to operate as a distribution center for ophthalmic products, Jones explained. However, in October the facility will begin "gradually shutting down manufacturing production," he stated.

According to Jones, the restructuring at Buchmann will initially result in a loss of two or three jobs, but by the time manufacturing ceases completely in April, 30 jobs will have been eliminated. The entire process will take six months.

In its new role as solely a distribution center, Buchmann will serve the entire nation or "at least the East Coast," Jones commented.

REGGAE COMING TO DEEP CREEK SHORE - The Garrett Lakes Arts Festival will present Rasta Rafiki, a reggae group from Morgentown, W.Va., in a free outdoor concert on Saturday, Sept. 3 on the shores of Deep Creek Lake State Park. The concert will begin at 6 p.m. Concert-goers are invited to bring lawn chairs and picnic suppers to the beach and enjoy the group's "danceable blend of rock and reggae." A free-will donation will be collected during intermission. For more information, persons may contact the GLAF office at 387-3082.

Pa. Woman Convicted In Dist. Court of Theft, Battery

A Boynton, Pa., woman was convicted on one count of felony theft, and one count of battery in recent Garrett County District Court proceedings.

Sandra M. Crissinger, 49, Boynton, Pa., pleaded not guilty, but was found guilty of the offenses. Garrett County District Court Judge Ralph M. Burnett sentenced her to a total of 150 days in jail, fined her $150 and ordered her to make $580.55 restitution to Franklin C. Davis. She was also placed on two years of supervised probation on all charges.

Additional charges of theft, scheming, battery, reckless driving, negligent driving, and unsafe backing of a motor vehicle were not prosecuted because of plea agreements with the state's attorney.

she had stolen 19 video tapes, valued at more than $1,000, between Jan. 23, 1993, and Oct. 16, 1993, from his business.

Crissinger reportedly returned to the establishment on Feb. 23 and was recognized by an employee. According to court records, Davis confronted her about the thefts, and she ran from the store. The store owner stated he had partially blocked the defendant's car, and also stood behind it so she could not leave. Crissinger reportedly backed into him twice, the second time moving him backwards about two feet. She was arrested the next day on the strength of an arrest warrant, executed by the Maryland State Police.

In other district court news, Norman H. Shulman, 44; Ferguson M. Harter, 29; Kevin J. Byrnes, 27; Andy Martino, 28; and Kieran J. Foley, 28, all of New Jersey; and Scott F. Shulman, 33, Mt. Airy, were all granted probation before judgment on their guilty pleas for possession of a controlled dangerous substance (CDS).

Each was handed a 30-day suspended sentence, fined $200, and placed on six months of supervised probation by Judge Burnett.

Another New Jersey man, Brian C. Scillieri, 27, was not prosecuted on the CDS charge because of insufficient evidence.

The charges stemmed from a June 4 incident at Swallow Falls State Park, when the men were arrested on the CDS charges by Ranger First Class M. Cooper who, according to court records, had entered the defendants' campsite to enforce quiet hours. Upon his arrival, Cooper said he noticed a baggie containing a greenish leafy substance (suspected to be marijuana) in plain view. The ranger seized the baggie and, because no one admitted ownership of it, he read each one his rights, and arrested them all.

Lisa R. Sweitzer, 26, Frederick, was not prosecuted on one count of battery and one count of felony theft, at the request of the complainant, Deborah A. Schmidt, Oakland.

In a related case, Sweitzer was not prosecuted on one count of malicious destruction of property, being disorderly on private property, petty theft, and trespassing, because the complainant, Shirley J. Wagner, Oakland, failed to appear in court.

The charges against Sweitzer stemmed from an altercation with Wagner and Schmidt on May 24.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered for Calvin R. Schrock, 32, Oakland,

GLAF Season To Include "Quilt Voices" Program

The Garrett Lakes Arts Festival will be extended this fall with two new shows added to the original lineup, according to Fred Stemple, executive director. Quilt Voices, a presentation by the Maryland Historical Society, will be the first addition, to be presented September 16 at the Garrett Community College auditorium. The show will be admission-free.

The second addition to the season will be a performance by Charlie Byrd, jazz and classical Latin guitarist. Byrd will first appear in the county's middle and high schools, and then will present a show in the GCC auditorium on Oct. 20 at 8 p.m.

Quilt Voices is a program presented by three women actors who relate some of the realities of mid-19th-century living as transcribed from women's letters, diaries, and other literature found in the Maryland Historical Society's manuscript collection. Issues such as childbirth, death, health and disease, education, family morals, friendship, celebrations, and church as a center of social life reveal how similar - yet different - women's lives were 150 years ago, a spokesperson stated.

The program will begin at 8 p.m. More information on the Charlie Byrd program will appear in future issues.

"The President's Own" United States Marine Band will be performing in the gymnasium of Southern High School on Oct. 1. The presentation will be free, but tickets are required. Persons may receive four tickets by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival, P.O. Box 151, McHenry MD 21541. (Persons may also send in coupon found in an advertisement for this event, printed in a section of today's issue.)

who was found guilty of one count of battery. The charges stemmed from Schrock's court case in March, involving a 6-year-old child. He reportedly struck the child on the back and buttocks with a belt and a board. The child was examined by a physician who reportedly found the bruises to be consistent with the complaint.

Scott E. Kahl, 21, Oakland, requested a sentence revision on his conviction for battery, but the motion was denied. Kahl had been found guilty of battery during a hearing earlier this year, and was sentenced to a total of six months in jail for an incident at the Garrett County Jail involving another inmate, Gary Wedge.

Harry R. Broadwater, 32, Grantsville, also requested a motion revision on an earlier district court decision. The judge revised Broadwater's sentence to probation before judgment. He had initially been found guilty of failing to obey a lawful order of a Natural Resources Police officer. The terms of Broadwater's probation will remain as originally imposed.

DNR CASE
Daniel J. Garber, 48, Palm City, Fla., and Swanton, was fined a total of $390, with all but $190 suspended, and placed on six months of probation stemming from his July 4 arrest for operating a water vessel while intoxicated, and for exceeding a posted three-knot limit at Arrowhead Cove, Deep Creek Lake, by Natural Resources Police Officer J. McShourne.

DWI CASES
Several DWI (driving while intoxicated) and DUI

(driving under the influence of alcohol) cases were heard at the Garrett County District Court in recent weeks.

I believe in government of the people, by the people and for the people. The government is the people and there is NO business of government which is not the people's business. I pledge an open and responsive government; one that sees the people as a resource rather than a threat; that serves the people rather than resists and fears them. Not only should we follow "access to information" laws, we should assure that our people never need to use them to get information which belongs to them in the first place.

Agencies Make Reports To Commissioners

Monthly Reports from county agencies were the main topic of discussion at Tuesday's meeting of the Garrett County Board of Commissioners.

Solid Waste
Rodney Giotfelty, director of the county office of solid waste and recycling, told the commissioners that since the new county land fill on Sang Run Road opened August 15, the facility has received 1226 tons of garbage, hauled in by 429 trucks. This comes to an average of 87 tons of waste per day, he remarked. Landfill hours are Monday through Saturday, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Giotfelty also stated that he hopes to have all satellite collection sites open by Friday, Sept. 2. Because these facilities will be stalled, he explained, persons from out of state attempting to dump waste can now be identified and turned away. Giotfelty estimates that between 20 and 30 percent of garbage received at the old collection sites was from outside Maryland.

The satellite facilities will accept household waste and recyclables, and will be open weekdays, 7 a.m. to 6 p.m., and weekends, 12 to 6 p.m.

County residents will not need permit stickers when the satellite collection sites first open, but stickers will be required beginning in late September or early October, Giotfelty stated. From that point on, any county household wishing to dispose of garbage at a collection site will be required to purchase a permit sticker.

Giotfelty added that persons bringing only recyclables to a collection site will not be required to purchase stickers.

Environmental Health
County Director of Environmental Health Edgar Harmon told the commissioners that his agency has received tentative approval for a $10,000 HUD Block Grant to fund a planning project dealing with the sewage problem in Hutton.

According to Harmon, the grant will finance an effort to study the situation in Hutton, define the problems, and then propose possible solutions.

He stated the investigation will begin with environmental health workers going house-to-house to map out existing sewage systems. He expects the entire project to take six months to complete.

Public Schools

Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, Garrett County superintendent of schools, reported to the commissioners that 5014 students were in attendance during the first day of the new school year, Aug. 29. This number includes four pre-kindergarten classes, he commented.

Ryscavage stated that during the first day some transportation problems were experienced, but he explained that this occurs every year. These difficulties usually take a week to remedy, he said.

This year also marks the launching of two new initiatives in the county schools, Ryscavage added. The first is the elementary math resource teacher initiative, which brought six math experts into county primary schools to provide students intensive training in mathematics, he remarked. The second is the four period day now in effect at Southern High School.

Library

Emily Ferren, director of the Ruth Linkow Library, announced that the library system recently registered its 50,000 borrower. She also noted that on July 27, the library set a new one-day circulation record of 930 volumes.

Ferren also stated that this year's American Trust Bank charity golf tournament raised $15,000 for the library system.

When Ferren finished her report, Commissioner Brenda Butcher stated, "I think you are doing a great job for the library."

Health Department

Dr. Rex Archer, Garrett County health officer, informed the commissioners that the Tobacco Coalition recently met to review its progress in promoting smoke-free bingo and restaurant sections. Archer expects that the Coalition will receive two $3,000 grants in the near future.

On the topic of injury prevention, Archer noted that a new computer system installed at the Garrett County Memorial Hospital emergency room will keep a tally of people's injuries. This will enable his agency to determine the main causes of injury for county residents, he stated.

Archer also commented that the health department has applied for a grant to fund efforts to promote adolescent abstinence.

Archer concluded his report with a description of the Americorps program (see separate story.)

Planning and Zoning

John Nelson, director of the county Office of Planning and Zoning, stated that his agency has received an Appalachian Regional Commission grant that will be used to update zoning ordinances for several towns in the county.

On the issue of the Jennings Randolph Lake project, which would provide northern access to the lake and lake-side restrooms, Nelson stated that the Department of Natural Resources has asked project consultants to draft a document emphasizing benefits the county would enjoy if the project were completed. The DNR hopes to have this report ready to present to Maryland Governor William Donald Schaefer during his upcoming visit to the project site.

Promotion Council

Diane Wolfe, executive director of the Deep Creek Lake - Garrett County Promotion Council, told the commissioners that the information booth at the lake has seen an increase in visitors over last year.

She also remarked that advertisements promoting tourism in the county have been printed in international publications, including Better Homes and Gardens magazine. All ads for fall

Domestic Dispute Leads To Arrest Of Oakland Man

An Oakland man was arrested by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office this week on charges stemming from a domestic dispute. Darren T. Ream, 33, has been accused of breaking and entering, malicious destruction of property, and trespassing.

Ream allegedly entered the home of Angela Ream on Aug. 28 against her wishes. In a separate incident, the defendant is also accused of destroying the back window of Ms. Ream's Geo Tracker. The defendant was released on his own recognizance, according to a sheriff's office spokesperson.

In a separate case, officers arrested Hugh H. Jett, 32, Oakland, on theft and forgery charges. The defendant is accused of renting furniture under a false name at Charlie's Bargain Center in March. Items he rented included a television, a two-piece living room suite, two end tables, and a coffee table, according to the report.

Jett has been charged with felony theft, forgery, and four counts of uttering a false document.

Two men were charged with driving while intoxicated (DWI) this week, according to the police log.

Troy D. Liller, 27, Oakland, was cited for DWI on Aug. 24. He was stopped on Rt. 219 in Accident for operating his vehicle at 63 miles per hour in a 55 mile an hour zone, according to the report. The stop was collected at approximately 11 a.m.

A Mountain Lake Park man was arrested for DWI on Aug. 27. Randolph S. Kitzmiller, 47, was stopped at 10:15 p.m. on Rt. 135 east of Mountain Lake Park, according to the report.

A bench warrant was issued for the arrest of Vicki J. Kamp, 28, Frostburg. Kamp apparently failed to appear in court on Aug. 23 to face a traffic charge.

Tragedy Strikes Again...

Since there are relatively so few of us Garrett County residents (only about 27,000) we are, in some ways, like one big family. So when tragedy claims one of "our" children, it affects each and everyone of us deeply, even if we did not happen to know that child personally.

Thus our hearts are laden with sadness this morning following the untimely death of 6-year-old Thomas Maust, who was struck after getting off his school bus near Grantsville yesterday after school. While our faith assures us that young Thomas is in good hands right now, we extend our most sincere sympathies to the members of his family, as well as to the driver of the vehicle that struck him, the driver of the bus, and the other children on the bus who witnessed this nightmare. All of these people were seriously "injured," both emotionally and spiritually, in this mishap and face a difficult path to recovery. The local emergency rescue personnel who responded to the scene, as well as the classmates and friends of Thomas, should also be remembered in prayers and expressions of support.

We do not yet know all of the details of this accident, and it is certainly not our intent to level blame in this column against anyone involved. Besides utilizing this space to express the thoughts above, we want to seize one more opportunity to plead with drivers of motor vehicles to be ever alert when they are behind the wheel, especially when one is within eyesight of a school bus.

Because we reside in such a rural area, most of our children are not accustomed to crossing busy roadways. Despite the efforts of parents and others to teach them highway safety, they often just do not understand, nor recognize, the danger. So it is up to us drivers to be exceedingly cautious, and do our best to avoid lapses in our concentration, especially when we know children are nearby, whether on a bus or in a playground or in a residential area.

Of course, regardless of the safety precautions and of how careful we try to be, accidents do, indeed, happen and occasionally another precious life is lost. When that happens we can do nothing but find a way to cope with that loss and vow, once again, to do everything we can to avert future tragedies.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I would like to compliment you on your Editorial last week regarding Joe DiSimone, Garrett County's Most Beautiful Person.

I have worked with Joe for the past 15 years as his Chief Deputy Register and I couldn't agree with you more. He is a very kind person to all. On a professional basis, he treats everyone with the same courtesy and respect. He has a smile and kind word for everyone he meets each and every day, not just at election time. His mood is gentle and caring all the time.

It is a pleasure working with him. He has been a great inspiration to me. And yes, Joe, you are deserving.

Sincerely,
Rita Watson

To the Editor:

Garrett County Memorial Hospital recently reduced its workforce by four full-time employees and one part-time employee. About the same time Local 27 of the United Food and Commercial Workers' Union began its efforts to organize and gain control of the hospital's workers. The Union has used the emotional turmoil caused by the workforce reduction to fuel the fire of employee insecurities.

I have seen a lot of changes in my nine years of employment; but in reality, most of those changes have been made in order to keep this hospital financially viable today and in the future. Changes are not popular with anyone, but are necessary in all industry ventures if longevity is a goal.

I am asking all of you who feel the Union is the answer to take a good look at the benefits we currently have and to realize that if the Union is voted in, we won't necessarily keep those benefits. The Union isn't going to take what we currently have and build above and beyond those benefits. The slate will be wiped clean and the building will start there. You could wind up with less than you have now. Most of us make fairly good wages here -- look around elsewhere in Garrett County and see if you can do better. I believe if you could find a job making more with more benefits, you certainly wouldn't be working here.

Job security is important to everyone, including myself, however, the Union cannot guarantee anyone a job. Their ultimate goal is to keep the Union wealthy and secure and not you, their member. Please look beyond the union propaganda before you vote. Ask yourself what exactly the Union is going to get you that you don't already have.

If you do that, your vote will be a resounding NO.

To the Editor:

This concerns the letter to the editor from Jeffrey L. Friend et al., apparent political supporters of Garrett County Deputy Sheriff, Corporal Randy Sines, whom they describe as the "chief opponent" of Sheriff Van Evans, running for reelection. The letter charges the sheriff with "putting... citizens in harm's way" by taking K-9 handler Sines off the road and placing him in the control room as a dispatcher "for the majority of July or perhaps longer." This letter alarmed me because, if anything frightens me, it's a harmful sheriff. Before continuing, however, I wish to remind readers that The Republican does not endorse candidates for county political offices. Since I am a correspondent for this publication, this piece is not intended to judge the merits, per se, of any candidates, particularly because I know little about them beyond what I read in the newspaper. Rather, I will limit my comments to the specific points Mr. Friend raises.

Reporters can sometimes get answers a little faster than the general public, and I have uncovered some facts that may comfort Mr. Friend and his letter co-signers in their anxieties, and at the same time, interest county voters.

According to Sheriff's Chief Deputy, Major Harland Tichnell, if a K-9 response is needed when Corporal Sines has desk duty, the corporal and the dog would be dispatched from headquarters, with another officer assuming dispatch duty.

"Depending on the situation, we can call someone in [for radio duty]," said Major Tichnell. "I will cover [the radio] myself if no one else is around to do that."

Sheriff's Dept. Officer Karen Moon, a police communicator, told me that even with Corporal Sines off-duty, "The [K-9] dog is available 24 hours a day. Our officer does have a pager [so] that we can contact him 24 hours a day for any type of call."

I also learned that Garrett County has round-the-clock K-9 protection even when the sheriff's dog handler is unavailable -- as, for example, during illness, vacation, etc. In such event, a Md. State Police K-9 unit will step in. MSP Sgt. Otto Artfisch (in Cumberland, Barrack C) confirmed this fact for me.

MSP Sgt. Daniel Moore (Barrack W, McHenry) went even further, saying, "We [Garrett Co.] would have several dogs available to us. We have a K-9 unit assigned out of this... barrack, and we also have several K-9 units that would be available for us from Allegany County if we needed them."

Thus, Mr. Friend's dire claim that assigning Corporal Sines to the control room "...eliminates...the use of a $6,000 K-9 dog..." seems somewhat distant from the truth.

To the contrary, with the Corporal at the radio, the K-9 unit is essentially on "standby," much like county rescue squad volunteers on duty in stations.

In any event, the availability of a K-9 unit clearly does not rest exclusively with any one handler/dog; nor, for that matter, with any single law agency. So, if Mr. Friend requires service from a K-9 unit at 2:30 a.m. tonight, one (or as many as he needs) will be there for him!

Much more disturbing to me is Mr. Friend's charge that for political gain, the sheriff gave Corporal Sines desk duty "...for the majority of July or perhaps longer."

I asked to see firsthand the sheriff's dept.'s work schedules for July. Major Tichnell, responsible for maintaining those records, did allow me to examine the originals. For the public record, the schedules reflected that Corporal Sines worked patrol duty (presumably as his supporters desired) nine days and took six days of sick leave during July. He worked radio only EIGHT days. In no case did he have more than three consecutive desk days. July had 21 work days (in a five-day work week) out of 31 days altogether. Thus, that the Corporal covered the radio "for most of July," is unequivocally false!

Mr. Friend asks, "Is this action [assigned radio duty] an effort to keep Corporal Sines from having an effective campaign?"

Frankly, this question bewilders me. Is Mr. Friend insisting that Corporal Sines has a right to campaign "on company time," while drawing his usual salary from (ultimately) the taxpayers? It must be tough trying to decide whether to arrest someone, or to ask him to vote for you! Some people might even see a conflict of interest. And what role in campaigning does the K-9 dog play -- shaking paws?

Another question from Mr. Friend: "Is Sheriff Evans' action [assigning the Corporal to desk duty] really necessary?"

I'm sorry, Mr. Friend, but apparently it WAS necessary! If it makes you feel better, consider these words from Major Tichnell:

"We were short of coverage in dispatch, and it needed covered...due to [staff] vacation and sick leave."

"Everyone [including the Sheriff], as far as I know has worked the desk, including myself."

If Sheriff Evans and Chief Deputy Tichnell themselves pull dispatch, doesn't elementary logic suggest that sooner or later, Corporal Sines must too?

Mr. Friend also writes, "One can only wonder what Sheriff Evans will do next." Be of good cheer, Mr. Friend. We can do better than "only wonder." If you will be so kind, please consider this tip: When employers, parole boards or reporters want to know what an individual might do in the future, they look very closely at what he has done in the past. And the wonderful thing is, The Republican has compiled an extensive record of Van Evans' actions, as sheriff, over the last eight years. And our terrific Ruth Enlow Library staff, I'm sure, will gladly help you dig up this information! Best of all, it's FREE! So, do what I do: Validate! Substantiate! Remember, during campaigns, words alone -- like promises, mud and manure -- are frequent flyers and dirt cheap!

Just one more thing: No matter who is sheriff, he relies upon trust, loyalty and subordination from his deputies to guard our very lives with his and theirs. It is not Sheriff Evans who is "putting the citizens in harm's way." It is misleading letters to the editor undermining the sheriff's authority, leadership and department morale that endanger us all!

Sincerely,
Craig Speicher

To the Editor:

As employees of Garrett Co. Memorial Hospital, we think it's time some of us spoke out about the issues as seen by the employees at the hospital. Up until this point in time no one in administration was willing to listen to the employees' concerns or even let them voice their opinions. Now they are willing to stand behind each and every employee that works there. Why did this attitude take so long?

In fiscal year 92-93 the majority of employees received a ten to fifteen cent raise on the hour and some received a little more. In 93-94 your increase depended on the new evaluation that administration created. You then received a small increase or a "bonus" if your position had been sealed. If you received a "bonus" you are still making the same hourly rate in 93-94 that you made in 92-93. Now in 94-95 our wages are frozen and we will still be making the same hourly rate that we were making in 92-93 if you were one of the "lucky" ones to receive a bonus.

We used to have benefits to cover dental, prescription and diagnostic lab and x-ray. Now we no longer have dental or prescription and have diagnostic only after paying a hefty deductible. Yes, there are some benefits left, but how long will it be before those are taken away too?

We used to feel secure in our jobs, but now we have seen people "eliminated" with many more years of service than we have. Now we wonder -- who's next?

We have seen the administrative personnel skyrocket. We now have more vice presidents and department heads than we have departments! Why do we need over 30 department heads in such a small hospital?

If money and cutting expenses were so important why is the spending still going on? We were told a year ago that administration was projecting future expenses and falling revenues. If they were looking towards a bleak year or two why then have we seen A) a new parking lot built, B) a new van purchased, instead of repairing the dent in the old one, C) a new $10,000 plus lawn mower with attachments purchased, D) a newly redecorated O.R. waiting room that didn't come even moderately priced, and E) paying all of the "consultants" including an interior decorator that have been in the hospital this past year? What Kind of September?

"Will we have a hot September or an early fall?" That is the question I've been asking folks lately. The most common reply has been, "We surely have had a cool August." Indeed, we have, which is why I ask the question about September. Some people speculate on a hot September, some on an early autumn. One fellow answered succinctly, "Both." Maybe he is the one most likely right.

We have had a dozen mornings in August when the low temperature went into the 50's, as compared with three last year, nine the year before and none in 1991. The average temperatures will be a little cooler in the mountains, but the general trends are, no doubt, the same.

Other indicators include the bees and yellow jackets having kicked out the drones about a month early. Those are the male bees whom the ladies tolerate until cool weather commences. You can tell them because they act dopey, and seem ready to sting for no cause: (although drones can't sting); they are starving to death. That would make me dopey too, or dopier than usual, anyway.

My wife commented on the second of August that it felt like fall, and it did. It wasn't just the coolness. It was an indescribable quality of the air, a dusky feeling about it. The dews have been fall dews, and the grass has grown and grown and grown. (I made one of those verbal goofs that we 20th century folks have learned to call Freudian. I said to my nephew, "The grass just keeps on mowing." "Growing," my wife corrected, "We just keep on mowing.")

This time of year we usually get a respite from mowing which allows us to catch up with things we had put off since April. About halfway through August we usually mow to knock down the ripple, and then again just before Labor Day to spruce things up for a picnic. This year we have been in the yard every week. But who could complain? Everything looks so lush and green.

Another sign was that Grandma found a nest of mice in her sewing machine. I'm to thank that she found them. I had a pile of mending, so I invited myself over for breakfast, and just happened to take the mending when I went. Grandma had other projects to hand, but being the loving grandmother that she is, she fixed my clothes for me. When she opened her sewing machine, low and behold, there was a nest of seven baby mice. The cats had a snack, and a trap was set for the mother which she eluded. Though the folks downstairs (Grandma has an upstairs apartment in a farmhouse) did catch a fat mouse a few days later. That was August 5.

You may remember that I have some anxiety about an early frost because I got so much of my garden planted late. The summer squash have gone great guns. I had zucchini in 33 days, yellow crook neck squash in 40 days and patty pan in 42 days. One of my favorite dishes is to steam whole all three squashes together, picked when they are small and tender, and then to marinate then in olive oil and red wine vinegar with Italian herbs, and then to put it all in the refrigerator for a few days. And believe me, we have had the opportunity to eat squash in every fashion that pleased us.

The tomatoes are doing well. The turnips, kale and spinach are all fine. The beets would be fine if the rabbits and ground hogs didn't eat the greens every night. The brussels sprouts promise a great fall crop, and, of course, will only be improved by frosts, early or late.

It is the fall squash and pie pumpkins which worry us. They need 90-105 days to reach harvest. They are forming nicely, and are growing plump. The vines still spread, however, and still blossom. If the frost holds off until mid October, we should have a bumper crop. I also planted cantaloupes late, but that, admittedly was a gamble. We are counting on the winter squash.

With a cool August behind us and having eight inches of rain above the average for this year, I am looking forward to a hot September. It is not only in the garden that we should have a bumper crop. I have never seen corn or soybeans look better, no matter where I go. The trick will be getting all the bounty into the barn while the weather permits us to harvest.

I'm looking forward to a hot September, but I am expecting another hard winter, different from last winter, but hard nonetheless. We, humans, must take care of ourselves, but there is a wisdom in nature which usually takes care of itself. The fields and gardens and apple trees are full for a reason. It is a reason which the next two seasons will make known.

just a few of the tangible expenditures that employees can see. What other spending is going on that we can't see?

We were all willing to give and cut back until it hurt through these unsettling financial times. Now when we see the needless spending it's time to say... stop!

What the employees are trying to accomplish is to have the right to collective bargaining. To sit down with administration and have a binding contract written that states our benefits and future job security.

MDOP Reports Investigated By Maryland State Police

Several reports of vandalism and malicious destruction of property have been reported to Maryland State Police, Barrack W. McHenry, where unknown persons have shot out windows of several vehicles in the Grantsville area.

According to the reports, several vehicles parked along Rts. 40 and 669, as well as the Amish Road, were damaged sometime between Aug. 26 and 28, with what is believed to be pellet or BB guns.

Tfc. J. J. Bentlejewski is continuing his investigation and asks that anyone with information may call the McHenry barracks at 895-1101.

ANOTHER MDOP
Sometime between Aug. 25 and 26, another destruction of property complaint was filed at the local state police barracks. Two additional vehicles in the Rt. 40 area of Grantsville were damaged as they were parked along the highway. Side windows on the vehicles were reportedly broken by small projectiles.

THIRD MDOP REPORTED

Yet another malicious destruction of property report is under investigation by the local state police.

Wayne Swauger, Grantsville, reported the driver's side window of his 1992 Ford pickup truck was broken by unknown persons, sometime between 10 p.m., Aug. 24, and 5 a.m. on Aug. 25, as it was parked along Rt. 40, near the Amish Road.

Tfc. M.E. Rodeheaver is the investigating officer.

THREE INJURED

Three people were injured in a two-vehicle accident Monday afternoon, on Rt. 546 (Finzel Road), just off I-68, according to state police reports.

Amy Graham, 27, Oakland, operating a 1993 Toyota Tercel, had been stopped on a ramp off I-68, at the intersection with the Finzel Road. The report indicated a second vehicle, operated by Patricia L. Bodes, 56, Frostburg, operating a 1992 Olds Cutlass, was traveling south on the Finzel Road, when Graham pulled into her path.

Graham's vehicle struck Bodes' vehicle, then spun and struck it again, causing the Cutlass to strike a curb.

Graham and her 5-year-old passenger, Dylan E. Gwynn, Oakland, were transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad, where they were treated and released.

Bodes was transported to Memorial Hospital in Cumberland by Frostburg Ambulance, where she was admitted, but has since been released.

Eastern Garrett Volunteer Fire Company also responded to the 4:46 p.m. mishap.

who was riding a bicycle along the Avilton-Lonaconing Road was struck by a car Saturday evening, according to state police reports.

Amy L. Terry, 31, was riding a bicycle, pulling her 3-year-old son, Patrick Terry, in a "tag along" buggy near the Sam Crowe Road, when a 1988 Oldsmobile Cutlass, operated by Martha S. Francis, Keyser, W.Va., failed to stop at a stop sign and struck the bicycle.

Terry was flown to Cumberland Memorial Hospital by MSP Medevac helicopter where she was admitted for treatment. She has since been released from that facility.

The child was reportedly uninjured, as was Francis. Eastern Garrett Fire Department and Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad also responded to the 6:30 p.m. mishap.

CHARGED WITH CDS
A traffic stop last Friday morning resulted in the arrest of a Mechanicsburg, Pa., man who was charged with possession of CDS and drug paraphernalia.

According to a report filed by Tfc. R. Sivic, he initially stopped Niles C. Royer, 19, for exceeding the speed limit while traveling along I-68, near the Casselman River.

After the stop, Royer consented to the search of his vehicle. Sivic noticed a ceramic pipe, containing burnt residue, sticking out of Royer's pocket. Also recovered was a metal box containing suspected marijuana.

Royer was placed under arrest and has since been released.

CDS RECOVERY

The recovery of 1.7 grams of suspected marijuana was reported by Tfc. E.P. Johanson of the local MSP barracks.

According to the officer's report, Jason D. Woycid, a resident of the Savage Mountain Youth Center, was charged with possession of a controlled dangerous substance (CDS).

The report indicated the center's supervisor, Richard Scarbelli, was advised by another resident that others were smoking in the bathroom. Upon investigation, Scarbelli located a plastic wrapper, containing suspected marijuana, in the toilet. Woycid apparently admitted to owning the substance.

THEFT

State police are investigating the theft of a Model

88 Winchester, .284 calibre rifle, with a Tasco scope, from a pickup truck belonging to Warren Murphy.

Murphy reported to police that on Aug. 25, unknown persons took the rifle from his truck as it was parked along the Accident-Bittering Road.

Tfc. R.W. Iarburton is the investigating officer.

ARRESTED

State police have arrested a Friendsville man and charged him with two counts of giving a false statement to an officer.

In a report filed by Tfc. D.W. McCrobie, who lives on the Hoves-Sang Run Road, near Friendsville.

According to the report, the younger McCrobie allegedly took the chain saws and traded them for a bigger one.

A criminal summons had been issued for his arrest, and he has since been released.

THEFT REPORTED

Tfc. M.E. Rodeheaver is currently investigating a reported theft of eight Firestone tires and aluminum wheels, valued at $2,300, from Diehl Ford Sales, Grantsville.

According to the report, between 8 p.m. on Aug. 25, and 8 a.m. on Aug. 26, unknown persons took the wheels and tires from vehicles parked on Diehl's lot.

Anyone with information about the theft is asked to contact the McHenry barracks at 895-1101.

ELECT EARL J., SR. CLARK

To the People of Garrett County
As a Democratic Candidate for County Commissioner in District No. 3, I would like to share two issues of concern that are of utmost importance to the people of Garrett County and its progress in the coming years.

Commissioner Responsibility
The future progress of Garrett County depends on how well the funds received in taxes are spent and how well each area of County Government is operated. Each segment of our County Government must be properly and efficiently managed and each area must be accountable for what it does each year.

Roads
With the beginning of the school year, our children are now being transported to the schools in the county, thus safety becomes more important to the people. A basic requirement in Garrett County is the maintenance of our roads system. Being a rural county, we find ourselves depending in the roads being properly maintained. In the past few years, we have seen the deterioration of our roads. We must develop a plan to improve all the roads in our county in a timely manner for the safety of our people and the growth of our county.

These are two issues that I would work to improve. I will provide you, the reader, with other concerns in the next issue of the paper.

If elected, I will strive to see that ALL the people are represented to the best of my ability and pledge to work for the betterment of Garrett County and its people in the coming years.

Your vote and support will be greatly appreciated.

Parent Volunteer Is Subject Of MPT "Info-Spot"

A local parent volunteer at Grantsville Elementary School is currently being featured in a five-minute "info-spot" on Maryland Public Television. Cheryl Sweitzer, Grantsville, is highlighted in the spot as a parent volunteer who through her work makes a positive difference in her son's school. The five-minute spots, which highlight each county in Maryland, are running at various times until Sept. 10.

Also featured in the five-minute spot is Garrett County Superintendent of Schools Jerome Ryscavage and Assistant Superintendent Albert Coviello. The local school principals were apparently asked to nominate a parent volunteer who deserved particular notice for his or her work.

Dale Garlitz, Grantsville Elementary principal, stated that he chose Mrs. Sweitzer because of her dedication to the school and her tireless volunteerism.

"Every school should have five or six Cheryl Sweitzers," Garlitz said. Mrs. Sweitzer's son Benjamin is a third grader at Grantsville, and she is married to Ervin Sweitzer.

An MPT spokesperson said the public television station put the info-spots together in an effort to aid Maryland schools in their year-around effort to recruit both business and individual volunteers.

Food For Thought

by Chef Francesco Pisano
McClive's Restaurant

Remember when we thought potatoes were fattening? Now they make the meal. Pre-bake large potatoes in the microwave, then split and scoop out insides. Mash with cottage cheese, shredded cheddar, chopped ham and onions and bake again in a 400 degree oven for 20 minutes.

Super salmon filets are "painted" with a mixture of teriyaki sauce, lots of grated fresh gingerroot and a little sesame oil, then broiled until done without turning.

Wickedly wonderful spread goes on croissants or miniature cream puffs. Melt 2 ounces of semisweet chocolate and let cool slightly. Process 1 cup toasted almonds or roasted unsalted cashews, then add half a stick of butter and buzz again. Stir in the melted chocolate.

Do-it-yourself chips are a snap with pita breads or flour tortillas cut into wedges. Spritz with nonstick cooking spray, then season with grated Parmesan cheese, onion powder, garlic or seasoned pepper. Bake at 350 for 10 to 12 minutes, or until crisp.

Why do it yourself? Relax and let us do the cooking for a change. Enjoy dinner at:

State Forests Assoc. Dinner To Raise Funds

Over 50 area businesses will sponsor the Maryland Forests Association's first Western Regional Dinner and Fund Raiser, set for Sept. 10, beginning at 5 p.m. at the Elks Lodge. Not all of these businesses cater strictly to the forests products industry, a spokesperson stated.

Since the MFA did not hold a loggers forestry field day this summer, the group, organized the special dinner, which will feature a grand prize of $1,500, a silent auction, and drawings. The holder of every 20th ticket drawn will receive $40. According to association, president Pete Miller, monies raised will support the organization's legislative activities and training workshops.

"This is a cash drawer dinner with one ticket admitting two adults and entering the ticket buyer in the grand prize drawing," said Miller. "The association is trying to build up its cash reserves for a difficult legislative session in 1995. It appears that we will once again be fighting the pressures of a severance tax."

Among the featured silent auction items will be a three-day Dream Mountain Hunting Trip in West Virginia for trophy white tail deer valued at $1,500 and donated by IAZ, Hardwoods, Inc., a Thompson Center muzzle loader donated by Wood Products, Inc.; oil products from Cumberland Petroleum; a chestnut mini-chest from Cassewood Furniture; and art prints from the Art Gallery, Cumberland, and Ken Bauer's Lakeland Studio, Cranesville, W.Va.

Numerous other silent auction and prize items have been contributed by the following companies: The Art Department, Battery Warehouse, John and Jean Blake, The Book Center Cards and Gifts, Cochran Farm Equipment Co., Curry Lumber Company, Farley's Foodland, and First Peoples Community Federal Credit Union.

Glottelty Tire, L. Gregory & Sons, Gress Equipment, Laurel Sport Shop, Leonard's Saw Shop, Pete and Karin Miller, Richard McIntyre, Pinetum Enterprises, Precision Pallets, Workmeister Agency Inc.,

NEW BOOK RETURN - Friendsville residents will no longer have an excuse for not returning library books on time. The Friends of the Ruth Enlow Library recently refurbished, repainted, and relettered the book drop box, pictured above, at the library's Friendsville Branch.

Green Acres Garden Center, McKenzie Bros. Logging, Glottelty Lumber Co., Sisler Lumber Co., Cumberland Box Factory, Timber Logging Supplies, Peter's Fuel Corp., Forman's Tree Farm, David R. Webb Veneer, and Metro Tire. Tickets are available from Pete Miller, (304) 895-5369, and Butch Glottelty, 334-4439.

Delegate Edwards Honors Oakland All-Star Team

Delegate George Edwards honored the members of the Oakland Little League All-Star team that won both the Maryland and Mid-Atlantic championships recently and fell just two games short of capturing a berth in the Little League World Series in Williamsport.

Edwards presented team manager Junior Uphold, coach Joey DiSimone, and each member of the team his own letter and Maryland House of Delegates resolution, signed by Governor William Donald Schaefer, Speaker of the House Casper Taylor, and Delegate Edwards.

The resolution stated that the "House of Delegates of Maryland offers its sincerest congratulations to (each member of the team) in recognition of winning the District 1 Regional with a 5-0 record, winning the Maryland State Championships with a 4-0 record, and finishing third in the Eastern Region with a 4-2 record. The entire membership extends best wishes on this memorable occasion and directs this resolution to be presented on this 23rd day of August 1994."

Edwards' letter which accompanied the resolution stated, in part: "All of Garrett County and the State of Maryland appreciate what you have accomplished. The outstanding comments about your attitude and sportsmanship say a lot about your character and is a great reflection on our county and state."

Leaders Vie For Track Title At Elkins Speedway

After rain washed out Saturday's scheduled race, the top dogs in five classes returned Sunday afternoon to battle for the title of Track Champion at Elkins Motor Speedway.

Fourteen points separated 1993 track champion Denny Chamberlain from rival Frank Wilson after each won their individual heats. A reverse-six pill pull placed the two side-by-side in the fifth and sixth spots at the start of the race.

Pole-sitter Gary Dalton led comfortably for five laps until Chamberlain passed him on the back straight. One lap later, Wilson passed Dalton for the second spot and the battle was on. Chamberlain and Wilson remained tight until lap 14 when Wilson dropped low out of turn 2 and slipped under Chamberlain for the lead and eventual win. The victory, however, fell short in gaining enough points to overthrow Chamberlain for his second consecutive season crown.

Kevin Hamrick pushed himself to the limit in the semi-late feature and passed track champion Jerry Haseleu on lap 9 to capture his first ever win in the cockpit of the semi-lates. "This is my first victory since Skids passed away," Hamrick said after the race, referring to the late Richard Skidmore, who flagged Kevin and his father to many EMS victories. "I'd like to dedicate this victory to his memory."

Haseleu claimed the track championship with his second place finish. Steve Booth, Shawn Davis and Bernard Keene rounded out the top five finishers, respectively.

Eight cautions turned a normal 15-lap UMP Modified feature into a 6-lap slugfest between points leader Kevin Jones and Cliff Cochran. Jones maintained the lead throughout the race which brought on the rule that limits the feature to two laps after the eighth caution is thrown. The victory gave Jones the track championship. Cochran took second place feature honors. Gary Dalton was third.

The four-cylinder stock and pure stock classes each ran a doubleheader due to feature race cancellation the week before.

Pure stocker John Smith Jr. held a huge point margin over Bill Tinchier going into the first feature, but problems with a tire pulled Smith from the competition early. Danny Bismark won the race but his refusal to sell his engine under the pure stock claim rule disqualified him and gave Tinchier the win.

Smith still maintained a comfortable 40+ point margin at the start of the second feature, but an unfortunate tangle on the first lap put Smith at the back of the pack. Tinchier, smelling a possible track championship, moved from a tenth place start to first by lap 9. Smith also pushed through slower traffic, but remained cautious. All he needed to do was finish the race and the championship would be his. Tinchier won the race but Smith's seventh place finish dashed his upset hopes.

The first of the four-cylinder stock features had the top two points runners, Thomas Simpson and Tommy Pennington, running close for the final five laps. Simpson held off Pennington for the win, but the points difference remained tight.

At the start of the second feature, Pennington needed to place at least three spots ahead of Simpson to take the track championship. For eight laps, Pennington, running second, stayed at least two spots ahead of Simpson. Then disaster struck for Simpson on the ninth lap. Trying to pass slower traffic high in turn three, Simpson lost control. With three laps left, he was able to gain a fifth spot finish, but Pennington's second place finish gave him the necessary margin for the upset.

Thomas Simpson's brother, Mike, won the feature and kept third place honors on the season points tote board.

This week, Elkins Motor Speedway presents The Hagerstown Hub-City Qualifier. This race will be on Friday, September 2. Gates open at 6 and racing starts at 8.

1994 Elkins Motor Speedway Track Champions: Late Model, Denny Chamberlain; Semilate, Jerry Haseleu; Ump Modified, Kevin Jones; Pure Stock, John Smith Jr.; and Four-Cylinder Stock, Tommy Pennington.

Sailboat Racing Series Finishes With Strong Wind

by Harry Fellenyr

The final weekend of the Deep Creek Yacht Racing Association's July-August series had a variety of weather conditions. Saturday's Junior Racing was canceled when a morning thunderstorm rumbled through. By afternoon conditions had settled down for the two scheduled races. All the boats in contention for top honors were present. In this series a boat's 10 best scores (low point system) would be counted, so big improvements could be made by dropping previous high scores.

By Sunday the front had pushed through with Force 6 (22-27 mph) gusts. This presses the limit of control for full rigged Flying Scots in competitive sailing. In survival sailing much higher winds are manageable with shortened sail area and by letting the boat run with the wind. Lasers relish higher winds and, of course, are more easily righted after capsizing.

As the wind increased, John Meredith, weekend race commander thought it prudent to shorten the course for the Flying Scots, while the Lasers continued the posted course. This resulted in some confusion, since two separate finish lines was unprecedented. Seven boats started in A fleet. Four finished the race. Filemurs' main halyard failed at the start, leaving only the jib to continue, safely, but slowly, around the course to a fourth place. Only Tom Wolfe risked flying a spinnaker, and had a foaming Nantucket sleighride for a downwind run.

Without any comment of prudence or valor, note that more B fleet than A fleet boats finished the race. Among the valiant were Jim and Karen Betz -- in their first race. Harry Carpenter was along to give instructions on spinnaker flying, but said it would "be insane

(for novices) in that wind." With his instruction, they moved, briefly, into the lead. Later Karen declared the experience "thrilling, exciting, and exhilarating," and dismissed danger of capsize with, "you just get wet."

Sunday morning, Anne Brooke and Charles Graham took two visitors from Florida, Bryan Burlingame and Paul Butler, for their first sailboat ride. As the wind built up, they were invited to stay on for the race. It was like an amusement park ride until a downwind jibe mark. They were too close to Kemp's boat. When Kemps jibed, their boom hit Anne and knocked her, unconscious, to the bottom of the boat. Charles got the boat under control and as Anne recovered they finished the race.

The Canadian National Championship for Flying Scots was held August 20-21 at beautiful Stony Lake, Ontario. Harry Carpenter, with his children Carrie and Jimmy as crew, placed second in the four-race regatta. John Meredith, with Tony Kaminski, got fifth in the 25 boat championship.

Local Students To Be Key Players On GCC Laker Volleyball Team

Wanda Swartzwelder

Elaine DeBerry

Wanda Swartzwelder and Elaine DeBerry, the two sophomore members of the Garrett Community College Volleyball Team, will lend their experience and expertise in preparing for the upcoming season opening September 10 at Essex Community College.

A graduate of Northern High School, Swartzwelder was named the Most Improved Player last year by the Laker coaching staff. As a 5'11" hitter, she had 69 kills and 12 solo blocks, which ranked second on the team. In addition, she had a reception percentage of 61.5% and a service percentage of 90.3% with 17 aces.

"We look for Wanda to be very strong offensively as a middle hitter. Her attacking game improved tremendously during the season last year," remarked GCC Head Coach Margaret Quinn. "We will look for her leadership on the court this season; she's very vocal, and a team motivator."

Maryland High School Seniors Lead Region In SAT Scores

Maryland college bound high school seniors tested highest in the region on both the verbal and math sections of the SAT. In the verbal portion of the SAT, Maryland seniors averaged 429, with Delaware next at 428, followed by Virginia at 424, Pennsylvania at 417, and the District of Columbia at 406. Maryland students scored an average of 6 points higher than the national average of 423 in this section. In the math section, Maryland students averaged 479, followed by Virginia at 469, Delaware at 464, Pennsylvania at 462 and the District of Columbia at 443. Students' average score in this section remain at the national average of 479. Maryland seniors rank second in the nation in overall achievement as compared to states with comparable levels of participation.

"I am pleased that Maryland continues to lead the region in SAT achievement," said Dr. Nancy S. Grasmick, State Superintendent of Schools, "and that our students participate in such large numbers in this important first step to a college education."

Nearly two out of three Maryland high school seniors (approximately 64 percent) took the SAT in 1994, a higher rate of participation than in all but 13 states. Nationally, 42 percent of high school seniors took the test. Only one other state with a comparable participation level, New Hampshire, produced higher scores than Maryland's.

College bound Maryland women who took the SAT in 1994 mirrored the national trend, continuing to close the gap between their scores and those of their male counterparts. This past year, 15,341 Maryland women took the test, an increase of 181 over 1993. Women in Maryland scored an average of seven points above the national average of 421 in the verbal section, while math scores equaled the national average of 460. Maryland women taking the SAT in 1994 also made up a large percentage of the total seniors who took upper level math and science courses. This year, 54 percent of the 13,278 seniors who had taken four or more years of study in the Natural Sciences were female. Also, 54 percent of the 18,654 seniors who had completed four or more years of mathematics course work were female. Women made up 54 percent of the 28,574 seniors who had computer coursework or experience.

In 1994, 111 more African American students in Maryland took the test than in 1993. This continues a three year trend of increase in the number of African American test takers, indicating an increase in the number of those interested in pursuing a college education.

African American students posted a five point drop in the verbal scores, however, this population segment's average verbal score remains five points above the national average of 352. The math section average score remained at the national average of 388.

stating their future salaries and benefits. Why can't the employees have the same rights to bargain for their future?

The employees are not out to get "revenge" or attacking their supervisors personally. Most of us get along well with our supervisors, so no, this is not a personal issue with our supervisors. Supervisors can change whenever they find a new position or are moved within the hospital, so we might not even have the same supervisors in the next five years.

Local 27 did not contact the employees as soon as trouble started at GCMH. The employees called them for their help because they knew we were no longer being heard and had no say in our future. No one was listening!

The employees who are organizing with the help of Local 27 aren't trying to disrupt anything at GCMH. The disruption comes when employees are afraid to speak their opinions or stand up for their rights as employees. Joining a "union" will come after a contract is negotiated and voted on by the employees, not before. Right now we are fighting for the right to have collective bargaining for a contract - not a union.

How can what the employees are trying to do be so bad? Physicians belong to the American Medical Association, a union, county road workers belong to a union, teachers belong to a union etc...Why not the employees of Garrett Co. Memorial Hospital?

Garrett Co. Memorial Hospital administration will only be doing what every other employer has done for years when employees try to organize for their future. The administration will fight against it, spread false rumors, show every negative aspect they can find and discourage you as much as possible. Why shouldn't they? They know that when employees get organized and stand behind each other that they can no longer think of employees as just being expendable pieces or equipment at the next fiscal crisis. They will then have to listen to our concerns about our future. Finally!

To the Editor:

I left Oakland and moved to Idaho in 1968 when I was 15. Since then, I have made four trips to Garrett County and my last visit to my hometown of Oakland was nine years ago in 1985. I wrote you then of my reflections on Garrett County and I would like to share them with you again.

For me, a trip back to Garrett County is sort of like opening a little treasure chest every few years and looking inside. Some things never change, such as the peaceful green countryside, the reflections on Deep Creek Lake's still waters at night, and the loyal friends and relatives who welcomed us. Neighbors still exchange home grown vegetables and the stained glass windows of St. Peter's Church are as beautiful as ever. There is a window in Immaculate Conception Church in Kitzmiller that now bears the name of my maternal grandparents, and as I ran my fingers over the letters, I knew that I would always be conscious of my heritage, and an image of that window would be in the treasure chest.

As for the obvious signs of change in Oakland, there's a Pizza Hut and a McDonald's, the Garrett Lakes Art Festival, growth for the Community College, the banks have increased from two to several, and WMSG radio station has several competitors.

But after every trip to Garrett County, I am fortunate to have more goodies to put in that old treasure chest. This time I added new friendships, including getting reacquainted with relatives I hadn't seen in a quarter of a century. It's funny how time slips away...

Perhaps this trip was different since I had my son Andy with me. He's nearly grown up now, and asked endless questions about Garrett County. I had lent him a book to read on the flight east. The main character in it cared a great deal for her dad, but loved her son more than anything. I leaned through the book one cool evening and under where my name was written, something caught my eye. The words "the best Mom on earth" were in Andy's handwriting, with the date, 8/19/94. I knew then that the greatest rewards are in our sons and daughters and in loyal friendships, and it's ok to look back sometimes, but that our focus should be on today and tomorrow, not on yesterday.

Now that I'm back home from "my other home," I don't know why I've been given these treasures, but I promise I will always cherish them and the memories of Garrett County and the very special people there.

And yes, I'll be back some day.

Sincerely,
Betsy (Pratt) Nickels

VOTERS OF GARRETT COUNTY

Between now and September 13th when you talk to family and friends about the upcoming election will you say "If it's not broke, why fix it?" or "It's time for a change."

If you feel a change is needed then I would like to be that change for Sheriff of Garrett County.

While out talking to the citizens in all parts of the county hearing their concerns, some are:

★ More police personnel on the northern end of the county. I am in favor of an office in the Grantsville area.

★ We never see the sheriff. I will as sheriff, be out among the citizens to answer complaints, serve papers, attend town council meetings, and be available to all the people of the county.

So come September 13th if a change is needed.

BRENDABUTSCHER succeeded in getting legislation to have a County Commissioner serve as an ex-officio member of the Board of Education. This has brought about a better working relationship between the two boards.

BRENDABUTSCHER instituted the policy of prayer and Pledge Of Allegiance before each commissioner meeting.

BRENDABUTSCHER has maintained an "Open Door" policy in the commissioner's office. Her personal office door has never been locked and only closed at the request of her constituents.

BRENDABUTSCHER has supported the volunteer firemen and the rescue squads. She has received praise for her support both locally and from Allegany County.

BRENDABUTSCHER has continually asked for legislation for term limitations, saying two terms are enough.

BRENDABUTSCHER has worked to improve roads that have been neglected for years. She saw the need for new employees and new equipment. Remember the blizzard of '93 and the constant snow storms of '94. Our road employees maintain the roads like pros.

BRENDABUTSCHER has not ignored the mentally ill. They, their department heads and boards, have found a friend in the Commissioner's office.

BRENDABUTSCHER has pushed for a crisis shelter in the County for abused spouses and children.

BRENDABUTSCHER has supported the farmers, the sportsmen and the senior citizens of the county.

BRENDABUTSCHER is there when you need her. She is basically a quiet country girl, but when things get tough, she gets tougher. She stands up to the mover/shakers of the county. She truly represents the average hard working taxpayer that didn't have a voice in county government for many years.

SAT Scores

Board, which administers the test, provide evidence that Maryland's schools produce slightly more high-scoring students than those of other states. For example, 9 percent of Maryland students and 8 percent of U.S. students scored above 600 on the verbal test, and 8 percent of Maryland students and 6 percent of U.S. students scored above 600 on the math test.

Overall, although Maryland's 1994 college bound seniors dropped two points to 429 in the verbal section, this remains six points above the national average of 423. Students scored 479 in the math section, an increase of one point over last year and equal to the national average this year. While the number of women and African Americans taking the test increased, the number of whites and males decreased due to a drop in the number of white seniors (25,740 in 1993 to 25,266 in 1994) and the number of male seniors (19,947 in 1993 to 19,849 in 1994).

Maryland also released the results of the American College Test (ACT), another standardized test taken by a small number of Maryland students. These scores show Maryland students at or above national averages. Maryland students scored 20.7 out of 36 on average. Nationwide, test takers scored an average of 20.8. Maryland students scored an average of 21.3 in the Reading section of the test, one tenth of a point above the national average. Other section scores were: English: 20.0, Mathematics: 20.2, and Science Reasoning: 20.6. While 64 percent of all Maryland high school seniors take the SAT, only approximately 9.7 percent take the ACT.

"The SAT and ACT are important measures of school performance in Maryland," said Dr. Grasmick. "These and other benchmarks help chart our state's course of continued improvement in student achievement."

The practice of the local sheriff receiving the fees has apparently been going on for several years, involving not only Evans but several previous sheriffs. The papers for which the sheriff receives money are those that are civil in nature, and the fees for these papers range from $5 to $30.

The law referred to by Michaels in the writ states in part "all fees collected by the sheriff shall be accounted for and paid to the treasury of the several counties and of Baltimore City, respectively." The issue has received media attention recently, and the state's prosecutor's office in Baltimore County did review the situation. According to a statement made by Sherbin, the state's response is in part as follows:

beginning his term of office, the sheriff continued an existing practice which had been established many years prior to his election. Further, it was learned that the practice had not been challenged by any county officials until the Garrett County Salary Review Commission questioned its propriety. The commission's review resulted in a recommendation that the practice be stopped and that the position of sheriff be compensated an additional $15,000 which increased the annual salary to $50,000. The commission study occurred in 1993 and its recommendation was implemented in January 1994. . . since the county officials charged with budgeting for the sheriff's office were aware of the practice, as well as the Clerk of Court through whom the fees passed, the practice was devoid of any deception or corrupt motive."

Michaels stated that he felt this response was not adequate, however, and that he decided to file the writ "on behalf of all taxpaying citizens in Garrett County." In light of the upcoming election, Michaels also maintains that the act is not endorsed by any political candidate.

It is simply a matter of defining the law," Michaels said. A hearing will be scheduled in response to the writ, he explained.

Evans stated that he felt the action was "politically motivated" and that he was not surprised by it. He also noted that Attorney Mike Getty will be filing a response.

Sherbin also responded to the action, stating that "this is simply not a criminal matter; it is a budgetary matter."

Michaels has also penned a letter to Governor William Donald Schaefer in reference to the issue, asking Schaefer to review the case and ask the state prosecutor to again investigate the practice.

Correction Noted

In last week's issue of The Republican, it was reported that Peggy S. Mathes was awarded the Catholic Daughters of America annual scholarship by St. Peter's Catholic Church. The story should have stated that Mathes was awarded the Catholic Daughters of America annual scholarship by the Catholic Daughters of America of St. Peter's Catholic Church. The error is regretted.

State, County Crime Activity Up Slightly

Maryland State Police Superintendent Colonel Larry W. Tolliver announced this week that crime in Maryland rose slightly in the first half of 1994, but that the number of violent crimes was down significantly.

Overall, crime throughout the state rose less than one percent (.57%) in the first six months of this year, as compared to the same time period last year. Garrett County's crime index showed an increase of 1.8 percent, with 337 cases, compared to 331 during the same period last year.

In the state figures, the violent crimes of murder, forcible rape, robbery, and aggravated assault dropped four percent. The largest decrease was in the number of murders, which fell 11 percent.

Property crimes continue to rise, as cases of breaking and entering, larceny, and motor vehicle theft, as a group, rose one percent. Motor vehicle thefts climbed 23 percent, or by 3,500 incidents, during the first half of the year.

In Garrett County, increases were noted in cases of rape (0 to 4), aggravated assault (16 to 26), breaking and entering (71 to 87), motor vehicle theft (10 to 23), and arson (1 to 4). Decreases were recorded in murder crime, as did the Eastern (1 to 0), robbery (2 to 0), Shore and Southern Maryland (241 to 197), land regions, while the Western Maryland, Baltimore and Washington metro areas edged higher.

OPEN LETTER TO THE CITIZENS OF GARRETT COUNTY

Throughout this campaign it has been my goal to deal with issues important to the people of Garrett County. The issue of service fees has never been a matter of controversy despite its being in place for more than 50 years. Ironically, the issue being raised at this time is politically motivated by an individual who had worked for two sheriffs and was completely aware of this practice. By his previous silence, he obviously agreed with this longstanding policy.

Additional irony lies in the fact that it is partly because of my testimony recommending a change in this practice to two different Salary Commissions that the policy has been altered.

For at least 50 years, individuals using the sheriff's office for the service of private court papers have been asked to bear the expense of that service- rather than using taxpayers' dollars- to supplement the sheriff's salary. This policy was implemented to bring the salary of the Garrett County Sheriff more in line with other sheriffs in the state.

Effective January 1, 1995, that practice will be discontinued based on the recommendations by the Salary Review Commission, which is a nonpartisan commission composed of seven individuals representing various local organizations, selected by their respective organizations as required by law and created to review compensation to elected officials. The county commissioners have adopted that recommendation and placed it into law. Under the new ordinance, any service fees collected will go into the general county fund. This policy change came about, in part, after I recommended to two different salary commissions over the past four years that the practice should be changed.

In July of 1994 the Chief Investigator for the Office of the State Prosecutor was asked to conduct an inquiry and his findings in part read:

"I have consulted with the State Prosecutor in this matter. It is his opinion that since the county officials charged with budgeting for the Sheriff's Office were aware of the practice, as well as the Clerk of the Court through whom the fees passed, the practice was devoid of any deception or corrupt motive. Therefore, the State Prosecutor has declined to initiate a criminal investigation."

(Chief Investigator James Cabezas)

Because there was nothing illegal and this had been an established practice with all previous sheriffs, the Office of the State Prosecutor found no reason to take action.

It is my genuine hope that we can continue to address the important issues facing our county. Over the past nine years, I have implemented programs that address public safety, fight drug abuse, educate our children, combat domestic violence and deal with the concerns of our senior citizens. With your help, I will continue and expand these programs for the next four years as your sheriff.

Items Stolen

The theft was reported on Aug. 15 by Johnny Hershberger, the home owner. Sometime on Aug.

13 or 14, culprits entered the unfinished house through an unsecured rear door. They removed numerous items, including a whirlpool bathtub, several commodes, and lumber.

Shaffer said Hershberger was recently informed that the loss is not covered by his insurance.

Any person with information about this crime is urged to contact Shaffer at the sheriff's office at 334-1911.

Officers are also investigating the apparent breaking and entering of a vacation home on Lake Forest Drive, John P. Friel, Pittsburgh, Pa., contacted the sheriff's office on Aug. 28 to report that unknown persons had entered the home after breaking a window at the rear of the house. The screen on the front door was also torn.

Once inside, the perpetrators rummaged through the rooms and removed the following: a quilt, clock radio, telephone, Sony cassette stereo, compact discs, tapes, $20 in cash, beer, wine, and liquor. The loss has been estimated at $437, according to the report.

Friel and his wife, Charlene, had last been at the house on Aug. 7.

In a third case, Lisa A. Bowers, Keyser, W. Va., reported the loss/theft of a video camera. Bowers had gone to Uno's Restaurant on Aug. 27 and after being called into the restaurant when her table was ready, she apparently left her video camera on the walkway outside. She reported that she did not remember having left the camera until the next morning.

Bowers then contacted the restaurant, and no one at the establishment had seen the camera nor had anyone brought it into the front desk. The equipment is worth $735, according to the report.

Maryland Closes Fiscal Year '94 In The Black

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein has announced that Maryland ended fiscal year June 30, 1994 in the black with a $105 million fund balance.

Under Generally Accepted Accounting Principles the comptroller transferred $45 million of the fund balance to Maryland's reserve funds, leaving a surplus of $60,016,033. Goldstein said, "This is a sound financial management practice used to guarantee that funds will always be available to pay local governments their share of the income tax and for other state obligations."

"These figures show Maryland's economy is improving and that consumer and business confidence grew during fiscal year 1994," said Goldstein.

Maryland experienced employment growth of 21,300 jobs, or slightly more than one percent of total employment during fiscal year 1994.

"That's the best record since 1990," Goldstein said. "Job growth has mainly been in the business service, construction, and retail sectors."

Personal income grew by 4.6% through the first three quarters of fiscal year 1994.

"The surplus is largely due to a surge in lottery revenues, growth in employment, and increased consumer confidence," Goldstein said.

Actual revenues exceeded estimates by $83,700,000. In fiscal year 1994, corporation and individual income taxes produced $3.4 billion, or $5.6 million more than expected; sales taxes produced $1.8 billion, or $8.6 million more than expected, and the Maryland State Lottery yielded $353 million, or $38.7 million more than expected.

"The growth in employment withholding tax indicates that employment is improving and that more Marylanders have arranged their withholding to avoid owing additional tax on April 15," Goldstein said. "It also appears that corporation estimated tax payments are increasing, indicating a vote of confidence from the business community for the current fiscal year."

Catholic Charities: A Safe Haven For The Hurting

A guest feature by Mary Theresa Webb, PhD

All of us carry hurts which remain unhealed. Sometimes these hurts surface at times of crisis, loss, or change in our lives. If these hurts begin to affect day-to-day living for us or someone we care about in any or all of the following ways then Catholic Charities is a social service agency available to anyone, regardless of race, color, or creed, that can provide professional help.

1. Do you often feel hopeless?

2. Are you sleeping more or less than usual?

3. Are you having trouble concentrating?

4. Do you feel trapped in a web or surrounded by a wall and cannot get out?

5. Do you blame others and want revenge?

6. Do you have frequent crying spells or do you feel angry, resentful, or bitter much of the time?

7. Do you have recurring nightmares, migraine headaches, intestinal disorders, or other stress-related physical health problems?

8. Do you often feel isolated or disconnected?

9. Do you ever think it is not worth living any more?

10. Has anyone ever told you that you eat too much or too little?

11. Has anyone ever told you that you drink too much, that your alcohol or tobacco use is a problem for them (and for you)?

12. Do you believe God and others have let you down?

If you answered yes to any of these questions, you can get back on the track to a fuller, happier, and more productive life by calling (301) 777-8688 today to schedule a time to see a professional therapist. All counseling sessions are provided in a strictly confidential manner.

Catholic Charities, the headquarters of which is in Baltimore, reaches out to nine counties in Maryland to provide healing and to meet social service needs. Its Western Maryland counseling service is available to Garrett Countians at three different church locations, in Oakland, McHenry, and Grantsville. A sliding scale fee for its professional counseling service is determined by gross monthly income and numbers of family members serviced.

Why should you not just confide in your clergyman or a friend when you are hurting? Sharing your hurts with someone else is important. However, a qualified counselor is trained to assess and to treat your particular needs. There are a variety of therapeutic disciplines.

1. Psychiatrists (MD): Medical doctors with a specialty in treating brain related diseases. In addition to their medical degrees, they are required to complete a two year residency in psychiatry. Most treat with pharmacological as well as psychotherapeutic interventions. Psychiatrists are licensed and certified by boards of other physicians in their specialties.

2. Psychologists (PhD): Mental health specialists, who have passed state and national examinations, have earned graduate doctorate degrees with two years of supervised training. Their training enables them to do psychotherapeutic interventions to treat individuals who have emotional and psychological problems. They can diagnose but cannot prescribe medications.

3. Social Workers: They also receive special training and licensing to do individual, family, and marital counseling. On occasion they make home visits. There are four designations of social workers: LSWA, licensed social worker who has a bachelor's degree; LGSW, licensed social worker with master's degree; LCSW, a licensed social worker with a minimum of 3,000 hours of supervised social work; LCSW-C, in addition to LCSW requirements this credential social worker has an additional 144 hours of direct clinical supervision.

4. Pastoral Counselors (MDiv, PhD, STL): Lay or clergy persons in religious life who have up to four years of professional training with 300 hours of direct clinical supervision. They are certified to do individual, family, and marital counseling, involving contract or fee.

5. Certified Nurse Psychotherapists (CNP, RN, MS, CS): Registered nurse with a master's in nursing and concentration in psychiatric nursing. They also have to pass an examination by a state board in nursing.

6. Addictions Counselors (CAC, CADC, CCDC, CCAC): Specialists in treating chemical dependency or related diseases. They need to meet set requirements training and 2000 supervised clinical hours administered by a state addictions board. They also must pass an examination administered by this board. Most receive their training in supervised substance abuse treatment centers. Some have special training to treat eating disorders.

7. Certified Professional Counselors (CPC): These counselors have a masters or doctorate degree, two to three years professional experience, and have passed a state examination.

8. Marriage and Family Therapists (MFT): Any of the above may also have passed the credentialing process to be recognized by the Association of Marriage and Family Therapists, having met their standards in advanced clinical skills.

In all of the above counseling disciplines, these specialists must hold themselves accountable to strict standards of ethics, keep confidentiality, make sure that their personal issues are not detrimental to their clients, carry professional insurance, be willing to seek supervision and to refer when appropriate to do so. Their professional training qualifies them to be healers. They will do an intake, or take some form of a bio-psycho-social-history, make an assessment, diagnose, and set treatment goals and objectives for change.

Catholic Charities, Inc., raises funds to offer personalized, compassionate counseling services for individuals, families, and couples who are experiencing all kinds of problems. To make an appointment or make a referral, call (301) 777-8688.

JUST PLAIN FOLKS

Folk art is a hard-to-define term that refers to work by untrained artists. It could be an oil painting, or a hand-decorated chair, a cleverly designed tool or even an unusual garden gate. Collectors search for folk art examples that show the maker had a special talent and created a unique piece.

A rare, early 19th-century iron cabbage cutter is a great example. The cutter is shaped in the form of a lady holding a crescent moon-shaped cutting table. Only two in this pattern are known to exist.

But folk art isn't really determined by age. Look at the handmade pieces you find in shops and yard sales. You may find some 20th-century folk pieces at bargain prices.

Q. I have a Chinese porcelain teapot with the matching small dish it fits on. They are at least 200 years old. According to our family history, they belonged to a set of dishes that came to this country from China before the Revolution. The plate must have been broken because it is now held together with little metal strips that look like big staples. Can I have it taken apart and repaired in some way?

A. A new restoration would be less obvious but you might consider leaving the plate with its staples and history. The early way to mend china was to use rivets which were thin strips of round wire or cut metal. Small holes were drilled in the china, then the rivets were inserted and held in place with plaster or glue. Old formulas for glue included garlic, cheese, milk, horse dung or blood. Because it must have been expensive for a traveling tinker to mend a broken dish, a mended dish could be worth more than an intact dish.

Q. I noticed that the artist who did the posters for Super Bowl XXVIII was Peter Max. I have a colorful 1960s silk scarf signed by Peter Max. Is that the same artist? Does it have a value?

A. Yes. Collectors started buying Peter Max posters a few years ago. Look for ceramics and textiles as well as posters or advertising he created. A scarf sells for over $75.

Home Tips

ALTERNATE EGGS — On alternate purchases, I buy white eggs and then brown eggs. I load them into my refrigerator egg tray and use the least numerous of one egg color before starting on the other color. This avoids mixing old and new eggs and ending up with stale or less-appetizing eggs. Sarah L. Orlando, Fla.

RECIPE HOLDER — My daughter recently bought a photo album. I thought it would be a great idea to use one for my recipe cards. The slots for photos are the right size for recipe cards and the plastic keeps the cards clean. If I use a recipe and don't like it, out it comes and I have room for something else to try. No more messy cards or time lost trying to locate a recipe. Mona K., Brownsville, Texas BAKING PAN MAGIC — When a recipe calls for lining the baking pan with foil or waxed paper, I discovered that if you turn the baking pan upside down, place the foil or waxed paper over the bottom of the pan and with your fingernail, form a slight crease along the edges of the pan, then the paper lining can be easily slipped into the pan when it is right side up. Wendy F., Manchester, N.H.

ROLL 'EM — I have a tip for those using the older type of wooden rolling pin. I have one that was made for my grandmother when she was married in 1895. I just can't give it up because of the weight. I now spray non-stick vegetable spray over the entire rolling pin when I make pie crusts. It works great — no sticking, and if it does, I repeat the process if I have a lot of dough to roll out. Debbie S., Omaha, Neb.

SCAMS UPDATED: As readers of this column know, I try to keep you advised of the various scams that are perpetrated against seniors. Although some may differ with me, I consider these con artists as the worst kind of thieves who deserve nothing less than to be put in jail for many years. They not only take money, they also scar the soul. It isn't easy to recover from an experience in which your trust in another human being is brutally betrayed.

The most recent scam report comes from New York State where, according to the Associated Press, the Attorney General is cracking down on a telemarketer accused of swindling elderly people with promises of cars, washing machines, and other sweepstakes prizes.

The scheme involves trolling for victims nationwide. When they click in to a vulnerable senior, they tell that person that she or he has won a valuable sweepstakes prize, and only needs to buy something for at least $500 to claim it.

Some victims have sent in thousands of dollars to claim these "valuable" prizes. One 89-year-old man parted with $1,900 and received a few bottles of cheap perfume in return. Another woman bought $980 worth of goods to claim her $10,000 prize, and got a few letter openers.

These companies use a "sucker list" of victims, many of whom are scammed many times over by various scheme masters or by the same company using different names.

A typical spiel consists of the company "reminding" their victim that they'd entered a contest some time before. Or, they're told, maybe someone entered for them. In any event, they were now "definitely" winners of a car, jewelry, $5,000 in cash, an expensive appliance, etc. To claim the prize, the victim agrees to buy a "guaranteed" product from the company. Often the product that's sent is a cheap gawgaw, or nothing.

If you believe you may have been scammed, alert your state's Attorney General immediately.

Health & Nutrition

by Judith Sheldon

YOUR FOOD COULD KILL YOU: The Institute for Science in Society has issued a warning about infected meat and poultry that should make everyone in the United States be as concerned as the Institute is for the health and well-being of the population.

The ISIS report, "The Risk of Getting Sick from Bacteria in Meat and Poultry" exposes wide gaps in our national "food safety net." The ISIS points out, for example, that the industry continues to use an 80-year-old inspection program based on sight, touch, and smell in slaughterhouses and processing plants to judge the safety of the product. This is not only an outdated process, it is potentially a dangerous one, allowing for the inspectors to reject only two percent or less of carcasses examined for visible contamination.

It's important to understand that bacteria are invisible to the naked eye. They can only be detected with the help of microbiological tests. The ISIS is calling for mandatory microbiological standards and testing at each stage of the food system, from farm to table.

How much will all this add to your food bill? It's possible there will be some pass-along, of course. But we're already paying a high price for the treatment of those infected with these bacteria. It's also important to realize that many of us are part of an especially high risk group, or have high risk persons in our families. For example, those most likely to suffer severe consequences of bacteria contamination include pregnant women, young children, the elderly, people with weakened immune systems — such as cancer survivors — and diabetics.

Contact your senator or congressman and insist the government make this a priority matter.

Just A Few Things That Did Not Exist Before Asa Became Mayor

The new bridge over the railroad is not only functional but a work of art that has inspired the town and other businesses to improve sidewalks and lighting.

All of this could not have happened without the hard work of Mayor McCain. He completed the sewer system lifting the 15 year moratorium which had not allowed for any development.

The town water system improvements allowed for expanded growth in fire protection. This was completed one week before the downtown fire just in time to prevent even further losses.

Did he build them himself? Of course not, but he provided the leadership and contributed to the teamwork to spark growth when the economy was at its worst.

The completion of the sewer system has cleaned up the Little Yough River. Not only is it now stocked with trout but kayakers start off here on their way down river to Swallow Falls.

Community projects have flourished like the church social hall above. Expansion is also seen at the American Legion and the Elks allowing community get-togethers.

New building starts have seen renewed neighborhoods as well as to provide elderly housing like Underwood South.

Franchises like McDonald's, Donny's, and Subway have sprung up overnight.

Banking institutions have sprung up or expanded like Wepec, First Federal and the American Trust Bank.

Service businesses like Sheetz and the car wash have flourished.

Nominations For Women's Hall Of Fame Sought

The Maryland Commission for Women is seeking nominations for the Maryland Women's Hall of Fame. According to the commission, "Nominees should represent women who have participated in shaping the state of Maryland, the nation, or the world and be examples for tomorrow's female leaders."

The Maryland Women's Hall of Fame was established in 1985 to recognize the contributions of female Marylanders to society and to promote positive role models for future generations of Maryland women. Up to five women are inducted into the hall each year.

Criteria for induction into the Hall of Fame dictates that nominees must be native-born Marylanders or current residents. Also, the social contribution of a nominee must extend beyond her own community.

In a call for nominations issued recently, Phyllis B. Trickett, chair of the Maryland Commission for Women, and Donna L. Selby, chair of the Maryland Women's Hall of Fame, stated that "a selection committee representing a cross section of citizens of the state will review the nominations and make recommendations to the commission. After final review and approval, the commission will announce the inductees and the Governor will spotlight their contributions in a ceremony in their honor in March of 1995."

The Hall of Fame is co-sponsored by the commission and by the Women Legislators of the Maryland General Assembly.

Nomination forms are available at the Ruth Elbow Library or from commission members. Persons seeking more information may contact Joanne Saltzberg, Commission for Women office, at (410) 767-7137.

"It Could Be You..."

"My employer must reduce his labor force. Will I be one of those who must leave? How would I meet my obligations?"

"I have discovered I have a serious illness. Suppose I am unable to function? Could I survive on disability benefits?"

"I have made a serious error. My boss wants to see me in his office! I'm really nervous. Will I be terminated?"

Have you survived feelings that your life could be blown apart? If so, you probably go to work each day with a thankful heart. If you have fortunately escaped those anxious times, you may reflect briefly upon these very real possibilities and be especially grateful for your place in our work force.

This Labor Day, may we thank God each day for our health, our talents, and our workplace. Also, may we pray for those who are dependent, not because of choice but because of circumstances. "...whatever is gracious, think about these things" (Philippians 4:8). Think about it. It could be you.

THE SCARLET CORD

September 4, 1994

Background Scripture: Joshua 1 through 2

Devotional Reading: Joshua 1:1-9

When I was in junior high, I idolized my pastor, Mark J. Steirwald. If it had not been for him—a pretty brunette named "Jackie"—I wouldn't have been part of that church. At first, I went there because Jackie was there, I stayed there because Pastor Steirwald showed me that one can be a Christian and still have fun. Up to that time it was my perception that churches were grim places where people looked unhappy and acted negatively.

When, a few years later, Mark Steirwald died suddenly of a heart attack, I was devastated. When it was announced that he would be succeeded by the Rev. Paul Price, I was certain that he could not possibly fill Pastor Steirwald's shoes. And he didn't; in fact, he never tried to. He went on, rather, to perform his ministry differently than his predecessor, but no less successfully. So, both of these men, each in his own way, had a tremendous effect upon my life and ultimately my own ministry.

I can appreciate, then, what may have loomed large in the minds of the people of Israel when, upon the death of Moses, it was announced that Joshua would be his successor. Certainly there must have been those who said, "He can never be the leader Moses was!", who thought that with Moses gone they would never see the promised land.

"WITH YOU"
But, whatever doubts and fears there might have been, Israel followed Joshua's leadership. God's special servant, Moses, was gone, but God was still with them. The promise God had made to Moses was renewed with Joshua. "Every place that the sole of your foot will tread upon I have given to you, as I promised Moses" (1:3).

Law Enforcement Program At GCC Attracts Students

In a community like Garrett County where the rate of violent crime is far below the national average, interest in law enforcement as a career appears to be growing, if enrollment in Garrett Community College's new Law Enforcement program is any indication.

According to Dr. Lillian Mitchell, dean of academic affairs, a number of students have already enrolled in the program and more are expected to enroll before the start of classes September 7. The 30-credit hour program includes four specific law enforcement courses, two of which are scheduled in the fall semester. "We are fortunate to have two top law enforcement professionals teaching these courses," Dr. Mitchell stated, "They will bring many years of training and broad experience to the classroom."

Lt. Charles Hinnant, commander of the McHenry Barracks of the Maryland State Police, will teach the Intro to Law Enforcement course on Thursday evenings, and Garrett County Sheriff Van Evans will teach the Law Enforcement and Community Relations courses on Tuesday evenings.

Sheriff Evans, who graduated from GCC's first Law Enforcement program, recently expressed his views of the program and the course he will teach. "The Law Enforcement program will give students an opportunity to learn about the public safety profession and hopefully will help them make a knowledgeable career choice in the future," he said.

About the Law Enforcement and Community Relations course, he said, "It will be an opportunity for me to relate first hand how the office of sheriff has to be in touch with all aspects of our community and the entire population, from very young children to senior citizens because the sheriff is the only chief law enforcement officer chosen by the voters."

OVER 1,000 PEOPLE attended the recent Family Fun Day held by the Garrett County Memorial Hospital Foundation at the Garrett County Fairgrounds in McHenry. One of the many attractions was the tethered hot air balloon rides provided by Fun Aviation, Morgantown, W.Va. The balloon rides were made available through sponsorship by American Trust Bank, Beachy Lumber Company, the Deep Creek Lions Club, First United National Bank & Trust, Gregg's Pharmacy, Oakland New Car Dealers Association, Bailey Realty, and Silver Tree Inn. Providing music at the event were members of the Garrett Community College Pipes and Drums, Jack Beard and Judge Fred Thayer, pictured right. Below is a photo of the Maryland State Police Medevac helicopter, which circled the fairgrounds and then landed to allow patrons to get an interior view of the aircraft.

Students can still register for the law enforcement classes at Student Assistance Center Monday through Thursdays until 6:20 p.m. and on Fridays until 4 p.m. Anyone desiring further information may call the Student Assistance Center at 387-3044.

DNR Announces Golden Adventures For 50+ Group

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR), State Forest and Park Service will sponsor "Golden Adventures" for individuals over the age of 50.

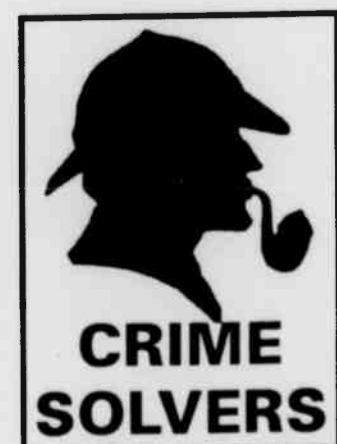

"Golden Adventures are for those 'outdoor' people who wait for all the crowds to be gone and the kids to go back to school," a DNR spokesperson said.

These activities will be held at Deep Creek Lake State Park at 4 p.m. on Wednesdays, Sept. 7, 14, and 21. The events are being sponsored by the Silver Tree Inn, which will provide discount dinners to all participants.

Canoing on Deep Creek Lake will be offered on Wednesday, Sept. 7. Spaces are limited, so participants are asked to call to register. A lake history hike will take place on Sept. 14, and a two and a half mile hike to the Brant Mine will end the series on Sept. 21.

For more information, persons may contact Diane Miller at 387-5563.

The Garrett County Crime Solvers organization is currently seeking information on the following breaking, entering, and theft.

Between the dates of July 17-28, unknown persons broke into the residence of Bonny Kellner, located on Hloyes Run Road. Once inside, the suspects stole a Magnavox VCR and a Radio Shack Home Minder computer.

The culprits entered the home by breaking out glass in the front door. The loss in this case is in excess of $650.

Small Business Survival Class Offered At GCC

Starting a small business can be overwhelming and the majority of small businesses fail during the first five years. The Small Business Administration encourages anyone thinking about starting a small business to improve the chance for success by learning the basics before getting the business underway. Several short classes that have been designed to provide potential business owners with this opportunity will be offered at Garrett Community College this fall.

The first class, "Record Management for Small Businesses," will meet on September 26 and October 3 from 6:30 to 9:45 p.m. and will be taught by Jeffrey Bell, president of Financial Advantage. The class will focus on how to set up the basic record-keeping requirements for a business. Topics will include inventory and personnel records, receipts and disbursements, and tax forms.

"Introduction to Small Business" will meet October 10 and 17 from 6:30 to 9:45 p.m. Key topics for this class will include start-up considerations, marketing, financing, management and various types of ownership.

"Developing a Business Plan and Finances for the Small Business," the third class in the series, will focus on developing a business plan, types of financing available, financial statement analysis, business taxes, cash flow analysis and budgeting. This class will meet on four consecutive Mondays from October 24 through November 14 from 6:30 to 9:45 p.m.

Bell, who will be instructing all three courses, provides complete financial support for small companies as owner of Financial Advantage. He worked previously in the area of commercial lending and in various accounting and financial management positions with General Electric.

These GCC classes are planned to offer practical learning experiences which can immediately be "put to work" in business, according to a GCC spokesman. They are co-sponsored by the Continuing Education Division of GCC, the Small Business Administration and the Western Maryland Small Business Development Center.

All classes will be held at the McHenry Campus of Garrett Community College. Since space is limited, those interested in attending should register immediately. To register or obtain additional information, persons may call Sandy Major or Ruth Pinter at the GCC Small Business Development Center at 387-3101 or 387-3080.

IMPROVEMENTS AT DEEP CREEK WILL REQUIRE TEMPORARY LOWERING OF LAKE'S WATER LEVEL

Penelec, owner of Deep Creek Lake and the Deep Creek Hydroelectric Station, has started to make improvements at the lake and power station.

This work will require the lake to be drawn down to lower-than-normal levels in September and October.

Work to repair the lake's primary spillway, a structure that helps control the flow of excess water from the lake, began in mid-July and will continue through November.

In addition, Penelec plans to build two water-control structures, a flow bypass and a tailrace weir, near the station — measures designed to enhance the fishery in the Youghiogheny River. The flow bypass will help maintain water flow in the Youghiogheny during low-water times.

The tailrace weir will improve the oxygen content of water discharged from the plant by aerating the water as it splashes through the W-shaped concrete structure.

Work on the flow bypass and tailrace weir is set to begin in October and is expected to extend into November.

Work on all three projects will require the lake's water level to be lowered. The water level will be lowered by four feet, from an elevation of 2,458 feet on Labor Day to an elevation of 2,454 feet on Oct. 3. At or near the lower elevation, boaters may experience some inconveniences.

Boat owners are advised to take the necessary docking precautions before the water level is reduced. Unattended boats could become stranded. After Oct. 3, the lake's water level will be uncontrolled as a result of a temporary shutdown of the power plant. The water level could rise rapidly in the event of heavy rainfall.

The relatively rapid drawdown will provide frequent white-water boating conditions on the Youghiogheny River from Sept. 5 through Oct. 3 as water from the lake is released into the river. There will be no release of water to the river from Oct. 3 through November because the hydroelectric plant will be shut down.

With gifts to buy, cookies to bake, friends and relatives to entertain, the holidays are usually the busiest time of the year. You can make the most of this busy season by choosing a simple, yet elegant holiday menu that's filled with the abundance and good flavors of a traditional feast — without the fuss.

Start the festivities by welcoming your guests with Warm Brie with Date-Walnut Confetti — a delicious appetizer that can be prepared in minutes. Simply soften a round of Brie in the microwave and top with a make-ahead mixture of California dates, toasted walnuts and green onions. Serve this with crisp crackers or a loaf of crusty French bread.

For the main course, choose a boneless beef roast that cooks virtually unattended alongside the Dijon Potatoes au Gratin. No one will believe how easy these impressive dishes are to prepare once they taste the juicy roast beef and tangy potatoes. Just rub the roast with garlic and rosemary and place it on a rack in a roasting pan in the oven. Then update traditional potatoes au gratin with a savory sauce made with Dijon mustard.

While the roast and potatoes are in the oven, toss together a salad of mixed greens. Just before serving, drizzle with a refreshing, zesty blend of lemon, parsley and velvety Dijon mustard dressing.

For the finale, serve scrumptious California Sugarplums and fresh fruit. Whole California dates, with their caramel-like flavor, are an ideal holiday dessert when stuffed with whole almonds and dipped in tasty toppings. For added ease and convenience, the sugarplums can be made a day or two ahead of time.

With this fuss-free menu, you can relax and enjoy your wonderful holiday dinner.

A Festive Feast Made Simple

Warm Brie with Date-Walnut Confetti

Makes 8 servings

- 1 pound Brie cheese wheel, chilled
- 1 2 cup pitted California Dates
- 1 4 cup sliced green onions
- 1 4 cup walnuts, coarsely chopped and toasted
- 1 tablespoon butter, melted
- 1 teaspoon chopped parsley
- Crackers or sliced French bread

Place Brie on a large microwavable serving plate. Microwave on HIGH (100% power) for 45 to 60 seconds or until cheese just begins to soften. In small bowl, toss dates, green onions and walnuts with melted butter. Spoon date mixture over top of softened cheese and sprinkle with parsley. Serve immediately with crackers or French bread.

Cook's Tip: To warm Brie in oven, place on baking sheet. Bake at 300 F for 10 minutes, or until cheese begins to soften. Transfer to serving platter with large spatula.

California Sugarplums

Makes about 60 sugarplums

- 3 cups pitted California Dates (about 60)
- 1 1 2 cups whole almonds, toasted
- 1 4 cup sugar
- 1 2 teaspoon grated lemon peel
- 1 4 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1 2 cup semisweet chocolate chips, melted
- 1 2 cup shredded coconut, toasted
- 1 2 cup vanilla milk chips, melted
- Assorted fresh fruit pieces

Slice each date open lengthwise. Stuff dates with almonds.

Lemon-Cinnamon Dates: In small bowl, mix sugar, lemon peel and cinnamon. Dampen 20 stuffed dates with a wet paper towel, roll in sugar mixture.

Chocolate-Coconut Dates: Dip 20 stuffed dates halfway into melted semisweet chocolate; sprinkle with coconut. Place on waxed paper-lined plate and refrigerate for 15 minutes to harden chocolate.

White Chocolate Dates: Dip remaining stuffed dates halfway into melted vanilla milk chips, allowing excess to drip off. Place on waxed paper-lined plate and refrigerate for 15 minutes to harden chocolate; drizzle with additional melted semisweet chocolate, if desired.

To serve, arrange sugarplums on serving platter with fresh fruit. Store leftover sugarplums in tightly covered container.

Dijon Potatoes au Gratin

Makes 6 servings

- 1 3 cup chopped green onions
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1 1 2 cups light cream or half-and-half
- 1 3 to 1 2 cup Grey Poupon Dijon Mustard
- 2 3 cup shredded Cheddar cheese, divided
- 2 tablespoons chopped parsley, divided
- 2 pounds baking potatoes, peeled and thinly sliced
- 1 tablespoon grated Parmesan cheese
- 1 tablespoon pimientos, optional

In medium saucepan, saute onions and garlic in butter until tender. Reduce heat to low and stir in cream, mustard and 1/3 cup Cheddar cheese; cook and stir until cheese melts and mixture is smooth. Remove from heat and stir in 1 tablespoon parsley.

In greased 8-inch square baking dish, layer 1/3 each of the potatoes and cream sauce. Repeat layers twice, ending with cream sauce. Sprinkle top with remaining Cheddar cheese, Parmesan cheese and pimientos if desired. Bake at 325 F for 60 to 70 minutes or at 350 F for 50 to 60 minutes or until potatoes are tender. Let stand 5 minutes before serving; garnish with remaining parsley.

Mixed Salad with Lemon Parsley Dijon Dressing

Makes 6 to 8 servings

- 1 2 cup olive oil
- 1 4 cup Grey Poupon Dijon Mustard
- 1 4 cup fresh lemon juice
- 2 tablespoons chopped fresh parsley
- 2 tablespoons minced shallots
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1 4 teaspoon coarsely ground black pepper
- 6 cups mixed torn salad greens (romaine, radicchio, bibb, endive, watercress)
- 1 2 cup cherry tomatoes, halved
- 1 2 cup artichoke hearts, quartered
- 1 3 cup sliced mushrooms
- Carrot curls, for garnish

In small bowl, whisk oil, mustard, lemon juice, parsley, shallots, sugar, Worcestershire, garlic and pepper. Cover and chill for at least 1 hour.

In large bowl, layer salad greens, tomatoes, artichoke hearts and mushrooms. To serve, garnish with carrot curls, serve with dressing.

Garlic Rosemary Rub

(As shown on Beef Roast)

Combine 2 cloves crushed garlic, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon rosemary leaves and 1 teaspoon cracked black pepper; rub evenly over surface of beef roast. Makes enough seasoning mix for 4- to 6-pound beef roast. Recipe may be doubled.

Peppercorn Dijon Glaze

Blend 1/3 cup Grey Poupon Dijon Mustard, 1 teaspoon coarsely cracked mixed peppercorns (black, white, green and pink), 1 clove garlic, crushed, and 1 teaspoon lemon juice. Brush evenly over surface of beef roast. Makes enough mixture for 4- to 6-pound beef roast. Recipe may be doubled.

Beef Roasting Timetable For Holiday Entertaining

When deciding how large a roast to buy for holiday meals, plan to serve 4 to 6 ounces of cooked beef per person to satisfy holiday appetites. A boneless beef roast will yield approximately three 4-ounce or two 6-ounce cooked, trimmed servings per pound.

1. Place roast (straight from refrigerator) fat side up on rack in open shallow roasting pan.
2. Season beef before cooking.
3. Insert meat thermometer into thickest part of roast, not resting in fat or touching bone.

4. Do not add water. Do not cover.
5. Roast to 5° to 10° below desired doneness.
6. Allow roast to stand 15 to 20 minutes before serving. Temperature will continue to rise to desired doneness. Roast will also be easier to carve.

1994 Garrett County Primary Election Voters' Guide

The Republican and the Garrett County League of Women Voters present this guide with hopes of assisting local voters in making their selections when they enter the ballot booth during the Maryland Primary Election on Tuesday, Sept. 13.

The answers to the questions presented by the League to the candidates appear on these pages with no changes whatsoever. Spelling and grammatical errors by the candidates were not corrected by our proofreaders.

There were some candidates whose responses are not included because either they did not reply to the questions at all, or they submitted their replies too late for publication.

Governor

Questions for Candidates
(50-word limit)

1. What should be the role of the State government in regulating land use and managing growth, considering the impacts on economic development, on private property rights, and on degradation or preservation of the environment?
2. To what extent should state financing be used to offset inequities in local funding of education? What are your views on privatization?
3. How would you reform the welfare system to reduce long-term dependence on it without jeopardizing the well-being of children?
4. Concerning health care, what are your views and positions on (1) universal coverage, (2) coverage for reproductive health, including prenatal care, family planning, and abortion, (3) financing by employer-employee contributions, and (4) cost controls?
5. What is your position on licensing gun owners and registration of guns? What approaches would you advocate for the prevention and control of crime?
6. What are your views on campaign financing and spending limitations, term limits, ethics in public office, and lobbyists' reporting laws?
7. What are the most important issues facing our state and how would you respond to them?

Republicans

Helen Delich Bentley

1. Land use and growth management regulations serve to protect communities and the environment, and we must consider all these factors. These controls should be primarily the responsibility of local jurisdictions. I see a state role when necessary to address issues of regional concern, such as protection of the Chesapeake Bay.
2. A strong public school system is a cornerstone of democracy; every Maryland student is entitled to a quality education. The present funding formula affects the imbalance in local education funding. Taxpayers deserve greater accountability from the school bureaucracies. Privatization pilot programs should be evaluated as an alternative for failing schools.
3. Breaking the cycle of welfare dependence must be the primary goal of reform. This includes teaching personal responsibility, time limits, and a benefits cap. Savings from reform must be directed to job training and economic development, so that every child can be a part of a self-sufficient family.
4. We must address issues such as preexisting conditions and portability without jeopardizing a system that satisfies 85% of Americans. New taxes in the guise of reform cannot drive small companies out of business. Maryland has been a leader in cost containment, and I oppose federal mandates that interfere with this.
5. Citizens who obey the laws are not the people who use guns to commit crimes. As Governor, I will stop parole for violent criminals, appoint judges who will issue tough sentences and respect the rights of victims, will enact laws to permanently incarcerate repeat violent felons and drug kingpins.
6. Maryland recently enacted new campaign finance limitations. These laws must be allowed to operate for at least one full election cycle before determining whether further reforms are needed. Public officials and lobbyists must be held to the highest of standards and should be made to file reasonable disclosure reports.
7. As Governor, Helen Bentley will work to create jobs, enact tough criminal justice reforms and end the cycle of welfare dependence. We need to reinvigorate the state's business climate by eliminating excessive regulations that hamper economic development. I will work to improve our education system to develop a workforce responsive

Ellen R. Sauerbrey

1. Government closest to home is most responsive to the needs of citizens. The state's role should be setting broad goals and influencing local policy by ensuring that economic development, housing, open space grants, state infrastructure monies, transportation planning, etc. consider growth management goals. Private property rights must be protected.
2. The problem in our schools is not lack of money. Many private schools succeed with half of the financing of the state's poorest public schools. I will reduce a top-heavy centralized bureaucracy and encourage competition in poorly performing school districts, such as new charter schools, tax credit and private management of failed schools.
3. I favor time limits for eligibility and identification of paternity for able bodied persons to collect cash benefits and denial of cash benefits for children born ten months after a woman enters the welfare system. However, I would provide health and nutrition services for their children and aggressive enforcement of child support obligations.
4. Insurance regulation should guarantee access renewal of coverage and portability between jobs; vouchers should assist working poor to access private insurance; I oppose employer mandates but would encourage the use of the medical IRA and standardization of forms for cost savings. I favor free market solutions that ensure that citizens retain choice of health plans and physicians.
5. Gun control doesn't work because only law-abiding citizens are affected, not the criminals. I have introduced measures such as mandatory sentencing in crimes involving firearms and truth in sentencing. We need better drug rehabilitation programs, and must integrate the juvenile justice system with the adult system for violent crimes.
6. Candidates should be required to raise the majority of funds from within their own district. I support term limits, and full disclosure for lobbyists which would include a cap on total contributions and non-reportable gifts up to $100.
7. My top priorities are public safety and cutting the size and cost of government. My running mate has 37 years experience in law enforcement. He'll work with our criminal justice system to combat crime in Maryland. My proposed budget slows government growth, eliminates the deficit and gives business and taxpayers a tax reduction.

William S. Shepard

1. Under the State Planning Act of 1992, future growth will be channeled for the most part around existing population centers. This legislation implies a primary role for county and municipal authorities. The state must ensure complementary transportation and infrastructure responsibilities, in order to balance environmental needs of the Chesapeake Bay.
2. This is a state responsibility, for the Maryland Constitution requires a "thorough and efficient education" in public schools everywhere. We must see to it that education is of high quality throughout the State, or a lawsuit may force us to equalize funding. I oppose public money vouchers for private schools.
3. I regret that Governor Schaefer vetoed welfare legislation in 1994 that would have established a pilot program of workforce training. We must broaden such a program, put it into effect, and limit the time that welfare is available for the able-bodied.
4. I approve of Maryland's landmark 1993 legislation expanding health care coverage, but will implement it without a proliferating bureaucracy. Physician choice must be maintained. I do not favor mandates. Reproductive and prenatal health are important, to any holistic program, but not expanded abortion coverage.
5. I will prevent crime through strong executive action to create crime strike resources uniting state and local police resources, with concurrent jurisdiction for state troopers in drug interdiction and fighting organized crime. I will cooperate with federal and regional authorities to stop illegal gun trafficking and strengthen lawful gun privileges.
6. Campaign financing and spending limit laws must be tightened, as should lobbyist contributions. I favor local option laws for term limits. Ethics in public office must be the highest, and publicly seen to be the highest.
7. There is a crisis of confidence in Maryland's state government, with record popular disapproval for all involved. I am the only candidate for Governor who is not a career elected politician, but an experienced executive. We will tackle the environmental budget, taxes, crime, and education as experienced, caring executives.

Democrats

Don Allensworth

1. Non aggressive, enabling legislation to govern local governments, granting citizens equal rights to developers. New state law granting citizens equal appeals rights to developers in natural resources, environmental and wetlands areas. New policy requiring grants.
2. Present doesn't work. Figures in Washington County show our spending on school administrators to be 5, but outperformers 10.
3. Keep spending, especially Medicaid at current levels. I will not fund unfunded Medicaid growth. Support social services....
4. As much coverage as possible. Employer mandates on larger companies and non-profits. Cost controls on hospitals not doctors unless welfare.
5. No infringement on 2nd Amendment rights. I will protect these rights as governor.
6. Need to make conflict of interest a crime.
7. Waste disposal - Shut down Pulaski Highway Incinerator and Dickerson. Close down Hughesville.

Mary H. Boergers

1. We need to strike a balance between economic development and environmental protection. Environmental quality is critical to our quality of life and economic prosperity. The state government must be a leader and act as a clearinghouse as well as a catalyst for long-term growth, comprehensive planning and environmental protection.
2. Maryland must provide each child with a quality education. Education funding is a partnership between state and local governments. Equalization cannot occur, however, if local governments decrease their support as the state government increases its funding. I oppose privatization because our public schools need to be directly accountable to our citizens.
3. The Boergers' Administration will focus on getting welfare recipients back to work, and providing the job training, health care benefits and child care services needed for welfare recipients to gain long term employment, become self-sufficient and strengthen the family unit.
4. I support universal health care coverage for all citizens, which must provide coverage for reproductive health services, including abortion. I support employer-employee contributions as well as cost controls and believe that both can be achieved without sacrificing comprehensive health care coverage or quality of health.
5. I have consistently sponsored and supported legislation banning assault weapons and licensing gun owners. To reduce crime in Maryland, we need a comprehensive approach which includes programs and laws to eliminate the breeding grounds of criminals-violent homes. We also need tough measures such as truth-insentencing, three-strikes-and-you're-out, and enforcement of the death penalty.
6. I support campaign finance reform and spending limits. The office for which I am running already has a two-term limit. For other elected offices, I think voters should exercise their rights to impose term limits on election day. I have also sponsored legislation to bring about more frequent reporting of...
7. As Governor, I will first resolve Maryland's very serious fiscal problems. With this goal accomplished, the state will be able to comprehensively resolve three of its most important problems: ridding our state of violent crime, providing our children with the quality education they deserve, and creating an economic environment that is...

Walter Gilerist Finch

1. The State should have an overall comprehensive plan for land use and managing growth, which taken into consideration the past, present, and future impacts on economic development and including other factors, such as private property rights balanced with population growth.
2. The State should subsidize financing to offset inequities in local funding of education. All children should receive the best in the way of education. I favor privatization and will fight for it.
3. I would restrict the number of years that a person can be on welfare, and make adjustments for mothers with children who are unable to work. Welfare mothers should be educated for work to supplement their income.
4. I would favor 1) universal coverage of health care if it could be put on a sound and fair basis; 2) I am in favor of coverage for reproductive health, including prenatal care, family planning, and abortion if the pregnancy was caused by rape etc.; in favor of financing by equal or...
5. I am in favor of licensing of all gun owners and registration of guns. The guns must be taken off the streets and out of the hands of criminals or potential criminals. Use the National Guards and State Militia to supplement the Federal, State, and local police with increased expenditures....
6. I am in favor of decreasing campaign financing and spending limitations; full disclosure of all contributors, including PAC committees and corporations; the ethics in public office should be of the highest and enforced; limits should be decreased; and lobbyists' reporting laws should be strengthened.
7. The greatest problem related to educating our young people, to see they get the best education our state and local governments can afford. 2) Minimization of crime by better education of our young people; reducing crime by the latest state of the art equipment, adequate police force and severe penalties for...

Lawrence K. Freeman

1. The State government should be careful to protect the environment. However many of the claims by the environmentalist movement are based on completely unfounded scientific frauds. Real economic growth based on new technologies can solve any real concerns about the environment.
2. The State has responsibility to insure that every child is guaranteed a quality education in the public school system. I led the fight in Baltimore against the privatization schemes of Mayor Schmoke and Dr. Amprey, because the education of our children cannot be done effectively by private corporations motivated by profit.
3. The only way to really reform the welfare system is to expand the economy. With real economic growth by reinvigorating the Maryland economy I would create tens of thousands of high paying productive jobs. This would enable those on public assistance to raise their families at a decent standard of living.
4. I support universal coverage, which will require a massive increase in the entire health care industry. We cannot have cost control-managed health care run by the insurance companies. Only with a revitalized and growing economy can society afford the cost. I am morally opposed to so called family planning...
5. As a gun owner I am satisfied with the gun control laws in the state of Maryland and the constitutional rights of gun owners should be protected. It is false to believe that gun control will stop crime. It won't since the criminals get their guns illegally in the first place.
6. I am running a grassroots campaign with no financial support from any outside institutions, so I cannot be controlled. Unfortunately many of our elected officials lack a strong moral foundation and are demagogues who manipulate the fears of the population to win votes.
7. Number one, we must rebuild the economy. Number two, we must throw out the New Age outcome Based education that is destroying our educational system. Number three, we must wage a real war on drugs and not drug the African American community with more dope through the needle of exchange program.

Parris N. Glendening

1. Maryland should have a strong policy of directed growth to reduce sprawl, using incentives as we have in Prince George's County where we have a five-year property tax credit for investment in targeted older communities. Every state program should be reviewed to determine if it encourages sprawl or revitalization.
2. We must seek adequate funding to meet the potential of every child and to reduce funding disparities. To accomplish this in an affordable manner, state spending priorities must be changed. Though I have serious concerns about the viability of privatization as an effective school reform measure, I would not prevent...
3. By encouraging responsible behavior and providing quality education, effective job training, child care and health care coverage, we can make welfare a hand up instead of a handout. Good paying jobs with advancement opportunities are the best incentive to get people off of welfare.
4. I believe that all Marylanders are entitled to reasonable, affordable health care, which should be funded in a way that does not harm business and job growth. I also support prenatal care, family planning and Medicaid funding for abortion.
5. We need to put more police on the streets & expand community-based policing, improve Maryland's education system & increase economic opportunity, and support community crime prevention efforts such as boot camps, juvenile justice reform, and drug treatment. I support a ban on all assault weapons, and requiring licensing for...
6. I believe that we should hold our public officials to stringent ethical standards. I would support legislation tightening the restrictions on the gifts and gratuities that legislators can receive from lobbyists and requiring more frequent reporting of campaign contributions. I do not support term limitations for elected officials.
7. My vision calls for raising education to our top priority, it is the foundation on which our families and communities prosper and succeed; requiring stiffer punishment for violent offenders and expanding crime prevention efforts; jumpstarting the Maryland economy; preserving our environment; and making Maryland's government more efficient and effective.

American Joe Miedusiewski

1. The State sets overall growth guidelines, and then consults with the counties so that their plans interface without conflict. Primary responsibility for regulating land use is with the individual counties. State plays limited role, dealing with matters which cross county lines and concern all citizens. Paramount...
2. Our goal should not be to equalize funding of education among the different jurisdictions, but rather to insure that basic educational needs of our children are met. State funding should be used to supplement local funding to achieve this end. Privatization is an option, and has been an effective tool in motivating schools with declining performance standards.
3. I will place a two-child limit on welfare benefits, and use the savings to provide child care for welfare mothers who go back to work. Welfare must be based upon a common-sense system of incentives; we will get more of whatever type of behavior we reward. We must provide incentives...
4. Universal coverage should be our goal, and should include coverage for reproductive health. The burden of cost should not be placed solely on the backs of businesses, but rather should be shared by those deriving the benefits. Artificial cost controls have proven to be inefficient and unsuccessful; increased competition within market...
5. A "DMV" for guns would only impose a heavy burden upon law-abiding citizens, while doing absolutely nothing to keep guns out of the hands of criminals. We must instead focus more attention and resources upon law enforcement, and get tough with the criminals. We must stop returning violent offenders....
6. Campaign financing laws should focus on moderating the influence of special interest groups. I support reasonable campaign spending limitations. I am opposed to term limits-let the voters decide. I would prohibit gifts or gratuities of any son from lobbyists to legislators. I support lobbyist reporting laws.
7. Crime. My number one priority. Get tough with criminals. More support for police. Better coordination and utilization of all our resources to fight crime. Schools. Give teachers more authority in the classroom, principles more authority over their schools and budgets. Improve accountability and standards. Seek greater community and parental involvement.

Melvin A. Steinberg

1. State government should not dictate local land use policy. However, the state can manage growth in several ways. First, the state capital construction funds can be targeted to areas that are already developed. Second, state highway construction can be targeted so that growth is confined to certain development corridors.
2. Privatization of schools is a tool that deserves consideration if efforts to reform the system from within are not successful. Funding inequities need to be addressed by revamping Maryland's antiquated funding formula regarding school aid.
3. Reform cannot be accomplished by capping the number of children. I believe in rewarding responsible parents for breaking out of the welfare cycle, not harming a child. Child and day care for working parents, along with job training and jobs paying a livable wage, are the basic for welfare reform.

4. I support universal coverage. I support coverage for reproductive health, including prenatal care, family care, the right of a woman to choose on the matter of abortion. Financing decisions should begin at the federal level and must be fair and equitable. I support cost controls and managed care.

5. Support. Reducing crime and violence includes targeting more resources to high crime areas; speeding up the court system for violent criminals; reducing prison population by developing better alternatives for non-violent offenders; restructuring the parole and probation systems; enforcing gun control laws; and creating more diversion programs for juveniles.

6. I believe that campaign laws should require more frequent and full disclosure provisions. I do not support term limitations. Ethics of public officials should be held to an extremely high standard. The public trust demands it. Lobbyists should be required to disclose gifts to legislators/public officials above a certain amount.

7. Crime - above, Education - Teachers and schools must be held accountable, certain standards must be achieved, and full service schools implemented. Jobs - A major responsibility of my administration will be to focus our resources on developing and fostering these new businesses of the future.

Attorney General

Questions for Candidates
(50-word limit)

1. What are your views on the enforcement of consumer and environmental protection?
2. What is your position on licensing purchasers of guns and registration of guns as well as other means of preventing and controlling crime?

Republicans

Richard D. Bennett

1. I believe consumer and environmental protection... along with fighting crime-are the key responsibilities of the Attorney General. I would aggressively challenge those who would violate Maryland's laws on these matters.
2. I support a ban on assault weapons and a waiting period before a handgun can be purchased. I believe an instant check for a criminal record and tougher penalties on the misuse of firearms would be more effective than licensing guns.

Democrats

Eleanor M. Carey

1. As Deputy Attorney General from 1979-1987, I helped shape Maryland's model consumer division. I will use innovative techniques to pursue today's more sophisticated consumer scams and healthcare frauds. I will give top enforcement priority to combating carcinogenic pollutants in the environment and the workplace, and safeguarding the Chesapeake Bay.
2. My comprehensive crime plan will help law enforcement and communities fight violent crime and seek solutions to its causes. Top priorities are adopting truth-in-sentencing and eliminating school violence. I support licensing firearm owners, registering guns and creating a fast-track gun court for swift trial of gun offenders.

J. Joseph Curran, Jr.

1. I support the vigorous, but fair, enforcement of consumer and environmental protection laws. This is what I have done for the past eight years as Attorney General. Actions have been brought to protect defrauded consumers and we have sent environmental polluters to jail.
2. No issue more clearly defines my public career than gun control. I have long supported strong gun control legislation. I support licensing of purchasers and gun registration. I will support a comprehensive gun bill in 1995. Gun control is a first step toward crime control.

Patrick J. Smith

1. Maryland's economic climate must be improved to hold and attract businesses with jobs. I will assist businesses with compliance and terminate the adversarial mindset. Maryland is #2 in the nation in lost jobs and is ranked 46th on an index of economic momentum. We need more Marylanders working....
2. Maryland does not need more gun control laws. Maryland needs an Attorney General who will enforce existing law NOW, abolish parole for violent offenders, limit death penalty appeals, and protect victims by voting "yes" on Question #1. We must lower the age for juvenile offenders from 18 to 16, enforce...

Comptroller

Questions for Candidates
(50-word limit)

1. What procedures do you propose for sound fiscal management of state revenues?
2. How would you as a member of the Board of Public Works serve the public interest?

Republicans

Timothy R. Mayberry

1. Updating correcting management/collection revenue abatement problems in Comptroller's office can save more than $150 million; plan specifies not possible in 50 words but detailed plan is in hand to be available near primary. Will use banking background/regulatory experience to assist/advise state leadership re debt retirement, tax reform.
2. Readjust procedures to pay contractors on time, saving state penalties; insure large small minority businesses increased opportunity to bid for state services. Require all road/other repair contractors to warrantee work. Will develop means insuring compatibility between citizen/business needs and environmental concerns. Will consider privatization certain services currently state run.

Richard Taylor

1. Prepare more realistic revenue forecasts; review all the Comptroller's functions to ensure that the most modern, cost effective technology is being utilized; fully exercise the Comptroller's power to influence State government policies in budget areas including innovative budget techniques and financing approaches, and to recommend improvements in the State tax...
2. Fully exercise the Comptroller's power and influence as a member of the Board of Public Works in a) ensuring greater use of competitive bidding, b) achieving maximum effective use of privatization techniques, and c) increasing minority and small business contracting opportunities.

Democrats

Louis L. Goldstein

1. The comptroller must remain an independent officer responsible for accounting and financial reporting to accurately record the state's assets and liabilities, avoiding political misrepresentation. The comptroller must insist on checks and balances in the handling of state revenues. Ongoing reorganization will improve revenue collection and compliance activities.
2. I have served as the people's representative on the Board of Public Works throughout my tenure as State Comptroller, insisting on competitive bidding, efficient use of state-owned, land purchasing instead of renting space where economical, and protecting Maryland's triple A General Obligation Bond rating, which saves millions of taxpayer dollars each year.

James. B. Moorhead

1. As comptroller I will be the "taxpayer's watchdog." As a former federal prosecutor, I will uncover the bureaucrats and elected officials who waste tax dollars and misuse funds. I will make a full-scale assault on government waste -- to break the cycle of higher taxes and more wasteful government spending.

2. I will make sure Maryland gets top quality and low cost for the $4 billion in goods and services it buys annually. I support appointing an inspector general to oversee contract awards, passing a false claims act to combat fraud and waste, and restricting no-bid and sole source contracts.

State Senate

(Questions the same as those for Governor.)

Republicans

John J. Hafer

1. We are in economic stagnation due to government intervention and control. Government needs to do what government does best -- this is to govern but not to infringe on the rights of private individuals and their property.

2. Funding for education should be in direct correlation with education's performance. Education is critical to the future of our communities and our state. We need quality education in order to be successful.

3. Welfare reform is a very complex issue. I served on the welfare reform subcommittee this year as we attempted to identify a pilot program to address this economic problem. This is a major concern that requires a community partnership that phases in welfare recipients to be responsible working citizens while gradually reducing government support so that innocent children are not neglected.

4. Health care reform is of critical proportion and the issues are so complex that you cannot respond simply in 50 words in order to answer a multi-faceted set of questions. Since health care reform is presently in the hands of the federal government, Maryland must wait for the congressional response.

5. Law-abiding citizens do not need gun control because gun control will not have any impact on criminals. The justice system must make criminals responsible for their crimes.

6. I have operated a grassroots campaign with limited funding and limited spending. I will continue to be responsive to the people and will not be held hostage by interest groups.

7. There are so many issues, where do you begin. Every citizen and constituent has a personal agenda of interests, each of which are very important to that person and to their family. I feel that it is my role to assist everyone with their specific problems and concerns, where it is possible to make a difference.

Democrats

Edward A. Malloy Jr.

1. Government should be the "responsible steward" in seeing to it that the rights of private individuals and developers are balanced with the rights of present and future citizens to a clean and healthy environment. This should be done with common sense and with as little government regulation as possible.

2. All students in Maryland should have access to the same high quality education so that every child can be the best he or she can be. Children should not be penalized for living in the wrong county.

3. There must be a limit on how long a person can remain on the welfare rolls. The AFDC grants should end after the child reaches two years of age. During that time the parent should be provided an opportunity to earn a GED or gain training in a new job skill.

4. I believe every American should have access to adequate health care coverage. It should include preventive care such as prenatal care and routine exams plus the right to choose one's own physician.

5. I am against licensing gun owners and the registration of guns. As a former criminal prosecutor and former federal law enforcement officer I know the value of an appropriate sentence to the deterrent of future criminal activity. Programs that deal with juvenile offenders must also be developed.

6. I'm in favor of campaign finance reform and spending limits especially for Political Action Committees. Term limits would have made it impossible for the Speaker of the House to be from Western Maryland. Lobbyists should account to the public with regards to who they represent and how they spend their money.

7. Providing an opportunity for all Marylanders to obtain a decent paying job is still the biggest challenge we face. This demands new and innovative thinking and approaches in attracting good paying jobs to Maryland especially Western Maryland. Welfare reform, education and crime prevention must also be addressed.

House of Delegates

(Questions the same as those for Governor.)

Republicans

DeCorsey Bolden

1. State government must balance competing interests: property rights v. the common good. While private business operating in a free market economy is preferable, limited government intervention is necessary to protect the public as a whole. Such action must be the least intrusive means of achieving that end.

2. Control of education has historically been a local matter and any county/state partnership to alleviate inequities in funding must therefore be carefully drawn. A state plan to offset disparities in local funding could benefit Western Maryland.

3. Those receiving benefits must receive vocational training and job placement assistance in order to maintain eligibility for benefits. After a specified period of assistance benefits would terminate. Children would continue to receive medical coverage and assistance with food.

4. Maryland has already adopted a comprehensive health care reform package. Most of the items listed above are in policies currently being debated by Congress and are beyond the control of state government.

5. I believe that we have too many gun laws of all types -- the fewer restrictions on gun ownership the better. The only effective means of prevention and control of crime is vigorous enforcement of criminal laws, combined with education of the public as to consequences of violating the law.

6. I believe that elective office is a public trust and that democratic government is only as good as the integrity of its elected representatives. Therefore, they must not be beholden to special interests at election time or any other time. Elected representatives should serve no more than three consecutive terms.

7. 1) Budget - The budget must be balanced. With a projected shortfall in excess of one billion dollars over the next four years, serious cuts are imperative. 2) Economic Development - This is the key to the economy. Dis-incentives to doing business in Maryland must be eliminated. We must aggressively market the State's resources.

George C. Edwards

1. The State has plenty of laws & regulations pertaining to regulating & managing growth and the environment. We passed the growth management law several years ago. I don't feel we need more. If a person is deprived of using their property they should be compensated.

2. The State has a funding formula to help poorer sub-divisions. It has helped, but more needed for poorer areas because there is still distance to go for equality. It doesn't hurt to try different things to see how they work but at this time I oppose privatizing public schools.

3. The bill that passed last session was a good bill but was vetoed by the Governor. We need to pass the same bill with a cap and expand to the whole State as soon as it can be done.

4. Maryland is a leader in insurance reform, now mostly up to Feds. 1) Should try to cover as many people as possible. 2) Cover all in #2 except abortion. 3) No mandatory employer contributions, small businesses can't afford. 4) Presently have some cost control, but not sure about total cost control.

5. The waiting period we have for handguns is o.k. The bill that passed last session, which I opposed, does no good & I oppose any more gun control. People in jail who are drug addicts, treat them. Make hardened criminals spend their time in jail.

6. I support spending limits on positions, this puts everyone on a level playing field. I oppose term limits except for Governor, County Executive and President because one person positions can gain considerable power. Everyone should be open and honest. I have supported strengthening ethics laws & lobbyist reporting.

7. Budget - structural deficit. Need a hard look at two year budget cycle. Need to prioritize first priority, adequately fund existing programs that work. Second, make programs statewide if good one or drop it. The last thing we should do is start new programs. Welfare reform - see question #3.

County Commissioner

(75-word limit)

1. Recognizing the expansion, growth, and development of Garrett County, what plans do you have for handling lake management, traffic congestion, crime, etc.?

2. Where do you stand on the bonding of capital projects?

District I Republicans

Joseph F. Howe

1. There will be changes whether we like them or not. It is very important to control these changes while maintaining the integrity and character that make our county the desirable place it is. Our infrastructure must be maintained and developed to handle increases in land use and increases in population. With proper planning and my visionary leadership, we can meet tomorrow's challenges and provide for our needs before they become too costly or a safety problem.

2. I am against long-term debt for capital projects. However, if a project that is needed is delayed, costs are driven up, the short-term bond is then acceptable (4-7 years). This allows the project to get underway in the shortest period of time. A good example of increased costs due to delay in construction was the Deep Creek area sewage system. The system was estimated to cost $3-6 million in 1979/80. Final costs were near $22 million.

H. Wayne Witt

1. The lake's assessable base grew eleven-fold between 1979 and 1990. Growth in other areas is relatively static. I believe elected commissioners should play a more active role in lake management. I support the appointment of a qualified roads administrator, and an active program to improve county roads, many of which are in deplorable condition. As a former deputy law enforcement agencies in their efforts to control crime.

2. Generally, I believe in keeping debt to a minimum. However, bonding is a useful tool, and should not be rejected as a matter of policy. Comparing low government interest rates with the costs of inflation in materials and labor, bonding can make sense. We must maintain the county's infrastructure if we are to attract good jobs here. I think jobs must be a top priority. I would look at each situation on an individual basis.

Democrats

David C. Beard

1. The expansion, growth, and development of Garrett County is a fact: it will happen! We need leadership to channel this development to benefit our citizens. The commissioners must work on a daily basis with government agencies and business leaders to ensure proper expansion and growth. I would work closely with the sheriff's office to help fight drugs and other crimes prevalent in our county and to provide adequate funding for this purpose. Lake management is extremely important. The Lake provides 48 percent of our tax revenues. The commissioners must be a part of any decisions concerning the lake.

2. I believe in pay as you go government. I am not in favor of placing a mortgage on our future. I would not completely rule out bonding in cases of an extraordinary situation. An example of an extraordinary situation might be the Glendale Bridge replacement, but only after all other funding avenues have been exhausted.

Richard W. Paugh

1. As far as lake management I think our state and local police patrol it adequately. As for traffic congestion I don't feel I am well enough informed at this time to state an opinion. On the subject of crime I feel that if you commit the crime you should do the time. Plain and simple. Our present laws aren't stiff enough.

2. For bonding of capital projects I think the bonding should be set appropriately for the job. Although not so high as to keep the new and growing business out.

District II Republicans

1. The Department of Natural Resources is responsible for Lake Management. Now if you are talking about County Roads around and with in the lake area, and traffic congestion there, that is a different situation. My commitment to the taxpayers is not lake management as you request. My commitment priority, as a commissioner, is ALL COUNTY RESIDENTS.

We have more than adequate laws and enforcement personal to deal with crime. We need Courts that will enforce the laws and hand down truth in sentencing of criminals. I feel the courts in this county are starting to do that.

2. Belts are designed and measured for size in the center hole. Our representatives have allowed this belt to expand until they had to punch new holes and ran out of belt! I will not look for new ways to spend money. I will look for ways to best utilize our income and streamline the system and reduce expensive government spending and abuse of our tax dollars. Capital projects will have to be of an emergency nature for me to endorse any expansion.

Clyde F. Hetrick

1 a. Lake management should be in the hands of the citizens of Garrett County.

1 b. Economic growth needs to be encouraged but not to the point area citizens are forgotten.

1 c. The citizens of Garrett County should have the right to say what is happening in the area.

1 d. Traffic congestion is an on going concern with all citizens of the County, and must be addressed.

1 e. I would like to see the law enforcement agencies work together.

2. Floating bonds would be a good idea for funding capital projects. This would keep taxes within a reasonable scale affordable to all citizens of Garrett County. As it now stands every time something needs funded taxes have increased or other budgets cut where they can at times do more harm than good for citizens.

Democrats

John G. Braskey

1. Commissioners must continue to work with the local planning and zoning commissions, as well as, the Committee on Lake Management.

The Maryland Department of Transportation and the commissioners must work together on traffic congestion around the lake and throughout the county. I also support a Route 219 bypass of Oakland and Accident.

I will continue to work with local and state police agencies to keep the crime rate low.

2. It is nice to be able to pay as you go on capital projects. Garrett County has reached a point where we must begin the legislative process for authority to bond. I have supported bonding in the past and it must be looked at on a case to case basis. Once you begin to take money from operating budgets of large departments such as, Board of Education, Roads, etc., you must consider bonding.

Gary E. Fratz

1. I would need to learn more about the problem areas. The commissioners along with officials involved with lake management, highways, law enforcement etc., would need to work closely to solve the problems in the best interest of the people of Garrett County. I would support the proposed federal highway Rt. 219. Glendale Bridge should receive strong consideration.

2. Bonding should not be the first answer to funding capital projects. Research and study should be done to decide the best way to finance a capital project.

District III Republicans

Brenda J. Butscher

1. DNR should manage the lake. Management fees should come from the State. Our tax dollars go to Annapolis. Garrett County gets very little in return.

I will continue to work with the state highway. Committed to NEW Glendale Bridge, NFW alignment, NEW piers and paving the road from bridge to 219.

State Police, Sheriff's Department and DNR have an overwhelming presence in the county and deter crime. I will continue to adequately fund the sheriff's department.

2. I oppose bonding. It is obvious, I consider the need and the state mandates. (as in the case of the landfill)

Harold Forsythe

1. The next commissioners need to be honest, cooperative, visionary and positive in their approach to solving county problems.

Specific solutions to individual problems will depend on the problem, the priority, and the monies available all of which the commissioners need to keep in perspective.

I offer a positive approach, imagination, an ability to get along with people and political experience which I would utilize in seeking solutions to each problem.

2. I would prefer bonding to a tax increase and would work with our State representatives for authorization if a definite need for the project was established. Bonding worked well for the Hospital expansion.

Roger P. Giotfelly

1. Local Government has limited input with the management of Deep Creek Lake. I would support legislation that would give local Government more authority in working with DNR in establishing activities and regulations of the lake. As Commissioner, I would give top priority to resolve the traffic limitations created by the Glendale bridge and actively work with and support local and state law enforcement regarding traffic and crime activities.

2. Bonding is an option that would have to be considered when measured against the welfare of the county and its citizens. However, my 35 years of successful business experience has taught me that, pre-planning and prudent spending can eliminate funding shortfalls.

I would apply these principles to prepare the county for its future needs, by developing a plan for growth, which would include a timetable for financing capital projects as they are accomplished.

Ronald W. Virts II

1. On the whole, I feel that the infrastructure of Garrett County is well placed to handle the demands currently placed on it. The maintenance of our roads, policing, and services, therefore, are vital. During some weekends and national holidays, however, further measures may need to be taken in order to minimize dangers and inconveniences to travelers and residents (temporary lights, increased policing for drunk driving, implementing a shuttle bus system, etc.) This should promote efficiency at a minimal cost.

2. I tend to be cautious regarding the bonding of large scale public sector projects. Although the state of Maryland, due to fiscal restraints, cannot be counted on for much future assistance, bonding means long-term debt to the people of Garrett County. This long-term debt could prove detrimental to the local economy if tourism fails, or the tax base dwindles. Bonding, therefore, should be exercised with prudence, and is no substitute for saving in order to finance projects.

Democrats

Earl Clark, Sr.

1. A thorough study should be made in conjunction with the state in order to best determine how to improve the traffic flow in and around the Deep Creek Lake area. I would need to rely on the expertise of knowledgeable people who work in the area, namely the state police and our local law enforcement persons for their input as to the best way of controlling crime and act accordingly.

2. I am in favor of bonding for capital improvements. Any time that a long term investment is being made in the nature of a major project you should not attempt to pay for the project on a short term basis. In trying to pay for a major project, you should spread the payment over a long term so as not to deplete your working capital.

Asa M. McCain, Jr.

1. We need countywide zoning that gives direction to protect our investments but not to stifle development.

We need to continue to attract compatible businesses with ongoing programs to upgrade our educational and infrastructure systems.

Develop 219 into a major highway with by-passes at Accident and Oakland.

Encourage community policing and task forces, provide grants to help towns start police forces.

Finally, take the lead in supporting youth activities and provide grants for ongoing cultural events.

2. All projects do not lend themselves to long term financing but in the case of a large capital project like the Glendale Bridge, that has been in use for 70 years, bonding is most likely the best way to fund an all new bridge. If all grants and other funding sources have been obtained, it is far less costly to totally fund a needed project when proposed then to put it off until later.

Sheriff

Questions for Candidates
(75-word limit)

1. Why are you running for Sheriff?

2. On what problem areas do you plan to focus?

Republicans

Van Evans

1. I am running for the Office of Sheriff because it is and has been a rewarding profession for me the past nine years. Being Sheriff gives me the opportunity to make a difference in our ever changing society. I hope I can provide a positive effect, enriching the lives of our residents and visitors alike, through a safe and crime free county. My qualifications, experience, and dedication to law enforcement will help me to achieve this goal at the lowest possible cost to the taxpayers.

2. The following problems will receive high priority among many problems to be addressed the next four years: Domestic Violence; Crime Prevention; Drug & Alcohol Abuse; and Victims Rights.

My approach to the successful solution of these problems are: Education, Community Oriented Policing and Citizen Involvement.

Randy L. Sines

1. I want to be a Sheriff for the people; serving the entire County. I want to increase cooperation between all police agencies. To establish more effective community patrols. Provide accessibility to my office and me personally. I want to create a better working atmosphere for the employees.

2. To insert a member into the Drug Task Force. To establish a combined criminal investigation unit. To have available more programs to deter domestic violence. To increase drug awareness programs in our schools.

Denver C. Welch

I want to give the voters four years of good leadership in law enforcement. The Sheriff is elected by the people, with the job of his office to protect and to serve the people--all the people. Many people have told me it's time for a change in the Office of the Sheriff. While many of the programs in place focus on special needs or special groups, I want the Sheriff to be out among the citizens to hear and discuss with them their concerns and opinions on all issues.

2. Within the department, I want to provide to the deputies a concise set of standards and policies which will be applied equally to each. I will invite their suggestions for any additional training or education they feel they need. These things will lead to officers who are ready and motivated to focus on the problems of drugs, crimes against persons' homes and personal property and domestic violence. I will work to increase the cooperation...

Democrats

Chester H. Sines

1. Becoming Sheriff is my professional goal. More importantly, I believe that with my background, I would be able to do a good job. I would give the Sheriff's department the leadership it needs to get back on track, serving and protecting the citizens. I love Garrett County, its beauty, and its people. They deserve a Sheriff that will lead the department in a professional and highly motivated manner. I would be this kind of Sheriff.

on what problem areas do you plan to focus?

2. a. Inter-departmental relationships, developing team work spirit. Open door policy for Deputies and Citizens. b. Community Involvement - Teenage awareness on alcohol and drug abuse, MADD, DARE, know your Sheriff and Deputies programs.

c. Build strong relationships with other law enforcement agencies a must.

d. Maximum use of all department vehicles.

e. Additional specialty training for all Deputies when available.

f. Creating Voluntary Sheriff Auxiliary force to aid in traffic control at special events: Fair, Autumn Glory, Fireworks, Funerals, etc.

Questions for Candidates
(75-words limit)

1. What specifically do you hope to accomplish as a member of the Board of Education?

2. What is your opinion of the Family Life program?

District I

Rodney Durst

1. There are four simple goals that I believe every parent requires of their school system. They are:

a. Every child must be able to read on an adult level.

b. To communicate through verbal, written, and electronic skills.

c. Each child must have a strong mathematical foundation.

d. Through history and citizenship they must be taught traditional moral values that made our country strong.

2. You cannot build a house on a bad foundation. It may look good for awhile, but in the end it will not last. They is what's wrong with the family life program. The social architect who built this program believe that there are no moral absolutes. So whatever a child believes to be right then that is right to that child. This kind of teaching is poison to a child and to a nation.

District II

Beverly A. Murphy

1. To assist with developing and expanding quality educational opportunities for ALL Garrett County students; to encourage and build a team involving students, parents, staff, funding authorities and community to offer quality educational experiences for all students. Team effort will provide a good basic educational opportunity for students to build a bright and successful future. Build effective working relationships with all funding authorities for adequate funding. Encourage parental involvement in their children's educational process/opportunities on state and national levels.

2. Ideally, Family Life should be taught at home; however, the majority of society has convinced policy-making bodies at the state level to mandate such a program. The elected official must comply to the mandate set forth. In Garrett County, with written parental request, an option is in place for exemption of a student from this program.

I believe that the Family Life Program can be and should be used by parents to assist them in educating their children.

Patrick W. Riley

1. If elected I will support initiatives which serve to accomplish the following objectives.

Curricula must return to educational basics.

COVER STORY

'Hardball' takes swing into Fox's fall lineup

BY MARK L. PASSARO

Since acquiring the rights to NFL games, Fox has made it clear its intentions for future programming will include more ventures into sports. A part of that future includes "Hardball," premiering Sunday, Sept. 4.

Created in the same vein as HBO's former "First and Ten" football series, "Hardball" takes a locker-room look at America's favorite pastime — baseball.

"We're not going to try to do stories that you would find on any other show," says co-executive producer Bill Bryan. "They will be unique to baseball."

The major league Pioneerers are led by wisecracking veteran pitcher Dave Logan. Bruce Greenwood's character immediately brings to mind Crash Davis of "Bull Durham." He's the team's leading womanizer and, having lost 14 years ago in his only World Series appearance, he's hoping to steer his team to another one before he hangs up his spikes.

The pilot's best moments occur when Dave and his manager, Ernest "Happy" Talbot, clash at almost every turn. Confidently portrayed by veteran actor Dann Florek, Happy is a dour man getting his first shot in the majors after managing for 23 years in the minor leagues.

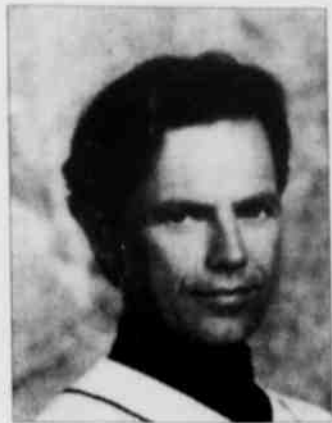

Not wanting to waste his opportunity, Happy has no tolerance for Dave's wry sense of humor.

"How do you feel?" Happy asks.

"I feel great. I slept late this morning," Dave responds. "I don't care about you," his manager shouts. "I was talking about your arm."

Halfway humorous dialogue like that is scant in "Hardball," a big strike against a program banking on laughter to survive.

In addition to having to deal with the shenanigans of his players, Happy must also contend with the Pioneerers' publicity manager Lee Emory (Alexandra Wentworth) and no-nonsense team owner Mitzi Balzer (Rose Marie), who expects Happy to shape up her cast of misfits into a presentable product.

Bruce Greenwood

The Crash Davis similarities return when Dave, during a game, catches the eye of a beautiful woman. Predictably, he winds up under the sheets with her, then subsequently finds out she's the manager's daughter.

Happy's reaction? A slap on the wrist, blowing any attempt at realism right out of the ballpark. If, as the press release states, the Pioneerers are a major league club, Dave would have found himself unemployed the next day.

Based on the success of films like "Bull Durham," the "Hardball" formula is tried and true but also presents problems.

"You'll be going down a certain road and you'll realize you just pitched the plot of 'Bull Durham,'" Bryan says. "It's a constant aggravation, but we just ignore it and do it anyway."

"Hardball" attempts to portray the struggles of a major league squad, but much of the acting is of minor-league quality. They don't look like athletes, and if this were a real game, "Hardball" would be scored an error.

Modine and Griffith play a couple who purchase a Victorian home in San Francisco. After renovating the house, they rent out two of its rooms, unaware that one tenant (Michael Keaton) is a psychopath.

Viewers should look for Beverly D'Angelo, who appears unbelieved in a key supporting role of this psychological thriller.

'Fred Rogers' Heroes' takes a positive approach

BY SUZANNE GILL

Fred Rogers has a show for every man, woman and inner child. Tuesday, Sept. 6, on PBS, the host of "Mister Rogers' Neighborhood" presents a prime-time special for adults: "Fred Rogers' Heroes: Who's Helping America's Children" (check local listings).

Rogers profiles four men and women who have taken leadership roles in their communities in an effort to improve the quality of life for a new generation.

Here for once is an interview show that doesn't add a competing musical underscore. A refreshing calm accompanies these inspiring stories.

First to be profiled is Glojean Todacheene, the Navaho principal of Mesa Elementary in Shiprock, N.M. Already a friend of most of the families in town, "Miss T" makes her business to support and encourage their children.

In Chicago, Olomenji O'Connor has returned to his own roots in the inner city to teach negotiation skills to youngsters as an alternative to violent responses to conflict.

Carola de la Rocha makes her Los Angeles dance studio a home away from home for teens, encouraging them to use the discipline and self-expression of dance to shape their choices as they move toward adulthood.

Dr. Sam Ross retired from medicine to run the Green Chimneys farm, a place where troubled children find safety, healing and new strength.

Though it's not always clear how they find enough income to support themselves, each of these heroes has found something more important to take home at the end of the day: a sense of accomplishment.

Dr. Sam Ross (right), who helps troubled youths on his farm, is among "Fred Rogers' Heroes: Who's Helping America's Children," a special for adults airing Tuesday on PBS.

TV PIPELINE

BY TAYLOR MICHAELS

Q: How can "Regis & Kathie Lee" stay on the air? I avoid them at all costs. I also hope "Love & War" has been canceled, or at least that that insidious twerp "Jack" (Jay Thomas) has been written out. —W. Richter, Erie, Pa.

A: I feel your pain, W., and personally, I share your opinion on both shows. "Regis & Kathie Lee," however, draws phenomenal ratings and I also get a fair amount of mail reflecting that. I likewise must report that "Love & War" will return for another season this fall, with Thomas in tow. I can only guess that producer Diane English ("Murphy Brown"), who will have a new sitcom called "Double Rush" premiering mid-season on CBS, has even more clout than I thought.

Q: Could you tell me where I can write to Tim Curry? —Cathy Lemieux, Westfield, Mass.

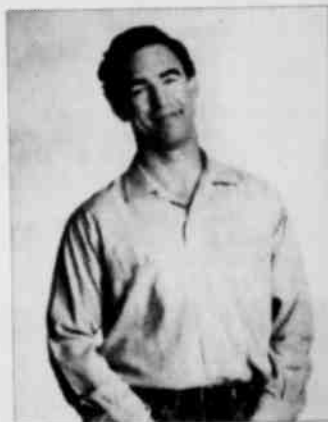

A: You can write to Curry, who has appeared in "Clue" and "The Hunt for Red October." C/O CAA, 9830 Wilshire Blvd., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Q: Will "Traps" with George C. Scott and "Missing Persons" be back next year? —Bill Samuels, Stratford, Conn.

A: Neither program is on the fall schedule.

Q: What happened to "The Heights," "Winnetka Road" and "Route 66"? My friends and I all enjoyed them. —Kris Farris, North Bay, Ontario.

A: A single episode of an average one-hour show costs about $1 million to produce, and hour shows generally are hard sells in later syndication (where the big money is). Consequently, most of these series must deliver respectable numbers early and consistently to avoid cancellation. None of your faves made the cut.

Q: Will "Lois & Clark" be back in the fall? —Mary Chauncey, Antrim, N.H.

A: The good news is the show will be back — and Lex Luthor (John Shea) may not be dead. Not so good is the word that Michael Landes is being replaced as Jimmy Olsen. Tracy Scoggins ("Cat") is gone and the show will emphasize "action" more next season.

Q: My sister claims Stan Laurel is Clint Eastwood's father. I don't believe it. —B.L., Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.

A: As well you shouldn't. A NUMBER OF READERS wrote to advise me that Betty White played a housewife in "Life With Elizabeth" and "A Date With the Angels." I am aware of that. However, the original question asks specifically about a show in which she played "a housewife named Gladys." Neither of the above titles qualifies on that score. Thanks for writing.

Ron Raines joins 'Guiding Light'

BY CANDACE HAVENS

The last time fans of "Guiding Light" saw Alan Spaulding, he was being carted off to prison for shooting his son's fiancée. His was not a happy family.

Now Alan is back, and he is determined to claim what was once his, even if it means stepping over and on his sister, Alexandra, and other notable Springfield residents to get it.

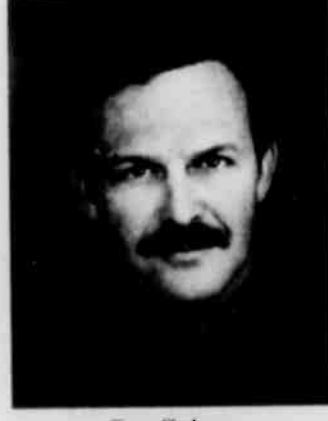

"Alan Spaulding is quite a character," says Ron Raines, who plays the role. "People ask me all of the time if Alan is a good guy or a bad guy. And I have to say that I really don't know. Actually I think he is a bit of both."

"This romantic relationship with Marcy's (Walker) character, Tangie, is something very different for Alan," Raines says. "He is a very arrogant and aristocratic man who is not used to being attracted to a commoner like Tangie. It will be interesting to see what this leads with him. It is a new direction for him."

Raines, who was born in Texas, was surprised when on their first encounter Tangie told Alan that she was from Henderson, Texas. "When I read that in the script I really had to chuckle," Raines says.

The actor was raised mainly in Nacogdoches, Texas. The son of a fundamentalist preacher, Raines got his first break into show business as a crooner for a Christian rock group.

While attending college at Oklahoma City University, the young actor/singer spent his summers performing at the Santa Fe Opera and Wolf Trap.

where he came to the attention of the late baritone John Reardon, who served as a mentor, introducing him to opera and operettas. Raines was then invited to join the opera graduate program at the Juilliard School of Music.

From there Raines went on to perform in virtually every major metropolitan opera house and theater in the country and quickly became one of America's leading musical performers.

He was doing a summer tour of "South Pacific" when he received the news about the role of Alan Spaulding.

"I am excited about having a regular acting job where I go to work each day, and I get to stay in town, too."

"It gives me more time to do what I most enjoy, and that is hanging out with my wife (Donna Vaughn) and daughter (Charlotte)." Raines says.

TIME OUT

1993's champs should reign again at U.S. Open

BY JEFF PLASS

For the past decade, the home of the U.S. Open Tennis Tournament's preliminary rounds has been on USA Network.

Coverage of this year's tournament, from the USTA National Tennis Center in Flushing Meadows, N.Y., begins on Sunday, Sept. 4, and continues with both day and nighttime coverage from Tuesday, Sept. 6, to Thursday, Sept. 8.

Lead play-by-play announcer Ted Robinson reflects on how far the network's coverage has evolved in the eight years he has been involved with it.

"When USA (Network) first had the Open," Robinson says, "we really had a minimum number of people involved. So the first few years I was doing it, I actually did the hosting, some interviewing and the play-by-play."

"I started with (USA) before they had a studio or a separate host. And now that they've added that element, it makes my job so much easier. To be the host and the play-by-play man for 70 hours of coverage was a gargantuan task, but now it's become much easier."

Last year's U.S. Open champion (and this year's Wimbledon champ) Pete Sampras is favored to win this year, too.

"If Sampras is healthy," Robinson states, "he's the obvious men's favorite. He's pulled out of a few local tournaments with an ankle problem."

"Losing that time-up time, it's going to be difficult for him to go play seven hard-court matches, having skipped all of the hard-court warmups. But he's clearly the dominant men's player, right now."

Ted Robinson

Along with Sampras, Robinson believes Andre Agassi and Jim Courier could add some excitement to the mix.

Courier isn't sure if he'll play. "We haven't seen him the last few years, but Agassi, in the 1989-90-91 corridor, was playing phenomenal tennis," Robinson intimates. "Hopefully, he'll play up to that level this year. That would really give the Open a boost, a little charisma, which it might need."

"Courier is also right there, if Jim is serious about playing. It seems that ever since the Open last season, when Cedric Pioline knocked him out, it seems like Jim's interest — that unswerving commitment that you need to succeed at the top level — hasn't been there."

On the women's side, Robinson concedes the title of this year's favorite to last year's champ, Steffi Graf.

"Obviously, it's going to be all Steffi," Robinson says, "but (Maria) Conchita Martinez and Arantxa (Sanchez Vicario) have to be considered the two right behind her."

MOVIE MARQUEE

Avoid visiting these 'Next Door' neighbors

BY BILL QUINLAN

"Next Door," a Showtime original film, is centered around a ridiculous feud between neighbors.

Talented cast members including Kate Capshaw, Randy Quaid and James Woods try to rescue the film but are unable to overcome poor material.

"Next Door," directed by Tony Bill, makes its painful debut Sunday, Sept. 4, on Showtime.

Woods stars as a college professor, Matt Coler, who insists on living next to "real" people. His neighbor, Lenny Benedetti (Quaid), is an oversexed butcher who is constantly watering his lawn.

The problems begin when Lenny's overzealous watering threatens the Coler family's azaleas. Matt's wife, Karen (Capshaw), asks Lenny if he could reduce the watering, but he ignores her. An ensuing picnic at the Benedettis' becomes a verbal battle over working with your hands versus using your mind to earn a living.

That night, Lenny intentionally leaves the sprinkler on, severely damaging the azaleas. Matt responds by hosing down Lenny's lawn furniture and turning his yard into a swamp.

The malicious pranks continue after Lenny destroys the remaining flowers in the Colers' flower bed. When Matt tries to stop the feud, Lenny demands $500 to replace the lawn furniture.

Lenny's wife, Marci (Lucinda Jenney), tells Matt that her husband was kicked out of college for punching a professor. Instead of using this information to develop a long overdue plot, the film sinks into a pool of senseless violence and profanity.

A dog is killed by poisoning, children fight and fathers fight. The film degenerates even further with sexual assault, a ludicrous fight in the kitchen and a human bonfire extinguished by the sprinkler.

This is a premiere to miss, unless one enjoys agony or has a sprinkler fetish.

Fortunately, there are some movies worth watching this week.

Cinemax is the place for Clint Eastwood fans with "Escape from Alcatraz," "Pink Cadillac," "Tightrope" and "For a Few Dollars More" on Sunday.

Frederick Wiseman's "High School II," a documentary about a successful alternative school in New York City, airs Wednesday, Sept. 7, on PBS (check local listings).

Sylvester Stallone stars as a policeman battling an old nemesis (Wesley Snipes) in the futuristic "Demolition Man" on HBO Saturday, Sept. 10.

Board of Education

Parental involvement must be encouraged, psychological evaluation and treatment should only be permitted with written parental permission.

Character development based on traditional concepts of right and wrong, should be taught in all grade levels. Community schools must not be consolidated.

The rights of students to engage in constitutionally permitted prayer must be protected.

2. In my opinion the family life program is a mixed bag, there are some good approved resources as well as aspects which I believe the majority of Garrett Countians oppose.

A common theme: "You're the only one who can figure out what is right and wrong for you," in my opinion, rejects parental authority as well as the traditional view that sexual intercourse outside marriage (or homosexuality) is wrong.

I oppose school based contraceptive distribution.

District III

D. M. Carpenter

1. I hope to reestablish a conservative voice in our school system which I believe to be in line with the majority of Garrett County families. I also would like to reestablish educational teaching techniques which are based on traditional academic standards and not on attitudes or values which the Government determines to be correct, such as the Outcomes Based Education (OBE) is designed.

2. I believe that most of this material should be taught at home; however, due to the break down of the family (which I believe to be the root of the problem), it seems necessary to teach in school. Fortunately, this program favors abstinence and gives parents the option to excuse their child. The question is, if 7th graders can't make a proper decision on what to eat, then how can we expect them to make a wise decision about sex?

Mikal McCartney

1. I have been an elected school board member for seven years. My priority has been and will continue to be trying to provide the best learning opportunity possible for all students and the best learning and work environment for all employees. My goal is to listen to different parties and make reasonable decisions that enable parents, students, teachers, the professional staff and the community to work as a team in providing this learning opportunity.

2. State by-laws require particular health topics to be part of the school curriculum. These health topics are taught in the Family Life Class. Local teachers have tried to respond with a program sensitive to the students. Parents have the right to have students excused from participation in the Family Life Class.

Robert Paugh

I hope to help bring about changes in the educating of our children by providing the best possible education through well trained and dedicated teachers, followed by the leadership of the Superintendent of Schools and Board Office Staff, and my own efforts as part of our elected Board of Education. I believe we must establish a good, supportive family life in these challenging and difficult times. It will require hard work to help each other...

2. It is difficult at this present time to express my opinion in relation to the Family Life Program which is being taught in the Garrett County School System. After meeting with Dr. Rysavage, Superintendent of Schools, I gained some knowledge and insight relating to this program. If I am successful in gaining a seat on our School Board, this certainly will be a program to be studied.

Charles Teets

1. Establish a comprehensive administrative evaluation plan. Institute a performing arts program at both high schools. Work to improve instruction and learning throughout the system. Improve communications between the elected board and their employees.

2. I feel that our family life program is fine. There are provisions for community input; if a family objects to certain content areas, provisions exist to accommodate such objections. A positive outcome from the program is that students are able to experience the opinions and attitudes of others.

State's Attorney

Questions for Candidates
(75-word limit)

1. What unique qualifications do you have for this office?

2. What do you think is the most important role for the State's Attorney?

Republicans

James L. Sherbin

1. My unique qualifications are my training, education and experience.

Training: 8 years as an Assistant and Deputy State's Attorney, learning every aspect of the job and trying every type of criminal case.

Education: specially trained as a career prosecutor by the National College of District Attorneys.

Experience: 16 years as State's Attorney for Garrett County; prosecuted over 100 criminal jury trials and thousands of Court trials, with concern for the care and protection of people.

2. The State's Attorney's most important role is to carefully prepare and to competently present criminal cases to a court or jury, assuring justice and protection for the people of Garrett County. The State's Attorney must specialize in criminal law, evidence, and procedure. Presenting a criminal case is unique. One does not attempt a criminal prosecution without prior training and experience. This would frustrate and undermine the excellent work done by law enforcement.

Democrats

Thomas B. Dabney, Jr.

1. First, as attorney for the local police lodge, I have a very good understanding of the problems facing police officers enforcing the laws and protecting the people of Garrett County.

Second, I will make significant changes in areas such as drug enforcement, emphasizing prosecution of drug sellers.

Third, with my experience in child and family law, I will provide a better approach to child abuse and domestic violence issues, than has previously been demonstrated.

2. The State's Attorney must provide leadership. He should foster cooperation between law enforcement agencies in providing efficient law enforcement efforts in the investigation and prosecution of criminal activity. He should provide leadership in areas of community concern such as child abuse, domestic violence and drugs. He should work together with schools, agencies and community groups, not only to deal with problems, but also to prevent their occurrence. These problems are complex and require new approaches.

U.S. Congress

(75-word limit)

1. Concerning national health care, what are your views and positions on (1) universal coverage, (2) coverage for reproductive health, including prenatal care, family planning and abortion, (3) financing by employer-employee contributions, and (4) cost controls?

2. What is your position on licensing gun owners and registration of guns? What approaches would you advocate for the prevention and control of crime?

3. How would you reform the welfare system to reduce long-term dependence on it without jeopardizing the well-being of children?

4. Explain your position on legislation that would expand requirements for government to compensate property owners when the potential use of their property is restricted by government regulations?

5. What should be the role of the U.S. and its military establishment in the world's spreading civic conflicts?

6. What should be the Federal government's international economic policies? Should they be related to human rights actions or other aspects of foreign policy?

7. What are the most important issues facing our nation and how would you respond to them?

Republicans

Roscoe Bartlett

1. Everyone must have access to health insurance. Reform must end tactics such as pre-existing conditions exclusion, "job-lock" and "cherry picking." The policy must belong to employees, not employers. Prenatal, well-baby and other programs must be covered. Encouraging competition will control costs. Reform cannot interfere with the patient-doctor relationship.

2. Gun control does not reduce crime. I oppose gun licensing and registration. Criminals do not buy guns. If we want to reduce crime we need truth in sentencing, "three strikes and your out" and mandatory minimums. This, plus an effective death penalty will stop the revolving door on repeat offenders.

3. Real welfare reform would convert welfare from a one-way handout into a system of mutual responsibility in which recipients would be given aid but be expected to contribute back to society. It must discourage dependency, reduce the illegitimate birth rate and instill the importance of a strong family life.

4. As a member of the Congressional Prosperity rights Coalition, I support responsible legislation which ensures the constitutional right of private property owners. Individuals should have the right to due compensation when federal regulations are enacted which effectively take their property or decrease its value.

5. As civil conflicts erupt around the world, the role of the United States military establishment must be to protect and defend U.S. national interest. The use of United States armed forces must only occur when the military mission and threatened national interest have been clearly articulated to the American people.

6. The goal of America's international economic policies should be based on fair access to foreign markets for U.S. products. Human rights and other foreign policy issues must be judged on a case by case basis.

7. Education has to be the most important issue facing our country. At the core of almost every other problem we face (crime, competitiveness, welfare), it is always identified as a major factor. I see increased local and parental involvement as the key to strengthening our curriculums and motivating students.

Frederic M. Parker

1. Without attempting to contain health care costs, universal coverage will result in a substantial tax increase. Competition in a free market always provides the best service at the lowest cost. Efforts should be made towards instituting competition between providers, which will reduce costs and make health care more affordable.

2. Instituting harsher criminal sanctions. Enlarging the capacity of the penal system. Streamlining the Justice system. Promoting voluntary crime watch programs. Using Federal funds to increase the police force nationwide. Expanding crime and drug rehabilitation centers. Ensuring that prisoners are able to read and write before releasing them back into society.

3. Requiring welfare recipients, who are able-bodied and able-minded and who are not actively attempting to improve their employment prospects, to work for their government assistance paychecks, would provide a strong incentive to reduce long-term dependence without affecting family income.

4. Provided that the property was purchased before the restrictions were imposed, the full monetary value related to those restrictions, whether or not they affect the current use of the property, should be compensated to the property owner. However, subsequent owners of that same property should not be further compensated...

5. Containment of civil wars should be the primary strategy in preventing these conflicts from spreading into wider regional wars. With containment instituted, a process of negotiations and arms embargoes can bring an end to the conflict with minimal loss of life and reduced damage to the country's infrastructure.

6. 1. Requiring equal access to all trading partners' domestic markets and establishing reciprocal trading barriers with those countries that persistently deny to the U.S. equal access to their markets. 2. Establishing a Common Market with Canada, Mexico, Central and South America and Australia, which will provide a large tariff-free trading zone...

7. 1. Eliminate U.S. trade deficit and eventually achieving a surplus. 2. Balance Federal Government Budget. 3. Make U.S. educational system second to none. 4. Accelerate growth of the U.S. technological and industrial bases. 5. Significantly reduce this nation's crime and drug problem. 6. To strengthen, protect and preserve the state of the world's environment and ecosystem.

David R. Yurus

1: I favor some type of optional, low-cost, basic health care coverage. However, Hillary Clinton and Congress are moving to slow to revamp the system. Therefore, I propose that no elected official should be insured with your tax dollars until the hard working citizens of this country have a health plan.

2: I will oppose any laws that infringe upon the rights of people to keep and bear arms. I favor the death penalty and caning for some offenses. I'm for the "one strike and you serve your full term with no probation policy", two strikes and it's life or the chair."

3: I will submit a bill the first day requiring all able body welfare recipients to work for their local governments. In Maryland, a welfare family can receive over $25,000 tax free -- and without work. Meanwhile, hard working citizens who make less than $25,000 have to pay for their welfare.

4: I do believe that this is a free country and that if you own property, you have the rights and freedom to do with your property as you choose. I will support limiting government restrictions and regulations. I also do support compensatory acts to property owners.

5: America's military establishment should take care of American interest first and stop trying to get involved in every little civil conflict that arises. I do support the strategic defense initiative (Star Wars). I believe Ronald Reagan summed it up best with his quote, "Peace through Strength."

6: The Federal Government should put America first. I am against NAFTA because the average American who makes $20,000 a year simply cannot compete with the average Mexican who makes $2,000 a year. I'm against all foreign aid. It's disgraceful when politicians give out your money to countries all around the world.

7: The nations growing debt is the most important issue facing our nation today. By 1996, the debt will be more than the GNP. This could precipitate another great depression. Therefore, I will support a Balanced Budget Amendment and an across the board cut of 10% on every single Federal Program.

Democrats

Galen R. Cluggett

1: I support universal coverage for national health care, but believe we must know the cost of health care reform before committing to a specific plan. Steps must be taken to contain health care costs and maintain consumer choice. Prenatal care and family planning services, including abortion, must be included.

2: I believe existing laws concerning gun possession should be administered more comprehensively. I support a range of efforts to reduce violence in our communities, and believe we must regain control of our streets and schools. We need to intervene more quickly with juveniles when they commit their first offense.

3: The well-being of children must be our first priority and should be a matter of national policy. Parents on welfare must be given the training and support they need to become self-sufficient and get off welfare permanently. Effective workfare programs must be devised.

4: Government regulation which restrict property owner's potential behavior does not apply to the majority of property owners. It is appropriate for the government to compensate property owners within reason, in those instances where one's use of property is restricted, and if the restrictions would be truly burdensome.

5: As global power relationships continue to change, the U.S. must continually evaluate its role regarding civil conflicts, and intervene only when it is clearly in our national interest. The U.S. must use its leadership position and diplomatic strength to resolve conflicts whenever possible but not rule out military involvement.

6: We must reduce our reliance on foreign production of basic goods, and fiercely promote the production of domestic goods here. We must support free and fair trade, which stimulates democratic government everywhere. Human rights remain a concern and we should link our foreign policy actions to this concern when possible.

7: Strengthening the economy of Western Maryland and the entire nation must be our top priority since it affects everyone's quality of life. A stronger economy will also help us reduce the federal deficit, bring the government's budget back into balance, and stop mortgaging America's future. Our children deserve this.

Donald M. DeArnon

1: Cover all Americans by eliminating the $65 billion in estimated administrative costs. A single-payer system, similar to Medicare, is most likely to do this. Fight special interest groups who seek to maintain their profitable status quo. Include the full range of reproductive services, including abortion. Emphasize cost-effective, preventive care.

2: Prevent crime by intervening with at-risk youth early, when it makes a difference. Distinguish between violent criminals who should be put away, and crimes, especially drug offenses, where alternatives save taxpayer dollars. Smart gun control, e.g. waiting periods and an assault weapons ban, must be part of our overall crime prevention response.

3: An individual program should be designed to move a recipient off welfare. An individual may need education, training, or drug rehabilitation, but satisfactory progress would be required to receive welfare benefits. Universal health care coverage is another key. We need an intensive intervention program for teenagers at risk of delinquency.

4: Administration of federal programs must be sensitive to the property rights of citizens. When government regulation amounts to a taking, property owners should be compensated. Such cases are best considered individually by the courts. Sufficient protections exist in current law.

5: U.N. peacekeeping missions do not always work perfectly but they save U.S. lives and taxpayer dollars. However, they can only truly work when warring factions desire peace. As the world's only superpower, we must play a leadership role but maintain the force to act alone in our national interest when necessary.

6: International trade is important, but we cannot desert the principles for which the U.S. is admired. Monitoring human rights abuses as well as products shipped by U.S. companies is imperative. But we have more leverage in trading with a country than not trading, so a balancing act is necessary.

7: We all know the important issues, but Congress is one step behind in solving them because of special-interest contributions. I'm the only candidate in this race who has pledged not to accept any special interest contributions. Congress needs to change, and we must elect candidates who put Congress one step ahead.

Neil S. Dhillon

1. I support universal coverage for all Americans that includes coverage for reproductive health, prenatal care and family planning. Most important to me is to improve research and advanced treatment for women's health issues, such as breast cancer. I support the proposed premium caps as part of the cost control items...

2. I support gun registration and a waiting period and support restricting licensing of guns to those with a criminal record. We can work to prevent crime by putting tougher sentences on the books for crimes and requiring that full-sentences be served. The federal government should continue to support community...

3. I support a time limit on program benefits, though it may need to be longer than two years as proposed. Strengthen and enrich existing job training programs and bring such programs to areas currently without them so that those on welfare get the professional assistance needed to enter the "real" ...

4. Some fair compensation may be appropriate, but would restrict this provision to only those property owners who are severely impacted financially by such regulations.

5. I believe the U.S., working through the United Nations, should do what it can within reason and within our financial means to help countries improve the lives of people. U.S. involvement should be decided on a case by case basis and determination of whether our involvement will assist that country in determining its own destiny.

6. The federal government should work to open as many international markets to American businesses as possible. As our representative I would work with the individual counties in the district to guide Maryland businesses to those opportunities. While I personally believe addressing human/environmental rights violations in the world is important...

7. Developing the economy through national/international business/market development and supporting the educational system to achieve that goal. Health care reform that makes available to all Americans affordable health care, protects our senior citizens and advances health research and treatment, especially for women's health issues which lag behind those of...

Paul Muldowney

1. Everyone should have access to universal coverage. It should include reproductive health, prenatal care and family planning. Whether or not the employer pays for it is between the employer and the employee. Cost controls are not good, and I am certain costs can be reduced by pressures in the marketplace.

2. Any further gun legislation is an infringement on individual rights. It has nothing to do with prevention and control of crime. Expansion and easier accessibility to capital punishment is a must. We must deal with the criminal in a way that he knows punishment is swift and just.

3. The welfare system is the only government program whereby cash is provided. The fact that welfare abusers receive cash is the problem. Benefits should be provided such as day care. Increases in cash payments should stop after two children.

4. Property owners should be compensated when potential use is restricted by government regulations other than local zoning.

5. The U.S. military establishment has no role to play in the world's civil conflicts except when there is an extreme danger to our national interests.

6. The Federal government's economic policies should be based on economic factors. We cannot dictate human rights or other aspects dealing with foreign policy.

7. Health Care reform - everyone should have access, it should be portable, it cannot be cancelled, and everyone should have access regardless of medical history. Crime - provide greater resources at the local level and increase the application of capital punishment, and make it more accessible -- harsher treatment of criminals across the board.

Anthony P. Puca

1: I favor national health care group with universal coverage open to all Americans with full reproductive health care benefits. Equitable employer-employee contributions with flexible cost controls. I strongly favor the modified City of Rochester plan which combines best of private and public offerings.

2: Current gun registration laws are sufficient if strongly enforced. Real crime prevention will come from strict mandatory sentencing, trying young offenders of violent crimes as adults, eliminating parole for violent crimes and enforced death penalty. Criminals aren't society's victims, but society's victimizers. I'm in favor of one strike and you're out.

3: Welfare was meant to be temporary relief, now there are third generation welfare families. First, eliminate all future payments to out of wedlock births. Two year limit on benefits. Mandatory training and schooling for welfare recipients. Encourage private sector jobs through tax benefits and coop salary payments.

4: The government must pay property owners the "high" fair market value of property restricted for any reason, and any additional costs such as moving, etc. Government must also allow property owner to seek due process in requisite court of law if they dispute governments restriction or compensation.

5: America and other civilized nations have said there must never be another Holocaust, and our professed political philosophy opposes national human rights violations. While it must not be our policy to send troops everywhere arbitrarily, we must stop the holocausts in Rwanda and Bosnia by use of force if necessary.

6: Our main economic objective must be the economic growth of America and an increase in wealth of our citizens. I favor fair international trade, but favor tariffs and duties against countries who use them against us. Economic policy can be used against human rights violators and drug smugglers for our benefit.

7: In addition to health, welfare and crime addressed above, I am against any tax increase. I've always supported the stands of my party for equal rights and social benefits, but now some of these have to be changed. I want to be part of the new Democratic Party that revitalizes them.

Clifford E. Snyder, Jr.

1: The national debate on health care should continue; premature action must be avoided. Taxpayer-funded programs should not cover abortions because it is immoral to compel taxpayers who believe that abortion is murder to finance abortions. The creation of a new federal bureaucracy to administer held care is unacceptable.

2: I endorse the registration of guns and licensing of gun ownership and possession. A cultural revolution against violence is necessary for effective crime prevention and control. I support vigorous law enforcement, swift and certain punishment for offenders, and capital punishment.

3: I order to break the cycle of dependency, eliminate welfare payments to adults and expand programs that directly benefit children: prenatal care for women, immunization and other medical services for children, early education, and food supplements. Encourage marriage and discourage pregnancies of unmarried women.

4: The Takings Clause and the Due Process Clause of the United States Constitution, as interpreted by the judiciary, appear to provide adequate protection for owners of real property. I strongly support, effective land use planning by local government. Such planning protects the environment and enhances property values.

5: The United States must avoid entanglements in disputes which do not threaten our own national interests. Such entanglements are a waste of American lives and money, and are unlikely to achieve objectives such as "peacekeeping" or "restoration of freedom." There is no good reason to invade Haiti.

6: Federal international policies must be directed at advancing the interests of our own citizens. International development is not a proper role for our government, because it encourages persons to invest overseas rather than in America's future. Foreign trade is vastly overrated as an economically rational activity.

7: The most important issue is the public's lack of confidence in the ability of government to manage societal problems. President Clinton's insistence on diversity in "ethnicity, geography, and gender" for appointments to his administration undermines public confidence. Competence, not quotas, is what we demand and deserve from government.

1. I believe that we should focus on achieving universal access, not universal coverage. I will work to achieve affordable health care without employer mandates. Although I support a woman's right to reproductive choice, I do not support federal funding for abortion. Health care reform must center, on controlling costs. Therefore...

2. I support the Brady Bill, as it will result in a national instant-check system which will help to keep guns from felons. I believe that a five-day waiting period is a reasonable restriction until such a system is in place. I also support the death penalty, direct federal grants...

3. Implement mandatory workfare programs (except AFDC recipients with children under the age of six.) This would include training programs and education to enable welfare recipients to make the transition into productive jobs. I believe the able-bodied must work by using...

4. I support such legislation. I strongly believe in the constitutional right to just compensation for taken property.

5. The U.S. should remain a world leader in foreign policy by demonstrating consistency and truth in its interactions, not by waffling and issuing impotent threats. I support the maintenance of a strong strategic deterrent to offset the continued uncertainty in such regions where the political climate is precarious at best.

6. I support free and equal trade.

7. It is the responsibility of the U.S. government to protect the rights and the safety of its citizens. In order to fulfill this obligation, our government must be tougher on crime. Our government must also halt wasteful spending and tax increases that burden the American people, and the invasiveness...

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

Charles Hileman On Navy Ship Enforcing Embargo

U.S. Navy Petty Officer Second Class Charles Hileman, son of James and Jennie Hileman of Terra Alta, W. Va., is one of more than 3,000 Navy men and women and 2,000 Marines who patrol the waters just miles off the coast of Haiti.

Hileman, a 1985 graduate of Central Preston Senior High School, Kingwood, serves aboard USS Portland, a dock landing ship homeported in Norfolk, Va. The mission of the ship is to transport and land amphibious vehicles and Marines during an amphibious assault.

"We're here because we're the best prepared amphibious group ready to go," Hileman said. "After completing a six-month deployment, we had all the training and manpower to get any job done."

Hileman and the rest of the crew, which includes a Marine contingent, have spent the last four weeks steaming the Caribbean waters off Haiti as part of a four-ship amphibious ready group (ARG). The ARG augments combined forces assigned to enforce United Nations Security Council sanctions aimed at restoring democracy to Haiti.

The ARG also provides additional amphibious non-combatant evacuation operation capable forces. There are 12 Navy ships currently supporting Operation Support Democracy.

"With the end of the Cold War, conflicts are now smaller and isolated and the Navy-Marine Corps team plays a larger role in reacting to these type of situations," Hileman said.

The sailors and Marines departed Norfolk and Morehead City, N.C., more than a month ago. Hileman and the crew of Portland began their current mission just two weeks after they returned from a six-month deployment to the Mediterranean Sea and Indian Ocean.

As a storekeeper, Hileman performs an essential job aboard his ship.

"I order parts for other people to make the ship run so we can accomplish our mission," he said.

Hileman said he joined the Navy in January 1986. "I enjoy doing something I believe in," he said.

Coast Guard Seaman Apprentice Peter T. Dolan, son of Kiyo M. and William A. Dolan HI, Mellenry, recently graduated from recruit training.

During the training cycle at coast guard Recruit Training Center, Cape May, N.J., students are taught general military subjects designed to prepare them for further academic and on-the-job training leading toward qualification in one of the Coast Guards 26 occupational fields.

Studies also include first aid, seamanship, Coast Guard history and regulations, close order drill and damage control.

Dolan is a 1987 graduate of Southern High School, Oakland. Dolan is a 1992 graduate of Frostburg State University, with a BS degree.

The Fixed Rate and Adjustable Rate Mortgage in One

American Trust Bank offers a mortgage loan that gives you the benefit of both fixed and adjustable rates. The 5/1 mortgage provides a fixed rate for the first five years and then automatically converts to a one-year adjustable rate mortgage for the remaining term. You get an initial five-year fixed rate that's lower than most conventional fixed rate mortgages.

Plus, as with other American Trust mortgages, you have the opportunity to choose a bi-weekly payment feature that saves thousands of dollars in interest paid over the term, a no points option and a low down payment option.

Visit any American Trust Bank community office for further details on how you can get a fixed rate and adjustable rate mortgage in ONE!

Maryland Income Tax Receipts Up; Distribution Set

Individual and corporation income tax receipts produced $3,393,385,602 for Maryland's general fund in fiscal year 1994, according to State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein. "That's 5.8% more than the $3,207,130,053 in income tax revenue which went to the general fund the previous fiscal year, and it reflects Maryland's continued economic recovery and employment growth," he said.

"The fiscal year 1994 total was also right on target with our revenue projections, less than two-tenths of one percent more than our estimate," Goldstein said.

The local "piggyback" income tax, which is collected by the state at rates set by local governments, produced $1,694,828,749 for Maryland 23 counties and Baltimore city and $36,373,588 for the state's 172 incorporated municipalities and special taxing areas in fiscal year 1994. "The Comptroller's Office will make a final fiscal year 1994 distribution of $137,866,314 to the counties and $3,343,358 to the municipalities on August 31, 1994," Goldstein said.

Garrett County will receive $4,474,836.18, an increase of nearly $400,000 over last fiscal year.

The annual August distribution is made under generally accepted accounting principles, and many of the counties credit that revenue to the recently ended fiscal year because it largely represents taxes withheld from employee paychecks in June.

Corporation income tax receipts showed a 31.4% growth in fiscal year 1994 over 1993, producing $169,081,509 for the general fund. "This resulted from strong corporate profits relating to the economic recovery," the comptroller said.

The individual income tax produced $3,224,304,093 for the general fund in fiscal year 1994, 4.7% more than in fiscal year 1993. "While final payments were down from the previous fiscal year, employer withholding tax, by far the largest source of income tax

Dr. Batson To Speak At Hiway Assembly Of God

Dr. George Batson, Assemblies of God missionary based at Continental Theological Seminary in Brussels, Belgium, will be the guest speaker at Hiway Assembly of God, Kitzmiller, on Sept. 4 at 7 p.m., according to the Rev. G.K. Hixon, pastor.

Batson is dean of graduate studies and professor of New Testament and theology at Continental Theological Seminary. He also travels to many countries, holding teaching seminars for pastors and church leaders. Countries such as Korea, Japan, Indonesia, Thailand, Hong Kong, Singapore, Brazil, India, Bulgaria, Russia and the Ukraine have been the scene of Batson's ministry.

"Now the focus of my ministry in travel is on Eastern Europe, the Ukraine, and Russia," Batson said. "Leaders and pastors in these countries feel an urgent need for training. I have been among them and heard their desire for help. Some of my standing invitations are now being translated into plans to hold training seminars in Siberia and Kiev, the capital of the Ukraine, in May 1995.

The missionary has also served at ICI University in Brussels. His award-winning textbook on Expository Preaching, written for ICI University, has been translated into French, German, Spanish, Portuguese, Finnish, Bulgarian, and Russian. Now the Dutch and Arabic translations are almost completed, according to Batson.

For the past seven years, Batson and his wife, Roberta, have served at Continental Theological Seminary, a regional school serving 27 nations of the world. Batson designed a M.A. in Biblical Studies program at the seminary, where he serves as dean of graduate studies, and teaches both the B.A. and M.A. levels.

Health Dept. Seeks Candidates For AmeriCorps

The national movement for community service will soon be visible locally at the Garrett County Health Department in Oakland, following Western Maryland's recent award of AmeriCorps participants beginning in the fall of 1994. This new, national program encourages Garrett County residents who demonstrate interest in both community service and further education to apply for positions with the Health Department and Garrett County Community Action.

According to a release from the Health Department, AmeriCorp participants will be incorporating community-driven objectives of the program that are specific to the needs of Western Maryland. Goals of local participants will include increasing both the levels of physical activity and healthy diets among local adults. AmeriCorp participants selected to work with the Health Department will be responsible for several projects over the coming years, including testing local homes for radon hazards and water contaminants, developing "Victory Gardens" to fight cancer and heart disease through good nutrition for local residents, recruiting local participation in "Exercise for a Healthier Tomorrow" programs, and conducting local data collection surveys for future health projects.

In addition to work on specific projects, participants selected for the local AmeriCorp program through the Garrett County Health Department will serve as role models for area middle and high school students. AmeriCorp participants will be integrated with local students, who during the past academic year, began a new Maryland graduation requirement for community service hours.

AmeriCorp participants selected for service with the Health Department will receive $5 an hour and a $4,725 education award for each year of service with the program to help finance a college education, vocational training, or to help pay back student loans. One or two years of service is available for participants in the AmeriCorp program.

Garrett County residents and persons in the surrounding area who are interested in applying for a position as an AmeriCorp participant and would like further information should contact Natalie Messer at 301-334-8111 or 301-895-3111. Applications are available at the front desk of the Garrett County Health Department, located on Fourth Street in Oakland. Eligibility is not restrictive, and selected participants are expected to be from all backgrounds, ages, and work experiences.

Local efforts for coordinating the AmeriCorp program joined the Garrett County Health Department with Garrett County Community Action, the Western Maryland Food Bank, the Allegany County Human Resources Development Commission, and Frostburg State University's community volunteer program to create the local Alliance for Service. The local project title is the Appalachia Service Through Action or A STAR.

Local Students Explore Health Careers At AHEC

Five Garrett County teenagers successfully completed the summer portion of the Western Maryland Area Health Education Centers (AHEC) Health Careers Opportunity Program (HICOP). This six-week summer enrichment program is held for teens seriously interested in health careers.

For six consecutive years, the summer program has been the culminating activity of HICOP. This year more than 80 juniors and seniors from the tri-state area vied for the 21 participatory slots. According to an AHEC spokesman, participants were chosen based on their sincere interest in exploring several health careers, their academic achievement, and their demonstrated effort toward improving their current educational status.

The summer program begins with all participants spending the first week observing community health professionals and exploring health professional education programs. This year's students spent time at The Memorial Hospital and Medical Center and Sacred Heart Hospital, both in Cumberland, and touring health training programs at

Courses this year included college-level math, chemistry, biology, physical education, and English.

More than 125 regional health professionals and hospital staff donate their time and expertise to provide learning experiences and encourage health career aspirations of area youth, the spokesman said.

HICOP is supported by federal funds awarded to the Western Maryland AHEC by the Department of Health and Human Services, Bureau of Health Professions, Division of Disadvantaged Assistance.

A member of the Republican Party and resident of Garrett County for the past 44 years, this will be her first attempt at a public office. She describes herself as active in legislation issues and local county politics and believes serving on the Committee would be a challenge.

DiPaolo has worked on legislation issues through the Business and Professional Women's Organization, the Farm Bureau, and while serving on the Maryland State PTA Executive Committee. Mrs. DiPaolo feels that serving on the State Central Committee would further her interest in both local, county, and national events.

She is a past director of the Garrett County Agriculture Fair and has served as fair secretary for over 10 years; she now serves as an honorary director. Elect Asa M. McCain, Jr. County Commissioner District 3

I am often asked the following four questions:

How can you be a commissioner and still be Mayor of Oakland and Principal of Dennett Road Elementary School?

The commissioner position (to be done right) must be a full time commitment and I am willing to do that. If I am elected, by law, I must resign as Mayor. The Town Charter fills the time from January until the March town election with the President of the Council as acting mayor. I would return from the Garrett County Board of Education at the end of June with 29 years of service.

Will the positive things stop happening in Oakland if you are elected county commissioner?

Oakland has improved because of team work, careful planning and sound management. I am only one member of the group and I know the town will continue to improve because the residents will keep supporting the government.

How were you able to complete so many projects like the sewer system, the upgrade of the water system, and the new municipal building without ever raising the tax rate?

We put into practice a policy of training and equipping our employees so that they can provide improved services with fewer workers. Additionally we tightened up on town management and investment practices which made funds available to go after State and Federal grants.

What advantages do you have that would make me want to vote for you instead of the other good candidates that are running for commissioner of District 3?

If you look at the whole picture, we cannot accomplish much without team work with leaders in Baltimore, Annapolis and Washington. I already have the contacts to get the job done.

I hope you will vote for me and allow me to work hard for the whole county.

Vote for proven leadership.
Elect McCain County Commissioner of District 3

Sines Announces Candidacy For GOP Committee

John K. Sines, Oakland, has announced his candidacy for a position on the Republican Central Committee. A lifelong resident of Garrett County, Sines attended both Northern and Southern high schools, graduating from Southern in 1976. He served three years in the military as a military policeman and received an honorable discharge in 1981.

The candidate is the Oakland Chief of Police, and has held that position for the past 10 years. Combined with his military police experience, he has been involved in law enforcement for 14 years.

Sines said if elected, he will be "very active" in the duties as a committee member. He noted his distress with the fact that during the last major primary election in Maryland, only 2,106,000 of the eligible 3,619,000 voters turned out at the polls. He also stated that in Garrett County the total number of registered voters is 12,918 and of those, 10,580 voted.

"Voting is a privilege that all Americans have and I feel it is their duty to do so," Sines said.

The candidate is involved in numerous civic organizations. He is currently the vice president of the Garrett County FOP Lodge #99, third vice president of the Oakland-Mountain Lake Park Lions Club, past president of the Garrett County Traffic Advisory Committee and the Oakland Woodman Lodge #11. Sines is also a member of S.A.L.T. (Seniors and Lawmen Together) and the Garrett County Habitat for Humanity. He belongs to the congregation of the Oakland Church of the Nazerene.

Sines resides with his wife, Crystal L. (friend) Sines, and their two daughters, Kandi and Elizabeth.

Beef Industry Needs Cooperation To Increase Consumer Demand

If beef producers want to profit from the cattle they raise -- then producers, cattle feeders and other segments of the beef industry need to increase their cooperation, according to an economist speaking at the 29th American Farm Bureau Federation Beef Cattle-Hog Cycle Forum, Aug. 12-13 in St. Louis.

"The income of the cow/calf operator depends upon the economic health of the cattle feeding industry," said Ed Uvacek, president of Western Research and professor emeritus at Texas A&M University. "The producer has to recognize that the next step in the system has to be profitable, if he is going to be profitable and stay in business. I think coordination and cooperation are necessities in the new, modern industry.

"We've been fighting and we've been operating on a suspicion level for years," Uvacek added. "I think that has to cease in the future, if you're going to survive."

Producers have to stop looking solely at raising cattle as cheaply as possible. Instead, the rancher needs to raise cows that produce calves of consistent quality and provide them to the feedlots on a regular basis. Survival doesn't mean producing the cheapest cattle you can because you may not be able to sell them, Uvacek said.

Many cattlemen are raising exotic breeds that result in larger calves. These larger cattle produce a finished animal that may be hard for a packing house to handle and result in larger cuts of meat that may be harder to sell. The ultimate problem is even worse -- it means more beef has to be sold, Uvacek said. The result may be a need for fewer cows and a reduction in the breeding herd.

One of Uvacek's goals at the gathering of livestock producers and Farm Bureau commodity specialists was to look back at changes in the livestock industry since the beef cattle-hog cycle forums began in 1980. It has been a time of remarkable changes in the cattle industry, he said.

"Probably the biggest changes have come at the feedlot level and here it has been a revolution," Uvacek said. "Large, commercial feedlots have sprung up all across the nation and they now dominate the cattle feeding industry. In fact, we've only got 220 large, super large, feedlots in the United States right now, but they account for 60 percent of all the cattle fed in the nation."

As in the early 1920s, there are few major meat packers. However, these packing firms are not the same four that dominated the industry 70 years ago. In fact, the four top packing firms are bigger and account for more than three-fourths of the fed cattle slaughtered in the U.S.

Retail stores are relying more and more on these meat packers. They are buying cuts and boxed beef. Few have butchers who actually cut the meat for the retail meat counters, Uvacek said. At the same time, demand for beef by hotels, restaurants and institutions has grown as the U.S. becomes more of an eating-out society. The HRI trade, as these hotels, restaurants and institutions are known, are the major users of beef. They want a consistent and regular supply of beef and are more concerned with how it is prepared than with changes in the price of meat.

The cow/calf operators have changed the least. The majority are still very small, with about 81 percent of the operations in the nation raising less than 50 head of cattle.

It is difficult to look back at changes in the beef cattle industry without commenting on recent drops in the price of cattle, Uvacek said. In May and June the price of choice fed steers dropped from the high-$70s per hundredweight to the low-$60 price range per hundredweight.

RESERVE GRAND CHAMPION 4-H/FFA VEAL at the Garrett County Fair was owned and sold by Larry Bernard, son of Lawrence and Shirley Bernard. The 342 pound calf was purchased for $1.40 per pound by Bonnie's Cleaning Service and Lewis Used Cars. Pictured above are Ed Lewis, Bonnie Lewis, and Larry Bernard.

This supposedly occurred because of a big increase in beef production. However, cattle slaughter was up only 1 percent in April, 2 percent in May and less than 1 percent in June. The biggest change was in the average live weight of cattle, up between 44 and 51 pounds per head compared with last year. The result -- a 6 percent jump in beef production from a year ago, but not a great change from previous years.

Workshop - Beef Replacement Heifer Selection and Management

In cooperation with Allegany County Extension and the Animal Science Department, University of Maryland, I will be sponsoring a "unique" method of presenting a workshop. We will be using the "Live" Interactive Video System at Frostburg State University. The program will originate live from Towson State University. Participants will have the opportunity to interact with producers from three other sites in Maryland. This is a new way of presenting educational programs.

The program is a two-session workshop to be held on Monday evenings October 3 and 10, from 7 to 9:30 p.m. at Frostburg State University. The major topics to be covered in the workshops are:

- Introduction to Integrated Resource Management and Standardized Performance Analysis.
- Heifer Management Steps from Weaning to Calving which will include Selection, Nutritional Management, Preventative Health and Homework Assignments.
- Economics of Raising Replacement Heifers.

The instructors are Dr. Douglas Carmel, Extension Veterinarian and Dr. Scott Barao, Extension Livestock Specialist.

The cost of the workshop is $10 per farm unit (limited two people). Seating space in the Video Lab is limited to 25 people so make your reservations early by contacting the Garrett County Extension Office at (301) 334-1990 or the Allegany Extension Office at (301) 724-3320. Additional information is available upon request.

Late Blight in Potatoes
There is some late blight on potatoes in our area. The recent rains and heavy dews have been ideal for the blight spores to develop. I would recommend that you continue to use fungicides such as Mancozeb, Bravo, or other copper compounds. According to Penn State University, the blight may be resistant to the fungicide called Ridomil.

"It could very well be that this cash market decline was more an over-reaction to the sudden weakness in the commodity futures market than a true over-supply situation," Uvacek said.

The mid-year cattle inventory shows a gain in cattle numbers of about 2 percent from last year, Uvacek said. Beef cows and replacement heifers are up about 3 percent each. This suggests a herd build up during the year and the probability of higher cattle numbers on Jan. 1, 1995. Producers can look for another year or two of herd expansion in the cattle business, he said.

"Look for cattle prices to drift lower for the next couple of years as we move into this buildup phase of the cycle," Uvacek said.

Queen Ceres LIII, King Buckwheat Set To Reign During 53rd Festival

Amber King, daughter of Gene and Connie King, Kingwood, and Scott Alan Wofford, son of Kermit and Peggy Wofford, will reign as Queen Ceres and King Buckwheat LIII during the 53rd Annual Preston County Buckwheat Festival, scheduled to begin Thursday, Sept. 29, and continue through Sunday, Oct. 2, on Firemen's Field in Kingwood.

First Maid of Honor is Kristina Gregg, daughter of Franklyn and Nancy Gregg, Masontown; and Second Maid of Honor is Shanda R. Reynolds, daughter of Lonnie and Teresa Reynolds, Terra Alta.

First runner-up to King Buckwheat is Nicholas C. Volk, son of Joseph and Jennifer Volk, Reedsville, and the second runner-up is Brian K. Corbin, son of Richard and Sue Corbin, Egdon.

When asked if becoming Queen Ceres was something she thought about as a child, Amber replied, "Having grown up in Preston County, I think it's a dream of every girl to be Queen Ceres...I feel very fortunate and lucky to have been selected." She feels people look for someone to be a good representative of the community when serving as the queen of the Buckwheat Festival.

Although she has never before been part of the Buckwheat Festival court, Amber has attended the festival every year since she was a child, and enjoys the time she spends with her family during the event.

After graduation, she plans to attend West Virginia University and major in English or accounting. Her plans are to someday become a lawyer.

A pre-requisite for a young man to be named King Buckwheat is that he must be involved in agriculture. Scott's participation in brought him a lot of recognition and even though it was a lot of work, he feels one "can't accomplish much more than this." After graduation, he plans to pursue a career in animal science at Garrett Community College and possibly finish his studies at West Virginia University.

Kristina will initially seek an undergraduate degree in English at WVU, before furthering her schooling. Shanda plans to continue her education at Western University in Chicago, and study medicine.

All agree they have enjoyed the traveling to the various parades and events they attended throughout the summer. Although they have been in the same school for the past few years, they didn't know each other until they became involved in the pre-festival activities, and all claim they have become close friends.

During the Buckwheat Festival, Queen Ceres and King Buckwheat, along with the rest of the court, which also includes 12 senior princesses and their escorts, 14 junior princesses from the various junior high schools throughout the county, 14 flower girls, four train bearers, and two crown bearers, will participate in parades set for Thursday, Sept. 29, at 7:30 p.m.; Friday, Sept. 30, at 2:30 p.m.; and Saturday, Oct. 1, at noon. Coronation ceremonies to crown the king and queen will be Sept. 30, beginning at noon.

Watch future editions of The Republican for more Buckwheat Festival happenings.

Authority of Louise Story, Treasurer

Teacher Education Reform To Be Topic Of Hearings

A committee of the Maryland Higher Education Commission recently held the first of three scheduled public hearings on teacher education reform in Maryland.

Proposed reforms would require new teachers to concentrate on academic subjects in college and then participate in an intensive internship to study teaching under the supervision of experienced teachers and college education faculty.

"Today's teachers need to know more about the subjects they teach and more about how to be effective teachers," said Shaila R. Aery, the secretary of higher education. "The reforms being discussed would allow new teachers to master the subject they will teach and also develop the professional expertise their difficult job demands."

The reforms would also provide teachers presently working in Maryland public schools with expanded opportunities to include subject-area studies as part of their ongoing professional development.

The Maryland Higher Education Commission began discussing teacher education reform in 1990 as it prepared to publish a statewide plan for postsecondary education. A task force created in 1991 recommended sweeping changes in teacher education, Aery said.

The commission then directed Aery to develop a detailed blueprint for reform. During the summer of 1993, the secretary and the state superintendent of schools jointly created an implementation task force with a steering committee and five design teams totaling about 120 representatives from government, education, business, and the community.

The design team's recommendations were presented to the commission in June, and the board directed its Education Policy Committee to hold public hearings on the recommendations.

If the recommendations are adopted, most prospective teachers would earn a bachelor's degree in one of the liberal arts or sciences as the first step in their preparation to enter the classroom. The undergraduate major in education would be phased out.

Qualified teacher candidates would then enroll as interns in a regional Professional Development School, where experienced teachers and teacher education faculty from public and private colleges and universities would be responsible for their training and would oversee extensive classroom work. Upon successful completion of the internship, candidates would be certified to teach in Maryland.

Working teachers would also have access to Professional Development Schools to pursue both pedagogical and academic studies.

The task force recommended creation of pilot schools initially, with full implementation of the plan by the year 2000.

The next public hearing will be at 1 p.m. on September 20 in the Maryland State Board of Education board room, 200 West Baltimore Street, Baltimore.

Rattlesnakes To Be Sierra Club Topic

The Western Maryland Group of the Sierra Club will host a lecture on rattlesnakes on Sept. 13, at 7:30 p.m., in Frostburg State University's Ort Library 210.

William H. Martin, who has just completed a two year study of rattlesnakes in Maryland for the Department of Natural Resources, will be the featured speaker for the event.

Martin plans to discuss the population of rattlesnakes in the state, rattlesnake habitats, the frequency of rattler sightings, the danger that the snakes pose to humans, and the danger that humans pose to rattlesnakes. He will also talk about his many years studying snakes and about the other snakes of Western Maryland.

According to Louis Bernstein, program chair for the Western Maryland Group, Martin's study asks the question, "Should rattlesnakes be listed as a state endangered species, and should this question be decided based on science or politics?"

Refreshments will be served at the event.

For more information, interested persons may call Bernstein at 777-3212.

ger were evening visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Carr and son, McHenry.

For more information, persons may call Lonnie Sims at 453-3367.

KITZMILLER PTA
The first PTA meeting of the school year will be on Thursday, September 8 at 7 p.m. in the school library. This is a Back-to-School Night, giving parents a chance to meet their children's teachers and visit the classrooms.

LEARNING CENTER
Orientation for Head Start children will be Tuesday, September 7, at 10 a.m. in the classroom. A parent or guardian is asked to attend this morning session with his child. Wednesday, September 8, will be the first full day for the Head Start children.

KIDS' DAY FESTIVITIES
A Kids' Appreciation Day, sponsored by Kyle Pritts, was held in the Kitzmiller Park on August 21. Games and prizes, along with a clown and Mickey and Minnie Mouse, provided fun for the children. Refreshments were sold, with all proceeds going to the Kitzmiller-Elk Garden Youth League.

Later in the day, a Mountain Man contest was held. Each of the 17 contestants had to show his skill in axe-throwing, hatchet-throwing, and archery. Then each mountain man had to ford the Potomac River. The winner was Doug Neselrodt, who was awarded a muzzleloader.

General Description of Work
This project will replace existing water lines in the Powles Addition area of Mountain Lake Park, Maryland. Approximately 2,600 feet of 6-inch water line and approximately 3,425 feet of 2-inch water line will be replaced. Thirty-five (35) existing service connections will have to be re-connected to the new water mains with a standard meterbox connection.

A pre-bid conference will be held on Thursday, September 1, 1994 at 11:00 a.m. in the office of the Owner to answer any questions concerning the contract documents. All bidders are invited to attend.

Contract Documents
Contract Documents will be available for inspection during regular working hours at the office of the Owner.

Contract Documents may be obtained from the Owner upon written request and remittance of full payment of fifty dollars ($50.00) for each set with checks made payable to the Garrett County Sanitary District, Inc. Payment will not be refunded, said payment being retained by the Owner to cover cost of printing, handling and shipping. Requests for Contract Documents shall be submitted to:

Garrett County Sanitary District, Inc.
313 East Alder Street
Old Courthouse, Room 200
Oakland, Maryland 21550

All Bids must be made on the required Bid form. All blank spaces for Bid prices must be filled in, in ink or typewritten, and the bid form must be fully completed and executed when submitted.

The Owner reserves the right to waive any informalities or minor defects, or to reject any and all Bids. Any Bid may be withdrawn prior to the above scheduled time for the opening of Bids or authorized postponement thereof. No Bidder may withdraw a Bid within 90 days after the actual date of the opening thereof. Should there be reasons why the Contract cannot be awarded within the specified period, the time may be extended by mutual agreement between the Owner and the Bidder.

Bidders must satisfy themselves of the scope-of-work by examination of the site and a review of the Contract Documents including Addenda. After Bids have been submitted, the Bidder shall not assert that there was a misunderstanding concerning the quantities of work or of the nature of the work to be done.

The Contract Documents contain the provisions required for the work included in the Project. Information obtained from an officer, agent or employee of the Owner or any other person shall not affect the risks or obligations assumed by the Contractor or relieve him from fulfilling any of the conditions of the Contract.

Bid Security and Bond Requirements
There are no bid securities or bond requirements for this project. Progress payments will be made for work in place and a ten percent (10%) retention will be held on all work until the project is completed and the contract requirements are satisfied. Retention in the amount of five percent (5%) of the final construction cost will be held for a one (1) year warranty period. Bidder may elect to provide a maintenance bond for one hundred percent (100%) of the construction cost in lieu of the five percent (5%) retention.

The Owner may for any reason whatsoever, determine that it is not in its best interest to award a Contract. In that event, the Contract award will not be made by the Owner and the Owner will not then be liable for any payments whatsoever to the Bidder. Extension of time beyond the ninety (90) day period of the award may be made only by mutual agreement between the Owner and the Bidder.

The party to whom the Contract is awarded will be required to execute the Agreement within ten (10) calendar days from the date when Notice of Award is delivered to the Bidder. The Notice of Award will be accompanied by the necessary Agreement and contract forms. In case of failure of the Bidder to execute the Agreement, the Owner may, at his option, consider the Bidder in default.

The Owner within ten (10) days of receipt of an acceptable Agreement signed by the party to whom the Contract was awarded, will sign the Agreement and return to such party an executed copy of this Agreement. Should the Owner not execute the Agreement within such period, the Bidder may, by Written Notice, withdraw his signed Agreement. Such notice of withdrawal shall be effective upon receipt of notice by the Owner.

A conditional or qualified Bid will not be accepted. Award will be made by the Owner to the lowest responsive and responsible bidder.

All applicable laws, ordinances, and the rules and regulations of all authorities having jurisdiction over the work shall apply to the Contract throughout.

Time For Completion
The successful bidder will be required to fully complete all contract work within sixty (60) consecutive calendar days from and including the date of receipt from the Owner of formal notice to proceed.

Award of Contract
The award of any contract will be made by the Owner. Bidders are cautioned that bids that are deemed by the Owner to be obviously unbalanced may be rejected.

The Owner reserves the right to reject any proposal for failure to comply with all requirements of this notice or of any of the Contract Documents; however, it may waive any minor defects or informalities at its discretion.

The Owner further reserves the right to reject all proposals, or to award a contract or contracts which in its judgement is in the best interest of the Owner.

Non-discrimination of Employment
BIDDERS ON THIS WORK WILL BE REQUIRED TO COMPLY WITH THE PRESIDENT'S EXECUTIVE ORDER NO. 11246.

THE REQUIREMENTS FOR BIDDERS AND CONTRACTORS UNDER THIS ORDER ARE EXPLAINED IN 41 CFR 60.4.

Notice of Requirement for Certification of Nonsegregated Facilities.

Bidders and offerors are cautioned as follows: By signing this bid or offer, the bidder or offeror will be deemed to have signed and agreed to the provisions of the "Certification of Nonsegregated Facilities" in this solicitation. The certification provides that the bidder or offeror does not maintain or provide for his employees facilities which are segregated on a basis of race, creed, color, sex, or national origin, whether such facilities are owned, operated, directed or on a de facto basis. SHA Secretary To Tour County

Nine different road projects will be on the agenda for Maryland State Highway Administration Secretary O. James Lighthizer's tour of the county scheduled for Sept. 30.

According to John Nelson, director of the county Office of Planning and Zoning, the SHA secretary's annual tour will feature "potential projects and concerns of Garrett County officials." Of the nine sites slated for the county tour, seven were part of last year's tour, Nelson stated.

However, it is the two new projects, both involving State Route 135 on Backbone Mountain, that County Commissioner John Braskey hopes the tour will emphasize. These projects are a runaway truck ramp for descending traffic and a passing lane, beginning near North Branch Avenue, for those ascending the mountain.

During his visit to the county, Lighthizer will also review the following proposed road improvements that have been carried over from last year's tour.

1) The prioritization of the entire U.S. Route 219 Corridor. This would include project planning for the rights-of-way for Accident and Oakland by-passes and the right-of-way throughout the entire county. This has been in the works for five years.

2) The proposal to transfer the Glendale Road and Bridge to the state in exchange for certain isolated spurs currently maintained by the state.

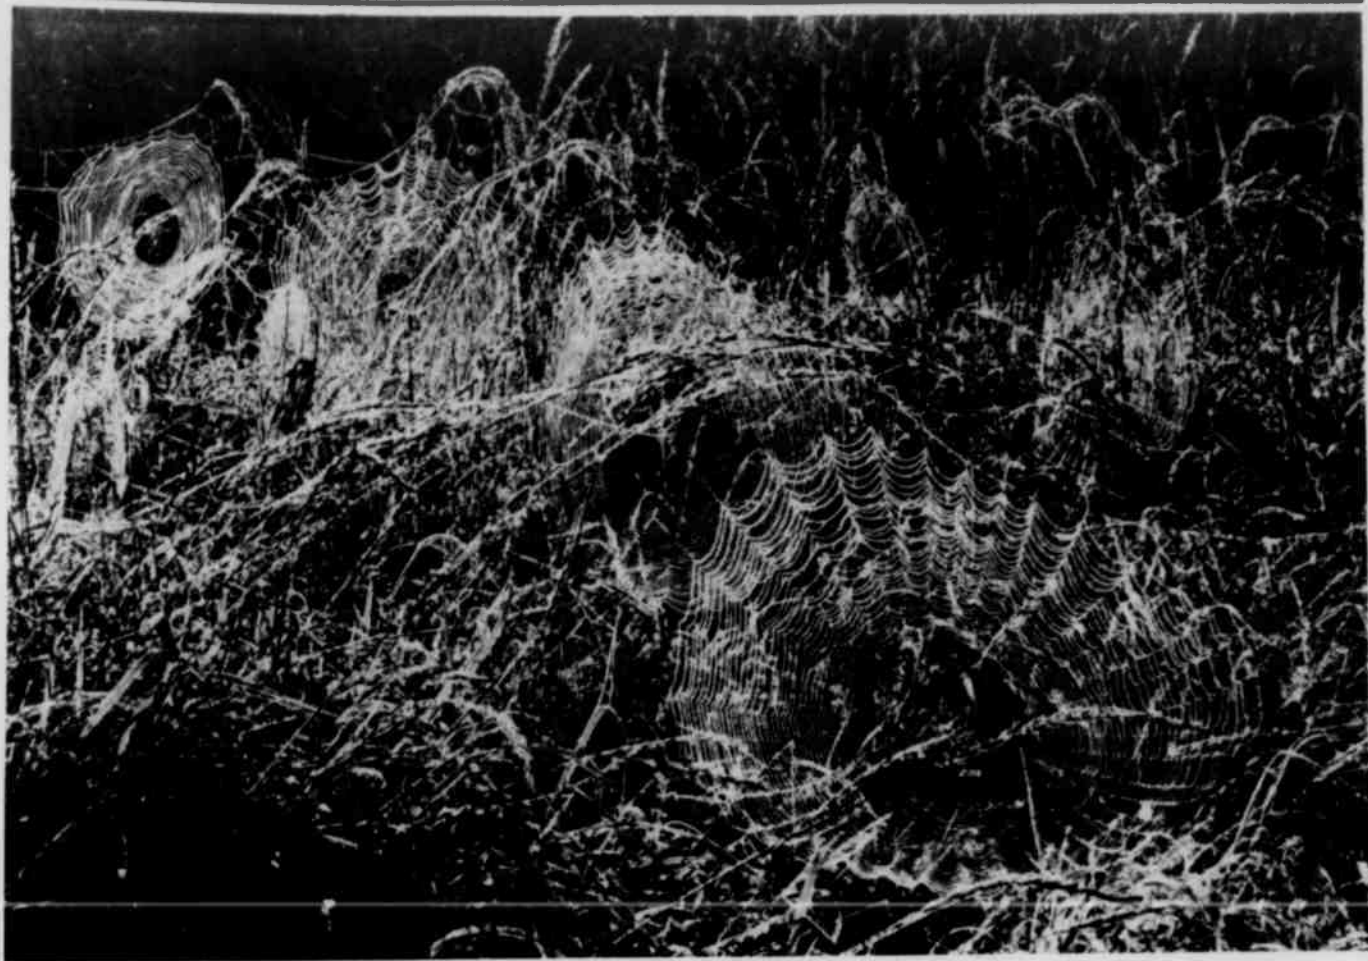

3) Completion of a full cloverleaf from east-bound Interstate 68 to north-bound U.S. Route 219.

4) Corrections to the land slide on the east-bound lane of State Route 135 near the bottom of Backbone Mountain.

5) Further excavation of road banks on State Route 560 and Bethlehem Road.

6) The installation of center line reflectors on State Route 135 along the top of the ridge between Bull's Restaurant and the beginning of the recent resurfacing project near the Swanton Hill Road intersection. Commissioner Elwood Groves commented Tuesday that he believes these reflectors have already been installed.

7) Construction of a truck climbing lane on State Route 42 ascending Elder Hill.

ARACHNID ARCHITECTS - Jeweled laceworks, the handiwork of eight-legged artists, adorned the back yard at the home of staff photographer Craig Phillips one recent morning, and he was quick to capture the elegant scene on film. The spiders are the envy of any human architect, as their creations are pleasing to the eye as well as practical and strong. Candidates in Tuesday's primary continue to spread their webs across the county, anxiously hoping to snare any voter who may wander too closely by. The web of political issues and conflicts is rather large and complex this year, leaving many with the wish that September 13 will come and go with all speed.

Record Number Of Visitors Stop At DCL Info. Booth

The Labor Day holiday weekend hosted a flock of visitors to Garrett County and the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Information Booth on Route 219 south of the Deep Creek Lake Bridge provided information to a record number of visitors for the summer season.

The booth hosted a total of 18,450 visitors from Memorial Day through the Labor Day weekend, compared to 12,108 visitors in 1993 for the same period, representing a 35% increase. Of those, 1,108 visited the booth over the four-day 1994 Labor Day weekend. Visitors to the booth during the holiday weekend were from 14 states, Washington, D.C., and 16 foreign countries. The majority of inquiries received were for directions, especially to recreational facilities, lodging, and restaurants.

The Information Booth will remain open seven days a week during the fall season through the Autumn Glory Festival, closing October 16. The booth was staffed this summer by Edgar Bender and William Sipple, both of Grantsville. This facility is operated by the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council.

Two Hearings Slated For Road Naming

County Permits and Inspections Coordinator Jim Torrington has announced that public hearings on the naming of county roads will be held on Sept. 14 in the commissioners' meeting room in the county courthouse and Sept. 20 in the Accident Town Hall. Both hearings are set for 7 p.m.

Torrington stated that the hearing on the 14th will cover county roads in Election Districts 7, 8, 10, 14 and 16. Roads in Districts 2, 5, and 6 will be the topic of the hearing on the 20th.

These hearings will be part of the county Planning Office's ongoing effort to officially name all county roads. It is hoped that this project will help emergency service personnel locate residences more efficiently.

At Tuesday's meeting of the Garrett County Board of Commissioners, Torrington remarked that in the event that a resident's address is changed because of a road name change, the U.S. Postal Service will put the new address into effect between Oct. 1 and Dec. 1 of this year. This will allow county residents to use their new addresses on Christmas cards and other holiday correspondence, he commented.

World War II Convocation At GCC To Involve Community

"Events for the entire community" are what Paul Shogren, coordinator of the World War II Commemoration at Garrett Community College, called the Convocation scheduled for September 23 at 10 a.m. in the auditorium and the stories of war and the homefront by community members on September 29 at 7 p.m. at the college.

"We have an outstanding speaker and historian to kick-off the program," Shogren stated, referring to the Honorable John O. Marsh Jr., former Secretary of the Army who saw active duty in World War II and the Vietnam War. Secretary Marsh will speak at 10:15 a.m. on "The War That Changed the World" and then will present a workshop on "Three National Guard Units from Maryland and Virginia in Action in Normandy on D-Day June 6, 1944."

Shogren explained the reason for choosing the

Sheriff's Office Arrests NC Man For Possession

A Taylorsville, N.C., man was arrested by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office this week on drug charges. Gary D. Teague, 19, was taken into custody on Saturday following a traffic stop on Weber Road.

Officers stopped Teague just outside Treasure Island and discovered that his driver's license was revoked. The vehicle was then searched, and a baggie of marijuana was discovered as well as a small pipe. Teague was charged with possession of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia.

He was held on $500 bail, according to the report.

In other sheriff's office news, two persons were cited for DWI early this week.

John P. Hershman, 50, Mountain Lake Park, was stopped on Rt. 219 in Oakland on Sept. 5. He was charged with DWI at approximately 5 p.m.

Lloyd H. Day Jr., 34, Oakland, was stopped on Glendale Road on the night of Sept. 6 and charged with DWI.

Population In Public Schools Expected To Rise

Maryland Office of Planning Director Ronald M. Kreitner recently announced that Maryland's public school population is expected to increase by 13% over the next 10 years. The student population in Garrett County is expected to increase by 2.9%, according to the report released by Kreitner.

According to planning office projections, enrollment in kindergarten through grade 12 in the state's public school systems is expected to peak at 853,500 in the year 2001. This is just over 100,000 more students than the 1993 enrollment of 753,379. By the year 2003, public school enrollments are expected to have declined slightly to 851,000. The forecast is contained in a recently published planning document titled "Public School Enrollment Projections - 1994-2003."

Kreitner said two strong demographic factors have shaped the recent and projected growth in Maryland's enrollment of public school students; the greater number of births during the late 80's and early 90's and the interstate migration into Maryland of new households with children, particularly in the latter years of the 1980's.

At the jurisdiction level, public school enrollment and facility requirements are also affected by intra-state and intra-jurisdictional migration trends. These trends have resulted in the general movement of families with children from the older, urban areas and inner suburbs to the outer suburbs and newer, suburban counties.

"Maryland's public school systems are continuing to educate a sizeable share of our children. This growth does not come without consequences," Kreitner said. "The building of new schools and the additions and renovations of existing schools to meet student needs are expensive infrastructure investments borne by state and local government. The answer is to plan now to get the most usage out of existing school facilities to minimize future costs to Marylanders."

According to the projections, Howard County will have the largest percentage increase of public school students in the state, going from 34,281 in 1993 to over 46,000 students in the year 2003, a 34% jump. Frederick, Calvert, and Charles counties are also expected to register increases of over 25% or more.

Only Allegany and Somerset counties and Baltimore City are expected to have fewer students in the year 2003 compared to 1993 enrollments.

Garrett County's enrollment in 1988 was 5,097, which decreased to 5,013 in 1993. The projected enrollment in the year 2003 is 5,160.

Elementary enrollments (Grades K-6), after a 33.0% increase from 1988 to 1993, are projected to decline to 3,000 by the year 2003.

Two Admitted, Seven Treated At Local Hospital After Monday Mishap

Two people were admitted and seven people were treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital Monday, according to hospital spokesperson, following a two-vehicle mishap on Rt. 219, near Deep Creek Drive.

Van E. Crosby, 43, Richmond, Va., and Andrew Hosmer, no age given, Annapolis, were both admitted to the hospital, but have since been released. Treated were Cameron Crosby, 12, Michael Crosby, 7, and Karis Crosby, 4, all of Richmond; and James L. Hosmer, 46, Janis Hosmer, 48, James Hosmer, 13, and John Hosmer, 13, all of Annapolis.

Maryland State Police, Barrack W. McHenry, investigated and reported that the 2:55 p.m. mishap occurred when Van Crosby, operating a 1992 Toyota, was attempting to re-enter Rt. 219 from a south shoulder, when the vehicle was struck by a 1990 pickup truck, operated by James L. Hosmer.

Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad and Deep Creek firefighters also responded to the scene.

TRACTOR-TRAILER OVERTURNS

A Martinsburg, W.Va. man was hospitalized last Wednesday night after the tractor-trailer he was operating left the roadway and went down a hill on 1-68, near Grantsville. The 10:30 p.m. mishap caused approximately 50-75 gallons of diesel fuel to spill on the roadway, according to a state police report.

Bruce Diehl, 66, operating a 1993 tractor that was pulling a 1979 box trailer, apparently lost control of the rig on the wet roadway near the Casselman River Bridge. After crossing the bridge, the vehicle jackknifed, struck a guardrail, and traveled down a hill.

Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad also responded to the scene, and transported Diehl to Frostburg Hospital, where he was admitted. He has since been released from that facility.

THREE-VEHICLE MISHAP

Three people were transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital following a three-vehicle mishap Friday afternoon on Rt. 219, near the Jasper Riley Road.

According to a report filed by Tfc. D.W. Broadwater, Randall L. Garrett, 21, Oakland, 7-year-old Craig Stevens, Rowlesburg, W.Va., and Brenda McBride, 13, Oakland, were transported to the hospital after the 1983 Mercury Lynx Garrett was operating north on Rt. 219 crossed the center line, striking a southbound 1988 Ford pickup truck operated by Paul A. Bender, 29, Oakland.

Bender's vehicle apparently then slid across the roadway and struck a 1994 Ford Explorer driven by Marvin E. McBride, 42, Oakland, who was traveling north on Rt. 219. McBride's vehicle reportedly struck an embankment and overturned onto its side.

Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad transported the injured to Garrett Memorial. Garrett was admitted to the facility, but has since been released, and Brenda McBride and Stevens were treated and released, according to a hospital spokesperson. Bender and Marvin McBride were reportedly slightly injured, but neither was transported following the 5:55 p.m. mishap.

CDS ARREST

A Relay man was arrested Sunday morning and charged with being disorderly in a public place, and possession of a controlled dangerous substance (CDS).

According to a report filed by Tfc. J.T. Bentejewski, Peter A. Hall was initially arrested on the disorderly charge, and a subsequent search revealed a

Susan Crawford Joins Delegation Of Women Judges

Susan Crawford, judge on the U.S. Court of Military Appeals and part-time resident of Garrett County, has been invited to join a delegation of women judges to Budapest and Prague this fall. The delegation will spend nine days in Hungary and the Czech Republic meeting with women judges, government officials, attorneys, and educators to gain understandings of the challenges being faced at a time of major political and economic reform.

The project is being arranged by the Center for International Projects developed under the auspices of the Soviet Peace Committee which was formed in 1949 to promote cooperation and understanding between the people of the Baltic countries and eastern Europe and people of other nations. Working with government officials, business leaders, educators, professionals, and citizens who support free market and democratic principles the Center arranges professional, scientific, technical, and cultural exchanges.

The U.S. delegation will seek to engage in a professional exchange through a series of briefings, meetings, discussion sessions, and field trips. Delegates will focus on the role of women judges in criminal and civil law procedures, the development of an independent judiciary, the application of the law as the basis of democratization, and the importance of developing new legislation. They will also be able to assess the critical problems caused by lack of legal training and the shortage of trained lawyers.

Local Woman Realizes Dream, Publishes Book

Grantsville resident Billy Bender has realized a lifelong dream -- to be a book author.

Her first book, Katie and the Lemon Tree, has been published by Herald Press and will soon be in area bookstores. This first book is dedicated to Bender's mother, who read to her for hours and hours as a child.

Bender's first book signing will be Sept. 19 at Waldbrooks Country Club Mall, LaVale, from 10:30 to noon, and from 1-4 p.m. This illustrated book was written with young readers in mind, especially those between the ages of 8 and 12, and children are welcome to attend the signing.

Although her writing has been published in newspapers and magazines, this book represents nearly nine years of study and work, and, according to Bender, many rejection slips for book manuscripts. She began writing in 1985 because she realized her dream would never come true if she waited for the right time. "I've been writing ever since," she said.

To keep herself encouraged, Bender took a literature course, did a graduate study in fiction writing from Frostburg State University, and took a graduate correspondence course from the Institute of Children's Literature.

DISABLED VETS HONORED BY COMMISSIONERS - In recognition of the contributions and sacrifices made by American veterans, the Garrett County Commissioners have proclaimed September to be Forget-Me-Not Month in Garrett County. As part of this observance, members of the Garrett County Chapters of the Disabled American Veterans and DAV Auxiliary recently presented the Commissioners with simulated forget-me-not flowers. These flowers are distributed by the DAV each year as reminders of the service given by American veterans.

Katie and the Lemon Tree is historical fiction set in the early 1800s. Katie and her young husband, Daniel, migrate to the United States from Germany. When her mother kisses her goodbye, she admonishes, "Katie, keep the faith!" Katie puzzles over her mother's parting words. "What does Mama mean?" When she finds a lemon on the docks in Baltimore, she sets out to grow a lemon tree even though she is told, "Lemons won't grow here." The book tells how Katie kept the faith that grew a lemon tree in the cold north, and brought her family to America.

GCHD Taking Part In Teleconference About Food Safety

Area residents will have the opportunity on Sept. 23 to hear information about the prevention of foodborne disease from officials of the Food Safety and Inspection Service, the Food and Drug Administration, and the U.S. Extension Service, as the Garrett County Health Department has arranged to receive a satellite transmission of a national teleconference on the issue. The teleconference will be transmitted to the Garrett Community College Interactive Distant Learning Network from 1-3 p.m. on Sept. 23.

Experts from the USDA, FDA, and state and local regulatory agencies will highlight the food safety challenges associated with raw animal foods, with a special emphasis on hamburger and shellfish. Panelists will discuss the importance of cooking raw animal foods thoroughly and assuring that they are received safely and from safe sources.

Specific practical advice and video demonstrations will be included. Following each of the panels, participants at local sites can call in questions.

Persons who wish to attend the teleconference at GCHD should contact the Garrett County Health Department at 334-8980.

GCMH Given $1,000 To Help Smokers Quit

Pharmaceutical company Marion Merrell Dow Inc. has recently contributed $1,000 to Garrett County Memorial Hospital's Wellness Together program.

The funds will be used to assist Garrett Memorial's Wellness Together staff in offering a more extensive smoking cessation program to the community.

According to John Caspero, professional medical representative for Marion Merrell Dow, "As a company we are committed to improving the longevity and quality of human life. One way we do this is to help people quit smoking with our products and programs."

The smoking cessation program, scheduled for implementation in the fall, is comprised of three options that are designed to help an individual stop smoking: 1) "The Nicoderm Program" - a support system, offered through Marion Merrell Dow, that is available for patients needing nicotine patch therapy; 2) "Smoke Stoppers Staying Stopped" - a five-week program offering group education and behavioral support; and 3) Smoking Cessation Self-Help Program - a package of self-help materials to be used independently of or in preparation for the Smoke Stoppers course.

"This is a true example of a win-win situation," continued Caspero. "Wellness Together will provide comprehensive information to help individuals quit smoking while Marion Merrell Dow's behavior modification program will be offered as one option to this."

"We're pleased to have received this generous contribution," commented Mikal McCartney, director of community relations at Garrett Memorial. "Smoking is a very difficult habit to break. However, through the partnership we have with Marion Merrell Dow, along with the support of our physicians and other

MAKING A FINAL STOP In Garrett County before next Tuesday's primary election were a number of candidates for state offices, hoping to garner as much support as possible from local voters. Making a "whistle stop" in Oakland on Tuesday was U.S. Senate candidate Ron Franks, pictured above, who is presently a delegate to the Maryland House of Delegates and a practicing dentist on the Eastern Shore. Franks is a Republican who is challenging Democrat incumbent Paul Sarbanes. He is the only challenger who is not a millionaire and has conducted a "low-budget, grass roots" campaign as a member of the United We Stand America group. In the photo below, Steve Crawford, Democrat candidate for Congress, Sixth District, speaks with Reba Simpson, Mtn. Lake Park, in Oakland. Crawford is an educator from Frederick who holds a Ph.D. from Columbia University and teaches at the University of Maryland. The Vietnam veteran, who is running for public office for the first time, considers himself a "conservative Democrat," but not nearly as conservative as the Republican incumbent, Roscoe Bartlett, who is pictured at right announcing his candidacy just last Friday at the Garrett County courthouse.

Oakland Woman Found Guilty In Dist. Court Of Bad Check Charges

An Oakland woman was convicted on three worthless check charges in last week's Garrett County District Court proceedings. Fourteen additional worthless check charges, as well as seven petty theft charges were not prosecuted by the state's attorney.

Karen R. Hanlin, 24, was handed a 30-day suspended sentence, fined $150, and placed on two years of supervised probation on all charges by District Court Judge Ralph M. Burnett. He also ordered a $5,000 blanket bond to be used to pay Hanlin's fines and/or costs for the bad check charges.

According to district court records, Hanlin had issued bad checks to several area establishments over a several month period in 1993.

William D. Stanton, 27, Grantsville, had one count of CDS (controlled dangerous substance) possession, and one count of use of CDS paraphernalia placed on the stet docket. He had been arrested for the offenses on Sept. 26, 1993, by Maryland State Police and officers from the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force.

Jack A. Glotfelty, 32, Gorman, W.Va., was not prosecuted on charges of breaking and entering and trespassing, because the complainant, Lori Griffith, refused to testify. She had filed the charges on June 6 following a dispute at her home in Mtn. Lake Park.

Judge Burnett dismissed charges of malicious destruction of property against Ricky G. Cassidy, 38, Oakland, because the case was not heard within the statute of limitations (one year). Charges had been filed by Donald W. Rolf, Oakland, after Cassidy reportedly cut a cherry bush on Rolf's property, causing illness to his cattle. The incident occurred in July 1992.

A Frostburg man was found not guilty on counts of reckless driving and negligent driving, but was convicted on one count of passing in a no-passing zone during recent court proceedings.

The judge imposed a $95 fine on Kevin Warnick, 23, and placed him on one year of supervised probation. Conditions of the probation indicate he must also attend a MVA driver improvement program. One additional count of malicious destruction of property was dismissed.

Warnick had been charged with the offenses on April 16 by Heidi Fazenbaker, Meyersdale, Pa., who claimed her Ford Bronco was damaged when the defendant threw a bottle at her vehicle as he passed hers and three other vehicles on a solid yellow line near the Hill Top Delight, Grantsville.

Jimmy D. Steiding, 34, Alexandria, Va., was convicted on one count of CDS possession. Judge Burnett sentenced him to 30 days in observed his parked vehicle along I-68. According to court records, the motor was still running, and the defendant was seated behind the wheel, but in a conversation with the officer, he admitted to driving while under the influence of drugs (DUI).

Laura A. Walters, 31, Timonium, was convicted on one count of CDS possession in last week's court proceedings. An additional charge of use of CDS paraphernalia was not prosecuted by the state's attorney. Court records indicate Walters requested a jury trial following her district court appearance.

She had been arrested on the charges on June 11 by Ranger Caroline T. Blizzard, who was reportedly on foot patrol in Swallow Falls State Park when she observed Walters and a co-defendant passing a pipe back and forth at their campsite.

John I. Filsinger, 40, Oakland, was found not guilty of one count of battery. Charges had been filed against him on Feb. 27 by his wife, Judy I. Filsinger, who told state police he had kicked her below the knee, causing a large bruise.

Two West Virginia men were granted probation before judgment on drug-related charges. Steven I. Creamer, 28, Morgantown, Election Hopes...

The voters of Garrett County will once again be going to the polls next week to select the candidates of their party for November's general election. Because of the unusually large number of candidates, particularly for county commissioner seats, this has become one of the more interesting campaigns in the county's history.

While we are pleased so many people have an interest in running for office, it remains to be seen how this will affect the outcome of the voting. The likelihood of a dark horse candidate being selected is greater when there are numerous candidates because of how the votes may be split among them.

When we scan the entire group of candidates, we see what we would describe as some "dead wood," but we also see a number of competent people who would probably do a good job if elected. We hope the majority of our voters have read about and listened to the various candidates to assist them in making their selections next Tuesday.

We also hope that the majority will cast their votes based upon an overall impression of the candidates, and not on one or two specific issues or opinions by a particular candidate. Just because a certain candidate voices a popular opinion about one issue does not necessarily mean that that candidate is the best person for the job.

We are hopeful that local voters realize and remember that some of the promises made by some candidates will be literally impossible to fulfill because of state and/or federal law and various other forms of higher authority. It is ludicrous, for example, for a board of education candidate to say that, if elected, he will make sweeping changes by simply rejecting or ignoring the many state and federal mandates that govern so much school policy, as ridiculous as they may be.

Finally, as always, we hope that the voter turnout is large next Tuesday, so that the majority, and not the minority, of our citizens will determine who will be in line to fill these elected positions.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Honesty always has been and still is the best policy. I have paid thousands of dollars in my lifetime to the county government and recently paid 1994-95 taxes.

I do not approve of county tax dollars being handled carelessly. I question the county commissioners supplementing the sheriff's salary, even though they may be advised to do so by the study commission, as this body has been appointed, not selected, by taxpayers or voters. All salaries are set or adopted by law, including the commissioners' salary, and legally they cannot increase or decrease any elected official's salary.

I would suspect any and all individuals seeking office would be aware of the salary this particular office pays. If they feel they cannot comply, then he or she should not seek the office. However, it appears all of the incumbents have a desire to retain their offices. Voters have a choice in several offices to make some changes on September 13. The candidates that are in question—voters, look carefully at their records. Then, vote for and support as your conscience dictates.

Sincerely,

Hubert A. Friend

To the Editor:

As a concerned employee of Garrett County Memorial Hospital I would like to express my opinion on some of the information I've been reading and hearing over the past several weeks concerning the organization of Union Local 27 at our community hospital.

I started working at Garrett County Memorial Hospital over 14 years ago as an on the job trainee, and have worked to achieve three national credentials in respiratory therapy since that time. This would not have been possible without the support from my department manager and the administration at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. Through financial, as well as other support from Garrett County Memorial Hospital, I have been able to fulfill my goal in becoming a registered respiratory therapist. I, as well as others from nursing, respiratory therapy, physical therapy, and other departments have used this opportunity, and in turn be able to give back to the community good, professional, quality care, due in part by one of our employee benefits.

This small community hospital has worked hard over the past decade to keep up with the ever growing demands of the health care industry for the community as well as its employees. It makes me sick to see outsiders come in, and try to turn hard working teams of professionals, with good working relationships into negativity and adversi-

SAVAGE RIVER STATE FOREST ROAD OPENINGS

At 53,000 acres, the Savage River State Forest is Maryland's largest. The variety of habitats found in its stream valleys to ridge tops support an incredible diversity of plant and animal life.

In order to properly manage such a large natural resource, access is a must! As such, over 200 miles of roads crisscross the Savage River State Forest. These roads provide access for forest and wildlife management personnel as well as forest visitors.

Twenty percent of the roads in Savage River are county maintained and are used by the general public in their daily commutes through the forest.

The rest of the roads located in the state forest are maintained by the Maryland State Forest and Park Service. More than 80% of these are open year-round, allowing access for MVA licensed vehicles. Hunters, naturalists, photographers, and just plain outdoor enthusiasts enjoy the access to various sites in the state forest afforded by these roads.

Twenty percent of these state forest roads are gated either year-round or during certain seasons. Roads are gated to protect the forest resource in various ways: to promote road stabilization, enhance wildlife management practices, deter poachers, discourage trespassing on adjacent private lands, provide recreation and to protect state forest facilities. Roads gated on a seasonal basis are usually opened to allow hunting and firewood collection during the fall.

Below is the road opening schedule for September 1994 through January 1995. The State Forest Manager reserves the right to change the schedule, as necessary. If you have any questions concerning these openings, please call the Savage River State Forest Headquarters at 301-895-5759.

On a final note, please keep in mind to never park in front of a closed gate! By blocking the road, you hamper the rescue, firefighting and enforcement efforts of your State Forest Rangers. Don't slow the Ranger's response time...remember, you may be the hunter or hiker who needs emergency help!

ty. Yes, there have been changes in our institution; some not so popular. But change is taking place throughout the country in health care, and we are part of that change.

There have been many positive things happen at Garrett County Memorial Hospital over the last few years. If you can't think of any, shame on you! All of the things I have read and/or heard over the last several weeks from the organizers of Local 27 have been negative, taken out of context, or have been total fiction. I urge each and every employee to look closely at the facts of both sides of the union issues. Do some real investigating on your own. Ask Local 27 to give you a list of all organizations, they have unionized, and/or tried to unionize. I urge you to call, and/or visit some of these organizations, find out why they voted no against the union, and for those that voted yes, would they vote for it again?

I ask each and everyone of you to look through the smoke screen that Local 27 is blowing around you. Look at the real facts, and I bet you vote no on September 30, 1994.

Sincerely,

Randy Crabtree RRT

To the Editor:

We are fortunate that, as citizens of Garrett County, we have the opportunity to know the candidates running for public office, on a personal basis. This gives us the opportunity to make an informed and educated choice.

It is not enough to go to the polls and cast our vote for the most popular candidate! We must look hard at that person's character and past accomplishments. It is O.K. to vote for one's neighbor or friend if he is the best person to get the job done. I have noticed that the way a person conducts his or her personal life is a good indication of how they conduct their professional life. The people that we vote in as commissioner, sheriff, etc. will hold very important positions within our county. We need to make the right choices!

To vote, for any other reason than to elect the best person for the job, is like throwing your vote away! A misinformed vote is worse than no vote at all! Cast your vote for the most qualified, dedicated, sincere candidate to represent our county.

Crystal Sines

To the Editor:

In about a month Local 27 of the United Food and Commercial Workers Union along with the National Labor Relations Board will conduct a vote for collective bargaining for a contract between hospital employees and administration. As an employee of Garrett County Memorial Hospital, I am upset with how employees are so unhappy that they feel they need a union to represent them. I will admit that the hospital has problems but those problems probably can be resolved over a short or long period of time.

During my 14 years at Garrett Memorial Hospital, we had another close call with the union wanting to represent employees. What happened that time was employees stood together and said no to the union. Where are those employees now!

What I have liked about working at the hospital is that we as employees always stuck together through thick and thin and it always worked out. We need that same employee spirit now more than ever.

This rural community does not need a unionized hospital, our patients are more important to us than trying to resolve a few problems that can be worked out eventually anyway.

The union that is trying to organize at our hospital has never ever stated the true facts, but focuses on problems that can be resolved without them. This union and a representative of the union have been charged with harassment, as well as stalking employees. I ask these the kind of people you want to represent you and to make promises they cannot keep?

I strongly urge each employee to really think when they go to vote. We could see a drastic change in our health care in Garrett County if Local 27 of the Food and Commercial Workers Union get their way.

On September 30, vote no to collective bargaining!

Thank you,

Fred Callis

To the Editor:

It would appear from Craig Speicher's letter to the editor that he is biased. At no time did he contact me for an interview.

Why did Sheriff Evans put me on the desk? As Mr. Speicher said, Sheriff Evans and Maj. Tichnell have been assigned to desk duty. So why didn't Sheriff Evans or Maj. Tichnell or any other deputy be assigned to the desk? It is simply - politics. Sheriff Evans knew by putting me on the desk he would have removed his chief opponent from the public's view. One point is to be made - no deputy has been assigned to desk duty, unless that deputy was on light duty. Sheriff Evans or Maj. Tichnell have never served extended time on desk duty. Maybe one time in 10 years.

As for Mr. Speicher's allegations concerning other K-9's availability, that is true. However, the county taxpayers paid to have their K-9 here in Garrett County available when called for, not for the handler sitting at a desk.

If you wish to validate the above information, I would suggest you contact someone other than Maj. Tichnell, Chief Deputy who serves in this capacity at the leisure of whomever is sheriff.

Sincerely,

Randy Sines

To the Editor:

As a follow up to last week's letter from the employees of Garrett County Memorial Hospital who feel that being unionized is the answer, I have additional food for thought on that subject.

It is true that our benefit package has decreased over the past few years, but we have all given a $1.00 hour raise which could be used for anything we wanted. This $1.00 hour amounted to $2,080 per year for full time (40 hr/wk) employees and more than covered the cost of the health insurance premiums we had to start paying as well as the higher annual deductible. We should also remember the year when there was money left in the flex spending account at the end of the year. That money was divided equally among all employees. Administration could have used that money for whatever purpose it wanted, including simply keeping it in the bank, but instead chose to give it back to the employees.

The statement that the Mobile Medical van was replaced because of a dent in the door is completely out of line. The van was 10 years old, had over 100,000 miles on it, in need of extensive repairs, and had become unreliable. Add to that the fact that it services over 150 home oxygen patients each month - some of whom live in rather remote areas. If your loved one depended on oxygen at home in order to continue to live, wouldn't you want the provider of that oxygen to be able to reach your loved one in the extreme weather conditions that frequent Garrett County?

I'm sure if you check out the new van, you will see that it was not ordered "loaded" and I can guarantee you that in the two+ years it took to obtain the van, it was purchased at the lowest possible cost.

Where did the money for the new parking lot come from? Wasn't it the Foundation and the employees

Populism: The Missing Ingredient

The folks in my community will head for the polls next Tuesday. As I evaluate the various candidates, I scratch my head. The labels "Democrat" and "Republican" don't seem to mean much anymore. To be sure, neither has ever had an absolute meaning, but they used to indicate about as much as chocolate and vanilla when buying ice cream.

Of course, the fiercest partisans of both parties tell us they are still as different as chocolate and vanilla. Each box keeps its separate label, but inside, the political ice cream looks and tastes like neapolitan, that is, both flavors with a little strawberry thrown in.

"When the sun goes down, the good guys get together," said Robert Strauss, former Chairman of the Democratic National Committee and former Ambassador to Russia appointed by Republican President George Bush. In other words, the insiders (also known as "good old boys") run our country. The partisan infighting has nearly become a charade.

Missing from mainstream American politics today is populism. At the most basic level, populism and democracy mean the same thing, the former derived from Latin and the latter term from Greek. The people rule and should rule because a wisdom inheres in the people. Of course, people collectively can be wrong just as people singly can be right.

The premise of populism or democracy is that the people taken as a whole are more likely to be right than any individual or committee of individuals. In our form of government we provide a safeguard against radical and usually temporary swings of opinions in the community of the whole. We make ours a government of representative populism, or, as one political statement puts it, a democracy in a republic.

The irony of missing this ingredient is that both our major parties were born in populism. The Democrats celebrate their populist roots at Jefferson and Jackson dinners. The Republican Party began because the Democrats had become the expression of the establishment. Republicans celebrate their populist roots at annual Lincoln Day dinners. Lincoln had not been dead two years before the people who sent him to Washington realized that the establishment had taken over their populist party.

For the 50 years following the Civil War populism was the movement that struggled with the establishment in both parties, and for a time, found its expression as a party itself. The Grange, a fraternal order formally known as the Patrons of Husbandry, continues as an institutional reminder of 19th century populism. It was a movement of ordinary people who were primarily agricultural and rural. A distinct characteristic of American populism is the rootedness of the people in the soil out of that relationship they spun a social, political and economic agenda.

One writer opens his article on American populism with an air of puzzlement: populism produced "...a radical socioeconomic agenda from what was considered the most conservative class in American society." Some of the populist goals would still be reckoned radical today, like the abolition of national banks. Other planks of the platform have become meaningless, like the free coinage of silver (though, in a sense, President Nixon accomplished most of that goal when he took our country off the gold standard).

Many of the populist goals were achieved, and have become commonplaces of American life: the eight-hour workday, direct election of Senators (most folks have forgotten that the state legislatures used to elect the U.S. Senators) and the rural free delivery of mail. I am sorry to say that the income tax was part of the populist platform—nobody's perfect.

After World War I, the populist movement lost its energy, precisely because so many of its goals had been achieved. Nothing takes the wind out of your sails quite like success. In large measure, the two-party system was perpetuated because both parties adopted much of the populist platform.

Today, populism is an underground movement. There are a few populist organizations and even some populist politicians, but mainline American politics is missing the populist impetus. No one has summed up the circumstance better than Senator Jay Rockefeller (that's John D., IV, great grandson of the oil baron) when he said regarding healthcare reform, "It doesn't matter if the people don't want it, we're going to do it anyway." Perhaps.

Whether Rockefeller was specifically right or not, his statement of establishment arrogance may well foreshadow the revival of populism. In America, it's still the people, not the politicians, who count.

themselves?

Everyone should remember that GCMH is under a capitation system whereby yearly revenue is set, not actually generated by volume.

Rosenthal Named To Health Agency

Garrett County Memorial Hospital President Benjamin Rosenthal has been appointed to serve on the Board of Directors of the Western Maryland Health Planning Agency.

Rosenthal was appointed by the Garrett County Commissioners to replace the vacancy created by Robert Trantham's resignation from the agency. Rosenthal will complete Trantham's term as president of the agency's Board of Directors.

At the time of his appointment, Rosenthal was a member of the agency's Advisory Council and chairman of its Review, Evaluation and Implementation Committee. He was also nominated to chair the Advisory Council.

The WHIPA is the designated health planning agency for the five western Maryland counties of Garrett, Allegany, Washington, Frederick and Carroll. According to a spokesperson for the WHIPA, the agency provides the mechanism for elected officials, consumers and health providers to participate directly in planning for health care in the five-county region and the

Teenager Cited In Hit And Run Mishap Friday

A 17-year-old driver was cited by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office last week after allegedly leaving the scene of an accident in Mountain Lake Park last Friday.

According to the police report, the driver was operating a 1985 Chrysler Laser eastbound on Oakland Avenue. He attempted to make a right turn onto G Street, but apparently crossed the center line, traveled into Mark Hickman's yard, and hit a fence post as well as several small saplings. Although the car was damaged, the driver continued on, leaving the scene.

In addition to Hickman, at least two other persons witnessed the accident and the sheriff's office was contacted. One witness was able to report the tag number of the car, and a Maryland State Police officer stopped the driver a half hour later on Rt. 135 near Swanton, according to the report.

The teenager told police that he had left the scene because he had panicked after crashing into the fence and trees. He was charged with leaving the scene of a property damage accident and failure to keep right of center.

No one was hurt in the mishap. The sheriff's office also responded to an accident on August 31 in Loch Lynn. Marguerite Forde, Bayard, W.Va., was operating a 1990 Plymouth Voyager northbound on Rt. 560 and continued onto Paul Street, apparently failing to stop at a stop sign. Her vehicle collided with a 1993 Oldsmobile driven by Lawrence M. Hanlin, Kitzmiller.

Hanlin and his wife, Francis, were both transported to the Garrett County Memorial Hospital where they were treated and released, according to the report. Forde was charged with failure to stop at a stop sign.

Buckwheat Festival Sunday To Feature Antique Car Show

A special attraction during the 53rd Annual Preston County Buckwheat Festival will be the 32nd Annual Antique Car Show, set for Sunday, Oct. 2, at the Craig Civic Center parking lot on Tunnelton Street, Kingwood. The show is sponsored by the Antique Automobile Club of America, with Glen Gibson and Marvin Zinn as co-chairmen.

The first 125 exhibitors to register their cars will receive dash plaques. Exhibits expected during the event are antique cars and trucks through 1969, and non-modified production vehicles from 1970 through 1979.

Registration is from 10 a.m. until 12:30 p.m., and a fee of $3 per car will be charged to all exhibitors. The public is invited to view the cars continuously throughout the day, even during the judging.

The Buckwheat Festival's antique car show consistently has large numbers of automobiles on display, according to Zinn. As many as 200 cars and trucks are expected to participate in this year's show.

In years past, Buckwheat Festival Sunday was considered a "wind-down, clean-up time." Recently, though, it has become a fourth major day for visitors to participate in the festivities. Along with the antique car show, Sunday will feature a bicycle race at 11 a.m., a late afternoon drawing for the Buckwheat Festival car, and a performance by the Wheeling Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Rachael Worby, West Virginia's First Lady. The performance is set for 2 p.m. at the civic center. The carnival and all exhibits are open to the public until Sunday evening.

The Buckwheat Festival is slated this year from Thursday, Sept. 29, through Sunday, Oct. 2.

Pratt Cemetery Assoc. To Meet

The Pratt Cemetery Association will hold a special meeting on Sept. 10 at 7 p.m. in the Birds Creek Community Building, Birds Creek. According to Earl R. Pyles, correspondence and recording secretary for the group, any interested persons, including anyone owning a plot or having a relative buried in the cemetery, are encouraged to attend. Cemetery upkeep will be discussed at the meeting.

For more information, those interested may write the association care of Treasurer Dorothy Pratt, Rt. 1, Box 1226, Kingwood, W.Va., 26537.

Events Planned At Civic Center

The Craig Civic Center will be the site for a number of special events during the Preston County Buckwheat Festival.

A battle of the bands, featuring three country and three rock bands, will begin at 7 p.m., Wednesday, Sept. 28.

On Friday, Sept. 30, performances of a show featuring Ronnie McDowell, stars of the Elvis Presley Show, and Alex Houston, will begin at 6:45 and 9:30 p.m.

Events on Saturday, Oct. 1, include a 9:30 a.m. turkey calling contest that will highlight a seminar by Jeff D'Agostine, and a 6:30 p.m. banjo and fiddle contest featuring bluegrass music from West Virginia bands Everett Lilly and Clear Creek Crossin'.

For more information about these and other events planned during the festival, persons may call 329-0303.

MDOP, THEFTS REPORTED

Two thefts in the Deep Creek area were reported to the local state police during the past week.

Tfc. R.H. Sharp is continuing his investigation in an incident involving the theft of two fishing poles, two pair of sunglasses, and one golf umbrella from a 1991 Ford pickup truck that was parked in the Wisp's parking lot. Unknown persons reportedly broke the rear window of the vehicle and removed the items.

In the same incident, the top of a 1994 Jeep, belonging to a Pennsylvania man, was damaged in a failed attempt to hotwire the vehicle, and the rear side window of a 1992 Toyota Camry, belonging to an Ohio couple, was damaged, but apparently no entry was made into the vehicle.

The theft of dinner meals, valued at $49.89, was reported to Tfc. D.W. Broadwater last Friday evening at the Will O'the Wisp. The report indicated a party of eight ran a food and drink bill up to $134.73, but complained about the meals, and the bill was reduced to $94.89. The party apparently left the establishment and left only $45.00 on the table, still owing $49.89.

Tfc. Broadwater is continuing his investigation in the incident.

DWI REPORTS

Six DWI (driving while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs) reports were filed at the local state police barracks during the past week. Addresses were unavailable for any of the arrests.

Roberta J. Pretzman, 39, was arrested and charged with DWI on Sept. 1 by Cpl. W.R. Paugh.

Rick C. Stewart, 26, was arrested for DWI on Sept. 2 by Tfc. S.H. Anderson. Michael W. Wilburn, 33, ments (Grades 7-12) which had declined from 347,848 in 1983 to a low of 290,273 in 1989 are again on the rise and are expected to increase by 28.6% during the next decade from 316,325 in 1993 to nearly 407,000 in 2003. Throughout the remainder of the 1990's and the end of the projection period - 2003 - public secondary school enrollment will increase significantly in most jurisdictions.

Only two jurisdictions, Allegany and Somerset counties, are not expected to experience an increase in secondary enrollment from 1993 to 2003. From 1993 to 2003, increases of from 4.3% (Garrett) to 55.7% (Cahert) are expected as the larger number of children in elementary grades matriculate through to the secondary education levels.

issued for the arrest of Charles L. Housley, 20, Mountain Lake Park. He is accused of failing to pay $210 into Garrett County District Court.

Robert J. Simmons Jr., 32, Mtn. Lake Park, was arrested on the strength of a bench warrant. He is accused of failing to pay $150 into district court.

John J. Lockard, 55, no fixed address, was arrested on the strength of a bench warrant this week. He allegedly failed to appear in court.

Theft, DOP Incident Probed

The sheriff's office is currently investigating a case involving the short-term theft of a car that was also damaged in the incident.

Betty L. Cogan, Oakland, was reportedly visiting family members on K Street in Mountain Lake Park on Friday. According to the police report, she had gotten into her 1987 Oldsmobile to leave at about 4 p.m. and noticed that her son's coffee cup was in the car. She left the keys in the ignition and took the cup back inside the house.

When she returned a short time later, the car was gone. The family found the vehicle a short time later in a yard just down the street.

The back bumper had been damaged when the culprit struck a tree. The repair estimate is $500, according to the report.

There are no suspects in the case, but the investigation is continuing.

Western Maryland Joins The Ranks Of Americorps

As a result of a grant received by Frostburg State University last month, the search has just begun for 25 AmeriCorps "members" or participants, who will perform duties as varied as coordinating environmental projects at Deep Creek Lake, developing Victory Gardens in Garrett County, or working with Head Start in recruiting volunteers. Others will provide independent living assistance, enlarge area food pantries, create youth literacy programs, and help solve weather related emergencies.

According to Bill Mandicott, program director, recruitment will begin very soon, as early as September 12, for the positions that are available in this area. Job announcements will be listed in the local newspapers within the week.

The September 12 date has significance, Mandicott said, because it is the same day President Clinton will officially kick off the recently established AmeriCorps program. Mandicott will be representing the recently formed Western Maryland Alliance for Service, which includes FSU's community volunteer program, Allegany County Human Resources Development Commission, the Western Maryland Food Bank, Garrett County Community Action Committee, and the Garrett County Health Department, at the ceremonies on the White House lawn.

The local program, named Appalachian Service Through Action and Resources or A STAR! in Western Maryland, will include AmeriCorps members providing many types of assistance in the areas of both social services and the environment.

Mandicott explained that AmeriCorps is the new national service movement initiated by President Clinton that will engage thousands of Americans of all ages and backgrounds to help the nation's communities through service work projects. The local Alliance program will play a significant role in meeting human

Management Classes To Be Offered

Garrett Community College has scheduled four classes for this fall that will help managers and supervisors develop leadership skills. Additional classes will be offered in the spring. According to a program spokesperson, each class in the series has been designed to meet the specific needs of those who manage or supervise employees in business, health, service organizations, or school settings.

"Operating successful businesses and organizations in today's highly competitive environment presents many new challenges," stated Sandy Major, business programs coordinator at GCC. "Conventional ways of managing are no longer effective. Today's leaders need to provide leadership which enables performance that attracts, delights, and keeps customers. Companies and organizations that succeed have managers and supervisors who have skills in the areas of understanding and instilling vision, practicing personal quality, enabling change, empowering employees, and achieving positive outcomes."

Building Productivity Through Teamwork is the first class in this series. The class will meet on three consecutive Thursdays from 6:30 p.m. to 9:45 p.m. starting Sept. 29 and will be taught by Sandy Major. The class focuses on developing leadership skills that will enable each participant to transform his or her work force into a highly productive coordinated team.

Supervisors and managers will learn the dynamics of effective leadership, how to build commitment, how to use low-cost incentives, delegation skills, ways to empower employees to take responsibility, how to give meaningful feedback and measure results, and ways to build confidence and self-esteem.

The second class in the series, Strengthening Your Assertiveness and Communication Skills, will help participants build skills in communicating effectively to build trust and to empower others. It is designed to help participants build confidence, personal power, and supervisory effectiveness by learning to communicate assertively. Managers and supervisors will learn to assess and strengthen assertiveness skills, use motiva-tional communication techniques, focus on listening to understand, give and get positive feedback, and coach and counsel. The class will meet on Oct. 20 and 27 and Nov. 3 from 6:30 p.m. to 9:45 p.m. Sandy Major will be the instructor for this class, also.

Making the Time to Manage will enable managers and supervisors to discover ways to manage time that will help them handle stress and enjoy their jobs. Practical, individualized learning experiences will be focused on values, goals and priorities; time management techniques; getting past procrastination and personal time wasters; increasing and using prime time, and conducting effective meetings. The class meets for three sessions, on Nov. 10, 17, and 22 from 6:30 to 9:45 p.m. and will be taught by Sandy Major.

The fourth class in the series will be Hiring and Developing Committed Employees. This class will focus on hiring, developing and keeping employees that are committed to delivering quality services and products. Supervisors and managers will learn to select and train employees who will focus on quality, develop job descriptions and policy manuals, create performance evaluations, meet legal responsibilities, identify and deal with problem employees, conduct counseling and termination sessions, and practice effective supervisory techniques that motivate. This class will meet for two sessions, on Dec. 1 and 8, and will be taught by Don Smith.

All classes will be held at the McHenry Campus of GCC. "While participants may register for any one of the classes," Major stated, "they will gain the most from each class by enrolling in all classes. The content of each of these classes is interrelated to the content of the other classes. CEU's will be awarded for those who participate in and attend at least 80 percent of the class or classes for which they're registered. In order to address the individual needs of each participant, each class is limited to twelve participants.

Since space is limited, those interested should register immediately. To obtain information on these classes or other business classes, persons may call Sandy Major or Ruth Pinter, GCC Small Business Development Center, at 387-3101 or 387-3080.

Vent, Huskies "Reload" For '94 Campaign, To Host Keyser

Reloading, rather than rebuilding, is the preferred term of Northern High School football coach Tom Vent when he describes the goal of his team this season, a team that saw 19 seniors lost to graduation, but a team that has tasted considerable success in the past three seasons.

The Huskies have won 23 of their last 33 games, earned a spot in three straight playoffs (1990, '91, and '92), and just missed a fourth straight playoff appearance last year with a 3-3 record. With only three starters back from that team, Vent will be counting on his younger recruits to step in, or step up, and continue the success of the program. That goal is made still more difficult with a backfield schedule, which will include the first meeting ever with Keyser, slated for this Friday night on the Huskies' gridiron.

Vent and his staff have attempted to give their 60-plus players plenty of experience before Friday's opener, as they scheduled no fewer than four scrimmages with Bedford, Williamsport, Mapletown, and Allegany.

"We lost a lot of kids who will be hard to replace," Vent said. "But what they lack in experience they seem to have in heart and spirit. We just don't know yet how successful we will be, but we are certainly excited about getting started. Our kids really need to play."

Vent announced yesterday his starting line-up against the Golden Tornado. Offensively, senior D.J. Durst (5-11, 165) will start at split end; senior Lee Collins (6-3, 210) will start at tight end; junior David Schotfield (6-3, 232) and senior Steve Savage (6-3, 232) will start at the tackle spots; juniors Todd Smith (6-0, 180) and Bill Spicher (6-0, 225) will start at the guard positions; and sophomore Doug Sines (6-2, 205) will complete the line at center.

In the backfield will be senior quarterback Jeremy Brenneman (5-11, 160); senior fullback Brian King (6-0, 188); junior tailback Brian Heslop (6-1, 170); and

HOPING TO CONTINUE a winning program at Northern High School this season is Coach Tom Vent, who is anxious for his team to open its 1994 campaign tomorrow evening at home against Keyser. The Huskies, who have earned a playoff berth three of the past four seasons and

senior Jason Reed (6-0, 145) or junior Tim Sines (5-11, 143) at the flanker position.

Steve Savage, Collins, and Durst are the only returning starters on offense. "Jeremy Brenneman has paid his dues as a back-up to Derek Mason last year," Vent said. "He throws and runs well and has a lot of leadership ability."

Vent expects his team to keep the ball on the ground most of the time, with Heslop a key figure in the offensive attack. The junior gained over 1,000 yards last year on the junior varsity squad.

The starting defensive line will include: junior Michael Minnick (6-2, 265) at nose guard; Spicher and Savage at the tackle positions; and Collins and junior Michael Holliday (5-10, 162) at defensive end. Starting linebackers will be

Durst, Heslop, and junior Brandon Baumgardner (5-9, 165), while the secondary will include Reed or Sines and sophomore Zach Levenez (5-10, 145) at the corners and Brenneman at safety.

Sines will serve as the placekicker and Heslop will be the punter.

"We have more experience," Vent said. "But we will be aggressive, as always, and I believe we are capable of having a good season."

Coach Tom Woods Is Back; Rams To Open Against Falcons

After a three-year hiatus, during which time he watched his older son play football and served as a color commentator on game radio broadcasts, Coach Tom Woods is back on the sidelines of the Southern High Rams, and there is probably no one on his team or among the fans who is any more excited about getting the Rams' season underway this Friday night against a powerful team from Frankfort.

"It's great to be back," said Woods, who replaced Fred Gregg after three seasons at the helm and brings with him one of the area's most outstanding won-loss records (108-42). His goal, as always, is to win a state championship, which will be a major task, considering the difficulty of the Rams' schedule.

"I challenge anyone to find a tougher schedule for a Class A team," Woods said, noting that Frankfort, Musselman, Fort Hill, and Allegany are all there, not to mention what could be excellent teams at Northern and Tucker County.

"If we can be successful during our regular season, then we will have an excellent chance in the playoffs," he said.

The Rams finished 4-6 last year against a similar schedule, and 11 starters from that team are back, along with about 60 more players, making it the largest turnout for football in the history of the school.

"I believe our strengths will be our offensive and defensive lines, as well as the leadership of Jeremy Fitzwater at quarterback," Woods said.

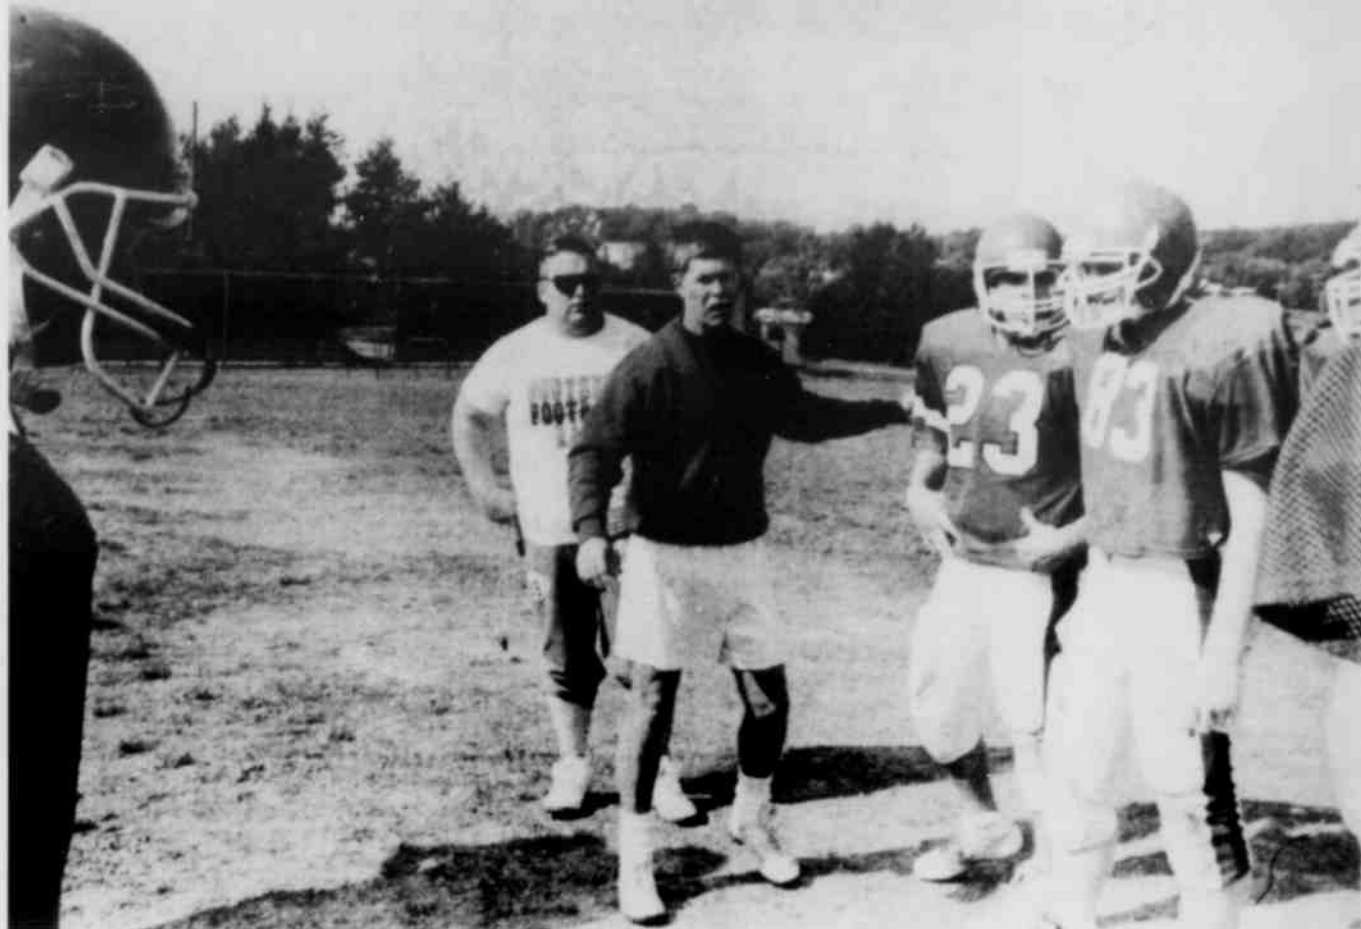

Fitzwater (5-10, 165) completed 35 of 74 passes last year as a junior for a better than 50 percent effort. He can throw deep and is also a strong runner. Besides calling the signals, he will also be doing all of his team's punting and placekicking.

Expected to start behind Fitzwater in the backfield are two strong tailbacks, power-running oriented team.

"Dawson is a quick, slashing runner who can move the ball off tackle as well as outside, and David is a very powerful runner who likes to run over people," he said.

Another senior, Paul Berkeridge (5-11, 183) will start at fullback to provide key blocking for the tailbacks and to carry the ball in certain situations.

Starting receivers will include split ends junior Andy Woods (6-1, 157), senior Jeff Droleman (5-11, 155), and senior Jason Miller (5-10, 160), while senior Elias Black (6-1, 193) will start at tight end. Starting at the slot position will be senior Adam Moomau (6-0, 160), with Crocco also seeing action there.

Blocking up front on the first offensive series this week will be tackles Matt

Glotfelty (5-11, 223), a junior, and senior Todd DeWitt (6-0, 270), with sophomore Shawn Durst (5-10, 246) expected to see action; senior guards Josh Hinebaugh (6-0, 218) and Mike Glotfelty (5-8, 171), backed up by sophomore Seth Tressler (6-2, 248); and senior center Mike Sweitzer (5-8, 203).

Expected to start on the defensive line are Hinebaugh at nose guard, DeWitt and junior Justin Steyer (5-7, 230) at tackle positions, and Tressler and senior Fabrice Dufour (5-10, 185) at the end spots, backed up by junior Danny Compitello (6-0, 177).

The starting linebacking corps will include Black, Berkeridge, and Crocco, with sophomore Howard Crocco (5-7, 162) and junior Shawn Strawser (5-11, 158) as back-ups.

The secondary expected to take the field first Friday night will include Dawson, Fitzwater, and Woods, with first replacements including Moomau, Droleman, Miller, and junior Jeremy Duckett (5-9, 161).

"Our biggest concern is that, as a team, we have just fair speed," Woods said. "Specifically, that's a question mark in our secondary, where we also have three new people. So we will really be depending on our up-front people to contain the play and keep it from getting into the secondary as much as possible."

This will be a difficult task this Friday night when the 2-0 Frankfort Falcons come to town with undoubtedly the area's most outstanding running back in senior Brandon Harden (6-are at a great disadvantage in that they have already played two games."

Vent believes that Kevser's senior quarterback Aaron Sanders (6-1, 175) and senior All-Area tight end Robert Redman (6-4, 225) are two of the best athletes in the area.

"This will be a big challenge for us," Vent said. "They are bigger than we are and they have two games under their belts. They pass the ball almost as much as they run it, so we will have to be ready defensively for everything."

Redman, who caught 27 passes last year for 410 yards, is also a standout at defensive end for the Tornado.

"I think we will surprise some people this year," Vent said. "We just want to get our season underway."

Friday's kickoff at Northern is slated for 7:30 p.m.

Angela Friend To Play For Lakers

Northern High School graduate Angela Friend plans to continue her athletic and academic career at Garrett Community College. She was a member of the 1991 Laker volleyball squad and is returning after serving two years in the U.S. Navy.

"Angie's a hard worker, and has matured as a person and player," remarked GCC Head Volleyball Coach Margaret Quinn. "She has a very effective underhand serve that throws many opponents off. When she played for Garrett three years ago her serve was a great asset and I look for that to continue."

Friend is the daughter of E.S. Gillespie and Deb Friend.

More Sponsors For MSA Teams Are Announced

The Mountaintop Soccer Association named six more team sponsors this week for the 1994 season.

Among the nearly 40 team sponsors are: Stewart Funeral Home, Hyde Laundry, Mt. Top Glass and Mirror, John Mattingly Contracting, Diamond Billiards, and Naylor's Hardware.

"We are overwhelmed by the support of youth soccer in Garrett County," stated Carole Ann Lovett, MSA president. "We thank each sponsor for their generosity."

The first games in the MSA league will be played this Saturday, Sept. 10, on northern and southern area fields, as well as in Keyser.

Woods Is Back

4, 194), who has already run for 443 yards and six touchdowns in just two games. He has also kicked a pair of field goals, run for a two-point conversion, and booted four extra points.

The Falcons opened with a 34-0 thrashing of Allegheny Academy and then rolled over Bishop Walsh, 28-0, last Friday.

"Frankfort is either the second or third best team in the area," Woods said, "with Fort Hill being the best and either Allegany or Frankfort second."

"They also have the advantage of having played two games, not to mention the advantage of having an athlete like Harden, who I believe is as good a running back ever in area football."

He's definitely a Division I prospect," he said.

Woods said there is "no question" as to how to prepare for the Falcons.

"There is certainly no fence on their part," he said. "They simply get the ball to Harden 25 or 30 times a game. They don't want to do anything else. So that will be the focal point of our defense: to stop Harden."

Other athletes on the Frankfort offense who have impressed Woods are their senior quarterback Shane Cornwell (6-1, 197), senior fullback Brandon Grady (5-11, 170), and senior tight end John Lucas (6-4, 263).

"They have a young, but talented, offensive line," Woods said, noting that Frankfort starts two juniors and three sophomores on that line.

Frankfort's 4-4 defense is anchored by senior tackle Travis Cottrill (6-0, 258) and linebackers Harden, junior C.J. Kaultman (6-2, 165), and junior Jerod Grady (6-1, 175).

Friday's kickoff at the Southern High stadium is slated for 7:45 p.m., following special ceremonies that will include the announcement of the first inductees in the Southern Garrett Ram Football Hall of Fame.

Rams Topped By Westmar, 7-3, In Soccer Opener

The Southern High School varsity soccer team opened its season with a loss Tuesday afternoon at home against Westmar, falling to the Wildcats, 7-3.

Eric Johnson finished with a hat trick for Westmar, as he scored three of his team's five goals in the first half.

Steve Goralski put Southern on top 1-0 early in the contest with a penalty shot past Westmar keeper Brian Shaw. But the Wildcats responded with five straight goals to take control of the contest.

Jeremy Kiddy knotted the score at 1-1 with a goal at about the 36-minute mark, and Johnson followed with two more goals within the next four minutes to make it 3-1.

The Rams recorded their third goal late in the half on a shoulder shot by Christian Coviello following a corner kick from Goralski.

Huskies Drop Opening Soccer Match To BW

The Northern High Huskies dropped their first soccer match of the season Tuesday night as they were blanked by a strong Bishop Walsh team, 7-0. It was the 21st straight win for the Spartans, while the Huskies are still looking for their first win in soccer since the sport returned to the school last year.

BW's Ryan Nelson and Gus Stern finished with two goals each, as the Spartans scored three times in a span of just three minutes midway through the first half. Nelson scored first at the 26:23 mark, and Jeff Harbel and Stern followed with goals just moments later.

Nelson and Stern each scored again before the half to give the Spartans a 5-0 lead at the break.

Jason Ederly made it 6-0 with a penalty kick in the second half and Jeff Gerherd concluded the evening's scoring.

Tom Ables' Huskies were out-gunned by a 37-16 margin. Chris Elliott had 23

BRENDA BUTSCHER HAS POLITICAL EXPERIENCE

Brenda has been elected to serve the people of Garrett County on six different occasions. She was elected to The Republican Central Committee twice. She was elected Delegate to The Republican National Convention three times. In 1976, Brenda was endorsed by President Ford, in 1988 and 1992 she was endorsed by President Bush. She also served as an alternate Delegate for Presidents Nixon and Reagan. 1990 she was elected County Commissioner. She has been the only woman elected delegate from the Sixth Congressional District and the first woman to be elected County Commissioner in Garrett County.

Most of all Brenda Butscher is there when you need her. She had the ability to deal with the state budget cuts without any county employee layoffs. This was only months into her administration and at a time when counties all across Maryland were having big layoffs and terrible budget problems. She works with you and for you!

Raiders, Vikings, Jets Winners In League Openers

The Oakland Raiders, Parsons Vikings, and Oakland Jets were all victorious in opening games of the 1994 Mountaintop Youth Football League season, as the Raiders ripped the Terra Alta Dolphins, 39-12, and the Vikings stopped the Northern Steelers, 25-6, and the Jets stopped the Davis Thomas Rams, 14-0, in action this past weekend.

Jesse Coddington rushed for 177 yards on just 12 carries and scored three touchdowns for the Raiders, while teammate Chris Williams added 69 yards on five carries and one touchdown.

Nick Dolan and Josh Fitzwater also each recorded a touchdown and Williams and Tim Tasker were defensive standouts.

Jim Arnold and Derrick Simmons led the Parsons Vikings against the Steelers, as Arnold rushed for two touchdowns and Simmons hauled in a pair of scoring passes from quarterback Jason Hedrick. Arnold scored his first touchdown and ran for the conversion in the first quarter to make it 7-0. Simmons caught 10 passes of 52 and 35 yards in the second period to give the Vikings a 19-0 halftime lead.

After a scoreless third quarter, the Steelers finally got on the board when T.J. Snelling ran 22 yards for a touchdown.

The Vikings added an insurance score late in the game when Arnold broke loose for a 65-yard touchdown run.

Jed Wilhelm, Snelling, Craig Kamp, and Corey Siler were defensive standouts for the Steelers.

The Jets-Rams contest was played in pouring rain, which contributed to several fumbles by both teams.

On the first play of the second quarter, Josh Bosley rammed 42 yards for the first score of the game and Jason Bowers ran for the PAT. There was no more scoring in the first half as both teams traded the ball back and forth on fumbles and punts.

After a scoreless third period, Bosley scored again on a five-yard run early in the fourth quarter. Bowers tacked on the PAT and the Jets led 14-0.

Defensive standouts for the Jets were John Hayhurst, Eric Archer, Eric Rexroad, Lenny Ford, and Andrew Rickman.

Bosley was the leading ball carrier for the Jets with 87 yards on nine carries, while Bowers had 63 yards on 13 carries. Jet quarterback Justin Liller was 4-4 passing for 26 yards on catches by Nathaniel Panther, Keith Parks, and Jordan Uphold.

The Steelers will play the Jets at the Southern High School field this Saturday, Sept. 10, at 7 p.m.

Interstate 79 Speedway Holds Invitational Race

The Mountain State Invitational ended in dramatic fashion as Rick Eckert won the 50 lapper at Interstate 79 Speedway last Saturday night.

Outside pole sitter Donnie Moran jumped out to lead the first lap and pulled out to a big lead for the first 21 go-arounds. The battle for second was heated as Rick Eckert and Davey Johnson had to deal with a lot of lapped traffic.

On lap 22, another caution flew as Dave Groves experienced trouble. Several lapped cars gave Moran a nice cushion on the restart. On lap 26, Jason Minnite brought out the third caution which put Eckert and Johnson on Moran's tail. Moran held off the charges until lap 48 when he headed for the pits with a broken drive line. It was mass confusion as the crowd looked for the leader to receive the white flag, but he had retired to the pits.

Eckert took the checkered flag ahead of Mike Balzano, Davey Johnson, John Gill and Booper Bare. Rounding out the top ten were Bart Hartman, Nathan Durlborow, Chub Frank, Steve Shaver, and Dave Groves.

Last qualifier was Durlborow at 14.811 seconds. Heats were won by Steve Francis, Johnson, Gill, and Groves. The dash was taken by Hartman. Ron Davies won the B-main.

Steve Shaver will be the West Virginia State Championship Series winner.

In other action, Roy Gibson picked up the UMP modified feature over Mike Wilson and Kenny Rogers. The 4-cylinder stock class found Mike Lewis, of Oakland, winning just before he was disqualified after post race inspection. The win went to Tommy Pennington with Mike Simpson and Jim Hunt following. Jim Byers got the victory in the pure stocks followed by Mark Bell and Brian Tonkery.

Labor Day Event Finishes Sailboat Racing Season

by Harry Filemyr

The Deep Creek Yacht Racing Association held its annual five-race Commodore's Regatta over the Labor Day weekend. The weather provided sailors with a variety of conditions. Saturday was cold and wet with moderate breezes. The sailors bundled up as for an Arctic expedition while Commodores Dodd and Wilson stood on the committee boat, dignified and shivering in their white uniforms. On Sunday a cool fresh breeze blew in from the northeast. Monday was a "picture-postcard" sunny fall day with light and variable air.

On Saturday, in the Laser fleet, only the brothers Spinnenweber were in competition. And although there were only two, Bruce later said that match racing with his brother was some of the best competition he had ever had with lead changes up to the last 50 feet.

In the Scot B fleet, (as the saying goes) "in a given race any boat can beat any other boat." Four different boats had a win and, going into the last race, were within two and a half points of each other. Ed and Barbara Peters ultimately won the regatta with consistency, while Thagards, with two first-place finishes, took second because of a ninth in the first race.

In the A fleet, Don and Barbara Griffin got clear at the start in the first race and led to the final leg when they were passed by Harry and Jimmy Carpenter. The Carpenters went on to win four of the five races and won the regatta. The start of the third race was made interesting when the end of Don Hott's boom became attached to the forestay of the Buffington boat. As the Flying Scot was not designed to be a tow boat, the two ran out of control and careened into three others. John Meredith was caught in the middle of this "raft up." He said later, "It was kind of a disadvantage at the start!" In the last race, Griffin again slipped away and led through shifts and calms to within shouting distance of the finish. Then he became becalmed. "... a painted ship upon a painted sea" while four others ghosted by him.

Flavor's more than skin deep if you rub a chopped-herbs-and-oil mixture all over the skin of a chicken--and save a little to rub under the skin, too. The herbs really perfume and flavor the meat.

Cheddar cheese is a classic partner with apple pie. What's even better: apple dumplings made with cheese-flavored pastry (3 cups flour, 1/2 cup shortening, 6 ounces grated cheese, 3/4 cup ice water).

Couscous are granules of semolina, or coarsely ground wheat. There are 200 calories in a cup--but less than half a gram of fat. Check the package, most brands are ready in less than 10 minutes.

Orange-ginger is sensational on snow peas, green beans, even asparagus in season. Heat gently 1/2 cup orange marmalade and beat into 1/2 cup soft butter, along with 1 Tbs. each balsamic vinegar and finely chopped crystallized ginger. Chill an hour before using.

Hunting Seasons For Waterfowl Being Reviewed

The dates and bag limits for the 1994-95 waterfowl seasons chosen by Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) have been sent to the United States Fish and Wildlife Service (USFWS) for approval and regulatory enactment, according to DNR Secretary Torrey C. Brown.

"These seasons and bag limits are designed to maximize hunting opportunity while continuing to allow waterfowl populations to increase," Brown said. Before making a final decision on the season selections, DNR's Wildlife Division held three public meetings to share with the public its suggested seasons and to listen to comments. A modification in the Canada goose season was a result of goose hunters expressing their wish for more hunting opportunities even if it meant a slightly slower recovery of the goose population.

A longer duck hunting season - 40 days - proposal was selected by DNR. One day has been shifted to the November split, from the beginning of the December split. Canvasback hunting will be limited to the last week of the duck season.

The Canada goose season option selected includes 35 days, with 20 days of one-bird hunting and 15 days of two-bird hunting. This will allow five extra two-bird days, including an additional Saturday. It also balances days afield versus two-bird days.

The USFWS is expected to sanction Maryland's choice of season and bag limits without change because it is consistent with the current federal framework for selecting waterfowl seasons. Under the Migratory Bird Treaty Act, the federal government has the ultimate responsibility for setting waterfowl hunting seasons.

The following list includes the waterfowl type, the dates of open season, and the daily bag limit:

Canada geese, Nov. 23-25, bag limit 1; Dec. 14-30, 1; and Dec. 31-Jan. 14, 2.

Brant, Nov. 16-25, 2; Dec. 12-Jan. 20, 2.

Ducks (except black duck and canvasback), Oct. 13-15; Nov. 22-25; and Dec. 13-Jan. 14. (The duck daily bag limit is as follows: three ducks per day, which may include no more than one hen mallard, one pintail, two wood ducks, one red-head, one fulvous tree duck, one mottled duck, one canvasback (during open season for canvasback), and one black duck (during open season for black duck). In addition to the duck bag limit, hunters may take 15 coot and five mergansers per day, which may include no more than one hooded merganser).

Black duck, Nov. 22-25; Dec. 13-Jan. 14.

Canvasback duck, Jan. 7-14.

Sea ducks, Oct. 6-Jan. 20, 5.

The official shooting hours nationwide are one-half hour before sunrise to sunset for all waterfowl hunting. Possession limit is twice the daily bag limit.

umes. If the Union is promising you such a good deal, including increased wages and benefits, how many additional people will have to be laid off in order for the hospital to realize the savings it would need to pay the higher salaries and benefits?

One employee asked during a recent "Vote No" meeting why Administration would consider signing a contract which offered its employees fewer benefits and wages than we currently have? My question is, why would this union, which is supposed to be watching out for you, its proposed member, even present Administration with a contract containing lower salaries and benefits than we currently have. The very union you want to represent you has done that very thing for other members as well as include a No Strike clause in the contract. The only reasons this is done are to entice administration into signing a "Closed Shop" authorization requiring everyone to either join the union or lose their job and to withhold the union's life blood, your union dues, directly from your paycheck.

Please think carefully before you vote for this kind of representation. Just Say No.

Respectfully,
Kathy Deniker
GCMH Employee
P.S. Thinking that the upcoming vote is only to allow the Union to do our collective bargaining is the same as thinking that Herpes is just a virus.

To the Editor:
This letter is intended for all those who are running for office in the upcoming election. Recently, at the Garrett County Agricultural Fair, several candidates went out of their way to speak to my husband, shake his hand or give him something to win his vote. I have no problem with that. But did they bother to spend as much time or effort to seek my vote? NO! So, I'm writing to remind the candidates that I, as well as all other women, have a mind of my own and if you want my vote you have to talk to me!

Candidates, don't ignore the women of this county. We vote too!!

To the Editor:

Nearly 450 area youth will be passing, dribbling and kicking this fall which marks another growth spurt for the Mountaintop Soccer Association. Not only are the rosters showing north and south players, but east and west. MSA is truly unified this year as we devised a plan for the entire county to operate youth soccer in one organization. It was our goal to have Accident, Grantsville, and Friendsville play in the same soccer program as the southern teams and, happily, we have attained that goal through special efforts of Sandi Flockhart and Nancy Railey along with Rick DeLoach, Ned Holloway, and Don Nuce.

As MSA grows so does our need for field space. A new field was added in Friendsville and formal request for six new fields was made to the Board of Education by David Spirk.

MSA realized another goal the first week of August as British soccer coaches conducted a week-long day camp in our county. The participants numbered 120 from ages 4-17. Watch our skill level improve greatly this year. Many thanks to Karen Spirk, Camp Coordinator.

A Coaches' Level I Clinic was conducted in May by Graham Ramsey, Director of Training and Instruction for MSYA and a referee's recertification clinic was held at Bausch & Lomb in August.

In late September you will be informed about a new MSA-sanctioned team to be known as the "troubleshooters." This Club Team will be coached by Rick DeLoach who will announce the details for first meeting and tryouts.

You will be hearing new terms this fall -- 4 v. 4 and 7 v. 7. This simply means that there will be games of "4 against 4" and "7 against 7" on the field for the younger divisions. This will allow more playing time and more touches on the ball. Our goal is to have kids PLAYING SOCCER, not watching soccer. The U-15 division will have full size numbers with "11 v. 11." Coaches trained in 4 v. 4 include Mary Lantz, Karen Meteny, Karl Schwalm, Paul Stone, Tim Taylor, and others.

MSA is thankful for the 26 team sponsors, the coaches, referees, other officers and the parents! They make it happen for the youngsters who want to kick that "round ball with spots."

Yours in soccer,
Carole Ann Lovett
MSA president

To the Editor:
I would like to address this letter to the teenagers around the Oakland area who are so bored because there is nothing to do in this town. (Except: go to the movies, water ski, boating, fishing in six different places, swimming in various spots, bowling, shooting pool, going to football and basketball games, sock hops, teen dances when held by various groups, and horseback riding, just to name a few.)

God forbid if they would do one of the above things I have mentioned, because that's not cool! Their idea of being cool is playing "ring around the parking lots of different businesses in town, mine being one of them. Or going to the restroom and plugging up the toilet bowl with a roll of paper and flushing it so it will run over (so my wife or

I have to clean it up) or hanging out in front of my doors or in the parking lot where they throw their trash and such all around and once again I have to clean it up.

Most of these kids drive cars and trucks in a price range from $500 to $12,000. How they get them is beyond me. Because if they had to work to get them, they would know how tough it is to make a living and would show a little more respect for my and other merchants' property. I wonder how they would like it if we would trash their cars and trucks the way they do our property (like tearing a

Over the past 18½ years in the Treasurer's Office, it has been my pleasure to meet you at the window and serve you in whatever manner possible. ELECT EARL J., SR. CLARK

A Man For All The People.

Garrett County Commissioner

Democrat - District No. 3

"Man with a vision.
Knowledge to act."

To the People of Garrett County

In follow-up to my comments of last week, I want to share additional issues that are of great importance to the people of Garrett County and its progress in the coming years.

Jobs

It is essential that we maintain our current employment and that we seek additional companies to come into our county. If we are successful in attracting new businesses to locate here, not only will our people benefit from being employed, but all business places and local merchants will benefit from the income being spent in our communities. Increased employment provides increased tax revenue to the county and this, in turn, will provide additional benefits to the people. I have the experience and knowledge needed to work with local and state agencies in acquiring new businesses for our county.

Education

One of the most important functions of the Commissioners' Office is the funding of essential services and our Education System is one of the top priorities. It is imperative that we provide the best education that we possibly can for our children because they are going to be the leaders of our county in the future. I am proud of the job that our teachers do in providing their educational skills to our children. The Board of Education and the Commissioners must work together to ensure that our children and young people are afforded the best education we can give. My experience from serving on the Board of Education for almost seven years provides me with the knowledge necessary to address this issue.

The past two weeks I have shared with you a few of the issues that we must address. We are going to be faced with other issues, namely environmental problems, health care concerns, care for our senior citizens, along with working to develop better cooperation and accountability with the local county agencies.

If elected, I will follow my CHRISTIAN PRINCIPLES AND VALUES to see that ALL the people are represented to the best of my ability and pledge to work for the betterment of Garrett County and its people in the coming years.

YOUR VOTE AND SUPPORT WILL BE GREATLY APPRECIATED.

A COMMISSIONER'S PERSPECTIVE ON SHERIFF'S FEES

To the Citizens of Garrett County:

In recent weeks I have become increasingly disturbed about the degree of misunderstanding which continues to circulate concerning this issue of Sheriff's fees for the serving of court papers. I wish to bring the following points to your attention in the hope of putting this issue into the proper perspective:

►1 The Sheriff's fees for serving court papers were the original "user fees" whereby those individuals requiring the services of the Sheriff in the delivery of court papers would bear the expense of that service. These "user fees" were considered a legitimate part of the Sheriff's compensation for this service and served as a supplement to his salary for many decades.

►2 The lawful practice of allowing the Sheriff's to keep the fees as part of their compensation goes back to the early days of Garrett County and was a common practice throughout many of the counties of Maryland. Only in recent years, as Sheriff salaries across the state became more substantial, has the trend been otherwise.

►3 As a result of the efforts of the current Sheriff, the most recent Salary Review Commission (the body established by law to review the compensation of all elected officials every four years) recommended that the County cease using these fees as part of the Sheriff's compensation. Subsequently, the Board of Garrett County Commissioners did, in fact, adopt that recommendation. Effective January 1, 1995, all fees collected by the Sheriff for the service of court papers will be deposited in the General Funds of Garrett County.

►4 As a result of the recent controversy, the Office of the State Prosecutor reviewed the situation and found that "the practice was devoid of any deception or corrupt motive."

In conclusion, regardless of what one thinks about the current Sheriff and his administration, the fact remains the Sheriff Van Evans deserves a great deal of credit for his effort to bring this long-established practice into line with the more recent changes in the law. In my opinion, the recent "election year" uproar concerning Sheriff's fees says alot more about the questionable motives of those creating the controversy than it does about Sheriff Evans and all the Sheriffs and their fees in the history of Garrett County.

Sincerely,

Elwood L. Groves, II
Garrett County Commissioner

MARYLAND HOUSE OF DELEGATES

I have a vision for Garrett County.
My opponent George Edwards' vision is a sight.

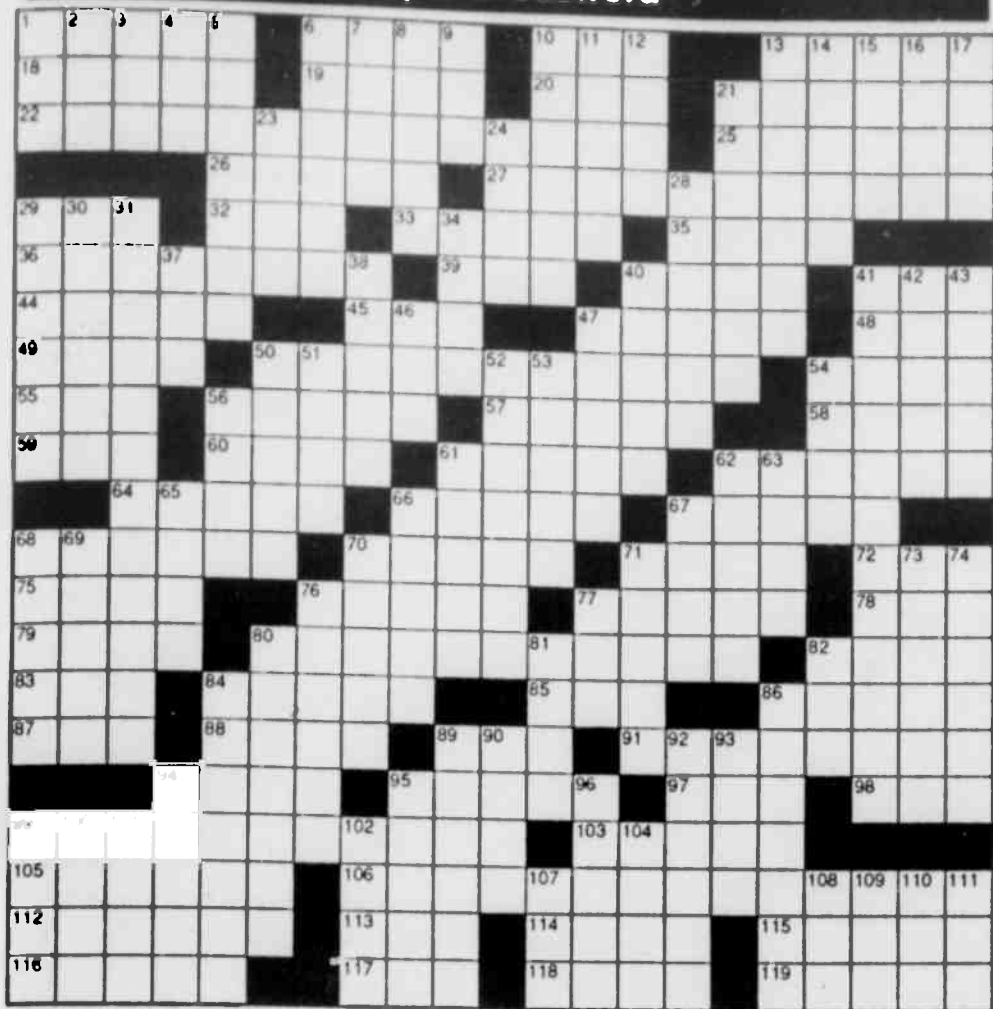

Fifteen years ago our County Commissioners which George Edwards was a member opted to build a new jail. Despite public opposition they plopped that jail smack dab on the front lawn of our beautiful historic court house. Built to house 22 inmates it now houses almost 40 daily- one toilet for 14 male inmates.

NOW we need more jail cells.
Where are we going to get them, George?

Senior Service Line

by Matilda Charles

ON NICOTINE: The good news is that dental implants are becoming more popular among folks who lose their natural teeth and, until relatively recently, had to rely on dentures. The cost of implants is becoming competitive with other dental services, which is important for people on limited incomes. Implants act more like natural teeth. This means older people can, once again, eat raw vegetables, hard fruits and other foods they have had to eschew with dentures. Implants are also important for helping to preserve facial contours.

The bad news is for those seniors who continue to smoke. Besides all the other nasty things nicotine does for people, the Academy of General Dentistry has reviewed studies that show smoking may jeopardize the success of dental implants.

A study done by faculty members from the University of California at Los Angeles and at Dalhousie University in Nova Scotia shows that the overwhelming number of people whose implants failed were smokers.

Smoking appears to inhibit the healing process of the procedure, and also affects the bacteria fighting ability of white blood cells, which could lead to infection after implant placement.

If you are a smoker, quit the habit for any number of good reasons. If you feel you can't deal with quitting quite yet, it's recommended that you stop smoking for at least a week before implant surgery. You're also advised to abstain from smoking or the use of any tobacco product for at least two months after surgery to allow the fusion of your jawbone to the implant to heal.

And if you can do all this, then shouldn't that prove that you can quit, permanently?

Antiques

Q. My old Bavarian dishes are marked with a crown, the initials H & C and the word "Bavaria." Two plates are chipped. Do you think we might ever find a few matching dishes to replace our broken ones?

A. A mark like yours was used by Hertel, Jacob & Co. in Rehau, Bavaria. The company has been in business since 1906. Copy the plate design on a photocopy machine and show it to the dealers at local antique shows. If your pattern is a common one, you may be able to match it. There are matching services that advertise in antique papers that sell many types of dinnerware to fill in old sets. Some have Bavarian china.

Q. My 21-inch-high bronze sculpture of two dogs is marked "L. Riche, Jollet & Cie, Bronzes, Paris."

A. Your bronze was made by Louis Riche, a sculptor born in Paris in 1877 who specialized in animal and peasant groups. His works were exhibited at major shows from 1898 to 1924. The bronze is worth over $2,000.

TIP: Never bid at an auction if you have not previewed the items.

Q. I just saw an ad for a chair that was covered with cork instead of upholstery. When was this type of furniture made?

A. We've seen a few cork chairs. They were a part of a group of furniture now known as "rustic style." Cork furniture was made for a European exposition in 1907, where the novel idea won a medal.

Cork chairs and tables were made by covering a metal frame with pieces of silvered cork, whose distinctive texture and pattern enhanced the furniture's simple lines. Although the cork tree is native to the Mediterranean area, the chairs appear to be Scandinavian.

Q. I own several games of "Touring." They are all a little different, and the cars seem to be of different ages. What is the history of the game?

A. Touring was a card game that was first published in 1906 by the Wallie Dorr Co. The original set was sold for 50 cents in a red box decorated with gold lettering. In 1926 Parker Brothers made a similar set. As the game was improved, the rules were changed and the cars were updated. The last Parker Brothers set was made in 1965.

This is my wife's and my first business venture and the first time we have had to deal with the public, and believe you me we are really taken aback at how rude some people can be. And it's hard for us to believe that some parents let kids under the age of 16 stay out until 2 o'clock in the morning.

One Friday night, we had no customers except three kids shooting the Q-ball around the pool table, so we decided to close up. When we started to close, the kids said, "You can't close; no one is picking us up 'til 12:30." I said, "Well, call and tell them to come get you." They said there was no one to call (the oldest one might have been 15).

Well, we are not a day care center and I am not a baby sitter, and I will close when I don't have any business. My wife and I spend 14 to 16 hours a day working here as it is.

So in closing, I would like to say to all the teens in the town of Oakland, if you think life is a bore now, wait until you don't have mom and dad around to foot the bill for you. It gets nasty here in the real world.

Household Help

by John Amantea

Q. The exterior of my home's foundation is poured concrete and cinder block. The majority of what is exposed is the rough face of the block. I currently have an exterior paint that covers the entire foundation, but would like to use a cement mortar finish. I don't have any erosion or damage to the walls, other than some peeling paint. Can you give me a method on how to finish my foundation?

A. There are several ways to apply a mortar finish such as smooth, rough or stucco texture. However, before you even begin your resurfacing job, there are some steps that you will need to follow.

Generally, the first step to take is to scrape all peeling paint with a large putty knife. Any other loose or bubbled paint can be removed with a wire brush. If the surface of most of the foundation has a slightly porous look, that will be perfect adhesion for the mortar finish. Next, be sure that all material is completely brushed off the walls because a cement sealer will be needed before the mortar. If a power washer and cleaner is available, this will provide a shortcut to your preparation for the finish.

Since you chose a cement mortar finish, a thin sealant that contains silicone or epoxy is recommended for waterproofing purposes. This product is best applied with a large masonry brush and use it liberally. A second coat is not usually necessary and even then, only in situations where the block wall is extremely porous. Allow at least 48 hours to dry and apply this product only in clear weather.

Your last step is to mix some cement and sand to create mortar. If you are unsure of the proper combination or mix, ask your local home improvement dealer when you purchase the products. As I mentioned earlier, you can choose from several types of mortar finishes.

NOTE: As with any cement or concrete work, be sure to periodically dampen the surface using a garden hose. This will not only strengthen the adhered mortar, but aids in hastening the curing process. Exterior painting can usually be started in approximately two weeks or more.

Candidate Responds To Questions

The following are responses to survey questions of the Garrett County League of Women Voters by Steve Crawford, a Sixth District Democratic congressional candidate.

Crawford submitted his responses to the league before the announced deadline, but they were apparently lost or did not arrive in the league office in time for publication in the Voters' Guide published last week in The Republican.

The answers appear exactly as received, with no editing.

Questions for Candidates (75 word limit)

1. Concerning national health care, what are your views and positions on (1) universal coverage, (2) coverage for reproductive health, including prenatal care, family planning and abortion, (3) financing by employer-employee contributions, and (4) cost controls?
2. What is your position on licensing gun owners and registration of guns? What approaches would you advocate for the prevention and control of crime?
3. How would you reform the welfare system to reduce long-term dependence on it without jeopardizing the well-being of children?
4. Explain your position on legislation that would expand requirements for government to compensate property owners when the potential use of their property is restricted by government regulations?
5. What should be the role of the U.S. and its military establishment in the world's spreading civil conflicts?
6. What should be the Federal government's international economic policies? Should they be related to human rights actions or other aspects of foreign policy?
7. What are the most important issues facing our nation and how would you respond to them?

HEALTH CARE: Universal coverage? Absolutely. It should include the full range of services (reproductive and otherwise) now available to the privately insured. Employers and employees should share the burden of health care contributions. Cost controls can help cut waste in the system, but, applied recklessly, could do far more harm than good.

CRIME: Yes, preserve gun-owning rights for the lawful. As a veteran, I understand fire arms, and want a balance between constitutional rights and the assault-weapons plague. Training and early intervention for those tempted by lawbreaking is real crime prevention. Certainty of jail time and a seriousness about domestic violence are priorities.

WELFARE: Welfare should be aimed at those in real need, particularly poverty's principal victims, the young. Welfare should not underwrite illegitimacy and dependency. Honest reform ought to center on promotion of family solidarity and the message that larger and larger families will not mean more and more assistance.

U.S. ROLE ABROAD: We cannot ignore the world's troubles, yet we dare not risk involvement in every conflict. As a combat veteran, I am only too aware of the dangers lurking abroad. We must balance our responsibilities and our fears on a case by case basis. Intervention must be governed by clear goals.

Profile Of Maryland Women Is Published By State Commission

The Maryland Commission for Women recently released a document titled Profile of Maryland Women: 1980-1990. The report presents a demographic and socio-economic profile of Maryland women based on data from the 1980 and 1990 United States Censuses, and includes both statistical information as well as brief descriptions of trends over time in marriage and childbearing patterns, education, employment, female-headed families, poverty, and older women.

The report presents data for the entire state of Maryland, as well as profiles of each of the 23 counties and Baltimore City. It highlights the gains that women have made in terms of their rising educational attainment, labor force participation, and occupational status. It also indicates that women are increasingly supporting their families without a spouse present, often with incomes below the poverty line.

In Garrett County, the proportion of local families headed by women increased modestly from 9.4% in 1980 to 10.9% in 1990, but remained well below the state average of 18.2% in 1990. Also in 1990, 59.8% of local women aged 15 and over were currently married, well above the state average of 50.3%.

Local women have increased their educational attainment since 1980, more likely in 1990 to finish high school and attend college. However, the report indicates that compared to the rest of the state, Garrett County women lag behind, with higher rates of dropping out of high school and lower rates of college attendance and completion.

Work force participation by local women has grown from 39.2% in 1980 to 48.1% in 1990. The proportion of mothers with young children in the work force increased more dramatically from 33.1% in 1980 to 50.2% in 1990. Despite these increases, however, the local county has among the lowest levels in the state, according to the Profile.

Although the proportion of female-headed families is lower than elsewhere in the state, Garrett County families are much more likely to have incomes below the poverty threshold.

Several other statistics are noted in the Profile, which was prepared by Joan R. Kahn, Ph.D., with assistance from Nicole Clary and Yun-Chiao Kang, at the Center on Population, Gender, and Social Inequality, Dept. of Sociology, University of Maryland, College Park.

The newly formed Garrett County Commission for Women is chaired by Phyllis B. Trickett, who also chairs the state commission.

Correction Noted In Riley Response

In the Voter's Guide published last week in The Republican, a response by Board of Education candidate Patrick Riley (District II) read as follows: The rights of students to engage in constitutionally permitted prayer must be protected.

The statement should have read: The rights of students to engage in constitutionally permitted prayer must be protected. The error was made by The Republican, and not by the candidate. We regret the mistake and apologize to Mr. Riley.

The new municipal building turned a vacant filling station and car dealership into a lasting landmark in which the citizens may take pride.

The Mountain Fresh Produce Market has become so popular that the building was expanded and now operates three days a week.

Just A Few Things That Did Not Exist Before Asa Became Mayor.

The new bridge over the railroad is not only functional but a work of art that has inspired the town and other businesses to improve sidewalks and lighting.

The completion of the sewer system has cleaned up the Little Yough River. Not only is it now stocked with trout but kayakers start off here on their way down river to Swallow Falls.

All of this could not have happened without the hard work of Mayor McCain. He completed the sewer system lifting the 15 year moratorium which had not allowed for any development.

Community projects have flourished like the church social hall above. Expansion is also seen at the American Legion and the Elks allowing community get-togethers.

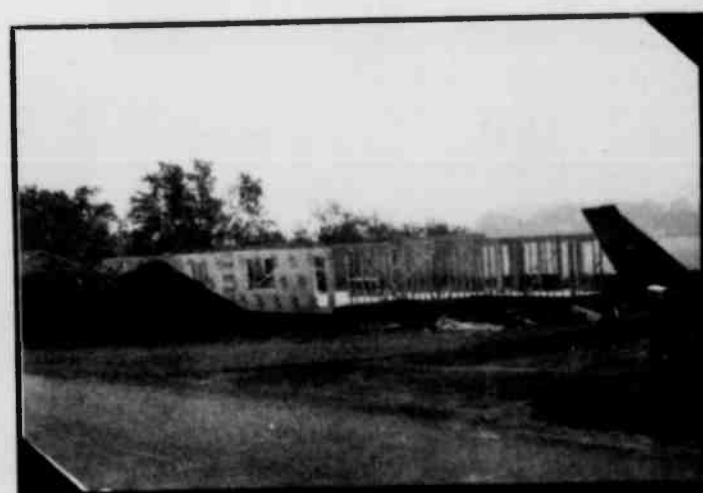

The town water system improvements allowed for expanded growth in fire protection. This was completed one week before the downtown fire just in time to prevent even further losses.

Did he build them himself? Of course not, but he provided the leadership and contributed to the teamwork to spark growth when the economy was at its worst.

New building starts have seen renewed neighborhoods as well as to provide elderly housing like Underwood South.

Franchises like McDonald's, Denny's, and Subway have sprung up overnight.

Banking institutions have sprung up or expanded like Wepco, First Federal and the American Trust Bank.

Service businesses like Sheetz and the car wash have flourished.

New Garrett County Teachers Given Orientation

Eighteen new teachers began their Garrett County teaching careers by attending an orientation on the morning of August 24 at the Will O' the Wisp. It was co-sponsored by the Garrett County Teachers Association and the Garrett County Board of Education.

This activity marked the first component of an extensive beginning teacher program provided by the Garrett County Board of Education.

According to a board spokesman, the purpose of the program is to provide teachers new to the system the information and skills to effectively deliver instruction from the outset of their teaching careers. On the afternoon of Aug. 24, the new employees reported to their respective schools for further orientation with school principals and other school personnel.

The next component of the program will be enrollment in a three-credit graduate course offered through Frostburg State University and designed to meet the needs of the beginning teacher. The class meets periodically during the 1994-95 school year and focuses on instructional practices, available resources, and addresses the problems encountered by the inexperienced teacher.

In addition to the above mentioned activities, each school principal appoints an experienced teacher "mentor" to work with each new teacher during their first year of employment.

All new teachers will be supervised regularly and extensively by their building principal, as well as an appropriate director, the spokesman said, adding that these evaluations will provide opportunities for the employee to improve and grow professionally during this first year and in future years.

Elect
Asa M. McCain, Jr.
District 3

I am often asked the following four questions:

How can you be a commissioner and still be Mayor of Oakland and Principal of Dennett Road Elementary School?

The commissioner position (to be done right) must be a full time commitment and I am willing to do that. If I am elected, by law, I must resign as Mayor. The Town Charter fills the time from January until the March town election with the President of the Council as acting mayor. I would retire from the Garrett County Board of Education at the end of June with 29 years of service.

Will the positive things stop happening in Oakland if you are elected county commissioner?

Oakland has improved because of team work, careful planning and sound management. I am only one member of the group and I know the town will continue to improve because the residents will keep supporting the government.

How were you able to complete so many projects like the sewer system, the up-grade of the water system, and the new municipal building without ever raising the tax rate?

We put into practice a policy of training and equipping our employees so that they can provide improved services with fewer workers. Additionally we tightened up on town management and investment practices which made funds available to go after State and Federal grants.

What advantages do you have that would make me want to vote for you instead of the other good candidates that are running for commissioner of District 3?

If you look at the whole picture, we cannot accomplish much without team work with leaders in Baltimore, Annapolis and Washington. I already have the contacts to get the job done.

I hope you will vote for me and allow me to work hard for the whole county.

Vote for proven leadership.

Elect McCain County Commissioner of District 3

Channel surfers:
time to catch fall wave

BY SUZANNE GILL

The premieres started Aug. 25, and they won't end till Nov. 6. It's the fall TV season, longer and more agonizing than ever before.

But for channel surfers, it's time to wax up the remote control and hit the couch. Here's a night-by-night rundown of what to look for.

SUNDAY
ABC replaces America's Funniest People with On Our Own, a TGIF-style comedy about a household of orphaned siblings. Fox hopes to keep football fans tuned in after the games with Fortune Hunter, a 007-ish adventure, plus two new comedies: Hardball, about a tough-luck baseball team, and Wild Oats, about two men, two women and their hormones. November brings Earth 2, a sci-fi adventure on a distant planet, to NBC.

MONDAY
Blue Skies, about two buddies who go into business with a woman they both want to date, joins Coach before football on ABC. Fox has its own orphaned siblings in the laudable drama Party of Five.

TUESDAY
NBC plants a comedy flag, moving Wings and Frasier and adding The Martin Short Show. Fox moves its movie franchise from Monday, and ABC trots out Steve Harvey and Midge Sinclair in Me and the Boys.

WEDNESDAY
ABC leads off with Ed Asner's Thunder Alley and newcomer All American Girl, starring Margaret Cho as a Korean-American coed. CBS counters with full-nesters Hal Linden and Suzanne Pleshette in The Boys Are Back and Dudley Moore as the divorced dad of grown daughters in Daddy's Girls. CBS' Touched by an Angel, a family drama that needs help from above, stars Della Reese and Roma Downey. Fox sticks with summer entry Models Inc., while NBC has the return of Bill Cosby as a semiretired sleuth.

Melissa Gilbert

in The Cosby Mysteries, plus a second Dateline.

THURSDAY

ABC's My So-Called Life, the best new show of the season, is followed by the out-of-control melodrama McKenna, with Chad Everett. NBC restocks its comedy shelf with coffee-drinking twentysomethings in Friends and professional curmudgeon Dabney Coleman in Madman of the People. CBS' lighthearted Mountie-in-Chicago series, Due South, adds a bright spot, then David E. Kelley's Chicago Hope (CBS) and Michael Crichton's ER (NBC) fight the Battle of the Windy City Hospital Dramas. Fox offers an urban buddy-cop show, New York Undercover.

FRIDAY

Stylish police drama Under Suspicion is found guilty of Twilight Zone overtones on CBS, while Carl Lumbly fights crime the superhero way in M.A.N.T.I.S. on Fox. NBC adds a third edition of Dateline.

SATURDAY

CBS hopes to bring back that Golden Girls feeling in The Five Mrs. Buchanans, while NBC gets sentimental with Gene Wilder as the father of twins in Something Wilder. The peacock takes its case to women with Melissa Gilbert and Cicely Tyson as lawyers in Sweet Justice, a lead-in to Sisters.

MOVIE MARQUEE

Caught in the Crossfire
a story of conspiracy

BY MARILYN SUTLIFF

An idealistic journalist finds himself trapped in a conspiracy in Moment of Truth: Caught in the Crossfire, premiering Wednesday, Sept. 14, on NBC.

Gus Faye (Dennis Franz of ABC's NYPD Blue) is a man who gets lost in government prosecution of politicians for conspiracy.

Executive producers Michael O'Hara and Lawrence Horowitz, Emmy nominees for Switched at Birth, attempt to give this movie the same realism as their former success.

The Franz film promises the mystique of New Orleans, but does not live up to its potential. Moment of Truth: Caught in the Crossfire could be set in any city in the United States after its first few minutes.

Emmy nominee Franz is given an opportunity to play someone unlike the characters he has created for NYPD Blue and Hill Street Blues. Gus is an idealistic man whose sole focus has been his wife (Alley Mills) until the investigation of a tow truck driver's murder leads to his involvement with the FBI.

The reporter's introduction to the world of the FBI is quick but not painless. This fact-based story reveals the sometimes unearthing side of the institution, which Gus believes in completely.

Franz's portrayal of a man trying to maintain his faith in both his government and the people around him is interesting.

One aspect of this movie that remains true to the New Orleans atmosphere is its languid pace. The story itself is intriguing.

ing, but the movie does not do it justice.

Other movies airing this week include CBS' Steel Dawn on Sunday, Sept. 11. Dolly Parton, Julia Roberts, Shirley MacLaine and Sally Field star.

NBC premieres A Perfect Stranger on Monday, Sept. 12. Robert Ulrich, Stacy Haiduk, Darren McGavin and Marion Ross comprise the cast of this new drama.

NBC airs the box-office hit Wayne's World with Mike Myers and Dana Carvey on Tuesday, Sept. 13.

On Thursday, Sept. 15, CBS rebroadcasts Due South, starring Paul Gross as a Canadian Mountie paired with a Chicago detective played by David Marciano. This movie sets the stage for a dramatic series premiering on Thursday, Sept. 22, on CBS.

Brazilians fight to save the rain forest in The Burning Season, an HBO original movie premiering Saturday, Sept. 17. The production stars Raul Julia, Sonia Braga and Edward James Olmos.

TV PIPELINE

BY TAYLOR MICHAELS

Q: You recently reported that Mary Kate and Ashley Olsen are identical twins. This is incorrect. An article in Twins magazine, July/August 1993, says the girls are identified as fraternal, not identical, twins. As a mother of twins, I feel this distinction is important. —Susan Myers, Argyle, Maine.

A: Busted! Thanks, Susan, for the additional info. Like so many others, I have always had the misconception that if a pair of twins are similar enough to share a single role, as the Olsens still do, they must be identical. I stand corrected.

Q: About 10 years ago a movie called The Bear told the story of University of Alabama football coach Paul "Bear" Bryant. I have not seen it since 1984. Please help me find a copy of this tape. —K. Taylor, Greenville, Ala.

A: As someone who grew up in a Crimson Tide household, I regret to report that the 1984 movie starring Gary Busey is not available on video. Ask a local station to program it.

Q: I'd like to see Charles Bronson in a movie that had the theme song "One Tin Soldier." —G.G., Dryden, Ont.

A: "One Tin Soldier" was the theme song of Billy Jack, the 1971 low-budget hit starring Tom Laughlin (Bronson was not involved). It's on video.

Q: I am a big fan of Margaret Cho and I'm thrilled that she will be the first Asian woman to have her own TV series this fall. Where can I write to her? —Cecilia Wong, Red Bluff, Calif.

A: Write to her, and any other ABC series star, C/O ABC Television Network, 2040 Avenue of the Stars, Century City, Calif. 90067.

in your column that Christopher Lewis of Lewistown Enterprises is syndicating the old Loretta Young Show. Is he Loretta Young's grandson? For years I watched Judy Lewis (Loretta's daughter) on the soaps and was surprised to learn that her father was Clark Gable. —Barbara Beckett, Defiance, Ohio.

A: I spoke to Christopher Lewis, who confirmed that he is her son, but Loretta Young consistently has dismissed the Gable rumor as nothing more than a romantic fantasy.

Q: Where can I write to William Forsythe, formerly of The Untouchables? —T.S., Plattsburg, Mo.

A: Unfortunately, Paramount TV apparently hasn't forwarded mail since the series ended. You might try writing to Forsythe's C/O Harris & Goldberg Talent & Literary Agency, 1999 Avenue of the Stars, Suite 2850, Los Angeles, Calif. 90067. I'm afraid that's the only other address I have for him.

CBS' Boys quickly wear out their welcome

BY DENNIS HELLER

Put the stars of two popular and successful sitcoms together and what do you get? Unfortunately, you get old television fodder rebuffed and disguised as an original idea.

CBS' The Boys Are Back, starring Hal Linden (Burns Miller) and Suzanne Pleshette (The Bob Newhart Show) premieres Sunday, Sept. 11, before moving to its regular slot on Wednesday, Sept. 14.

Linden and Pleshette play Fred and Jackie Hansen, a couple who send their last son to college and are ready to enjoy life with each other, and without children.

Pleshette says, "Hal and I have a chemistry that I have not seen between two people since Bob and Emily (Hartley from The Bob Newhart Show)."

The Hansen's plans are put on hold when their two older sons, a daughter-in-law and their grandchildren return home to live until they "get back on their feet."

For viewers used to the "stark realism" of TV sitcoms, this scenario may come as a surprise. But anyone who has seen a family-oriented program will recognize the same plot devices and relationships that have been used for years.

Pleshette insists the show's focus is on "the adult children coming back home and the issues the parents and adult children have to deal with."

However, one gets a feeling the series will only be more of the same situations repeated and beaten into the ground.

Some aspects of the show work, for instance, the relationship between Fred and the sons is believable if not forced. But even this potentially interesting relationship quickly grows tiresome, and after a couple of episodes, viewers will probably wish the boys had just stayed away.

The Boys Are Back stars Kevin Crowley, Bess Meyer, George Newbern, Paul Walker, Suzanne Pleshette, Hal Linden, Justin Cooper and Kelsey Mulrooney (clockwise from top left).

SOAP TALK

Smith keeps day job, checks out prime time

BY CANDACE HAVENS

This fall Hillary B. Smith (Nora, One Life to Live) is spreading herself a little thin. She is keeping her day job at ABC, but she will also be seen on NBC's Something Wilder Saturday nights.

Smith is excited about working on the new show, but she will have to commute a few thousand miles each week. OLTL is filmed on the East Coast, and Something Wilder is done on the West Coast.

"Most people in Los Angeles commute on the highways. I'm going to commute on a plane," Smith says. "I'm taking a leave of absence to do the first six episodes of Something Wilder to really focus in. For the last set of episodes, which are done in three-week increments with a week in between, I will commute. Mondays I'll be in New York, and the rest of the week in L.A. Then all the weeks we have dark on Something Wilder will be spent exclusively on OLTL."

Smith says the executives of OLTL are very accommodating, and have even worked her leave of absence into a new story line for her.

"I've had a front-burner story for a couple of years, so it is kind of nice that someone else has a turn," the Emmy Award-winning actress says. "Actually, this all fits in rather nicely with what they had planned."

"I will be going in and out of town (on OLTL) investigating David Vickers," Smith says. "And this will cause a rift between my boyfriend and me."

The actress says there is no

Hillary B. Smith

way to compare working on two such different shows on opposite coasts. "They each have their benefits and drawbacks," Smith says. "I hope to see benefits from each."

In the NBC sitcom, Gene Wilder portrays a late-in-life father, who decides to step out of the advertising rat race and spend more time with his family.

Wilder and Smith's characters are the parents of 4-year-old fraternal twins, Gabe (Ian Bottiglieri) and Sam (Carl Michael Lindner). It is funny that she should be the mother of twins on the show. "My mother is a twin, and so was my grandmother," Smith says.

The actress is married to Philip Smith, and the couple has two children, daughter Courtney, 8, and son Phips, 5. Smith and her family live in New York City.

Williams offers encouraging words

Picture Emmy winner Mary Alice Williams working overtime on Lifetime's Picture What Women Do project, airing Tuesday, Sept. 13.

"Women," she says without irony, "go to extreme lengths to take care of everything that they're responsible for. We can't take that picture of ourselves, because we are living it."

But Picture What Women Do isn't Lifestyles of the Rich and Stripped-Out. It's a chance to do some nationwide networking. The event begins with a documentary look at how women spend their days and what they think of the work they do, whether it is in an office, on a concert stage, behind a cement mixer or at home.

"The issues these women illustrate, that they care about in their lives, are issues that affect every aspect of American social and public policy," Williams says.

Then Williams moderates a panel discussion on nine women's issues, including health care, marriage, work, day care and education.

"The most important thing we can accomplish," Williams concludes, "other than celebrating the length and breadth of women in America, is to put on the table the issues that really have to be dealt with if we are going to be a very strong nation in the future."

From Bette Davis to Mike Tyson, A&E presents a week of fresh installments of its Biography series.

The week begins with a portrait of Pope John Paul II.

Mary Alice Williams

Monday, Sept. 12. ABC News correspondent Bill Blakemore reveals a deeply human John Paul. Both politically savvy and morally uncompromising, the Polish pope has stood up to communism and played host to his high-school reunion.

Bette Davis, who was profiled by TNT this summer, gets another look Tuesday, Wednesday, Sept. 14, brings a Biography of original Saturday Night Live cast member Gilda Radner, and Thursday, Sept. 15, brings an up-close-and-personal encounter with Benjamin Franklin. A profile of boxer Mike Tyson concludes the week on Friday, Sept. 16.

George Halas, Jim Thorpe, Tom Landry, Howard Cosell and dozens more are part of 75 Seasons: The Story of the National Football League, airing Tuesday on TNT. From the oldest living player (Arda Bowser) to the Hall of Fame pass to the Baltimore Colts quiz from Diner, the two-hour special packs a lifetime of memories into the greatest clip-and-interview reel ever.

THEY DID IT AGAIN; raised the most money for Hospice of Garrett County in the organization's annual "Jail and Bail" at the Garrett County Fair, that is, Chuck "Good Time Charlie" McCrobie, left, and Les "Doo Little" Blittinger amassed $3,500 in "bail money" that will benefit the local organization, which provides free counseling and assistance to the terminally ill and members of their families. The team has agreed to make an extra donation of $500 to Hospice next year if any other "jailed" team is able to raise more money than they do.

Alvin Ailey Group To Lead Dance Workshops

When the Alvin Ailey Repertory Ensemble comes to Frostburg State University this month it will be for more than presenting two performances. For three days, the repertory group will conduct workshops and master classes for senior citizens, high school and college students in Washington, Allegany, and Garrett counties. All workshops are free and most are open to the public.

Members of the ensemble say they are committed to bringing the art of dance to diverse audiences across the United States. The ensemble appears in a variety of venues, ranging from the Concert hall to gymnasiums, and stages special performances for school groups, senior citizens, and the physically challenged. Lecture/demonstrations are scheduled for Monday, Sept. 12, at Fort Hill High School and Southern High School; Tuesday, Sept. 13, at FSU and West Virginia University; and Wednesday, Sept. 14, at Hicks Middle School, Hagerstown.

A unique combination of commentary and dance, lecture/demonstrations are both educational and entertaining. Excerpts from the current repertoire illustrate the various choreographic techniques and styles introduced in the lecture. A question and answer session concludes each demonstration, facilitating interaction between audience and dance.

During the master classes, senior members of the Repertory Ensemble teach dance technique to a group of students. The classes will incorporate movements which reflect the unique nature of the Ensemble's style. While master classes at FSU and West Virginia University are only for matriculated students at each institution, there will also be classes at Southern High School and Allegany Community College on Monday, Sept. 12, and Wednesday, Sept. 14, for advanced beginning/intermediate dancers in grades 8 through adult. For information, persons may contact Nancy Geisler (301) 387-9527 in Garrett County and Allen Emerick at ACC (301) 724-7700, ext. 273. Classes will last 90 minutes.

The workshops for senior citizens will be held at the Flowery Vale Senior Center in Accident, on Tuesday, Sept. 13, at 4:30 p.m. and Wednesday, Sept. 14, at 10 a.m. at the Cumberland Theater. The workshops include a demonstration and audience participation and last 60 to 90 minutes. For more information, persons may contact Peggy Mackert in Cumberland (301) 724-1148 and Barbara Hornyak at Garrett Community Action (301) 334-9431, ext. 137.

The Ensemble will also teach dance classes to drill team members and cheerleaders in Washington, Allegany, and Garrett counties. The proposed dates and locations are Monday, Sept. 12, at 2 p.m., for both Fort Hill and Southern high schools. For more information on these workshops, persons may contact the individual high schools.

This residency is being funded by the following foundations: Appalachian Regional Commission, Mid-Atlantic Arts Foundation, Maryland State Arts Council, Frostburg State University Year of the Arts, and the Cultural Events Series.

For further information on any of these workshops,

Open Letter to the people and voters of Garrett County

As the Primary campaign draws to a close and since it is impossible to greet each one of you personally, I am taking this opportunity of communicating with you.

My CONCERNS are about our State, County and municipalities and in particular the PEOPLE who reside and pay taxes here. These CONCERNS range from too much government in our everyday lives, to taxes, property rights, property assessments, utility costs (Potomac Edison has petitioned the Public Service Commission for a rate increase), hunting license fees (an increase is being proposed by the Wildlife Administration), senior citizens programs, and tax reform.

Dutifully and faithfully I have served the people of Garrett County and District 1A in the past and have gained invaluable experience and knowledge in the legislative process. I have always worked closely on a person-to-person basis with the constituents and will continue to do so when elected.

I am asking you to support and vote for me in the Primary election on September 13, to represent you in a responsible and experienced manner.

I am an independent businessman, raised and educated in Garrett County. I have conducted my own campaign. LUNCH THAT PACKS A PUNCH

Do you get the lunch time blues when you remember taking a homemade lunch to school in a small brown bag? It may not have been very interesting. The typical entrée consisted of two slices of soft, white bread, smeared with pickle-mayonnaise and a single slice of bologna sandwiched between them. A bag of chips, a piece of fruit and a couple of cookies rounded out the meal, and milk was purchased from the lunch line.

GONE ARE THE DAYS OF "HO-HUM" LUNCHES.

Today's carried meal is a far cry from the lunches of yesteryear. Packed lunches are once again gaining popularity. Like sneakers and blue jeans, they complement people's busy lifestyles. A carried lunch can be dressed up to appeal to the young-at-heart or reduced to a simple combination for the school-lunch-box set. A working lunch is common practice for thousands of Americans, and it can be nutritious, delicious and economical.

There are hundreds of new products that fit today's lifestyle and demand for low-fat and environmentally kind concerns. For instance, turkey deli meat is an economical, low-fat substitution for beef or pork cold cuts. Brown baggers also need to consider convenient beverage packaging. One option — the aseptic package, or "drink" box — is geared to health conscious lifestyles.

Kids and parents have always recognized the benefits of these portable, lightweight and safe packages. What many people do not realize is that this easy-to-use, versatile package is also environmentally friendly. The "drink" box is an excellent example of minimal packaging — less waste from the start. And, in some parts of the country, the "drink" box is being recycled along with milk cartons.

Check your communities to see if these exciting new recycling programs are available.

With a little imagination, interesting sandwich combinations paired with an array of "drink" boxes will become the envy of other lunch mates.

Today's busy, mobile lifestyles demand products that are convenient as well as environmentally responsible. The "drink" box, or aseptic package, delivers this and more. The revolutionary package and process have been called the "most significant food science innovation of the last 50 years" by the Institute of Food Technologists.

NUTRITION ON THE GO

- Parents recognize the benefits of these portable, safe packages. Easily placed in travel bags, aseptics provide a welcome relief for kids and adults.
- Freeze "drink" boxes the night before to pack next to perishables. This keeps the lunch cool, and by noon the juice is ready for drinking!
- Commuters find the compact, shatterproof packages conveniently fit in purses and briefcases.
- Remember, aseptic packages retain nutrients and taste without preservatives.

"GREEN" LUNCHES ARE THE WAY TO GO

More than 1,800 schools have bins for "drink" box and milk carton recycling.

- Currently, more than 3 million households in the United States are recycling aseptic packages and milk cartons into products such as tissues, writing paper and paper towels.
- For more information on community-based aseptic package and milk carton recycling programs, please call 1-800-277-8088.

NATIONAL LITERACY DAY

Thursday, September 8

A tutoring session with trainer Lorraine Ledden.

to aid students in identifying sounds, and that he discovered the untapped potential of volunteer teachers. There in Lanao province the rallying cry of Each One Teach One was first heard. Word of Dr. Laubach's successful literacy campaigns in the Philippines drew requests for assistance around the world, and as Dr. Laubach traveled, the "Laubach method" took form. At the same time he spared no efforts in pointing out the injustices suffered by the poor and hungry. He saw literacy as means of filling empty stomachs and preparing minds for self-rule.

In 1955, Dr. Laubach founded Laubach Literacy International which continues his work today through worldwide network of trained volunteers who enable illiterate adults to acquire the literacy skills they need to solve their daily problems.

It was through the diligent efforts of several local women with the Lutheran Church Women's group, Ferne Beachy, Linda Buckel, Beulah Moon, along with representatives from the Maryland State Department of Education and Specialist Library Information Services and Programs that work began in Garrett County concerning volunteer tutoring in adult literacy. The MSDE furnished Laubach Way To Reading textbooks. The Literacy Council of Frederick County came to Garrett County in June 1986, and assisted in laying the foundation of the Garrett County Council. In October 1986 the Frederick Council came to conduct a tutor workshop for interested Garrett Countians. Twenty persons were certified using the Laubach method "Each One Teach One."

During this time officers were elected to a Board of Directors. Those founding members were Ferne Beachy, Thelma Swartzentruber, Nancy Bailey, Beulah Moon, Joan Sprangler, Edith Brock, Lorraine Ledden, Barbara Zaharoff, Sallie Thayer, Elizabeth Lohman, Bonnie Evans Tucker, and Linda Buckel. The Council received its charter from Laubach International in March 1987.

Since 1987, the Literacy Council of Garrett County has grown by leaps and bounds. Over 60 members now claim interest in the Council. Many thousand hours have been spent tutoring and countless students have received assistance through the Council. Persons who are 16 years of age, adults and are out of school are eligible for the program. The Council, however, will give advice and assistance to anyone needing help. The main focus of services tends to be those that are the hardest to reach and with the lowest skill level. Those who complete the program are encouraged to enroll in Adult Basic Education to attain their GED.

An important component of the literacy program is its insistence upon maintaining the confidentiality of the tutoring. Since one-to-one tutoring is the key feature, privacy is constantly stressed. When a student is referred or inquires with the Council, a tailored program is designed to meet the student's specific needs and goals. These needs could include: improved reading for job advancement, greater ability to shop, vote, read for pleasure, read to their children or grandchildren, read the Bible, obtain their driver's license or be able to read their medication.

It is estimated that 31% of Garrett Countians have not graduated from high school. By a conservative estimate, 3,660 adults cannot read and write well enough to live up to their native abilities at home or on the job.

Laubach Literacy Action (LLA) continually updates the training requirements for tutors and training criteria. This allows local programs to integrate proven teaching techniques with experimental ones to meet local needs. Over the years, LLA has placed more of the control of the training under the local Council's management. Local councils are encouraged to individualize training with an emphasis on the specific needs of adult learners.

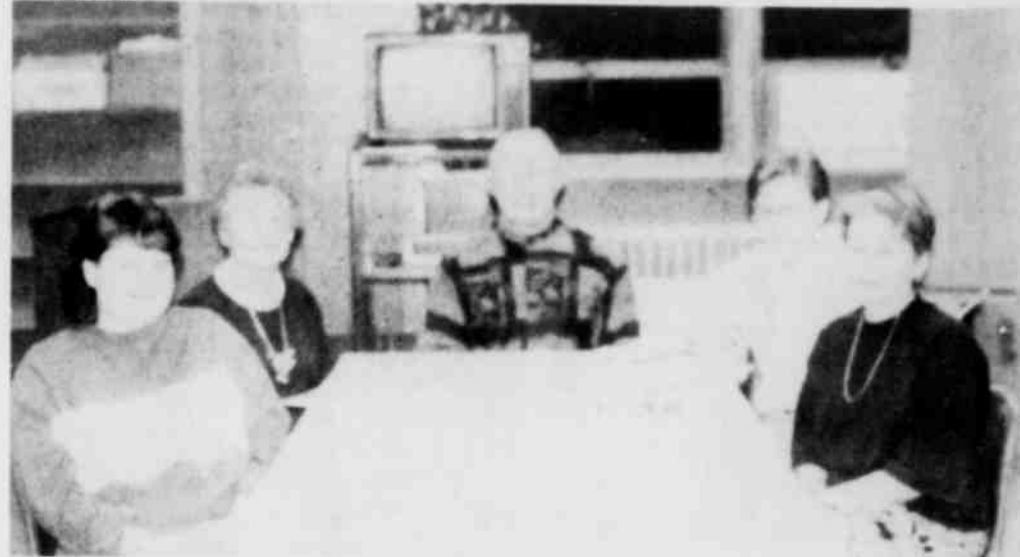

The Garrett County Literacy Council retains the Laubach Way To Reading (LWR) as the core curriculum. The program allows persons with no previous teaching experience to successfully tutor adults in basic reading and writing skills. LWR is a multi-sensory approach to reading using visual, auditory, tactile, and kinetic techniques. The Council encourages tutors to meet the specific needs of the learners.

For the past three years the Council has been awarded a grant from the State Department of Education through the Library Construction Act. The Ruth Enlow Library has been a catalyst in grant funding because libraries are the only agencies eligible to apply for this grant. At the end of this grant cycle, funding will no longer exist. The Literacy Council is in the process of searching for replacement funding so that operations can continue and improve. The Literacy Council currently operates out of the basement of the Ruth Enlow Library in Oakland.

Currently, the Council is run by a board of directors and literacy coordinator. This year's Executive Board includes: Nate Motz, president; Bonnie Tucker, vice-president; Pat Newhall, secretary; Dr. Frank Custer, treasurer; Emily Ferren, Ruth Enlow Library director; a student representative; and Brandon Seifert, literacy coordinator. Other officers and standing committees also exist within the Board of Directors. Board meetings are held once a month. General membership meetings are held four times a year with the next General meeting being on September 27 at 7 p.m. in the Ruth Enlow Library Meeting Room.

Bonnie Evans Tucker, trainer, instructs new tutors on the proper way to teach an adult reader.

Help the Literacy Council of Garrett County, the Adult Basic Education Program, the General Education Degree Program, and the Continuing Education Department of Garrett Community College in their programs to reduce illiteracy; poor reading language and math skills; technological and communication disabilities; and lack of citizen participation in government. The need for literacy training in Garrett County is very great. Volunteers are always in need as the waiting list for tutors is growing on a daily basis.

Without volunteers, the problem of illiteracy will not go away. If you or someone you know needs reading help or you would like to become a volunteer reading tutor and change someone's life, please call the Literacy Council at 334-8606. Your efforts will be appreciated time and time again.

WESTERN MARYLAND NURSES have newly expanded continuing education opportunities through the interactive Distance Learning Network, which was begun this year at community colleges in Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties. The first such opportunity via the network is a nursing refresher course that begins Wednesday, Sept. 7. Shown at Allegany Community College discussing use of the new technology are (standing, at left) Cindy Bridges, who will co-teach the course with Hagerstown Junior College faculty member Linda Hildenbrand, and (standing, at right) Sherry Campbell, ACC manager of continuing nursing education. Garrett Community College is the third school offering nursing education through the distance learning network.

New Interactive Network Expands Education Options For Area Nurses

Three Western Maryland community colleges -- Garrett, Allegany and Hagerstown -- have joined forces with the Maryland Board of Nursing to create a unique opportunity for Maryland nurses. Nurses in need of a board-approved refresher course will have the option of attending the course in their home communities using the new distance-learning interactive classrooms recently installed in the three colleges.

Faculty presenters Cindy Bridges of Allegany Community College and Linda Hildenbrand of Hagerstown Junior College, along with college coordinators Donna Walbert and Sherry Campbell, both of ACC, Tom Kierstead of Garrett Community College, and Roberta Niklewski of HJC, as well as students in the three-county region all met recently to learn more about this course using the new technology.

Judy Mayer, Maryland Board of Nursing representative also in attendance in the HJC classroom, had the opportunity to meet students and faculty at ACC and GCC "over the network." She noted that this system is "a first of its kind in Maryland" and reminded the audience that the state has a history of "firsts" for nurses, including being the first to grant prescriptive privileges for nurse practitioners.

The Maryland Board of Nursing and Maryland community colleges have a long history of working together to benefit nurses in the state, according to Ms. Mayer. Currently, many of the colleges offer board-approved refresher courses to nurses through the continuing education departments at the colleges.

With the advent of interactive classrooms the western region colleges saw an opportunity to serve rural nurses more effectively, Mayer said. In the past, courses frequently had to be cancelled due to insufficient numbers in any one county to support a course. By combining enrollments the likelihood of cancellations will be greatly reduced, she said. The first nursing refresher course to be carried over the network started Wednesday, Sept. 7, and will serve over 20 nurses in the region.

Additionally, students benefit from the expertise of faculty presenters across the region and can interact with fellow students from a wider range of nursing backgrounds and experiences. Plans are being developed to utilize the interactive network extensively for continuing education and credit courses for nurses in Western Maryland.

Board-approved and professional association-endorsed courses are offered at ACC and HJC since the colleges are members of the Maryland Community College Consortium for Continuing Education in Nursing, or MCCCCEN, a provider unit of continuing tion.

This designation enables the colleges to offer ANCC-approved contact hours for nursing continuing education courses. "Nurses in Western Maryland are offered the best of continuing nursing education: that is, board-approved, professional association-endorsed, and courses using the latest instructional technology available," Mayer said.

Maryland nurses should contact nurse managers in the continuing education departments of their local community colleges to learn more about this technology since future plans include the expansion of the distance-learning interactive classrooms throughout the state. In all, a total of 270 sites will be on the network at completion, including public higher education institutions and some private institutions such as Johns Hopkins.

The technology features two-way video and audio interactivity in real time with full-range, broadcast-quality motion. Up to four classrooms across the state can be completely interactive simultaneously. Allegany and Garrett community colleges and Hagerstown Junior College are pioneers using the technology on behalf of Maryland nurses.

Garrett County nurses should contact Tom Kierstead at 301-384-3084 for more information.

New Geriatric, Nursing Assistant Training Slated

A specialized training program designed to meet the need for productive, capable employees in the health care field will soon be underway at Garrett Community College. This training program will consist of 385 hours of classroom training and approximately 145 hours of work site training. It will prepare students for entry level positions in health care starting as nursing assistants, restorative aides, and geriatric aides.

The program will be offered by the Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College in cooperation with The Western Maryland Consortium.

The technical training areas will include classes in: restorative aide training, human growth and development, the aging process, risk management and safety, legal and professional issues, and resource management.

Students will participate in on-site training throughout all but the first month of the program. They will be placed either in nursing homes, hospitals, health departments, doctors' offices, or other public health agencies. They will be given the opportunity to work in several settings whenever possible. This work training experience will enable them to practice the skills that they are learning in the classroom setting. Job placement for the graduates of the first class has been high: two students are working at the Area Agency of Aging; one is working at Appalachian Crossroads; another at the Goodwill Mennonite Home; and one is working part-time at Freeman Ambulance.

The training will begin in early October and will conclude in mid-February. Those wishing more information about enrollment should call the Western Maryland Consortium at 334-8136. Specific questions about the training can be answered by Lynne Glotfelty at 387-3089 or Sandy Major at 387-3101 at Garrett Community College.

Health Day Slated For Bloomington

Bloomington Community Health Day will be held Sept. 21 from 7 to 9 a.m. at the Bloomington fire hall. The event, which is being co-sponsored by the Wellness Together Program of Garrett County Memorial Hospital and the Garrett County Health Department, will feature various health screenings including cholesterol blood testing, a basic cholesterol level measurement or lipid profile blood testing, and a more comprehensive test that indicates "good" and "bad" cholesterol levels. A fee of $5 will be charged for the basic cholesterol test while the lipid profile test will cost $15. Dietary evaluations, fitness testing, blood pressure measurements and information pertaining to risk factor prevention of cancer and cardiovascular disease will also be provided at the screening.

Persons attending the screening will be required to select from a list of participating physicians and must fast for 12 hours prior to receiving bloodwork to ensure accuracy of test results.

"Bloomington Community Health Day is a part of Wellness Together's ongoing efforts to go out into the community to provide services that will make area residents more aware of their overall health," explained a Wellness Together spokesperson.

Health counselors will meet with all participants approximately two weeks following the screening to discuss results and provide consultation.

Rhonda Fleming, Michael Mudge Exchange Wedding Vows On May 7

Rhonda Jane Fleming and Michael Allen Mudge were united in marriage on May 7 at Christ United Methodist Church, Cumberland.

The Rev. Stan G. Cardwell performed the double-ring ceremony.

Brenda Hockenberry, Shippensburg, Pa., was the pianist. Denny Thrush, Chambersburg, Pa., and the Rev. Wayne R. Turner, Cumberland, were the vocalists.

The bride is the daughter of Ronald and Brenda (Umbrell) Fleming, Shippensburg. The groom is the son of Thomas and Dollie (Rice) Mudge, Cumberland.

Given in marriage by her parents and escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a white gown of Italian satin and re-embroidered Alencon lace. The bodice featured a V-neck and deep V-back, and was encrusted with beaded lace. Short sleeves with a shorter pouf were accented with tiny bows on the beaded lace cuff. A Basque waist topped the softly shirred skirt. The semi-cathedral length train was enhanced by medallion lace cut-outs and bows.

The bride carried a cascade of white carnations and roses.

Serving as matron of honor was the bride's sister-in-law, Jackie R. Fleming, Roxbury, Pa. She wore a red satin and lace gown of intermezzo length, featuring a dropped cowl satin collar, short puffed sleeves, and a dropped waist. A softly shirred satin skirt completed the gown.

Flower girls were Bethany and Ashley Mudge, nieces of the groom.

Serving his brother as best man was Jerry Mudge, Martinsburg, W. Va. The groom's nephew, Matthew Mudge, was the ring bearer.

traditional hymns on the cello.

The church sanctuary and the reception hall were decorated in deep purple and red, with accents of fresh lilac blooms. The reception, held at St. Luke's Lutheran Hall, Cumberland, was catered by Debbie's Catering Service, and was decorated by Treasures of the Heart.

The multi-tiered wedding cake, baked by Shelby Gable, was cut and served by Jean Rice and Marie Christopher, aunts of the groom, and by Dawn Rice, cousin of the groom. The knife used to cut the cake was provided by the bride's grandparents, Herbert and Miriam (Harry) Fleming, Path Valley, Pa. The knife was engraved with their Sept. 28, 1937, wedding date, and was also used on June 7, 1987, to cut the cake during their 50th wedding anniversary celebration.

Barbara Lahr, Columbia City, Ind., attended the guest registry and distributed the wedding bulletins. The bulletins also recognized the groom's grandmother, Audrey (Jones) Rice, who was married in the same church (then known as Bethany United Brethren Church), 60 years earlier on May 7, 1934.

Stanley P. Tisel, Frostburg, served as the photographer. Lynn Martin, Columbia, cousin of the groom, videotaped the event, and Kathy LaGratta was the sound technician.

Following a honeymoon trip to Myrtle Beach and Charleston, S.C., and Baltimore, the couple established residence in Crellin.

The bride is a graduate of Chambersburg Area Senior High School and Huntington College, Hun

Bring BOLDEN Back
MARYLAND HOUSE OF DELEGATES
He is concerned about WASTE of taxpayers money...

Witness excerpts from this letter to the Speaker of the House dated 23 September 1992.

DeCORSEY E. BOLDEN
313 South Second Street
Oakland, Maryland 21550

23 Sept. 1992

Honorable Clayton Mitchell
Speaker of the House
Annapolis, Maryland 21201

Dear Clay,

I was pleased to read in the Sun about your budget cutting proposals. In view of that I thought about bringing to your attention a waste of taxpayers money here in the little town of Oakland.

About five years ago an office was opened here in a private facility near Browning's Foodland Store the renter. Rent at this place I would estimate about $2,000-$2,500 per month. The personnel that staffs the office drive daily from the Motor Vehicle Office on Winchester Road in LaVale, Maryland. The employees (4 or 5) travel in a state van and leave LaVale around 9:00 A.M. so as to arrive in Oakland at 10:00 A.M. when the office opens. Then the office closes at 3:00 P.M. so they can return to LaVale by 4:00 P.M. quitting time.

Much of the work still has to be done at LaVale, such as parking school buses and trucks. These drivers used to be able to do this testing at the Armory.

I know this tax dollar comes from the Trust Fund but it seems like a waste of money particularly when the facility at the Armory was working adequately, open two days a week for driver license and title work.

I hope this information will help in a small way to point out the waste in our budget. Good luck in your endeavor.

Sincerely,

DeCorsey Bolden

Friendsville Lions To Host Benefit Event

St. Jude Children's Research Hospital announced today that Marlin Lawson and the Friendsville Lions club have agreed to be the coordinator of the St. Jude Children's Research Hospital Bike-A-Thon in Friendsville, set for October 8.

St. Jude Children's Research Hospital was founded by entertainer Danny Thomas. The institution opened its doors to the public in 1962 to combat catastrophic diseases which afflict children. St. Jude Hospital is non-sectarian, non-discriminatory, and covers all costs of care beyond those reimbursed by insurance.

At St. Jude, scientists and physicians are seeking not only a better means of treatment, but also the causes, cures, and prevention of these fatal diseases.

All fundings and information gained at the Hospital are shared freely with doctors and hospitals all over the world. Because of St. Jude Hospital research, children who have leukemia, Hodgkin's disease, sickle-cell anemia, and other child-killing diseases now have a better chance to live.

The Bike-A-Thon program this year is dedicated to eight-year-old Shauna Richters. Shauna was diagnosed with Wilms' tumor, a malignant growth on her left kidney, in December 1990. Surgery successfully removed the tumor, and Shauna returns to St. Jude Hospital every six months for check-ups. She celebrated her last chemotherapy treatment with a present she had eagerly looked forward to: a new bike. "Shauna is a living example of the successful research, patient care, and educational programs made possible by the Bike-A-Thon campaign at this internationally recognized hospital," stated a St. Jude spokesman.

Nine children in Maryland and their families have gone to St. Jude Hospital and received total medical care for a catastrophic illness. Thousands of others have benefited from the research findings that have developed better and more successful treatment methods, the spokesman said.

"We sincerely appreciate the concern that Marlin Lawson has for our work to help children like Shauna, and we hope the citizens of Friendsville will support the Bike-A-Thon on Oct. 8 to help provide the funds needed to preserve the world's greatest asset... our children," the spokesman said.

Correction Noted

In last week's issue of The Republican, a story appeared about the selling of sheep at the Garrett County Fair. Bobbie Jo Beitzel was identified as the son of Steve and Jenny Beitzel, but it should be noted that Miss Beitzel is the daughter of Steve and Jenny Beitzel. The error is regretted.

tington, Ind., where she earned a bachelor's degree in educational ministries. She retired in December from Macau, a Portuguese colony in South China near Hong Kong, where she served a term with the Board of Missions of the Church of the United Brethren in Christ as a missionary teacher.

The groom is a graduate of Fort Hill High School and Allegany Community College, both in Cumberland. He also holds a bachelor of arts degree from Frostburg State College, and a master of divinity degree from Asbury Theological Seminary, Wilmore, Ky. He was ordained by the Church of the United Brethren in Christ in 1989, and has served as pastor of the Crellin United Brethren Church since 1988.

The bride was honored with a shower on March 26, hosted by the groom's family, at the home of his aunt, Marie Christopher. The ladies of the Crellin U.B. Church hosted an open house shower for the bride and groom on April 15 at the Crellin Community Building.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's fami-ents at Christ U.M. Church, Cumberland.

Out-of-town guests attending the ceremony were from Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, and Iowa, and gifts were sent from Michigan, Kentucky, South Carolina, Mississippi, and Macau.

Republican For COMMISSIONER DISTRICT ONE

PRIORITY ONE: JOBS

I believe jobs must be a top priority of our country. We have seen layoffs and mine closings which have hurt many families. Often young people must leave our county to get work. I will work for the development of a comprehensive plan to attract desirable industry here. We cannot rely on tourism alone.

PRIORITY TWO: OPEN GOVERNMENT

I believe in government of the people, by the people and for the people. The government is the people and there is NO business of government which is not the people's business. I pledge an open and responsive government, one that sees the people as a resource rather than a threat; that serves the people rather than resists and fears them. Not only should we follow "access to information" laws, we should assure that our people never need to use them to get information which belongs to them in the first place.

PRIORITY THREE: ROADS

It is necessary, for several reasons, that we keep our county roads in much better repair. First, it costs less over the long haul. Allowing the roads to deteriorate to where a new road or road bed is needed costs more than to do regular maintenance. Secondly, roads are important to economic growth. Thirdly, it is just easier on vehicles and people alike when the roads are properly maintained. We have many excellent people in the roads department, but we have allowed our roads to get into deplorable condition. I advocate a plan for renewing 20 to 25 percent of all county roads each year, starting with the most in need of repair. This way, all roads will be renewed every four or five years. I also believe that a qualified person should be appointed to head the roads department.

"Rule-Of-Thumb" For A Nitrogen Check On Corn
Some of our corn is starting into the early dent stage. This is a good time to check to see if you applied the right amount of nitrogen. The following rule-of-thumb is used by Cornell University. Check the corn at the early dent stage. If the lower 3 to 5 leaves on the plant are dead the upper leaves remain medium to dark green, the right ratio of nitrogen was used. If fewer than 3 lower leaves are dead and the top ones are dark green, the nitrogen rate was probably too heavy, and you could have gotten by with 20 to 40 lbs. less nitrogen. If the leaves die up to or above the ear or the entire plant is light green and the leaves near the ear are yellow, too little nitrogen was used (or too much was lost). Do not use these guidelines in a drought year or confuse nitrogen deficiency with disease.

Estimating Corn Yields
There are several quick methods to estimate the yield of standing corn both for corn silage and for grain.
* To estimate corn silage yields:
1. Select representative areas in the field for sampling.
2. Determine inches between rows (row spacing).
3. Start midway between two plants, cut corn according to the following table:

Row spacing:	42"	40"	38"	36"	34"	32"	30"
Row length to cut:	6'3"	6'6"	6'10"	7'3"	7'8"	8'2"	8'8 1/4"

4. Weigh corn harvested.
5. Weight of corn in pounds equals tons of silage produced per acre.

7. Repeat this sampling in 5 to 7 areas of the field.

8. Average the production yields of these areas to obtain the estimated yield for the field. Example: Your silage corn row spacing is 30". The corn harvested from 8'8 1/4" of row is 18.5 tons per acre. Your estimated yield of green silage is 18.5 tons per acre.

* To estimate corn grain yields:
1. Count the number of kernels per ear on several ears.
2. Multiply this by the plant population.
3. Divide by 90,000 to determine your rough estimate of grain yield in bushels per acre. Example:

1. You counted the kernels on several ears in a field and determined that they average 380 kernels per ear.
2. Your plant population is 26,000 per acre. 380 x 26,000 = 9,880,000

3. 9,880,000 divided by 90,000 = 110 bushels per acre.

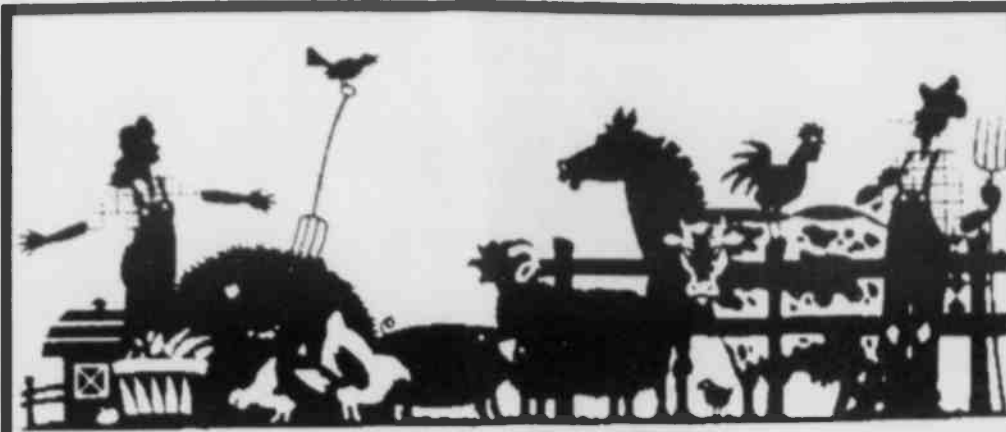

Western Corn Rootworm
The Western Corn Rootworm adult beetle is in the area. I would strongly advise you to check your fields now for their presence. If you find more than one adult beetle per plant, you will need to make rotation or eradication plans for next year. If none are present, you can save a few bucks on next year's corn crop.

Governor Schaefer Proclaims Farm Safety Week Sept. 11-17

Governor William Donald Schaefer has proclaimed Farm Safety Week September 11-17, 1994. According to national statistics, farming continues to lead all industries in work-related accidents nationwide. With farmers busy during the peak of the harvest season, Governor Schaefer reminds all farmers to take extra precautions to reduce the risks of farm accidents.

"People engaged in agricultural production face high risks of occupational injury. But with a little care, many injuries and deaths caused by farm related accidents can be prevented," said Governor Schaefer. "I urge all Maryland farm families to take the lead in establishing and maintaining safe farm practices."

"Quite often, a little common sense can prevent serious mishaps. For example, most farm equipment accidents can be prevented by taking time to review safety precautions in the operator's manual. In addition, it is important to keep all children and the elderly away from hazardous machines," said Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Lewis R. Riley.

"Farm families should examine all areas of their operation for places of potential danger. By taking corrective action, most accidents can be avoided. We want to keep all our farm families safe," Riley said.

BAUER'S WORK ON DISPLAY IN PITTSBURGH - Local artist Ken Bauer's work "Likenesses," pictured, is currently on display at the Carnegie Museum of Art, Pittsburgh, Pa., as part of the 84th Annual Exhibition. Bauer's work was chosen to be among the 115 artworks by 101 artists. Originally, 477 pieces by 259 artists were submitted for jurying by Beryl Wright, a curator formerly with the Museum of Contemporary Art, Chicago, and the Newark Museum. Wright chose the pieces for display, and the exhibition was installed by Richard Armstrong, curator of Contemporary Art at the Carnegie Museum. The exhibition will run through Sept. 29. Bauer said the pencil drawing of a white-breasted nuthatch was inspired by a late afternoon walk along the tow-path of the C&O Canal. "As I walked along the tow-path, breathing the cool September air, I saw a nuthatch dart into a dark cluster of four tree trunks. When I located the bird with my binoculars, he was as far down in the cluster as he could be and still appeared outlined against the patch of sky seen between the trees. This image remained in my mind and a couple of weeks later I did some sketches of the idea," Bauer said. He added that "Likenesses" is an experiment at seeing two or more different visual experiences at the same time, noting the strand of barbed wire that extends through the narrow panel at the left. "Alterations were made to the actual appearance of things in perspective, size, texture, and space to create an image of my perception of the scene beyond the basic experience of seeing it," the artist said.

A Letter To The Voters Of Garrett County

Reporter Craig Speicher wrote a very informative letter to the editor in last week's issue of The Republican newspaper. Such calculating common sense is hard to come by these days!! The Republican should be thankful to have such a thorough professional on its staff.

Mr. Speicher put into words what I have been thrashing about with for several weeks!! This is my third attempt at writing this letter. I too had done some investigating and found the attempted rumor scam to be false and misleading.

Several weeks ago The Cumberland Times-News and Weekender papers ran an article, and a good one at that, with a very misleading and potentially harmful headline. I called the office of The Times-News and spoke to the author of the story who informed me that other staff members make up (my words) the headlines, and suggested I write a letter to the editor.

I also spoke to the editor of The Republican and asked him to publish a story to clarify the deluded headline by these papers. I was told that this was considered a "non-issue" and therefore did not merit a rebuttal or any exposure by print. Oddly enough in last week's paper, on the front page no less, is an article about an employee filing suit because he doesn't understand a law. And all this time I thought reporters were impartial and dug for the facts, with no reflection of their or the publisher's personal views! Some "non-issue"!

If this suit is not politically motivated, then I am Jocelyn Elders! And I pray that I NEVER get that ignorant!!

Craig Speicher wrote a letter to the editor because he felt a wrong was being done and wanted to correct it by stating the TRUTH!! The voters of Garrett County should be grateful for a service above and beyond the call of duty. It is a shame that some in this county think they can blow by the general population with the "smoke and mirrors" tactics used by the "big" politicians and media. "Nuf said!!"

Years ago I had the pleasure of taking a hunter safety course which Van Evans was instructing. If anyone has witnessed the sheriff at work then you know what I am about to write. Young people can ask some very complicated and penetrating questions and very rarely understand the initial response. Sheriff Evans took his time, often after class, to break down the answer and continue doing so until the youngster could grasp what was being said. He then would begin building it back up to the final level and when the one asking the question could repeat the answer, and in addition answer some thinking questions on the subject, only then was Sheriff Evans satisfied. It is this persistence, dedication and professionalism which is so much in demand in this circus we call life these days.

M. Van Evans is, without reservation, the most qualified candidate for the office of Sheriff. The other candidates may be excellent workers (I don't know their work habits) but their motives and ethics (to me) leave a lot to be desired. This is not a "political" office, it is an "elected" office and Van Evans is campaigning in that manner. Experience, education, and dedication; combined with ethics, morals and a genuine caring for others is a combination that is rare to find these days. DON'T LOSE IT!!

Sincerely,
Kris DeWitt

Dear Editor:

Several weeks ago while having my breakfast coffee and reading the Times News, I saw a familiar face smiling at me. The face of Galen Clagett, a college classmate. His story told me he was running for Congress (Galen had been involved in college politics).

Thrilled about the endeavor, I called him, offering my efforts and prayers. For once, someone I know was running for Congress.

Many times I have heard people say, "Who are these people running for office? I have never heard of them."

I usually close my eyes and pick one as I have no idea what kind of person they are. We get notes in the mail telling us what they want us to know, maybe we read in the local paper they have been to Garrett County, but most of us never heard of the people before.

But Galen Clagett is known by someone in Garrett County - since college days and believe me, that has been quite a while - and he can make a difference. He is a special person.

Galen has been a teacher, an administrator, with both bachelor's and master's degrees from Frostburg State; Frederick County Commissioner from 1978 to 1986; Maryland State Prison academic instructor; member of the Frederick Memorial Hospital Board; president of Clagett Enterprises, Inc.; and most of all for the animal lovers, he is a member of the Frederick County Humane Society, Inc. and a past president of that organization.

Wouldn't it be nice to have someone in Congress who someone in Garrett County really knows? Someone who really cares for people and animals.

What a coincidence that Galen and I met at Frostburg State, both became educators, and both became involved in caring for animals?

Again, this man can make a difference.

To the Citizens of Garrett County:

First, I would like to state that I have known Van Evans all his life and his family even longer. Sheriff Evans has possessed a meritorious reputation until this election year when others have worked unjustly to ruin it. During the nine years Evans has been in office, I have never heard him belittle or have anything ill to say about his office staff or deputies. He always has spoken highly of the sheriffs he has worked under. He is a clean, conscientious, competent sheriff who focuses on being constructive rather than destructive. I affirm my faith and trust in M. Van Evans for another four years in office. I ask my friends and fellow Garrett Countians to do the same.

Molly Kelly To Speak Locally

Molly Kelly, well-known lecturer and author on the subject of "teens and chastity," will be speaking at several locations in Garrett, Preston, Mineral, and Hampshire counties September 18-20, according to a release from the Mountaintop Crisis Pregnancy Center.

Kelly speaks to approximately one million teenaged youth and their parents each year, not only in the United States, but on an international basis. She recently had speaking engagements in Australia and England.

The mother of six sons and two daughters, Ms. Kelly says her goal is to instill a feeling of self respect and the knowledge that young people can make informed, intelligent decisions, in spite of media and peer pressure. She has written a brochure on the subject titled "Let's Talk" and also writes a monthly column called "What One Mother Has to Say."

Although her audiences are composed primarily of teenagers, she also speaks at colleges, medical schools, and theological schools. She has appeared on ABC's World News Tonight and CBS's This Morning. Among awards presented to her are the 1988 S.I.G.N. Award, given at the annual Community Service Corps Convention and voted on by teenagers.

She is the founding president of the "PA Education Foundation," an organization that attempts to spread the chastity message via the media. She is founding president of the Delaware Valley Alliance, an organization that consists of 40 separate groups that network to provide positive support to women who are experiencing problem pregnancies. She also organizes annual conferences on teenage sexuality, which bring together educators, counselors, school nurses, parents, and staffers from various agencies to discuss teenage concerns.

Ms. Kelly has been appointed by the federal government to the Grant Review Board, Department of Health and Human Services, for the promotion of Activity Noted At Republican Central Comm. Fair Booth

The Garrett County Republican Central Committee recently reported that the annual Republican Fair attracted much interest because of the primary election. Literature and campaign material for all Republican candidates was made available and approximately two dozen local G.O.P. candidates worked the booth and made themselves available to the general public there, a spokesman said.

Over 2,000 citizens officially visited the booth and registered for the free drawing for a $50 U.S. savings bond. The drawing was held on Saturday evening and Bobby Winters, Swanton, was the winner.

Visitors to the booth also included Republican candidates from the state level, including William Shepard, candidate for governor, Paul Rappaport, candidate for Lt. governor and running mate of gubernatorial hopeful Ellen Sauerbrey, and official representatives of U.S. Congresswoman Helen Bentley, also a contender in the Republican race for governor, and U.S. Congressman Roscoe Bartlett.

Wayne Wilt, chairman of the Garrett County Republican Central Committee, expressed thanks to all who helped with the fair booth, with special recognition extended to Rudy, Sandy, and Michael Shockey, Finzel, who designated and constructed the background display for the booth.

Wilt also announced that the Republican Headquarters was officially opened on August 24 at the former Cee Dee Restaurant, located at the intersection of Rt. 219 and Rt. 135 in Oakland. Anyone interested in volunteering to work in the headquarters is encouraged to call Wilt at 334-9283.

The State Highway Administration (SHA) will improve sections of U.S. 40 A and U.S. 219 in Garrett County beginning early this month, weather permitting. The project covers approximately eight miles along U.S. 40 A from U.S. 219 at Keyers Ridge to U.S. 219 east of Grantsville and includes resurfacing, drainage improvements, guardrail repair, and installing pavement markings. Similar improvements along seven miles of U.S. 219 from MD 42 to the Bear Creek Bridge are also included. The work is necessary to improve roadway surfaces and enhance motorist safety.

Single lane closures will occur weekdays between sunrise and sunset. Flaggers, cones and drums will guide motorists through the construction sites.

Keystone Lime Company, Inc., of Springs, Pa., has been awarded the five contracts totaling $3.4 million. The projects should be complete between fall 1994 and spring 1995. SHA reminds motorists to remain alert and drive safely through construction zones.

Ludwig is the son of Dorothy A. Moyer of Rural Route 1, Oakland.

Also included were instruction in safety practices, usage of ground support equipment and special and precision tools.

U.S. Air Force Senior Airman Todd A. Hershberger is serving with the coalition forces in the Persian Gulf Region in support of Operations Desert Storm, Southern Watch and Cease Fire.

The goal of the coalition forces is to enforce the "No-Fly" zone in support of United Nations resolutions against Iraq. Hershberger, a communications control system specialist, is the son of John L. and Thelma I. Hershberger, Kitzmiller, DE. He is a 1988 graduate of Southern Garrett High School.

Garrett County's jobless rate also dropped 3 percent, from 9.8 percent in June to 9.5 percent in July. The July 1993 rate was 11.4 percent.

Employment gains during July throughout the state exceeded increases in the labor force, with nearly 7,450 previously unemployed persons finding jobs. The labor force normally peaks in July as summer job seekers continue to enter the labor market. More than 41,000 job seekers entered the labor force, pushing its numbers above the 2.7 million mark.

Nationally, the unemployment rate remained unchanged over the month, topping the Maryland estimate by almost a full percentage point.

The sixth consecutive month of employment growth, a drop in the unemployment rate and other economic indicators showing improvement - there's a strong message in these numbers, said Secretary of Economic and Employment Development (DEED) Mary L. Wasserman. "Maryland surely seems to be on the right course."

Maryland's payroll employment during July followed normal seasonal patterns. Reductions in state and local education and vacation shutdowns in manufacturing eclipsed summertime job gains in construction, hotels, membership organizations, health services and amusement recreation.

From June to July, employment of work force, but was above July 1993 levels. Manufacturing employment remains below the level of a year ago, but hours and earnings rose. Unemployment insurance claims and benefit payments fell from last year's levels. Other data show increases in retail sales and new auto registrations but a decrease in housing permits.

Unemployment in the Western Maryland region dropped to 7.6 percent in July, down from 8.0 percent in June.

Statewide, unemployment rates in July ranged from a low of 2.8 percent in Talbot County to a high of 9.8 percent in Cecil County.

Dr. Pyle To Lead Special Services

Dr. Hugh Pyle of Panama City, Fla., will be the special speaker at the one-year anniversary celebration of Pastor Dennis Leatherman at Mountain Lake Independent Baptist Church, 1005 Broadford Road, Oakland, beginning this Sunday, Sept. 11, and running through Wednesday, Sept. 14.

Dr. Pyle, who received his doctor of divinity degree from Tennessee Temple University, was a successful pastor in Florida for many years and has now been on the road in revival and Bible conference work since July of 1973.

He is the author of over 30 books and booklets and often conducts family life and prophetic conferences. He has written books for teens as well, and leads "Good Ship Courtship" sessions.

In conjunction with the Anniversary Celebration, Mountain Lake Independent Baptist Church will be sponsoring a "Sword of the Lord" Sunday with special discount subscription rates to the Christian newspaper Sword of the Lord for which Dr. Pyle regularly writes the News and Views column.

Pastor Leatherman invites the entire community to attend "the celebration and preaching of God's Word." The Sunday morning services are at 9:45 a.m.

MSP Nets 300 DWI Arrests In State Over Holiday

In an all-out effort to eliminate drunk and drugged drivers from Maryland's roads, the Maryland State Police recorded nearly 300 arrests this weekend for driving under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs, or possession of drugs while operating a motor vehicle.

State troopers arrested 248 people for driving under the influence. Thirty-six other roadside stops netted 48 arrests for drug possession. During these stops troopers recovered one handgun and took into custody one parole violator.

"The Maryland State Police are committed to the 'total traffic stop,' not just writing citations," State Police Superintendent Colonel Larry W. Tolliver said.

INDUCTED INTO HONOR SOCIETY -- Nancy Miller, Grantsville, far right, was one of four women from the tri-state area to be inducted into Pi Chapter Sigma Theta Tau, an international nursing honor society, during recent induction ceremonies held at the University of Maryland Baltimore County. They earned their bachelor of science degrees from the University of Maryland School of Nursing's outreach program through the Cumberland site, located in the Western Maryland Area Health Education Center (AHEC). Pictured left to right are: Susan Hohm; Michele Beaulieu; Dr. Gall Mazzocco, acting chair of the RN to BSN Program and director of statewide programs for the University of Maryland School of Nursing; April Shapiro; and Ms. Miller. For further information about the program, persons may call the AHEC at 301-777-9150.

"Looking beyond the traffic stop to remove unsafe drivers from the road is important to the safety of all citizens."

Despite the effort put forth to reduce the likelihood of serious or fatal accidents, eight people died on Maryland roadways this weekend in seven separate accidents. In all but two cases, the deceased were not wearing their safety belts. Last Labor Day Weekend, seven people died in seven accidents.

Tuesday Accident Claims Life Of Terra Alta Teen

A single-vehicle accident early Tuesday morning on Rt. 59, near Crellin, claimed the life of a nearby Preston County teenager, according to a report filed by Maryland State Police, Barrack W. McHenry.

Eighteen-year-old Dana Allan Groves Jr., Terra Alta, W. Va., son of Dana A. "Butch" and Bonnie (Wolfe) Groves, died from injuries he sustained in the 1:30 a.m. mishap.

State police said Groves was operating a 1983 Mazda RX-7 west near the Ashby-Ellis Road, when he lost control of the vehicle, crossed the center line and ran off the road, striking a telephone pole and a parked car, owned by Guy D. Joseph, Oakland. The victim was ejected from the vehicle.

Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad transported Groves to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where he was pronounced dead. Oakland Volunteer Fire Department also responded to the scene.

State police said Groves was not wearing his seat belt at the time of the accident.

Groves was born July 8, 1976, in Morgantown, W. Va. He was a 1993 graduate of Preston High School, where he was a member of the Honor Society. He was a gold medal recipient for the Academy Decathlon and a past representative for Mountaineer.

Dedication Of Drane House Set For September 24

The dedication ceremony for the James Drane House in Accident will be held Saturday, September 24, and the public is welcome to attend.

The preservation project began with the formation of the Accident Cultural and Historical Society by the Mayor and Town Council in 1987, which undertook the project in conjunction with the Maryland Historical Trust. The first phase of the rehabilitation project began in 1991.

The James Drane House, built circa 1800, is thought to be the oldest standing structure in Garrett County. Although it was hoped that the rehabilitation project would be completed by September, work on the chimney was delayed pending grant funding.

The dedication program will begin at 1:30 p.m. in the Flowery Vale Senior Center with a 30-minute program by the Accident

COUNTY HISTORY WAS MADE on the Northern High School athletic field Tuesday evening when Meghan Dabney, a member of the Southern High School varsity, scored not one, but two goals for the Rams in their 8-0 win over the Huskies. Dabney is the first female high school varsity player ever to score a soccer goal in Garrett County. Stephen Goralski and Matthew Sincell also scored two goals each for the Rams. Dabney, daughter of Tom

PSI Ordered For Pa. Man In Drug Case

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered for a Bethel Park, Pa., man by Judge Ralph M. Burnett in Garrett County District Court proceedings last week.

Gerald A. Kellman, 41, was found guilty of one count of obtaining and altering a prescription drug order, and one count of resisting arrest. Two additional counts of altering a prescription drug order, and three counts of fraudulently obtaining a prescription drug were not prosecuted because of plea agreements with the state's attorney. Conditions of Kellman's bond continuance state that he must continue drug treatment and refrain from using any narcotics (heroin). Kellman had been charged with those offenses by Maryland State Police whose report stated that on Dec. 25, and Dec. 27, 1992, he was issued a legitimate prescription for the drug Methadone.

According to district court records, on Dec. 23, 1993, Kellman went to the Rite-Aid Pharmacy in Grantsville and handed the pharmacist a prescription for Methadone. The pharmacist filled the prescription, not realizing the date had been altered. On Jan. 1, he returned to the same pharmacy and handed another prescription to the same pharmacist, which was

Funds Awarded For Facility At Randolph Lake

Governor William Donald Schaefer announced Wednesday Board of Public Works approval of a $3 million contract to enable the Maryland Department of Natural Resources' (DNR) Boating Administration to provide public access to the 95.2-acre Jennings Randolph Lake in Garrett County. The contract was awarded to Frank Arnold Contractors Inc., Mtn. Lake Park, and includes construction of an entrance road, boat ramp, pier, and parking area.

Chaired by the governor, the Board of Public Works is also comprised of Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein and Treasurer Lucille Maurer. The board is authorized by the General Assembly to approve major construction and consultant contracts, equipment purchases, property transactions and other procurement actions.

"Jennings Randolph Lake is an extremely valuable recreational resource for Marylanders," Governor Schaefer said. "The improvements will offer yet another attraction to Western Maryland's growing tourism industry, accomplished through a joint effort of state, federal, and county government agencies as well as private industry."

Plans call for a 600-foot long boat ramp, a floating

Garrett Voters Follow State In Governor's Race

In the contest for Maryland Governor Lieutenant Governor, Garrett County voters mirrored Maryland voters as a whole in their selection of Parris Glendening and Kathleen Kennedy Townsend as the Democratic candidates and Ellen Sauerbrey and Paul Rappaport as the Republican candidates for these offices.

In the county, the Glendening team earned 607 votes and the Sauerbrey team received 2,028 votes. Local results for other Governor/Lt. Governor candidates are as follows:

Republicans: Helen Delich Bentley and Howard A. Denis - 881 votes; and William Shepard and Julia Walsh Gouge - 865 votes.

Democrats: Don Allensworth and Linda Hartman - 301 votes; Mary Boergers and Barbara Osborn Kreamer - 200; American Joe Mieduski and Bernice Fowler - 199; Melvin Steinberg and James Simpson - 151; Walter Gilchrist Finch and John Siegert - 70; and Lawrence Freeman and Mark Nafziger - 40.

Dist. One State Senator Incumbent Republican John Hafer and Democrat Edward Malloy Jr. were both unopposed in the District One state senator's race. Hafer received 2,551 votes and Malloy received

Ballot Design May Have Caused Many To Miss BOE Vote

Numerous county voters, after leaving their polling places Tuesday, reported that they had somehow missed voting in the primary election for board of education. Others remarked that they were confused by the location of the names of BOE candidates on the ballot. Apparently, this confusion caused some voters, possibly as many as 50 percent, to miss their opportunity to vote for board candidates.

The primary election for board of education is non-partisan; both Republicans and Democrats, as well as registered Independents, are entitled to vote in the BOE primary. However, the names of the four candidates for the board were only printed once, in a yellow rectangle, in the top right corner of the ballot. Because these names were located in the portion of the ballot designated for Democratic candidates, specifically lines A, B, C, and D, many Republicans did not cast votes in the board election.

According to an estimate of voter turnout calculated by adding the numbers of votes received by all candidates for Commissioner District Three, approximately 5,612 county voters cast ballots in this week's primary. Of these, more than 3,000 failed to cast votes in the board of education election.

Primary Election Provides Voters With Upsets, Confusion, and Close Races

Approximately 50 percent of Garrett County's registered voters turned out Tuesday to cast their ballots in the gubernatorial primary election.

At polling places throughout the county, voters made decisions in a heated sheriff's race and defeated Republican incumbent Van Evans.

Also, in a 19-candidate contest for the County Board of Commissioners, voters unseated incumbent Republican District Three Commissioner Brenda Butscher.

Tuesday's election also gave rise to some confusion regarding the location of board of education candidates on the county ballot. (See story.)

Butscher, with 1,375 votes, lost to fellow Republican Roger Giotfelty with 2,128 votes. Corporal Randy Sines topped Evans with the two Republicans receiving 2,010 votes and 1,869 votes respectively. Butscher and Evans will remain in office until Jan. 1, 1995.

Two Races Still Close

At press time, with approximately 260 absentee ballots yet to be counted, two commissioner races are still too close to declare a definite winner. In the Republican contest for District Two Commissioner, tentative results show Clyde Hetrick and Lawson Duckworth separated by only 10 votes.

The Democratic race for District Three Commissioner is even closer, with Asa McCain Jr. and Earl Clark Sr. separated by a mere eight votes.

Absentee ballots will be counted this afternoon. Approximately 170 of these ballots will be cast by Republicans and about 90 will be submitted by Democrats.

Dist. One Commissioner In other county commissioner races, Wayne

Garrett County Business Owner Among 132 Killed In USAir Tragedy

A national tragedy touched close to home last Thursday when a Garrett County business owner, along with 126 other passengers and five crew members aboard USAir Flight 427 from Chicago, died when the plane crashed seven miles from Pittsburgh International Airport.

Deer Park resident David C. Huxford, 54, owner and president of Financial Computer Support, Inc., in Mountain Lake Park, was returning home from Chicago where he had gone earlier that day for a business meeting. He was the only Maryland resident aboard the flight.

Huxford and his wife, Terry, moved their business to Garrett County from Vienna, Va., in 1986, and worked for a few years out of the basement of their home. In May 1993 the company opened its current 10,000-square foot, two-story headquarters in the southern Garrett County Industrial Park, and the number of employees grew from just three to more than 30 in nine years.

"We have all suffered a great personal loss," said an employee spokesperson. "Dave was an enthusiastic teacher, generous employer, dreamer, mentor, and friend to each of us. His legacy will live on in our fervent effort to uphold his high standards of excellence. Our hearts and minds have come together and bonded in a very special way. Dave's philosophy and vision of FCSI is part of who we are."

He was a graduate of Auburn (Ala.) University, and was a certified life underwriter and financial planner. He started in the insurance business as an agent for Northwestern Mutual Life in Montgomery, Ala., in 1967. In 1981, he began his own financial planning practice and be-

He founded Advanced Planners Users Group (APUG) in 1983 to offer education, training, tutorials, discounts and quality software to individual agents and planners.

In 1987, Huxford changed APUG's name to Financial Computer Support, Inc. (FCSI). He established FCSI NEI where FCSI members can exchange ideas, software, templates and electronic

Man To Serve Four Years For CDS Conviction

Garrett County Circuit Court Judge Fred A. Thayer last week sentenced a man convicted of drug charges to four years in the Maryland Department of Corrections.

Dewane R. Smith, 34, had pleaded not guilty to charges of possession with intent to distribute, possession of marijuana, and possession of drug paraphernalia. However, Thayer found him guilty in a July trial, at which time he ordered a pre-sentence investigation.

Smith was fined $500 in addition to the jail time, and he was given 128 days credit of time already served.

The defendant was arrested in January following an investigation by the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force. An informant had apparently notified the task force that Smith was planning a trip to Florida to purchase marijuana and bring it back to Garrett County. His vehicle was stopped on Jan. 17 on Interstate 68 and was searched, according to the court records.

Two pounds of marijuana were found in the car at the time of the traffic stop. Smith was also charged with operating a motor vehicle with a suspended license, and was sentenced to an additional 60 days in prison.

In other circuit court news, pre-sentence investigations were ordered by Thayer in two cases, one involving sexual offense and

Three Treated At GCMH After Three-Car Mishap

Three people were treated and released at Garrett County Memorial Hospital Sunday following a three-car mishap on Rt. 219 at the Glendale Road.

According to a report filed with Maryland State Police, Barrack W. McHenry, a vehicle operated by August Schaeffer, 63, Monaca, Pa., was stopped in traffic, waiting to make a left turn. Stopped behind that vehicle was one driven by John Rockis, 37, Morgantown, W.Va. Kelly Smith, 20, Meyersdale, Pa., operating a third vehicle in the same direction, reportedly failed to reduce speed to avoid a collision.

Smith's vehicle collided with the Rockis vehicle, which then struck the Schaeffer vehicle.

Treated at GCMH were passengers in each of the vehicles, Betty Schaeffer, 57, Monaca; Lisa Lindmoode, 30, Morgantown; and Abby Shaffer, 17, LaVale. Each was reportedly wearing a seatbelt.

THEFT, DOP
Several road signs in the Grantsville area have been reported stolen by Robert C. Rowan, representing the State Highway Administration (SHA) and the Maryland Department of Highways (MDOT).

Boat Launch To Stay Open During Lake Draw Down

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources, State Forest and Park Service has announced that the launch ramp at Deep Creek Lake State Park will remain open during Penelec's lake draw down this month.

Penelec initiated the draw down this past Labor Day weekend, and intends to drop the lake during the month of September by approximately four feet to an elevation of 2,454 feet by Oct. 3. The draw down is necessary for Penelec to make improvements to the spillway and water control structures at the power plant, according to a spokesman.

The lake elevation was a 2,456.7 feet on Sept. 12, indicating that approximately 2.7 feet of draw down remained.

Deep Creek Lake Recreation Area Manager Paul Durham said that at the full scope of the draw down, (2,454 ft.) he expects to have approximately four feet of water at the end of the park's ramps, which should accommodate the majority of users who want to access the lake.

Ramp conditions should improve after Oct. 3, as the lake rises and the power plant is no longer generating.

DNR Announces Antlerless Deer Permit Quotas

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Wildlife Division has reviewed the whitetailed deer population dynamics for 1994 and announced this week the quotas on the antlerless deer permit allocation for the 1994-95 firearms and muzzleloader seasons.

Permits will be issued only in the counties of Garrett, Allegany, Washington, and Frederick, totalling 4,390. Garrett County Zone 1 has been allocated 550 and Zone 2 will have 840 permits. The allocation in the other counties is as follows: Allegany, Zone 1, 630, and Zone 2, 770; Washington, Zone 2, 600; and Frederick, Zone 1, 1,000.

The number of antlerless deer permits issued is intended to meet the population objectives stated earlier this year, which are to increase the buck kill in Garrett and Allegany counties in future years, and to sta-

SANTA COLLECTING, DELIVERING - Even though Christmas is still many weeks away, Lou Stouffer, better known as the Terra Alta area Santa Claus, has been busy in recent weeks delivering clothing, primarily school clothing, to area families in need. When not delivering items, he spends a great amount of time collecting used clothing and new and used toys for delivery, particularly during the Christmas holidays. Persons who have such items to donate are asked to drop them off at St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Oakland (in the side door along Center Street), or to contact Santa at 304-789-6743 to arrange for pick-up. bilize the buck kills in Washington and Frederick counties at the present level. The number of permits issued is the same as was issued last year. Two changes this year are that the number of days to hunt antlerless deer during the firearms season has been reduced to the last two days of the season, and an antlerless permit is required for the late segment of the muzzleloader season.

Twelfth Rabies Case Of 1994 Is Confirmed

The 12th rabies case in 1994 in Garrett County was recently confirmed by the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene Laboratories, according to a spokesperson from the Garrett County Health Department.

The infected animal was a raccoon, which was apparently chased up a tree by a dog on Sept. 2. The incident took place on Mellott Road, off Swallow Falls Road. The raccoon was destroyed, and although there was no confirmed contact between the dog and the diseased animal, a booster shot was given to the pet and it will be observed for 90 days. There was no human exposure in the incident.

The health department has scheduled the fall rabies clinics for the week of Sept. 19-24. Specific times and locations will be announced.

BARTLETT PRESENTS FLAG -- Twenty-nine American flags were recently presented to the town of Deer Park, thanks to the combined efforts of several national, state and local governments. The undertaking was spearheaded and coordinated by the Americanism Committee of the American Legion, Proctor Kilow Post 71, chaired by Jim Seeders. Many of the flags came from U.S. Congressman Roscoe Bartlett's office, and he was present for the ceremony to help make the donation. Pictured above, from left to right, are Post 71 Commander Moses "Moe" Miller (hidden from view), Congressman Bartlett, the Rev. John Grant, Deer Park Mayor Gary (Ron) Hinebaugh who is shown accepting a flag on behalf of the town, and Deer Park councilmen Robert Moore and Mason Madigan. Also shown in the photo are several bottles of Deer Park's famous bottled spring water that were presented to guests attending the ceremony.

pier and track system, and upgrading a 2.2-mile access road.

This new public boating facility is a key element in the creation of the world-class recreation and fishing industry envisioned in the North Branch Potomac River Water Quality and Recreation and Improvement Agreement signed in 1993 by the governors of Maryland and West Virginia. The ramp will make it possible for boaters to launch from the Maryland side of the lake. The only existing boating access site is in West Virginia.

This project results from a 1987 DNR statewide boating survey that recommended a boating facility at this location. Garrett County also strongly supports the projects and will assist DNR in completing the improvements.

Initial construction of the entrance road began in 1992 as a collaboration between the Maryland National Guard and DNR. The National Guard cleared and graded a portion of the 2.2-mile entrance road right-of-way which extends from the end of Mt. Zion Road to the proposed boat ramp.

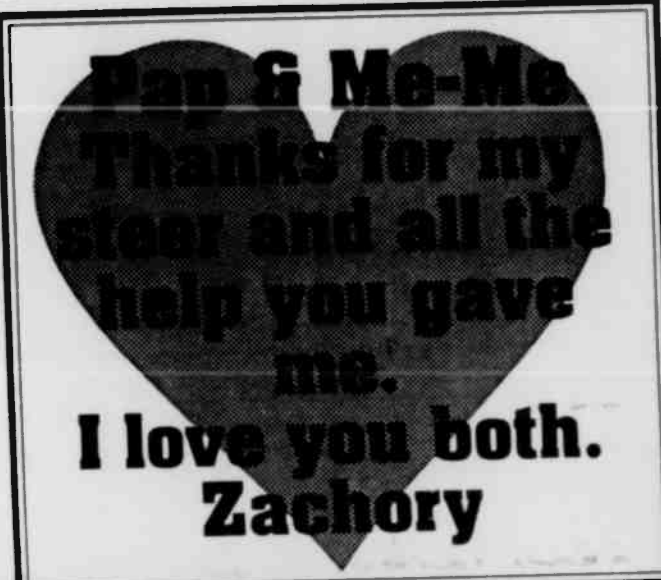

This project has been a cooperative effort including DNR, the State Highway Administration, Maryland Department of the Environment, Maryland Department of General Services, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Garrett County, Westvaco, and CSX. It is anticipated that the construction of the entrance road and boat ramp will be completed by the end of the 1995 or early in the 1996 boating season.

Mechanical Dinosaur...

According to our estimates, as many as 3,000, or over half, of the voters who cast ballots in Tuesday's primary elections missed voting for the candidates for the board of education. Thus, with a 50 percent voter turnout, approximately 20 percent of Garrett County voters have determined who the candidates will be in November's general election. The enormity of the ballot (103 names), its poor design, and antiquated technology (voting machines) are the major reasons for this unfortunate event.

Not only were the names of the board of education candidates at the extreme right of the ballot, but they were also on the Democrat candidates' lines. A-D, despite the fact that this was a non-partisan race. Most of those who missed them were undoubtedly Republicans who followed the Republican lines F-H out to the end, where there were no board of education candidates listed. While the board candidates were highlighted by bright yellow, it did not say anywhere on the ballot that this particular race was non-partisan.

The state board of election supervisors told us that because it was a non-partisan race and because of the mechanical limitations of the machines, the names had to be so placed on the ballot so that all voters, regardless of party affiliation, could vote in the board of education race. They also said, "We've always done it that way."

A far better way, in our opinion, would have been to have the four candidates listed on both the Democrat and Republican lines (as they did in the case of Judge Fred Thayer). The few independent citizens who voted could have cast a paper ballot.

To look at the situation in a broader sense, in this day of incredible technology we believe that the mechanical voting machine is a dinosaur. It falls into the same category as the slide rule for engineers and the mechanical typewriter for writers. Surely a voting machine, or voting computer terminal, could be designed that would be simple to operate, fail-safe against power failures, and give immediate results. Besides the problem this week with location of candidates on the ballot, we had to wait until 1 a.m. to get all of the results in, which was certainly not the fault of the poll workers, but of the antiquity of the technology. Computerization would provide the results with the push of a button.

Yes, such technology would be intimidating to some voters for a while; but probably no more than when we went from paper ballots to the present-day voting machines.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

To the person who stole a Super Nintendo game from the L.W.V. garage sale last weekend, you took from a kid! The games were on sale for the benefit of the son of one of the league members. He paid a premium price for The Legend of Mystical Ninja with his own money, as he did for all his Nintendo and Super Nintendo games. He was only trying to recoup some of his investment. You stole from this kid.

If you have any pangs of guilt, any conscience whatever, you will return the game or fork over the $30 to P.O. Box 115, Oakland, MD 21550. No questions asked. Then you can get a good night's sleep and look yourself in the mirror once again.

September 8, 1994 was National Literacy Day. The Literacy Council of Garrett County would like to thank the following people for their help and efforts in spreading the word about illiteracy and making our book donation project a success: WKHJ Radio, The Republican newspaper, Weekender newspaper, Cumberland Times News, The Book Market, Fred Herath, Phil and Dee Ann Fischer, Karen and Wayne Seilhamer, Garrett County Health Department's Sally Boone and the Community Outreach Team, Wayne Caple and the Department of Natural Resources, JTPA, Dept. of Social Services, The Ruth Enlow Library, all the volunteer tutors and the countless patrons that are enjoying the books.

The books were donated to Garrett County via the Literacy Council from Baltimore Read. It is through compassionate organizations and people like the ones mentioned above that illiteracy can be overcome and the joy of reading can be experienced by everyone. A warm thank you to those that assist in our mission. If an organization or individual would like a box of books for their patrons or community members, please call the Literacy Council of Garrett County at 334-8606 or just stop by and browse through our selection. We are located in the back of the Ruth Enlow Library in Oakland. Again, thank you to all of our supporters. You are appreciated.

To the Editor:

Once again school is in session and my grandchildren are still walking around that dangerous curve after you pass the Dilly Road. Except now there are four instead of three.

There has already been one death this year which made me cry and made me think a lot. Surely there is some place safer for all those children who have to walk that road. What will happen once winter comes and they can no longer walk in the ditches?

If anything happens to one of my grandchildren, I don't know what I would do, but if the parents didn't sue the school board, I sure would. There has got to be a better solution to this problem. I don't think I am the only one worried about this.

I lost it last week when yet another government employee told me what to do. Put the brown glass in the container for brown glass, the clear glass in the container marked clear glass, and the newspaper in the bin marked newspaper.

Gee, maybe soon one of them will come to my house and brush my teeth for me every morning. Gotta keep spending those tax dollars wisely.

To the Editor:

The attempted unionization at Garrett County Memorial Hospital has turned into a time consuming battleground between those who feel they should be represented by the union and those who do not. It is unfortunate that lines have been drawn and friendships ended due to this issue.

To those who think the union is only going to provide you with collective bargaining please take the time to read over the union's bylaws and constitution. I think you'll be surprised to see how little power you will have and how much power the local and international presidents will have. Specifically, read over Article 23 - Collective Bargaining Contracts. You will find that while you may submit initial proposals for a collective bargaining contract to a representative designated by the president of the local union, the president's representative will meet with our employer. The constitution simply states that the status of meetings with the employer will be reported as regular.

ly as practical" to the members. Stated nowhere in the constitution is anything about a representative from each department being able to sit down at the negotiating table with the union rep and hospital administration.

Did you know that your input is not required in order for the union to begin contract negotiations with hospital administration? What happens if the contract being negotiated offers us less pay and/or benefits than we currently have and you vote to reject the contract? What is our status? The truth is that it's too late to change your mind about union representation.

In order to get back out from under the union once voted in to represent you in collective bargaining, you must wait one year to begin costly decertification proceedings at your own expense. In the meantime, you could be ordered by the international president to strike - no pay, no benefits. Refuse, and you will be dealt with per Article 26 of the Constitution - Disciplinary Proceedings. All the angles are covered in the constitution for self preservation of the union.

The union organizing committee wants guarantees in writing from hospital administration; but what guarantees in writing do you have from the union? I haven't seen any yet and feel confident that if there were any, they would be well publicized. It's obvious that union reps are leading you down a one-way path and misleading you into thinking that the union is the way to empowerment. Working through our Employee Committee will give you more of a voice to administration than working through the maze of the union's hierarchy.

Please think carefully and factually before you vote. Just do it - vote no.

To the Editor:

A gentleman from Garrett County died last week. He was not known by a great many local people, he was not a politician, or a local celebrity. Most people won't recognize him as a business leader in the community, but he was. He was the type of man, who if you are lucky enough to know a person like this in your entire life, you are fortunate. I consider myself very fortunate indeed, because I not only had the chance to know this man, I had the honor and privilege of working for and with him.

David C. Huxford, owner and president of Financial Computer Support, Inc., was killed last week on flight 427 which crashed as it was getting ready to land in Pittsburgh. Dave was doing what he loved best, traveling on business for his company. It was a company that he started years ago with his wife Terry and one or two other employees, and which now employs over 30 people in Garrett County. Dave will be sorely missed by those employees, and though the people of Garrett County may not realize it, he will be sorely missed by the county as well.

Dave loved Garrett County. He started his business in the Washington, D.C., area, and would visit Deep Creek Lake on vacations. Dave was running his business out of his home and determined that if he was doing that, why not have his home where he wanted it to be, so he and Terry decided to move. They could have moved anywhere in the world, as he was already a highly respected member of the insurance and financial industries, but they chose to move to Garrett County. He moved here because he saw unlimited potential and resources for his company. He started hiring new employees and as the company grew, more and more of those employees were Garrett County natives. Of the 30 employees only 3 or 4 live outside of the county.

Dave was the type of man who could give an hour-long presentation to the biggest and richest money managers in America and then, as he was on his way out the door, stop and pick up some souvenirs for the people back at the office. I was told he did this on his last trip. He was the type of employer who knew that everyone in the office makes a company grow, not just the person at the top.

He was also the type of employer who knew not only how to get his people to work, but how to inspire us to work far beyond any potential that we ever thought we possessed. He had me accomplishing things I never thought I could, but he did. He always instilled in us that we were not just employees, we were his entrepreneurial partners. He didn't want people who he had to watch over, and he didn't hire any.

Dave commanded, not demanded, respect. He respected the people who worked with him as well as we respected him.

But Dave was more than just a great boss, he was the type of man who, when invited to a sledding party at one of the employee's houses a couple of years ago, not only came but brought his snowmobile along for us to ride. And while the employees were busy sledding and snowmobiling, Dave was busy building a ramp made out of snow for the sledders to jump off and then was taking great joy in helping us mark off who had jumped the farthest.

Yes, Dave will be sorely missed by those who worked with and for him, and loved him very much. But Dave is not gone, he is still very much alive in those who were touched by his life. Everyone who worked with Dave has the desire to keep his dream for the company going. And we will, because that's what he would have wanted.

School Days Return

Big, yellow schoolbuses make their way across our country roads once again. School is in, and summer is all but over. Enough days have passed that it feels like routine. For my wife, that means rising at 5:00 a.m. and leaving the house an hour and a quarter later.

Our two girls both attend middle school this year, and must be headed up the lane by quarter 'til seven. I get up before six, and try to have my chores done in time to have 15 minutes with Deborah over a cup of coffee, often the only time we have to talk about anything until we go to bed. I tell her we might as well have dairy cows. She isn't so sure.

Nicholas is the only one who keeps something like banker's hours. If he hasn't gotten up himself, I call him at quarter past seven. He and I have breakfast, get ready for the day, and then read together until he has to get on the bus at 8:15. That is usually a happy hour.

On the first day of school I was at the end of the lane waiting for the bus, camera in hand. Actually, I was a quarter-mile down the road at my brother's driveway. My niece also goes to middle school, so I took one picture of the three girls together. An hour and a half later I was back to capture on film my son and two nephews. The later shot did not go so well this year. On the first day of school I expect the busdriver to run a few minutes behind. The boys' driver was punctual, perhaps a minute or two early. We had a little trouble getting them loaded on time.

I am an emotional person, and must wipe away a tear or two each first day of school. The middle years of life seem vast to me. Of growing old I cannot speak, but the years of growing up pass swiftly, and soon are gone. Standing there waving at the diminishing sight of that children-laden, yellow box, I prayed that they might receive the best that school can offer, and, somehow, avoid the worst that wanders the hallways.

The reports were mixed from those first few days. I guess everybody-- parents, teachers and children must immediately hold their collective breath. It is as if one mixed ingredients for a cake, and then baked it for 180 days, and hoped for the best.

We have one child who needs a lot of challenge to keep from being bored. Another child was attending a new school, and riding a bus with all older kids. The third learns with his ears more than with his eyes, not an easy thing to accommodate in an institution largely oriented to the written word.

On the third day, anxieties diminished; tensions were relieved. As a family we began to feel the year would be all right. With that feeling there is a lot of commitment in our household to make things go right. Besides the book lessons there are the lessons of life. How does one deal with inappropriate remarks made on the bus? How does one manage to be polite and cooperative even when one feels miserable and, perhaps, hard done by? And as parents, how do we help our children work toward right answers instead of just delivering them as known quantities?

Last Friday night, after three days of school, we sat as a family on the back steps of the house, and watched clouds on the northern horizon. The sun had already set, but the cloud captured the rays of the sun still setting on a more distant horizon. The clouds radiated a smoky redness.

In a few minutes the clouds in the north were dark, as if someone had turned off the lights. But then other lights came into them, this time from the other side of the clouds. A thunder storm travelled down the Susquehanna River. The river's nearest point is 10 miles away from our home. We could not hear the thunder, so the storm must have been even farther away. Lightning projected onto the clouds. We watched a display as impressive as any fireworks on the Fourth of July.

Our children are a little like those northern clouds, reflecting the sunsets and the storms of their days away from home. There is beauty, trauma, and even glory to observe and to take into account. The school buses come, and the school buses go, ordinary, plain, moderately uncomfortable, carrying treasures from and to our homes. School has begun.

I have no idea if you will take the time or space to publish my letter, but even if you never print this letter, I'll know that I have written it and have paid my small tribute to a man whom I respected as much as any other man in my 40 years of life.

On the other hand, our world is full of problems; drugs, alcohol, violence, homeless people.

But I see another problem that doesn't get publicity in the news media. People don't have time for each other. Talk is cheap, some folks say. What do they mean? Life is so fast. Everyone is in a rush. No one has time to talk. So talk is not cheap because time is valuable.

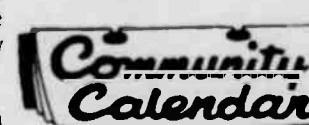

Time is a most valuable commodity. I want to thank everyone who takes time for me. Thanks, Wilma, for your help and kindness, and for handling my mail.

To the Editor:

Below you will find a list of concerned employees of Garrett County Memorial Hospital. As other employees have done we feel we must speak out. We feel our specific concerns, views, rights, and FUTURE are not being considered. We realize that troubled times have befallen GCMH; however, things were done to secure the future of Garrett County Memorial Hospital, its patients, and most of all, our continued jobs.

We, however, feel these times will pass and with dedication, continued effort, and determination to improve, we will survive. We feel the strength lies within us working TOGETHER as a whole rather than allowing a group of strangers who truly don't realize our needs and who can't possibly truly care handle our concerning issues.

Everyone is talking about the past. It was this way when that person was here and this began when that person came. Health care was different at that time. Has anyone thought to consider where these people are now and how the facilities are doing where they are? How quickly some have forgotten the improved issues that have been allowed us in the past. How many have benefited from the educational assistance program? How many have profited from the financial assistance of Wepco? How many enjoy the freedom of an open door working relationship with their department heads, supervisors, and, YES, administration?

Benefits have changed; however, question many other hospitals, as well as other businesses, to see how many have also experienced the same. Job security also worries us; however, in this age of health care and its future everyone from top physician specialists to nurses to administrators and on down the ladder, have no specific security.

One giant accomplishment through the banding of employees, without outside help, was realized in 1988. This was the year the Foundation was formed. Employees made the initial pledges of money to the Foundation. $81,348.00 was realized from this effort. Somehow the comradery of that event and more have been forgotten. We all realized then that, even though many rural hospitals at that time were closing because of financial hardships, GCMH was finding ways to remain open and to expand services and equipment. Doesn't this remind us we can make it together? We set the way for such an extended flood of pledges which have given the community, our families, and ourselves excellent medical care and have possibly attributed to the length of our current jobs. Maybe without the effort, lay-offs and extensive cutbacks would have affected us sooner.

We're sure about some, but the money we make is ours and we don't want someone to take part of it to make decisions for us. We must search and work together to find our own resources to best meet everyone's needs. Some say a YES vote on September 30, 1994 would only be for collective bargaining. Collective bargaining, what does that really mean? To make confident decisions don't we need to know the complete depthness and vastness of each aspect of running a hospital? Do any of us completely understand all the restrictions and fundamentals of the Cost Review Commission, Federal and State regulations, JCAHO, OSHA, HICFA, the list goes on and on? Are we prepared to accept the stress, the worry, the time, the work and most importantly the consequences of such decisions which are ultimately effected by these agencies? If I'm not going to be a union member at that voting time, why would these people choose to bargain on my behalf? I'm nothing to them. Something doesn't sound quite right. We must open our eyes, wipe out all the sleep, wake-up, and look at ALL the issues. Once in the union means for good. If we then discover and find, "Oh, what have we done," the decertification burden, financial, emotional, and legal will be on our shoulders and could ultimately cause our destruction. CHOICES!! We all have them. We must consider what we can do. Our future is ours and what we believe in. This list of employees have chosen to band together. To work, to survive, and to prove victorious as the darkness lifts without the help of Union Local 27. Thanks, but no thanks, for your help!

To the Editor:

Listen up, employees at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

I think you had better stand back and take a look at what we all have at this hospital. For you employees who are so unhappy, why not get a job where you can be happy? As for the rest of us, we would like to get back to the jobs we are quite content with. I would like to see some of us go out and find another job that offers what we already have here at G.C.M.H. We could not do it; you all had better stop and think about it! All of us had better look down the road a few years. I am thinking that some employees would like to see the hospital go under. (Who would have jobs then?)

For you employees who want a union, why not take the money that you are willing to pay in union dues and give it back to the hospital that gave it to you? Those who don't care if the hospital closes because it doesn't cut back are those who have other incomes. I only have myself. I have worked at this hospital for almost 20 years and in my time, I have seen a lot of changes and am prepared to see a lot more. I believe it is for the best for the hospital and us. If we don't go with change, there won't be a need for us because there won't be a hospital to come to.

Think about it employees: do we have it so bad? I think not. If you didn't have a job at G.C.M.H. could you have what you have now? If you answer yes, I can see why you want a union. You say the union can give us job security (let's get real). No one can do that; no one. Will the union give you that in writing? No, they cannot do that.

Let's look at our benefits: we have sick time, vacation, insurance. Is the union going to give us better benefits? If they are promising this, where is the money going to come from? Is the union going to pay for us to have better benefits? The only thing we are going to get from the union is dues.

Also, I would like to know why four non-employees signed the letter to the editor (get real). Now for administration: you say that no one would listen. This is not true! Mr. Rosenthal himself attended employee committee meetings and held talk-a-thons. At the talk-a-thons, did you get up and say anything? If you did, he did listen. I really don't believe that you all listened to Mr. Rosenthal. Did anyone think to mention that Mr. Rosenthal gave us an hourly wage increase of one dollar when the hospital saw fit to change insurance companies? We, the employees, choose to spend this money however we see fit. I guess you all forgot that.

As for the waiting room outside of surgery, I think it is really nice. (Keep up the good work). The pictures that are going around in the hospital are crazy and untrue. Why not ask Mr. Rosenthal for bad or good pictures? I am sure he could find you all better ones.

Sincerely,
Mary Brown,
G.C.M.H. Laundry Dept.

To the Editor:

During this highly charged political season many of us are deluged with survey requests seeking our opinions. And our money, by a wide variety of organizations actively involved in the political process. Nearly all (and at least one of the major political parties), recognize the fact that our system of governance, starting with the way we select and elect our leaders, to, and including, their usual duplicitous actions in the house and senate, is woefully in need of major, meaningful change. Nothing less than the survival of our nation as a world leader and our own individual lifestyles is at stake here. We cannot continue for long on the course our politicians (in both parties) have placed us on without reaping the whirlwind of an "economic Armageddon" in the midst of the greatest marketplace the world has ever known. This should never have been a possibility even; but that's where we're headed, make no mistake about it, thanks to the duplicity, greed and often stupid actions of our political leaders who are fundamentally career politicians but display none of the qualities that even begin to define professionalism.

What can we as concerned citizens do to induce an orderly progression of greatly needed change in those who govern and their methods of doing so? First, we must judge those whom we have placed in office. And are now asking for our votes again, by a higher standard than we have in the past. What have they done to deserve our continued support? Have they used the system to their own best advantage, and to bring home the "Pork" to their local constituents, or have they honestly tried to change an obviously flawed system in the best interests of the country and all its people? Incumbents who fail this simple test should be turned out of office regardless of party affiliation.

Second, we must all work to institute Term Limitations at all levels of government, including all elected and appointed offices. This is the only way to insure the needed systemic changes in our institutions. Career politicians have a vested interest in maintaining and perpetuating the status quo. This must change or our nations standing in the world, and our standard of living will continue to erode.

An attitude that promotes the simple fact that most incumbents are the problem, not the solution, is undoubtedly the best "rule of thumb" a voter today can take with her/him into the voter's booth in November.

Respectfully yours,
Ronald R. Rowan
To the Editor:
As an employee of Garrett County Memorial Hospital, I would like to urge all my co-workers to vote on September 30th on the matter concerning the union local 27. I will not tell you how to vote, that is your business! However, I know how I am voting. I only urge each employee to think and pray about this situation before voting. Can we afford to have any more money taken out of our pockets? This is an economic slump we are having. Other businesses are affected too, not just G.C.M.H.

Remember too, the upcoming election in November. Your vote is what will help make this country a better place to live.

Sincerely,
William H. (Bill) DeWitt

To the Editor:

My grandfather, Joe, is truly the nicest man on earth. A person that nobody in the world could actually forget. He is the kind of guy that when you talk to, or just look at, makes you laugh or smile. If you are in a bad mood about anything, he'll be the one to change that. His dark, fluffy hair and brown, twinkling eyes create the face of the Most Beautiful Person in Garrett County. My grandfather is a joyful, warm, caring man. If I had the choice of giving up my life for him, I wouldn't think twice about doing it. I know my grandfather, the man who always wears a suit, deserves anything, and everything a person could ask for.

Thank you to the people who voted for him in the contest and a special thanks to the Maryland You Are Beautiful committee.

Sincerely yours,
Nathan DiSimone,
Joe's grandson

To the Editor:

I want to see acknowledgment and to thank all the fantastic staff at Garrett County Memorial Hospital who offered me incredibly skillful attention from the moment I presented myself at the emergency room throughout the next days while I was released and transferred to Mon General in Morgantown, W. Va. Everyone who cared for me, day and night, from nursing staff to my own Dr. Jerry Adams, cared for me with great professionalism and teamwork as well as unlimited sensitivity to the needs of one suddenly stricken ill far from home. I thank them all for their science and humanity.

All participants will be given a brief safety presentation about the "rules of the road," as well as the importance of wearing a bicycle helmet. Games and refreshments will be part of the evening's activities. Volunteer service hours can be earned by local students who donate their time to help organize and set up the event. For more information about volunteer service, persons should contact Joelle Plauger at 334-8111. This rodeo is the seventh in a series of community bicycle safety events this year organized by the outreach team.

GCC Gallery To Exhibit Mayan Textiles

An exhibit of Mayan textiles from Guatemala from the collection of Marilyn M. Moors, Friendsville, will be displayed in the Bausch & Lomb Gallery of Garrett Community College during September. The colorful textiles were collected by Ms. Moors, professor emerita of anthropology, Montgomery College, during trips to Guatemala in the 1970's and 1980's.

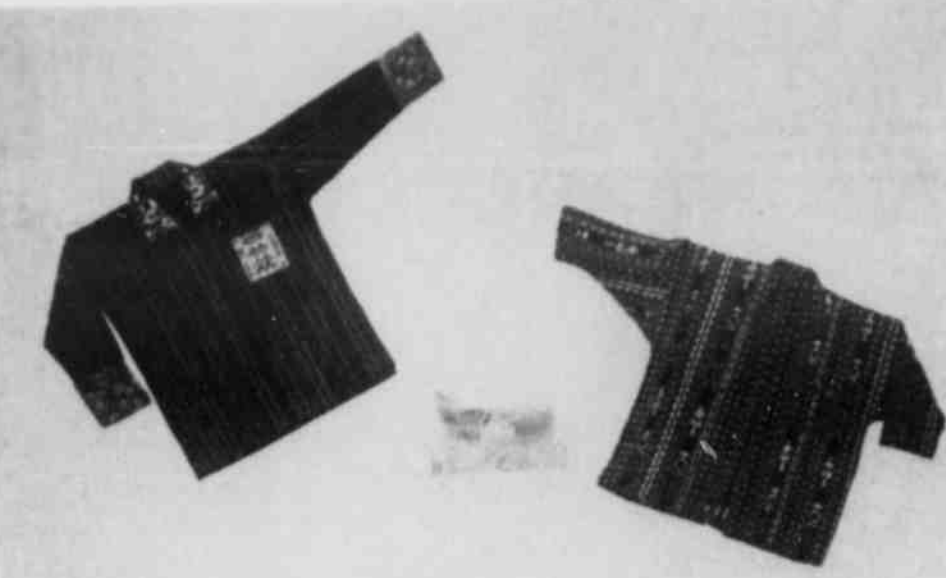

The public is invited to the opening night reception and introductory lecture by Prof. Moors on Saturday, September 17 at 7 p.m. Gallery hours are Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and weekends and evenings during special events.

The weavers of these textiles are Maya-speaking Indians from Guatemala. Maya Indians also inhabit southern Mexico, Belize, and the north coast of Honduras, comprising one of the largest groups of indigenous native people in the western hemisphere. Weaving is a skill and an art form for the Maya which predates the Spanish conquest of that area in 1524 A.D. Mayan women wove textiles for trade with the Aztecs before the arrival of the Spanish.

The pieces in this exhibit are of two basic types: blouses, belts and hairbands made by Mayan women on backstrap looms, a weaving process which predates the conquest; and skirts and other larger pieces woven by the Spanish after the conquest. The women's work features designs, figures, and motifs which are painstakingly worked into the weaving process. The men's work contains examples of jasper, where warp threads are tie-dyed before weaving is started to form intricate patterns when the weaving is done.

Moors, a graduate of Jackson College at Tufts University (B.A.) and the George Washington University (M.A.), retired from Montgomery College in

A guest presentation and reception will be held on Saturday, Sept. 17, from 7-9 p.m., to which the public is invited. CHURCH NEWS
The Mt. Zion United Methodist church held fall revival services last Sunday through Tuesday evening. The Rev. Ellis Harvey, Swanton, was the evangelist for the services. Kim Richnell, Jennifer Harvey, and Pastor Bill and Sylvia Brown provided special music.

COMMUNITY NEWS

A town meeting was held last Thursday evening at the fire hall to discuss possible solutions about the dangers of Backbone Mountain and runaway tractor trailers. K.C. Keith, a State Highway Administration official, and a representative from the Maryland State Police listened to suggestions from the residents. A video was shown about an innovative "catch" net, called the Drag-net and marketed by a New York firm. The net stopped fast-moving cars or large trucks "with a minimum of jack-knifing or load shifts." Besides the state-of-the-art construction sites, solutions such as ramps, slower speeds, and the remote three-lane highway were offered.

A committee that was formed to work with Keith to explore possible locations for safety devices and improvements met with him last Friday. The committee gave Keith several suggestions on locations which have to be studied before any other steps can be taken.

The Bloomington Awareness Group will hold a "Weekend in Bloomington" Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, Sept. 16-18.

On Friday evening, there will be a decorated bicycle contest beginning at 6 p.m. Children of the Bloomington, Backbone Mountain, and Savage River area are invited to participate.

Saturday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. there will be a craft bazaar at the Bloomington fire hall. Saturday will be Town-Wide Yard Sale Day. The Garrett County Health Department will be at the fire hall Saturday to take blood pressures and have activities for the children.

Sunday, September 18, will be the seventh annual community picnic for residents and former residents of Bloomington, Backbone Mountain, and Savage River area. The picnic will begin at 1 p.m. on the Bloomington School grounds. Meats and eating utensils will be furnished. Those attending are asked to bring a covered dish and a dessert.

Bloomington Community Health Day will be held September 21 from 7 to 9 a.m. at the fire hall. The event, which is being co-sponsored by the Wellness Together Program at Garrett County Memorial Hospital and the Garrett County Health Department, will feature various health screenings including cholesterol blood testing, a basic cholesterol level measurement or lipid profile blood testing, and a more comprehensive test that indicates good and bad cholesterol levels. Persons desiring more information about the Community Health Day may contact 334-2155, ext. 408 or 334-8111, ext. 275.

Rams Lose Defensive Struggle To Undefeated Falcons, 7-0

The season opener for the Southern High School varsity football team Friday evening at home against the Frankfort Falcons was a demonstration of two powerful defensive units clashing head to head, but unfortunately for the Rams and return coach Tom Woods, the only seven points of the contest when it was all over belonged to the undefeated Falcons. The game ended with the Rams just six yards away from paydirt.

First-game mistakes by the Rams, such as dropped punts and kickoffs, and fumbles resulted in terrible field position throughout most of the first half and led to Frankfort's only touchdown. A Ram fumble in the second quarter gave the Falcons the ball on

On Frankfort's scoring play with about nine minutes left in the first half, Corwell's pass was tipped at the line of scrimmage, but Lucas was able to haul it in for the touchdown. Jared Grady set up the 13-yard drive by recovering a Ram fumble.

The Falcon defense was equally impressive, as Southern started their first-half drives on their own 25, 17, 16, 32, and 20, and did not record a first down until the eight minute mark of the second quarter. The Rams recorded only 22 yards of offense in the entire first half. "We were so deep in our own territory, we were afraid to throw the ball or attempt the option," stated Coach Woods. "Unfortunately, we turned it over several times anyway."

However, Woods and his staff were encouraged when, after all of the mistakes and lack of offensive production in the first half, the Rams were down only 7-0 and Harden, who came into the contest with an incredible 221-yard per game average from the previous two weeks, had been held to just 16 yards on 11 carries.

Corwell, Frankfort's starting quarterback, had also left the game in the first half because of a shoulder injury and did not return after intermission.

The Southern defensive unit got a deserved rest in the third period, as the Ram offense maintained possession of the ball for almost the entire quarter, but could not score. One drive from their own 20 to the Falcon 34 was stopped because of a holding call.

While the Falcons did not score again, they put together a key drive in the Cow Patty Bingo Set At Southern

The Southern Garrett Athletic Association is sponsoring a Cow Patty Bingo game, to be held Saturday, Sept. 24, at 7 p.m. on the Southern High School athletic field.

The owner of the Bingo square upon which the "patty" falls will win a cash prize of $1,000. Tickets may be purchased from SGAA members or at Southern football and soccer games for $2 each or three for $5.

Persons need not be present to win the grand prize, but those in attendance will be eligible to win several other prizes that will be awarded throughout the evening.

All proceeds from the event will benefit the many and various athletic programs at Southern High School.

GAINING GROUND was tough for both teams Friday night on the Southern High School gridiron, as the Rams and the Frankfort Falcons went head to head defensively and produced less than 300 yards of combined offensive yardage between them. Above, Southern quarterback Jeremy Fitzwater, who had had his front teeth knocked out earlier in the day in an accident at school and had them quickly repaired in Morgantown, finds some running room between a pair of Falcon defenders. Other Rams identifiable in the photo are Adam Moomau, #23, and Scott Dawson, #41. It was the opener for the Rams, who were edged 7-0, while it was the third win in as many starts this year for Frankfort.

FIRST SHS HALL OF FAMERS INDUCTED - The Southern Garrett Ram Football Hall of Fame was initiated this year by the SHS Athletic Department and the first six inductees were named during special pre-game ceremonies Friday night on the Southern athletic field. Pictured left to right are honorees Alfred "Blue" Marucci, Ron Cornish, George Corliss, Paul Cornish, Brent Sanders, and Zack Gibson. Marucci was named as the contributor honoree, while the others, along with Scott Colaw who could not be present, were named for their superior performances on the Southern gridiron during their high school years. Ron Colaw, who went on to play for the West Virginia University Mountaineers on scholarship, was honored as one of the most outstanding running backs at Southern, as were Cornish and Sanders, who set numerous school records. Scott Colaw, who was awarded a full scholarship to the University of Pennsylvania, and Corliss were honored for their outstanding defensive play, while Gibson, who played collegiate scholarship ball for national champion Indiana University of Pennsylvania, was honored as a safety. The honorees were selected by a special committee, which will meet on an annual basis and add players to the Hall of Fame each season.

fourth period that consumed nearly seven minutes of the period, leaving little time for the Ram offense. Southern did get the ball back on its own 20 with 5:15 remaining, and senior quarterback Jeremy Fitzwater, who had had some of his teeth knocked out just hours before the game in an accident during school, engineered a drive that included some of his own power running on the option. Scott Dawson, who led the Rams' rushing effort with 59 yards on 21 carries, had a 14-yard run on a fourth down and one situation that moved the ball to the Falcon 29.

Fitzwater then made a diving catch of a Fitzwater aerial at the 13-yard line, and Fitzwater followed with a five-yard run with about 40 seconds remaining. A third down pass was incomplete and a scrambling Fitzwater was dropped on the final play of the game.

Dawson, John Hinebaugh, and Seth Fressler were defensive standout for the Rams, while J.P. McCullough and Steve Morgret recorded 11 and 10 tackles, respectively, for the Falcons (3-0).

Leading Frankfort's rushing was fullback Brandon

Grady with 57 yards on nine attempts.

Frankfort finished with only 147 yards of total offense, while the Rams managed just 139.

"Unfortunately for us, this was a typical opening game, with mistakes and fumbles," Woods said, "and it was their third game. We knew that their experience was the most dangerous situation for us."

"But we were pleased that our team maintained its composure throughout the entire game," he said. "We were patient and waited for our opportunities. Unfortunately, we needed another 30 seconds or so on the clock." A major loss for the Rams is that of senior tailback David Croso, who learned this week that he has a bone chip against his spinal chord and cannot take the risk of playing for the rest of the season.

"The loss of Dave takes away one of our major offensive weapons," Woods said, "but more importantly, I really hate it for David. He's a strong, tough player who really loves the game."

The Rams will have to re-group and plan for another tough contest, this week when they host an all-

Huskies Defeated In Opener By Golden Tornado, 41-22

An excited Northern High School football crowd, anxious for the Huskies' season opener to get underway, was silenced quickly Friday evening at the Cove when Keyser's Corey Shoemaker was handed the ball on the Golden Tornado's first play from scrimmage, broke through the center of the Northern defense, and raced 76 yards for a touchdown.

Things would get worse for the Huskies, as they found themselves down 21-0 in the second quarter and would give up the ball five times on five fumbles to the Keyser team, which had come into the contest having already played two games.

However, Coach Tom Vent and the young Husky team did not quit, and came back to put three touchdowns of their own on the board before dropping the contest, 41-22.

Shoemaker's touchdown was no good, but Keyser took advantage of one of Northern's fumbles to set up another six-pointer, which Aaron Sanders recorded on a three-yard run. Shoemaker, who recorded 142 yards on a dozen carries for the evening, ran for the two-point conversion to give the visitors a 14-0 lead.

Chance Twyman, who finished the game with 89 yards on 10 carries, scored next for Keyser, this time on a 19-yard gallop, and Robert Redman successfully booted the extra point.

The Huskies responded with a 64-yard touchdown

FINDING PLENTY OF ROOM TO RUN on this play was Northern Husky Brian Heslop, whose efforts last Friday evening against visiting Keyser included a 64-yard touchdown run. It was not enough for the Huskies, though, as they turned the ball over five times on fumbles and lost the

Ram Booters Fall To Campers, Then Roll Over Huskies, 8-0

The Southern High varsity soccer team dropped a 7-2 decision to visiting Allegany last Thursday evening, but then recorded its first win of the season by blanking host Northern Tuesday night, 8-0. The split left the Rams with a 1-2 record.

The outcome of Thursday's game against Allegany was not indicative of the caliber of play, as the Rams out-shot the Campers by a margin of almost two-to-one and had three times as many corner kicks.

Darrin Isom led the offensive effort of the Campers of Allegany Thursday night, as he recorded a hat trick and also had two assists. His three goals and one of those assists all came in the first half.

Southern scored first following a throw in by Steve Goralski about five minutes into the game. The ball went through the hands of the Allegany goalkeeper Josh Jordan and onto the foot of Kevin Andrews, who re-directed it into the net.

Isom responded with a goal at the 22:48 mark to tie the score, scored his second on with 16:49 left in the half, and then recorded his third on an assist from Sean Lutmer with just over 10 minutes remaining.

Isom then fed Lutmer who scored Allegany's fourth goal to make it a 4-1 lead at halftime.

Andrews cut the Campers' lead to 4-2 a few minutes into the second half when he took a crossing pass from Derek Spirk and fired the ball into the far left side of the net.

Lutmer, Mark Harbaugh, and Chris Kellermeyer each scored a goal for Allegany in the second half, with Harbaugh's being recorded on a direct kick after a pushing foul.

"We're making mistakes that are clear indicators of our relative youth and inexperience," stated Coach Tom Powers. "This is only our second year at the varsity level, while most of our opponents have been playing for many years. But our goal is to improve with each game so we will be peaking for the playoffs at the end of the season."

Jordan was credited with 14 saves for Allegany, while Andrew Granke had 13 for the Rams.

The Southern junior varsity team was defeated in the preliminary game, 6-0.

In Tuesday night's win over host Northern, Goralski opened the scoring for the Rams with a diving header following up on a corner kick from Andrews just over seven minutes into the game.

Matt Sincell netted the second goal after picking off a loose ball to the right of the Huskies' goal.

Sincell nailed goal number three after a smash shot by Spirk bounced off the hands of Northern keeper Chris Elliott.

The Rams made it 4-0 just before halftime when Goralski picked up a loose ball inside the penalty area and jammed it through the pack in front of the net.

A 40-yard direct kick over a wall of defenders by Spirk opened the second half, giving the Rams a 5-0 lead. Two minutes later Spirk fed Meghan Dabney, who was open at the back post. Dabney made history by sending the ball into the net and then scoring the first goal ever by a female player in Garrett County high school soccer.

With about eight minutes remaining, Andrews crossed a ball in front of the net once again to Dabney, who scored her second goal of the evening.

The eighth and final goal was recorded with about a minute remaining in the game when Spirk crossed the ball, which glanced off the post to Dan Nelson, who then re-directed and scored.

"We didn't make nearly as many mistakes on defense," Powers said. "Joey DiSimone is really beginning to understand the sweeper position, Jay Ferguson is just plain tough. Josh Pressley gave us some good long-ball transitions, and C.T. Granke's speed against their attack all added up to give us our first shutout.

Southern keeper Justin Helbig recorded 13 saves, while Elliott was credited with 21.

"Justin Helbig, who started at keeper for only the second time in his soccer career, did a fine job," Powers said. "We held well at the midfield where Adam Chorpenning's and Jeff Myers' speed had them constantly reacting to us, which helped create chances for other players to put the ball into the net."

Northern Coach Tom Ables could not be reached this morning for comment on the game.

The Northern junior varsity team won the preliminary contest, 2-1. Derek Berger and Matt Fletcher scored one goal each for the Huskies, while Jesse Ashby recorded the Rams' goal.

The Rams will play again this evening at home against perineal power Fort Hill, with kickoff set for 7:30 p.m. They will play at Beall next Thursday.

Coach Tom Ables' Huskies, 0-3, will go after their first win next Tuesday against visiting Salisbury and then host Westmar next Thursday.

Three Aces In One Day Recorded At Oakland Course

Not one, not two, but three holes-in-one were recorded at the Oakland Golf Course on Friday, Aug. 26, according to Wheeler Stewart, Oakland Golf Club professional.

Col. Richard Browning, Sang Run, carded an ace on the par-three, #3 hole with a seven-wood club. The shot was about 180 yards, Stewart said.

Frank Lancelotta, Deep Creek Lake, scored his hole-in-one on hole #10, also a par-three hole. He used a three-iron for the 200-yard shot.

The third ace was recorded by Ben Stork, Belle Vernon, Pa., who used a five-wood on the 165-yard hole #9.

Husky Booters Whipped By Beall

The Northern High School varsity soccer team is still looking for its first win, after being pounded by host Beall last Thursday night, 11-1, and then losing to county rival Southern Tuesday evening, 8-0, on the Huskies' field (see separate story).

Brad Thomas scored four goals and had an assist for Beall, Chris Young finished with three goals, and Chris Peterson, Tom Vogtman, Ron Bittering, Tim Neumark, and Mike Pressman each scored one, while Frederick Oberg scored the only goal for the Huskies.

The Huskies were out-shot by a nearly 4-1 margin (39-10), with goal keeper Chris Elliott making 26 saves. Neumark, who scored his goal on a penalty kick, had eight stops in the net for Beall.

Oberg's goal was recorded unassisted at the 13:32 mark of the first half.

The Mountaineers also led in corner kicks, 6-2. The win improved Beall's record to 1-0-1, while the Huskies fell to 0-2.

Jets Rally To Defeat Steelers In Youth League

The Oakland Jets of the Mountain Top Youth Football League kept their record perfect on Saturday with a 21-6 come-from-behind victory over the Northern Steelers.

The teams exchanged possessions to start the game before the Steelers' J. Snelling scampered 63 yards after breaking several tackles for the first score of the game. The PAT attempt failed.

The two teams again exchanged possessions in the second quarter before Lenny Ford blocked a Steelers punt which was recovered by Josh Bosley. On the next play, Cory Siler of the Steelers intercepted a Justin Liller pass and the Steelers had possession of the ball again. The half ended with the score 6-0 in favor of the Steelers.

The Jets took possession of the ball to start the second half and Bosley rammed 65 yards on the first play for an apparent TD. The play was called back on a penalty and the Jets were backed up five yards. Three plays later the Jets were forced to punt. The Jet defense stiffened and forced the Steelers to punt, but a muffed exchange gave the ball to the Jets on the Steeler 30-yard line. The Jets put together a nine-play drive that took the ball to the one foot line on runs by Jason Bowers, Bosley, and Keith Parks. On the first play of the third quarter the Jets scored on a one yard plunge by Bosley. A Liller to Parks pass was good for the PAT and the Jets led, 7-6.

The teams exchanged possessions and the tide of the game turned when a 40 yard Jordan Uphold punt pinned the Steelers at their own one-yard line. Two plays later Ford recovered a Steeler fumble in the end zone for the second Jet TD. The PAT attempt failed.

The final score of the game after a Bowers interception gave the Jets the ball on their own 37-yard line. One the next play, Bowers broke loose for a 63-yard jaunt to the final TD. The conversion kick by Bosley was good for two points, which concluded the scoring.

Bowers led the Jets in offense with 111 yards on 14 carries. Snelling led the Steeler offense with over 150 yards rushing. Defensive standouts for the Jets were Ford, Bosley, Bowers, and Eric Rexrode.

Ryan Savage, Chris Kohler, Matt Settle, and P.J. Workman were defensive standouts for the Steelers.

Both teams are back in action this weekend, as the Steelers host the Terra Alta Dolphins at the Northern football field Saturday at 7 p.m., while the Jets will play the Parsons Vikings this Sunday, September 18, at 1:30 p.m. at the Southern stadium.

The Jets and Vikings are both undefeated.

Championship Race Held At Meyersdale, Pa.

The 1994 Championship Races were held last Sunday night at the Somerset County Speedway in Meyersdale, Pa.

Seventy cars vied for trophies and cash awards in four championship events while 72 drivers tried their skill in the Mechanic and Powder-Puff Races.

The Pro Stock event started with J.R. Isner from Cumberland in pole position. Isner held that spot for 28 laps before Eric Corella from Hallsopple, Pa., pulled ahead and went on to take the checkered flag. He was followed by Isner, Alvin Hosselrode, Robert Porter, Doug Shaffer, John Saylor, and Gene Moats. Isner is the Pro Stock track champion for this year with 715 points.

The "A" Main began with 1994 stock champion Tom Humberson of Grantsville in the first spot. Humberson ended the season with 974 points. After 15 miles of racing Humberson was able to hold out for the win. Humberson did loose the lead for two laps late in the race to Bobby Smith from Meyersdale. Transmission problems sent Smith to the pits with two laps to go and Humberson regained the lead. He was followed by Jim Saylor, Bob Davis, Roger Shaulis, Brian Taylor, Greg Cornell, Jon Deal, Doug Barclay, and Clair Duppstadt.

Two Confluence, Pa., drivers took turns out front in the "B" Main. Vince Smith was able to lead the race for 15 laps but the most important 15 went to Dan Stockwell. Stockwell made an impressive late season attack as he drove into the winners circle several times. This may be the man to watch in '95. Stockwell was followed by Dwane Shultz, Don Shaffer, Duane Horning, Jack Dively, Kevin Sanner, Dale Wilt, Charlie Phillippi, Vince Smith, Dave Geyer, and Kirk Smith.

Ed Kemp from Confluence never looked back as he led all the way in the 20-lap "C" Main. He showed the way for John Tressler, Roger McKenzie, Jeff Barclay, Ray Wilhelm Jr., Tim Rounds, Brad Reckner, Clyde Prince, Henry Boekes, and Roger Baughman.

The "D" Main went to Eric Hay of Meyersdale. Hay was a top 10 driver last year but only made a few races this year. When he was at the speedway, he could be found at the front of the pack. He was followed by Bob Singo, Roman Yoder, Greg Cornell Sr., Greg Herring, Ernie Livengood, Mike Jones, Scott Whipkey, Scott Hileman, Keith Barron, and Carl Arnold.

Powder Puff winners in the Pro Stock division were Tammy Foor, Wendy Miller, and Tammy Lowery. The Stock Powder Puff was won by Pam Shultz. She was followed by Terrie Reckner and a very surprised Brenda Krause.

Pro Stock Mechanic Race wins went to Herb Rosey, Marion Isner Sr., and Dwayne Wiedner. The first Stock Mechanic Race started with 25 drivers. Before one lap was down, the red flag came out when five cars piled up on the back stretch. Racing was able to continue and Todd Detrick went on to win. He was followed by Doug Thomas, and Chuck Bailey.

The second Stock Mechanic Race went to Alf Caton, Joe Edgar, and Bill Nolf. Door prizes for the last night of racing were sponsored by Maple City Tire of Meyersdale and Tressler's Ashland of Confluence. The Fifth Annual Driver's Banquet will be held at the Meyersdale Fire Hall on Saturday, October 29. Reservations are required.

Racing Continues Saturday Night At Cumberland

The Cumberland Raceway had Roy Rogers Night at the Races last Saturday night. There were two new faces in Victory Lane. Kevin Smith of Roaring Springs, Pa., won the Ponderosa Steak House Late Model Feature, his first win ever at Cumberland. Eric Zembower of Bedford, Pa., got his first win ever at Cumberland in the Hamilton Dodge Semi-late Feature, and Bill Buchanan of Cumberland put his 1B in Victory Lane for the fourth time in the Roy Rogers Pure Stock Feature. Buchanan is guaranteed a starting spot in the 2nd Annual Turbo Blue Pure Stock Championship to be held October 8 and 9 at the Potomac Speedway in Budds Creek.

Roy Rogers gave a $100 bonus to Smith and Zembower, and $150 to Buchanan. They added money all the way back the line in the Pure Stock Feature and paid the entry fee for all 36 Pure Stocks.

There were 25 Late Models, 22 Semi-lates and 36 Pure Stocks in the pits. All features had inverted starts.

In the 20-lap Late Model Feature, Kevin Smith, from the outside pole position, took the lead and held on through five cautions for his flag to flag win. Point leader Bob Salathe came from 11th to finish second, followed by Scott Brode, Tom Clise, J.R. Keifer, Wayne Johnson, Randy Kimmel, Scott Rodes, Tony Flanagan, and John Tall-

DeWitt To Play Volleyball For Garrett Lakers

Diane DeWitt, a 1981 graduate of Turkeyfoot High School, has decided to continue her academic and athletic career at Garrett Community College.

DeWitt has been actively involved in various area volleyball leagues for many years. She has been a member of the Mt. Top Volleyball League for 10 years and a member of the Northern Co-ed League for 11 years. She was a member of the co-ed team that captured the title in 1992 and 1993 at Alderson-Broadus College.

"Dianne's vast diversity of play, in both women and co-ed leagues, has developed her court sense and matured her as a player," remarked GGC Coach Margaret Quinn. "She is a very aggressive offensive and defensive player, and I look for her maturity to play a key role in team cohesiveness."

DeWitt resides in Friendsville with her husband, Brad, and their two children, Jessica and Adam.

Swanton Story Teller Performs In New York State

Swanton storyteller Gail Neary Herman recently performed an evening of family storytelling in the Smith-Wilkes Hall amphitheatre at Chautauqua Institution in the North-western corner of New York State.

Herman told "The Four Wise People," a story she published in Spinning Tales, Weaving Hope: Stories for Peace, Justice, and the Environment edited by Ed Brody. About the reconstruction of a tiger, the story champions the value of common sense over technological rashness. In "The Freedom Bird," a story from Thailand printed in Joining In: an Anthology of Audience Participation Storytelling, Herman used mime and involved the audience in the free speech of the "bird," which serves as a metaphor for every citizen's desire for free speech.

Herman also told "How the Turtle Got Its Shell," a puppet adaptation from Aesop recorded on her tape "Creatures of the Mind's Eye" and "How Jazz Came To Be" which involved the total amphitheatre in musical and dramatic interludes. According to Herman, one parent remarked, "It's so much fun. I don't know who liked it more, my child or me. Yet we learned so much about different cultures."

Listed on the National Registry of Historic Places and designated a National Historic Landmark, the Chautauqua Institution offers a nine-week season of cultural and popular performances, including symphony, opera, theater and dance, as well as lectures and worship services presented by many of today's well-known thinkers.

Herman also taught at two universities this summer - the University of Tulsa during June and the University of Connecticut's CONFRATUTTI during July. At Tulsa, Herman taught thirty teachers how to create integrated, active curriculum. She employed the "kinesthetic sense," movement arts, and storytelling around the theme of "Mother Nature: Animals Through the Eyes of Artists and Scientists." The course was funded by a Jacob Javitz Grant to encourage new techniques for servicing rural, at risk, and diverse populations "at promise" who need extra challenges and encouragement in their school settings.

Early in July, Herman presented programs for integrating arts in the curriculum for the Maryland State Arts Council's Summer Teacher Institutes in Baltimore and at Salisbury State. Three institutes were scheduled across the state but only two were filled as the one at Frostburg State did not have enough enrollment.

Herman will leave Swanton again in November and December to travel to Seattle to teach storytelling to 30 teachers for the Massachusetts-based Lesley College program called Creative Arts in Learning Master of Arts Outreach Program. Herman also teaches Early Childhood Education here at Garrett Community College.

Carmel Cove Inn

Carmel Cove Inn, a new bed and breakfast on Glendale Road, has opened for its first season providing accommodations to visitors in Garrett County. The inn is part of the 53-acre Carmel Cove development along the shores of Deep Creek Lake. The building is the former monastery of the Discaled (barefoot) Carmelite Fathers who chose the site for its natural beauty and tranquility. In fact, many of the idiosyncracies of monastic life were uncovered by the renovation.

A tiny prayer shack existed on the property where the Fathers would spend days in solitary meditation. Workers discovered what is termed a "penny offering" - a shrine of sorts, fashioned out of tin, attached to a tree in the midst of the woods. The symbolic offering of pennies was still attached.

Tales abound of the priests' love of the water. They are said to have often swum as a group from the monastery's shore the half mile or so to the state park bridge, and legend has it, an old lady who lived thereabouts would fill their stomachs with pie, making for a wide margin. In the county, Sarbanes received 1,127 votes to defeat John Liston, with 165, Dennard Gayle Sr., with 146, and Leonard Trout Jr., with 72.

Nutrition, Tobacco Info Offered At Outreach Fairbooth

Nutrition and tobacco were the focus of the Garrett County Health Department's Community Outreach Team's work during the 38th annual Garrett County Agricultural Fair. The eight-member team educated fairgoers at both the Wellness Together's booth on nutrition and the Tobacco-Free Coalition's booth on tobacco use prevention.

Wellness Together's booth, staffed by employees of the hospital and health department, encouraged the participation of young people by asking for drawings of "good health" for use in the annual Wellness calendar. Participants were offered their choice of healthy snacks, including apples, bananas, and carrots. Free face-painting was also offered to youngsters.

The Tobacco-Free Coalition sponsored an outdoor fair booth, staffed by coalition and outreach team members, on the issues related to tobacco use. Fairground visitors pledged to work for a tobacco-free environment, while receiving demonstrations on the oral effects of smokeless tobacco and secondhand smoke on the non-smoker.

Staff members analyzed the carbon monoxide levels of participants, using a new piece of equipment purchased by the health department's tobacco use prevention program.

NUTRITION AND TOBACCO USE CESSATION were the topics of the week at the recent fair booths of the Garrett County Health Department and Memorial Hospital's Wellness Together. Children provided drawings of "good health" to be used in the annual Wellness Together calendar, and in return were treated to nutritious snacks and free face painting. Abby Sherrard is pictured above as she rather timidly receives her face decoration by outreach team member Linda Bolding-Colaw. Shown below left is Nancy Rhine, team member, as she has her carbon monoxide level tested by Mary Ann Fink, member of the Tobacco-Free Coalition. See story.

The pharmacist apparently examined the prescription more closely and discovered the dates had been altered. She reportedly told the defendant she was out of Methadone, and in the meantime contacted the state police.

Methadone, according to the court documents, is a Schedule II narcotic, and a prescription must be filled within 10 days from the date written. MSP reportedly checked with the doctor who had written the original prescription, and he had not prescribed the drug in more than a year.

On Jan. 31, when Kellman entered the Rite-Aid again to have his prescription filled and, following a struggle with the police officer, he was arrested for the above charges.

In other district court news, Connie J. Enlow, 27, Friendsville, was not prosecuted on one count of breaking and entering, at the request of the complainant, and one count of malicious destruction of property because restitution had been made. The charges had been filed on June 20 by Robin L. Frazee, who stated Enlow had destroyed a window screen at her residence, and entered her home.

Charges of battery, assault and child abuse against Patricia A. Collins, 23, Accident, were dismissed by Judge Burnett because of a lack of probable cause. She had been arrested on May 8 after sheriff's deputies investigated a complaint by a witness and the victim that the defendant had struck the juvenile twice in the face with an open hand.

One count of battery and two counts of malicious destruction of property against Jeffery A. Auvil, 23, Oakland, were placed on the set docket, at the request of the complainant. The charges stemmed from a June 17 altercation with Deborah A. Ratliffe in the American Legion parking lot, Oakland, after he destroyed a necklace and a rear view mirror belonging to her.

DWI CASES

Three DWI (driving while intoxicated) cases were heard by Judge Burnett in last week's district court proceedings.

Kerrie Jaunita Kinnard, 24, Md., was granted probation before judgment on her DWI conviction. The judge stated that all conditions of her probation will continue as originally imposed. Maryland State Police had arrested her for the offense on Feb. 20.

James Harold Weeks, 33, Md., was found guilty of violation of probation on an earlier DWI charge. His arrest by sheriff's deputies was in October 1990.

Stephen Eric Tasker, 21, Md., was handed a 30-day suspended sentence, fined $350, and placed on one year of supervised probation for his DWI conviction. An alcohol restriction was also added to his driver's license. He had been arrested for DWI by Maryland State Police on May 13.

For hundreds of years, fortune tellers have tried to tell the future by reading the leaves in the bottom of a cup of tea. It has always been considered good fortune to find a whole leaf unfolded in the cup.

In mid-19th-century America, white ironstone china was popular for everyday use. It was made in England after 1813 and decorated in many ways, including a tea leaf design that became popular by the 1850s. The original pattern, depicting a sprig with three leaves and a bud, was painted on the dishes in copper luster and later in brown glaze. The shape of the dishes varied, as did the drawing of the leaves.

At least 50 companies in England and the United States made the pattern. Look for the variations, some may have up to five leaves, which vary in shape from saw-toothed to smooth. There are also ironstone patterns that use the silhouette of a leaf or flower.

Collectors try to assemble sets of matching and near-matching ironstone dishes with the tea leaf pattern. Perhaps a full unfolded leaf on the china is as lucky as a real leaf in the cup.

Q. What is Chinese Export silver? I saw a tea set in a shop that had huge American eagles as part of the design. The dealer told me it had been made in China and was very old.

A Silver has been made in the Orient for customers in the United States and Europe for more than 300 years. During the initial period of trading (1680-1842), sailing ships from Europe carried back ceramics, furniture, textiles, silver, paintings and prints, and other items made specifically for the European market. The designs were often a blend of the Oriental and Western — for example, a chair in a Queen Anne shape with carved Oriental trim.

From 1842 to 1900, many more pieces were made. Your silver probably dates from that period. Eagles and flags were popular designs on the pieces that were made for the American market.

Chinese Export ware continues to be manufactured today. The term "Export ware" signifies that it was made in Hong Kong or China, most likely in Guangzhou (Canton) or Shanghai. It does not indicate a date, however.

TIP: If you receive a package of glass antiques during cold weather, let it sit inside for a few hours before you unpack it. The glass must return to room temperature slowly or it may crack.

Pet Care

by Cleo & Brad Conrad

Last year's flooding in the Midwest, plus floods this year, fires in the West, earthquakes, etc., all remind us that not only must we be prepared to deal with emergencies, we must also protect our beloved pets.

Would you know what to do in such an emergency? Here are a few tips:

In case of fire, designate an adult to assist your pet to safety. If you can't immediately locate the pet, leave a window or door open so it can escape.

In case of flood, keep your pet in its carrier so you can evacuate your home quickly. DO NOT LEAVE THE PET IN THE BASEMENT!

In case of violent storms, keep pets away from windows. In tornadoes, take the pet with you to lower ground (preferably a below-grade basement).

In case of earthquake, keep the pet with you in a familiar, safe room, dim all lights and leave it alone.

Household Help

Q. I own a modest single-family home and am in the process of finishing the entire basement. The square footage of the basement is quite small (about 600 square feet) and nicely tailored. I am now planning to install carpet in the family room where family and friends can entertain. The basement is below grade level, which raises my question of a rug installation. What are the necessary steps I must follow to successfully install my carpet?

A. A finished basement can turn a gray walled and cement floor dwelling into a secondary living and party area. Installing a carpet will only enhance that and make the room very cozy.

Before you lay the rug on that cold concrete, you must follow several important steps. Make sure the foundation does not leak water or create condensation. Although you didn't mention any water problems, there is always that potential for trouble. One method of damp proofing and waterproofing is to install polyethylene sheeting on the floor. Generally, a 3mm thickness is adequate to lay on the concrete slab. If you buy this product in a roll, just spread it out and either measure or just cut it from wall to wall. Applying small tabs of two-sided sticky tape will keep the corners from flipping up. If any moisture problems do arise, this will prevent dampness rising to the surface.

Presuming your family room is basically square and free of such obstacles as a furnace and/or hot water heater, you are ready to begin the actual carpet installation. The next step is to prepare the installation of exterior plywood panels or flooring. This may seem expensive but you'll be mistaken. If you don't take this step, you'll have a cold floor and may possibly damage the carpet. It's also imperative to surface the masonry walls you use to secure the plywood.

The final step is to install tackless strips along the entire perimeter of the room. These strips are so named because they replace the old method of nailing through the carpeting. Padding is installed beneath all types of carpeting, except those with a cushion back. The rest of the job is the actual laying down of the carpet over the padding.

farm family health and safety issues.

This funding will address the health care needs of the community through a community-based program.

said Ben Rosenthal, president of GCMH. "This project will help us identify the major health risks in these areas and seek less expensive alternatives to treating them."

He explained that the program is designed for a three-year period and the recommended funding for the second and third years is $124,068 each year, pending Congressional approval.

According to Senator John Hater, "Agriculture is a very dangerous occupation, the Rural Health Outreach program is essential for Garrett County. Rural America has special health care needs and this proposal will help address those needs."

It's great," said Delegate George Edwards. "We are receiving our share of appropriate funds. Rural areas are sometimes short-changed. This helps to bridge this gap somewhat."

Governing the consortium will be a five-member committee made up of two members of the farm community, two health care professionals, and one person involved in agribusiness. An advisory team of leaders from the farm and agribusiness communities will also participate.

Before the grant was awarded, Senator Paul Sarbanes sent a letter to the Department of Health and Human Services in support of Garrett County's application. In the letter, Sarbanes stated, "For years, farm families in Garrett County have not received adequate medical attention. This grant will help to fill in this gap by funding a wide range of programs, from injury prevention to health and safety awareness."

the other involving theft. Dalie G. Guthrie, 59, Swanton, pleaded guilty to two counts of fourth degree sexual offense. The plea was accepted by Thayer and the pre-sentence investigation was ordered. Bail was continued for the defendant.

Guthrie is accused of accosting a 14-year-old girl on two occasions. According to the victim's statement, he took her to a remote area on July 16, 1993, and November 28, 1993. She stated that he raped her on both occasions. The original charges included two counts each of second degree rape, third degree sexual offense, and assault and battery. These were not prosecuted.

A McHenry man accused of 15 theft charges pleaded guilty to one count of misdemeanor theft. Everett L. Carr Jr., 46, has been accused of pilfering over $13,000 from the Lakeview Resorts Council of Owners. The state's attorney amended the charge to theft by scheme of more than $300, and Thayer accepted the guilty plea. A pre-sentence investigation was ordered and bail was continued for the defendant.

According to the court record, Carr attended a board of directors meeting of the council in August 1993 and at that time admitted to writing himself four checks from the council's account totalling $13,000. He is also accused of purchasing a "big screen" television with money from the council and having it installed in his own place of business at Deep Creek Lake. The television was taken from the establishment by detectives with the Garrett County Sheriff's Office last summer.

A sentencing date was not indicated on the court document.

Maryland's Fall Foliage Hotline Activated Today

As autumn leaves begin to change color and travelers make plans to tour the scenic Maryland countryside, they may want to call the toll-free Maryland Fall Foliage Hotline to discover when and where the leaves in Maryland will be at their peak.

"Autumn in Maryland is truly spectacular, with nature providing a colorful backdrop for every kind of activity -- hay rides, county fairs, arts and crafts festivals, equestrian events, bike tours, and music festivals all over the state," said Governor William Donald Schaefer.

Beginning September 15, callers may dial 1-800-LEAVES-1 (1-800-532-8371) and listen to a five-minute recorded summary of where the Maryland foliage will be alive with red, orange, gold, and scarlet leaves. Last year, the Fall Foliage Hotline brought in more than 2,000 inquiries from travelers planning trips to Maryland.

A joint project of the Maryland Office of Tourism Development (OTD), part of the Department of Economic and Employment Development (DEED), and the Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR), the Fall Foliage Hotline will be updated weekly and also will feature information on the state's top fall festivals and celebrations from Western Maryland to the Eastern Shore.

These include Maryland Railfest '94, a nine-day celebration in Allegany County hosted by the Western Maryland Scenic Railroad, and the Autumn Glory Festival in Garrett County set for Oct. 13-16.

According to the Maryland Office of Tourism Development, more than 40 percent of travelers to Maryland visit the state during the fall months.

STOP and LOOK...

A child is born with imagination, with the ability to see the magic of the world around him. Yet, so much creativity — so much "seeing" — is often lost as we grow older and the complexities of life sweep over us.

When a child confronts nature, he isn't in a hurry. He takes time to study each blade of grass, to appreciate the colors of a butterfly, to marvel at a flower or the soft fur of a kitten.

We shouldn't lose this sensibility as we grow up. God created the world, but man has often abused it. So stop — once in a while — and look, feel and listen. This is communion, restoration...like the spirit you find in your church or synagogue. Have you been there lately?

COVER STORY

Friends looks like an (almost) sure thing

BY JOHN CROOK

In Hollywood, the only sure thing is that there are no sure things.

If pedigree and scheduling mean anything, however — and they usually do — Friends looks almost as if it's been kissed by the gods.

This breezy new sitcom about a group of six young New Yorkers boasts an experienced writing and production team (Kevin Bright, David Crane and Marta Kauffman from HBO's Dream On), direction by veteran James Burrows (Taxi) and a likable and talented ensemble. The NBC show stars Courteney Cox (Family Ties), Lisa Kudrow (Ursula, the ditzy waitress from Mad About You), Matt LeBlanc (Top of the Heap) and Jennifer Aniston (Muddling Through and The Edge).

It also has a time slot to die for, bowing Thursday, Sept. 22, between mega-hits Mad About You and Seinfeld.

"I've done a few other series, but I've never been a part of any other show that seems to be getting so much attention," says LeBlanc, who plays Joey, an aspiring actor. "Partly because of the Dream On connection. Partly because James Burrows is our director. Partly because we have a really good cast. And partly because we're going to be on at 8:30 Thursday nights (EDT) right before Seinfeld."

"There's a lot of really good factors. So we have a lot of high hopes, although that's usually the case. This one seems to be really good, though."

While Cox's character, a professional chef named Monica, is nominally the focal point of the ensemble, LeBlanc and the producers confirm that the show will be an ensemble effort.

"Instead of having an A story and a B story, they're gonna have three B stories, sort of like Seinfeld," LeBlanc says.

Courteney Cox

"We're getting to do something we never got to do before," says Kauffman. "Because usually, you know, there is one central character, or two central characters and you follow them. ... And in this case, we've got just this glorious well to pull from. It's great fun. We get to write three stories at once about three of our characters. And yeah, we want to make sure everybody has stuff to do in every episode."

For LeBlanc, who recently earned raves for his starring performance in Lookin' Italian at a California film festival, playing the role of Joey, a cynical but articulate actor, is a welcome departure from Vinny Verducci, the dumber-than-rocks character he played in the 1991 Fox sitcom Top of the Heap.

"Which I'm really glad about," he says, firmly. "Of course! When Top of the Heap was changed to Vinnie and Bobby — I don't know if you followed it that far — it became another show that was really lacking. It got worse!"

"Playing a dumb guy is really difficult, by the way, because the things that you (as a real person) understand and take for granted you have to 'unlearn.'"

"This character, Joey, has his stuff together. He's got high hopes for a career. He gets by. He's intelligent and serious about acting."

Q: Are Inn of the Sixth Happiness and The Old Man and the Sea available on video? Where can I order these and other "wholesome" movies? Our local video store doesn't do special orders. We are especially interested in ordering videos we can use in our church. —Eileen Bosworth, Athol, Mass.

A: Inn is available from CBS/Fox Video, 1330 Avenue of the Americas, Fifth Floor, New York, N.Y. 10019. Old Man is not on tape. Since you indicate this is a group project, pool your funds for a copy of the latest edition of Video Hound's Golden Movie Retriever, published in paperback for under $20 by Visible Ink Press, Gale Research Inc., 835 Penobscot Building, Detroit, Mich. 48226. This invaluable book will tell you whether any movie is available on video, as well as the address (and usually phone number) of its company.

Q: Where can I write to actress Jean Smart? —Stacy L. Davis, Texarkana, Ark.

A: Try writing them both C/O ICM, 8942 Wilshire Blvd., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90211.

Q: Are Kirk and Candace Cameron related? —Kevin Balch, Waterloo, N.Y.

A: Yes, they're brother and sister.

Q: Where can I get a copy of Billie Holiday singing "Gloomy Sunday"? —L.V. McNall, Lake Panasoffkee, Fla.

A: Ask your music store dealer for a 1993 Legacy Records release called Billie Holiday: 16 Most Requested Songs.

Q: Please tell me how to find out how to get a recording of Andy Griffith's comedy routine about football. —A.D. DeFer, Ypsilanti, Mich.

A: This routine, called "What It Was, Was Football," is long out of print. If you find it, prepare to pay dearly.

HIGH TIME: "The proper name of the ballad (from High Noon) is 'High Noon,' not 'Do Not Forsake Me, Oh My Darlin'." writes Loren D. Estleman of Whitmore Lake, Mich. "This is a point of some importance to me, as 'High Noon' was my wedding march in 1993." For the record, Leonard Maltin's video guide, which I consulted for my original response a few weeks ago, refers to the song ONLY as "Do Not Forsake Me, Oh My Darlin'," but other reference works I consulted after receiving Loren's letter give the complete title of the song as "High Noon (Do Not Forsake Me, Oh My Darlin')." Burns' Baseball hits a home run on PBS

BY JEFF PLASS

Strike or no strike, the national pastime has major-league impact on American society, and a cultural home run is slugged in Baseball, airing on PBS beginning Sunday, Sept. 18 (check local listings).

Arranged in nine episodes or "innings," Ken Burns' epic documentary series presents a comprehensive history of the game while examining the social ramifications baseball has had on American culture.

"This is the story of immigration and assimilation," Burns says, "of the tension between labor and management, of the rise of popular media through the newspaper, radio and television. This is the story of the growth and decay of cities."

"And most of all, this is the story of America's past time," he adds with emphasis.

Innings 1-5 air from Sunday through Thursday, Sept. 22

After two "travel days," Baseball resumes play Sunday, Sept. 25, through Wednesday, Sept. 28, for innings six to nine.

Beginning with the origins of the game, this week's episodes painstakingly take viewers through the days of Ty Cobb and Honus Wagner, the infamous Black Sox scandal, the emergence and rise of the game's first mega-star, Babe Ruth, and the Negro Leagues of the 1930s.

Narrated by John Chancellor, Baseball also features the reflections of such luminaries as Keith Carradine, John Cusack, Ossie Davis, Sir Anthony Hopkins, Tip O'Neill, Gregory Peck and many, many others.

Besides airing on PBS, Baseball will be released as an educational tool to schools and colleges. The series will also be available in a Spanish version and a descriptive video version.

IN FOCUS

Asia Viera stars in the thriller Omen IV: The Awakening, airing Tuesday, Sept. 20, on Fox. Remember Danner? Well here's another tyke so adorable that one wouldn't suspect her to be the emissary of evil.

Viera plays Delia York, the 8-year-old adopted daughter of a politician and his wife. A series of dark events leads the parents to believe their daughter is actually a sinister entity.

Faye Grant, Michael Woods, Michael Lerner and Madison Mason also star.

IN FOCUS

Babe Ruth is among the many greats of the game featured in Baseball, beginning Sunday, Sept. 18, on PBS (check local listings).

Presented in nine "innings," this miniseries from filmmaker Ken Burns profiles the history of America's national pastime from its genesis to the present.

Subjects covered in this 18-and-a-half-hour documentary include the Chicago Black Sox scandal, the Negro Leagues of the 1930s and New York City's dominance in the 1950s.

MOVIE MARQUEE

If you want to be scared stay clear of Seacliff

BY JEFF PLASS

Take just about every horror-film cliché you've ever encountered, throw in some really stiff acting and couple that with inane dialogue and cheesy camera work, and you've got The Haunting of Seacliff Inn, premiering Thursday, Sept. 22, on the USA Network.

The film stars William Moses (of Perry Mason fame) and Ally Sheedy (who's seen better dramatic days) as Mark and Susan Enright, a yuppie couple who are mysteriously drawn to a charming coastal mansion and hope to turn it into a bed-and-breakfast.

But soon all sorts of spooky things begin happening: Susan experiences cold flashes, Mark meets an eerie but beautiful young woman on the beach, an electrician gets zapped with 120 volts from a circuit he knows he turned off, etc.

Moses really stretches out in his role as the staid, unflappable straight-man husband and Sheedy seems to have resurrected the character of the squeaking basket case she played in The Breakfast Club (though not nearly as convincingly).

The final product is a shameless rip-off of Ghost Story, and is about as suspenseful as a Caesar salad, as frightening as a French pouaille and as gruesome as a glazed ham.

To those viewers who wish to be truly frightened: Run, don't walk, to your local video store and rent the real Ghost Story or perhaps The Changeling or even The Evil Dead.

The Haunting of Seacliff Inn just doesn't cut any kind of horror mustard. Frankly, there are scarier Scooby Doo episodes out there.

William Moses

Other movies on TV this week include Marg Helgenberger and Corbin Bernsen in the fact-based Where Are My Children?, Sunday, Sept. 18, on ABC.

Helgenberger stars as a woman who returns home from prison to discover her children have disappeared. As the whys and wherefores of their mysterious disappearance become clearer, she begins searching for them.

On Tuesday, Sept. 20, CBS offers Niccollette Sheridan and Joe Lando (Dr. Quinn, Medicine Woman) as two people caught in a love triangle in a small Mormon town in Devil's Bed.

Showtime debuts Aimee Graham and Matt LeBlanc in Reform School Girl, part of the Rebel Highway series of movies, on Friday, Sept. 23.

Striking Distance, starring Bruce Willis and Sarah Jessica Parker, makes its HBO premiere on Saturday, Sept. 24.

TIME OUT

ESPN elder statesman simply loves his job

BY JEFF PLASS

For many people, work is a four-letter word.

For them, the day-in, day-out drudgery of a 9-to-5 job is viewed with as much favor as a trip to the dentist with an impacted molar.

But for ESPN's Chris Berman, host of Sunday's NFL Gameday (among other things), going to the office each day is something to be looked forward to, or at least, as he jokes: "It beats work."

This September marks the 15th anniversary of the Entertainment and Sports Programming Network, and the 10th year "The Bermanator" has spent behind the desk as the show's host. In the hearts and minds of a staggering number of football fans across the country, Gameday has supplanted all other network pregame shows and has become as much a Sunday ritual as the games themselves.

Berman credits the show's popularity to the fact that he and fellow hosts Tom Jackson and Joe Theismann have a sincere affection for the game that comes through in each and every broadcast.

"We just enjoy doing the show every week," he explains. "We love football, and I think it shows. I mean, it's all genuine, it's no 'Hollywood.' It's guys that have either played (football) or followed it closely all their lives, talking about what's interesting, hopefully in an upbeat, funny way."

"I mean, Tom Jackson is one of my best friends, you know, and we had never met until he auditioned for the job in 1987." A graduate of Brown University, with a degree in history, Berman has a hard time imagining himself in any career other than the one he has now.

When asked what he might be doing if he weren't at ESPN, Berman replies:

"Maybe a rock 'n' roll star, although I can't grow my hair long anymore. Or in kind of a surrealistic thing, I guess I wouldn't mind driving the beverage car at Pebble Beach (Calif.). How's that for a job? I mean you deal with different people. It's outside, it's nice, never too hot, never too cold."

"I don't know. Thank God I've not had to come up with that answer."

And how does the 15th birthday of ESPN make Berman feel? Proud? Elated?

"Old," he exclaims. "I feel old. I came here as a young man. I was 24 years old. I had long hair and a Luis Tiant moustache. Now I'm 39, I'm viewed by some as the statesman of the place. I don't know if that's true, but it's kind of like, 'Where did all the time go?'"

SOAP TALK

Reader wants to see good side of foster care

BY CANDACE HAVENS

Dear Candace: I have been a fan of Another World for a number of years and a foster parent for over 20. The writers, producers, promoters and anyone else involved with AW did foster parents and foster parenting a major disservice when Jake (Tom Eplin) made derogatory remarks concerning a foster family.

I cannot quote what Jake said exactly. He was discussing family with Paulina, and he said he did not want a foster family where they sent you away when they wanted, and loved you only because they were paid every month.

There are a few families that act that way, but they do not last long. The majority of foster parents take kids in foster care, work with the families of the youth, pay money out of their own pockets and help troubled children because they care about kids. Foster parents see the future of our world in the hands of the kids who have the misfortune not to be able to stay in their own homes or with their own parents.

Among famous people who were in foster care are Art Buchwald, Maria Von Trapp, Michael Caine, Ray Charles, James Michener, Charlotte Lopez (Miss Teen America) and David Pelzer. There are hundreds of thousands of adults who owe their lives and their sanity to caring foster parents who knew how and had the courage to help youth through troubled times.

I would like to see AW write some scripts that show foster parenting in a more positive light. —Barbara Jordan, Ellinwood, Kan.

Dear Reader: Unfortunately, thanks to the media, most of the time television viewers only see the down side of foster parenting. The extreme cases of abuse are usually the ones that are made into movies of the week.

On AW Jake was speaking more from personal experience than anything else. He didn't exactly have the world's best childhood.

Another famous person who is a product of foster parenting is the talented young actress Victoria Rowell, who plays Dru on The Young and the Restless and co-stars with Dick Van Dyke in Diagnosis Murder. She has also starred in several feature films.

Rowell is very active in several organizations that help foster children.

CABLE OVERVIEW

Cable keeping its commitment to education

BY SUZANNE GILL

"Education is at the foundation of every aspect of all of our lives," says correspondent Walter Cronkite. "Although we have touched upon the consequences of a poorly educated citizenry in previous Cronkite Reports, this time we are focusing on what can and should be done to better prepare our youth for the future."

The Cronkite Report: Lessons for the Future, the latest in The Discovery Channel's quarterly series, airs Tuesday, Sept. 20. Like many similar shows, this one looks at examples of programs that work for students at the preschool, middle school and high-school levels, suggesting that there are ways of salvaging the floundering public education system.

Cronkite also provides interviews with three national leaders — Sen. Paul Simon of Illinois, Dr. David Hamburg of the Carnegie Corporation and Professor Linda Darling-Hammond of Columbia University's Teachers College — to discuss the existing roadblocks to school reform.

On a brighter note, Rory and Me, debuting Monday, Sept. 19, on The Learning Channel, offers songs, stories and enrichment to preschoolers. Cheerful but not hyperkinetic, performer Rory sets a gentle tone for her series, which includes puppetry, animation and live-action films. Rory is also the host of FLC's daily Ready, Set, Learn! educational programming block.

Feed Your Mind, an entertaining dose of what's good for kids, debuts Saturday, Sept. 24.

on PBS. (The series also airs in syndication.) Teen correspondents Cori English and Johita Austin set out on real-world adventures in science, technology, trades and the arts to show young viewers the meaning of the term "working knowledge."

In the debut episode space shuttle astronauts urge kids to hit the books for success in life. George Wallace, Norman Rockwell and Joan of Arc are featured this week on A&E's Biography. The controversial former governor of Alabama is profiled Monday, Sept. 19, with a portrait of the foremost painter of the American dream on Tuesday. The 15th-century heroine of France is remembered Thursday, Sept. 22.

Cable's fall season gets into high gear next week, but one series that debuted last week is worth noting. The 20th Century, a continuation of the 1960s documentary series, with host Mike Wallace, airs on A&E. The Wednesday, Sept. 21, installment looks at the sides of the Kennedy coin in "Camelot's Chappaquiddick."

Rev. Beahm Will Speak Sunday At Assembly Of God

Rev. Ray Beahm, former pastor of the Crellin Assembly of God and recently approved Assemblies of God missionary to Greece, will be the guest speaker at the 11 a.m. worship service at the Assembly of God Church in Friendsville this Sunday, Sept. 18, according to Rev. Eugene Friend, pastor.

Rev. Beahm and his wife, Rebecca, will soon be pastoring the International Christian Center in Athens, Greece. Their ministry will be multi-cultural and multi-national, as they reach out to Athens' large international community.

Rev. Beahm explained that, of Greece's population of approximately 10 million people, an estimated 97 percent are Greek Orthodox; however, the Assemblies of God, registered as the Synod of the Apostolic Churches of Pentecost in Greece, has established 12 churches and five out-stations ministering to about 2,600 members and adherents.

includes nine years of ministry among the Cree and Algonquin Indians of Seneterre, Quebec, in Canada. They served at the Crellin Assembly of God from 1978 until this year.

"I have felt a call to missions since I was 14 years old," Beahm said. "I gained great insight and understanding of what missions ministry was all about when I served in Quebec. My 16 years of pastoring in Maryland were years that I focused on helping missionaries. Dur-

SHS Will Host Transmission Repair Testing

The Automatic Transmission Rebuilders Association (A.T.R.A.) will hold written examinations for automatic transmission Rebuilders, R&R technicians, and Service Writers at Southern High School on Oct. 12 at 7 p.m. as part of its national Certification Program. Thomas M. Powers, a teacher at Southern, will serve as proctor.

A.T.R.A. is a non-profit organization dedicated to the improvement and welfare of the automatic transmission repair industry. With over 3,000 affiliates, it is the world's oldest and largest network of independent transmission firms.

Each year, A.T.R.A. sponsors over 500 proficiency tests throughout the country to encourage technical competency and professionalism in the industry. According to A.T.R.A.'s Executive Director, Steve Gray, a major goal of the Certification program is consumer protection.

"Consumers should look for a certified shop when they need automatic transmission repair work," he said. "A.T.R.A. Certification helps identify which shops are capable of competently diagnosing and repairing automatic transmission problems."

Because transmission technology has become extremely complicated over the past decade, A.T.R.A. member shops are required to re-certify every two years. Gray says experienced technicians usually have no trouble passing the test "... if they've kept their knowledge and skills current."

The tests are free to A.T.R.A. members. Non-members are required to pay a fee of $20 to help defray the cost of the program.

Those wishing to register for the tests or who want additional information about the Certification Program should contact the I&C Coordinator at A.T.R.A. by calling (805) 654-1700, 7 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., Pacific Time.

Make A Wish AND Blow Out THE CANDLES

The tradition of celebrating birthdays with special cakes has been around for thousands of years.

Some historians credit the ancient Greeks with inventing the birthday cake with a honey and flour mixture. Yet others say it was German bakers who would display a cake in the morning and surround it with candles that would burn all day, in anticipation of an evening party. Regardless of who originated birthday cakes or when, the tradition is still cherished today.

Presenting someone with a homemade birthday cake is the perfect way to show you care. Family birthdays, such as a first birthday or Sweet 16, are milestones that call for extra special cakes. And because everyone loves chocolate, mouthwatering chocolate cakes are sure to be a birthday hit!

To create the most scrumptious chocolate cakes, bake them with pure unsweetened cocoa. It gives cakes a decadent chocolate taste and best of all, it's very convenient to use. Simply blend it in with other dry recipe ingredients and avoid the messy pre-melting steps required by other chocolate baking products.

Because cocoa is so versatile, you can use it to bake the perfect birthday cake for anyone in your family! Dad will enjoy indulging in rich Chocolate Bar Cake, a towering 3-layer cake made from deep, dark cocoa and America's favorite creamy milk chocolate bars, and any teenage girl having a Sweet 16 party will love digging into Brownie Pizza Cake with all her friends. For the baby's first birthday, throw a party and serve kid-sized 1st Birthday Cupcakes. On mom's special day, a decadent Hugs and Kisses Chocolate Cake dotted with sweet chocolate pieces is sure to make her smile. For the special 50-year-old in your family, Chocolate Truffle Cake Supreme, a dense chocolate cake, is an elegant way to celebrate this distinguished day.

No matter whose birthday it is, luscious homemade chocolate cakes—in all their wonderful, delicious shapes and sizes—are sure to be everyone's favorite present!

Beautiful Birthday Cakes for the Whole Family!

| 1/2 cup Hershey's Cocoa | 1/2 cup buttermilk or sour milk* |
| 1 1/2 teaspoons baking soda | 1 teaspoon vanilla extract |
| 1 teaspoon salt | ONE-BOWL BUTTERCREAM FROSTING (recipe follows) |
| 1/2 teaspoon baking powder | |

Heat oven to 350 F. Line muffin cups (2 1/2 inches in diameter) with paper bake cups. In large mixer bowl, stir together flour, sugar, cocoa, baking soda, salt and baking powder. Add eggs, shortening, buttermilk and vanilla. Beat on low speed of electric mixer 1 minute, scraping bowl constantly. Beat on high speed 3 minutes, scraping bowl occasionally. Fill muffin cups 3/4 full with batter. Bake 18 to 20 minutes or until wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean. Remove from pan to wire rack. Cool completely. Frost with ONE-BOWL BUTTERCREAM FROSTING. Garnish as desired. About 2 dozen cupcakes.

Happy
Hershey's Cocoa!

Since 1894, when Milton S. Hershey developed Hershey's Cocoa, generations of bakers have counted on cocoa to give them rich, decadent flavor in all their homemade chocolate desserts. Its versatility and convenience make it the perfect baking ingredient for today's consumer who wants variety—it provides exceptional chocolate flavor to a wide range of recipes from smultly rich cakes to light, low-fat treats.

Even the most discriminating chocolate lovers use cocoa. It can be easily substituted in recipes calling for unsweetened baking chocolate, pre-melted unsweetened chocolate, semi-sweet chocolate and sweet baking chocolate by using this simple formula: add three level tablespoons of cocoa to one tablespoon of shortening (liquid or solid) to equal one ounce or one square of baking chocolate.

Health-conscious bakers love to prepare light, low fat desserts that don't sacrifice the deep chocolate taste they desire. Guilt-free goodies are easily made with cocoa because it has one of the lowest fat contents of any chocolate product around—less than one gram of fat per serving. It has no additives or preservatives, is cholesterol-free and is the only chocolate baking ingredient included for use in fat restricted diets by the American Heart Association.

The 1989 introduction of Hershey's European Style Cocoa, a "Dutched" cocoa, means that bakers have even more choices for baking luscious chocolate creations. Dutching is a process which neutralizes the natural acidity found in cocoa powder, resulting in a darker cocoa with a more mellow chocolate flavor than traditional cocoa.

HABITAT FOR HUMANITY WEEK DECLARED BY COMMISSIONERS - In response to a request from Garrett County Habitat for Humanity President Virginia M. Grove, the Garrett County Board of Commissioners has proclaimed Sept. 18 to 24 County Habitat for Humanity Week. The Habitat organization, which builds new houses and restores old ones for families in need, is in the process of constructing its 25th house in the county. During the past eleven summers, the group has also made improvements to 107 existing homes. Currently, 114 persons live in Garrett's Habitat homes. Pictured above, left to right, are Richard Tepper of Habitat; Commissioners Brenda Butcher, John Braskey, and Elwood Groves; and Connie Margison of Habitat.

Contributions To Buy Checkoff Top $1 Million

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein said that about 65,000 Maryland taxpayers contributed $1,036,960 to the Chesapeake Bay and Endangered Species Trust Fund on current and prior year state income tax returns filed during fiscal year 1994, which is $30,000 more than in the previous fiscal year.

The comptroller noted that the $1,036,960 was shared equally by the Chesapeake Bay Trust and the Maryland Department of Natural Resources.

"The current contributions mark one of the most successful years for the checkoff program. It's a clear barometer of how committed Marylanders are to our environment and the Chesapeake Bay - even as Maryland recovers from the recession," Goldstein said.

The comptroller noted that contributions by taxpayers exceeded the million-dollar threshold every year except two since the program began in 1988. "Most states experience a falloff in contributions after the first year of a tax check-off program, so we should be proud of Maryland's program," he said.

One hundred and thirteen Garrett County taxpayers contributed a total of $1,439.29, for an average of $12.74 per donor. Montgomery County led the way in donations, with the largest number of taxpayers contributing (14,501) and the largest amount contributed ($265,845). Baltimore County had the second largest number of taxpayers contributing (9,240) and the second largest amount contributed ($140,587), while Prince George's County came in third, with 9,151 contributing $120,478.

Howard County showed the highest percentage of participation, with 4.9% of its taxpayers contributing to the fund.

The highest average contributions came from Queen Anne's County, where taxpayers donated an average of $18.49. Montgomery County donated the second highest average of $18.33. The statewide average was approximately $15, a dollar more than last year.

"About 3.2% of taxpayers contributed to the fund, compared with a 2.2% participation rate last year," the comptroller said.

Taxpayers contribute to the fund on line 63 of their Maryland long or short income tax form and receive the amount of their refund or add to any additional tax they owe. Contributions made on tax returns filed in 1994 are deductible on federal and state income tax forms filed next year, if taxpayers itemize deductions.

Contributions to the fund are divided equally between the Chesapeake Bay Trust and the Department of Natural Resources. The Chesapeake Bay Trust uses its funds to provide grants to groups ranging from scientific organizations doing research to local community groups planting marsh grass. More than 1,100 such grants have been awarded. The Department of Natural Resources uses its funds for endangered species habitat projects and nongame protection programs.

Glimpse Of The Past ...

BEFORE THE FLOOD WALL was built along the North Branch of the Potomac River in Kitzmiller in 1964, the town suffered through many floods, such as this one sparked by Hurricane Hazel in 1954. One of Garrett County's most impressive buildings at the time was the Maryland Theatre, which was razed 10 years after this particular flood. This photo, which is on loan from Laura Belle Harvey, is published courtesy of the Garrett County Historical Society and The Republican.

SHS Sophomores To Order Rings

Sophomore students at Southern High School will make their class ring selections on Wednesday, September 21. Students and their parents are invited to meet a representative from Balfour to view ring samples and place orders on that date. By placing their orders at this time, the students may expect to receive their rings prior to the Christmas holiday, according to a school spokesman.

Orders will be accepted in the cafeteria. The representative will be available to meet with students during the lunch periods, and after school hours have also been arranged so that interested parents may be present. In order to reduce the number of students and parents waiting at any given time, the following alphabetical schedule has been established.

Published according to student last names: from 3:15 to 3:45, students whose last names begin with the letters A-C; from 3:45 to 4:15, those with last names beginning D-F; from 4:15 to 4:45, last names G-J; from 4:45 to 5:15, names from K-M; from 5:15 to 5:45, names N-S; and from 5:45 to 6:15, those whose last names begin with letters T-Z. In the event the scheduled time is inconvenient, parents are welcome to attend when possible until 7 p.m.

Information packets were distributed to sophomore students during orientation on September 7. Packets are available to juniors and seniors upon request in the main office. A display in the main lobby has also been created so that students may view a variety of ring samples. Those interested in obtaining more information may contact the school office at 334-9447 during school hours.

Evangelist Teel To Lead Services In Friendsville

Evangelist Robert E. Teel will lead revival services at the Friendsville Assembly of God Church the week of Sept. 25-30, according to Rev. Eugene R. Friend, pastor.

Born in Ada, Okla., and reared in southern California, Teel was a national champion in gymnastics and many experts believed he was destined to win a gold medal on the rings for the Olympics. At the height of his career, however, he began to abuse drugs and alcohol and was banished from Olympic competition.

Teel says that in 1972 he was "delivered from drugs and alcohol by the power of Christ" and has invested his time and efforts since that time "proclaiming the gospel."

Teel says his mission is to encourage local churches to "become involved in the study of the word and to minister to local communities."

The revival services at Friendsville Assembly will begin at 7 p.m. each evening. Rev. Friend invites the public to attend.

Area Church To Present Film

A film, Scars that Heal, will be shown at the Crellin Assembly of God Church on Sunday, Sept. 18, at 7 p.m.

This documentary-style film about a young Vietnam soldier, Dave Roeber, tells a true story about his physical, emotional, and spiritual healing after more than 40 percent of his skin was burned off by a grenade that exploded in his hand, also causing blindness in one eye, and deafness in his right ear.

The Rev. David Snodgrass and the church's congregation invite the public to view the film. For more information, persons may call the church office at 334-3867.

Building Quality Customer Service Class offered

"Quality customer service that brings customers back can only be delivered when both front line service employees and managers possess skills in customer service," said Sandy Major, business program coordinator at Garrett Community College.

A class titled "Building Quality Customer Service: Service Excellence" will be taught by Major and will meet on two Monday evenings, October 11 and 18, from 6:30 to 9:45 p.m. at GCC.

Major said that 60 percent of American businesses are now using some form of Total Quality practices to meet competitive challenges in today's business world.

"Across the nation, companies, both large and small, are implementing quality steps designed to increase productivity and profitability. Employees and owners/managers will learn to build and keep customer goodwill, make all customer contacts positive, use actions that build trust, improve communication and phone skills, and to deal calmly with difficult people," she said.

Persons may call Ruth Pinter or Sandy Major at 387-3080 to obtain further information about this class. Registration can be made through the Continuing Education Division of GCC.

Serves Special Internship In Winston-Salem

Jennifer Reeves, Mountain Lake Park, is in the first Salem College class in which each student will complete an internship before she graduates. But Reeves, a junior who is interested in a career as a chemist, already has a jump on most of her classmates because of a special relationship with a chemist at R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. in Winston-Salem, N.C.

Last year, Reeves, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arden E. Reeves, was one of a dozen sophomores paired with female mentors in the Winston-Salem community as part of a unique program called the Salem Women's Leadership Connection. She was chosen based on recommendations by faculty members and a personal interview. Her mentor was Dr. Lila O'Connor, a staff chemist at R.J. Reynolds.

Reeves met with O'Connor at least once a month. O'Connor talked about her work and gave Reeves advice on pursuing her own career. Reeves visited different departments at RJR, and O'Connor arranged for her to have a summer job there. "Lila has led me directly to the place I want to go in terms of a career," Reeves said. "I went in knowing I wanted to be a chemist, and that goal has become even stronger because of my experience with my mentor. She is an exceptional lady, and I admire her very much."

The two also talked about what it takes to be a good leader in today's workforce. "A good leader has good communication skills," Reeves said. "In order to be able to reach everyone, one must be diverse and interested in all of life. Salem has fostered

Volunteers Are Sought By G.C. Tax-Aide

According to local coordinator, Bea Crocco, the Garrett County Tax-Aide Program is growing and volunteers are needed to provide free personal income tax preparation assistance to older low and moderate income taxpayers.

Volunteers are trained in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service and must spend at least four hours each week, from Feb. 1 to April 15, assisting taxpayers. The training normally lasts five days and volunteers are required to pass an exam before they are authorized to be counselors. Classes are taught by IRS employees.

Locally, the program offers free tax assistance at the Mary Browning Senior Center and at other locations upon request. This service is also offered to shut-ins.

The next class for counselors starts the first week in January, 1995. Interested persons may call Crocco at 334-3153.

Building Quality Customer Service Class offered

"Quality customer service that brings customers back can only be delivered when both front line service employees and managers possess skills in customer service," said Sandy Major, business program coordinator at Garrett Community College.

A class titled "Building Quality Customer Service: Service Excellence" will be taught by Major and will meet on two Monday evenings, October 11 and 18, from 6:30 to 9:45 p.m. at GCC.

Major said that 60 percent of American businesses are now using some form of Total Quality practices to meet competitive challenges in today's business world.

"Across the nation, companies, both large and small, are implementing quality steps designed to increase productivity and profitability. Employees and owners/managers will learn to build and keep customer goodwill, make all customer contacts positive, use actions that build trust, improve communication and phone skills, and to deal calmly with difficult people," she said.

Persons may call Ruth Pinter or Sandy Major at 387-3080 to obtain further information about this class. Registration can be made through the Continuing Education Division of GCC.

Pro-Life Event To Be Held On Oakland Street

The third annual Garrett County Life Chain will be held in downtown Oakland on Oct. 2 from 2-5 p.m.

According to JoAnn Fletcher, president of Garrett County Right to Life, "A life chain is a peaceful, prayerful time of reflection on the thirty thousand lives lost to abortion since the legalization of abortion in the United States."

Royce Dunn, national director for the event, stated that "The chain's primary purpose is to minister to the participants themselves." In his view, "The current abortion era is the darkest period in our nation's history."

During the demonstration, participants will stand along Route 219, pray, and hold signs printed with pro-life slogans. Registration will begin at 1:30 p.m. on the day of the event at designated sites to be announced. Signs will be provided and planners have requested a donation of $1 per person to defray expenses of the chain.

Each participant is also asked to bring a donation for the Mountain Top Crisis Pregnancy Center, which is in need of cloth and disposable diapers, baby clothes, baby food, and formula, Fletcher said.

Pre-registration for the event is currently being conducted in some area churches. Persons or churches seeking more information may call Fletcher at 689-3756.

This year's Life Chain is being co-sponsored by Garrett County Right to Life and Christian Coalition.

ELCA Women Meet At Zion

The Women of the ELCA, Zion Lutheran Church, Jennings, held their monthly meeting in the church on September 6, with four members and one visitor, Clarice Schaefer, attending.

A Bible study, "Once for all," taken from The Letter to the Hebrews, was led by Leota Baker. The rituals and the offering of sacrifices in the Old Testament were discussed, and compared to the sacrifice of Christ.

Ruthella Resh presided over the business meeting. Announcement was made of the fall retreat, which will be held at Jackson's Mill, Weston, W.Va., October 15-16. The retreat is held as a joint event with the Monongahela Valley - Mountain Cluster and the Ohio - Kanawha Valley Cluster. Reservations must be sent to Lisa Toothman in Fairmont, W.Va., by September 23.

A tribute to the memory of Mrs. Gladys Smith was made through an offering to Women of the ELCA specific ministries. As a gift to women and children in poverty, this offering was designated for health care and education in native American communities.

Members of the group assisted in serving the bereavement meal served to the family and friends of Gladys Smith following her funeral service on August 30.

The quarterly project for The Lutheran Home in Kane, Pa., was concluded.

A package containing washcloths, bibs, invalid gowns, and articles of women's and men's clothing was sent to the home.

The next meeting is scheduled for October 4.

Bartenders To Raise Funds For MS Society

Bartenders at over 250 bars, restaurants, and taverns in Maryland will participate in the National Multiple Sclerosis Society's UGLY Bartender Contest this year.

Bartenders participating in the annual event attempt to raise funds for the Society through various promotions, with the highest earner receiving the title of Maryland's UGLY Bartender. For the contest, UGLY stands for the qualities patrons attribute to their favorite bartenders: U stands for understanding; G for generous; L for lovable; and Y for young-at-heart.

During the contest, which will run for the month of October in Maryland, bartenders will also lobby patrons for "votes," donations of at least 25 cents each, toward their campaign. The entrant who raises the most through votes could win a trip for two to the Bartender's Convention. Other prizes include electronic equipment, dinners for two, exercise machines, and tickets to the UGLY Bartender Awards Ball.

Begun in Maryland 15 years ago, the UGLY Bartender Contest has become a successful fundraiser for the National MS Society throughout the country. The Maryland Society predicts that the bars who participate in this year's event will raise $100,000.

"We've really had a great time with the contest over the years," Janelle Nelson of the MS Society said. "Every year, the bartenders come up with new ideas, new twists, and, ultimately, more donations for the Society. It's gotten so big, there's even a national UGLY Bartender Convention every year. About 200 bartenders go to party and pool their ideas to keep the contest fresh and successful."

According to Dee Myers, director of public relations for the National MS Society, "Proceeds benefit national research programs and local health-related services for 3,000 local residents who are affected by multiple sclerosis."

One local bar, the Long Branch Saloon in Mt. Lake Park, has already registered for the contest.

For more information about joining the UGLY Bartender Contest, persons may contact the National MS Society at 1-800-FIGHT-MS.

Lupus Group To Host Talk On Stress Mgmt.

The Western Maryland Branch of the Maryland Lupus Foundation will sponsor "Managing Stress While Living With A Chronic Illness," with guest speaker Jane K. Jenkins, R.N., B.S.N., director for health promotion at Cumberland's Memorial Hospital. The program is scheduled for 10 a.m. at the Brandenburg Center, Cumberland.

According to a Foundation spokesperson, "Living with lupus, a chronic inflammatory disease in which the body's immune system forms antibodies against healthy tissues and organs, remains a challenge. Lupus can have a major impact on patients and their families. There is no cure and the cause remains unknown."

"Although stress does not cause lupus, it may play a role in exacerbating lupus symptoms. This program will provide ways to respond positively to stress and to effectively manage thoughts and actions regarding stress."

The event is free, but pre-registration is required. For more information, persons may call Rae Ellen Finn, Western Maryland coordinator, at 777-7858.

The Oakland Lupus Support Group meets the 2nd Wednesday of each month at 6 p.m. at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

FoodSHARE Dinner Honors Volunteers

Northern FoodSHARE recently hosted its first annual appreciation dinner at the Zion Lutheran Church, Accident, to recognize those who have volunteered their efforts to help the organization provide food for eligible participants in the community.

Each FoodSHARE unit relies on donations and volunteer efforts to provide this service to individuals who, in turn, pay $13 in cash, and provide two hours of community service for a quantity of food.

The following local businesses and individuals were recognized for their efforts: Keyser's Ridge Trading Post, Silver Fox Keyser's Ridge, Accident; Keyser's Ridge McDonald's, Beachy Lumber, G&W Lumber, Accident; Pampered Chef, Lisa Bonar, demonstrator; Fratz True Value, Accident; American Trust Bank, Accident Branch; Buzzy Bee Wood Furniture, Gary and Alice Long, owners; and See n Sew Embroidery, Larry and Donna Glass, owners. AFBF Favors Improvements To Food Inspection System

Further improvements in science-based programs will be required to ensure a safe food supply, according to testimony delivered recently by the American Farm Bureau at a USDA food safety forum in Philadelphia.

New Jersey Farm Bureau President Stephen George, a greenhouse and nursery operator, said Farm Bureau supports USDA's efforts to modernize and improve the meat and poultry inspection system.

Farm Bureau, along with most segments of the meat industry, favors the hazard analysis critical control point (HACCP) approach, "which builds safety into every step of the production process," George said.

"Improving food safety involves implementing preventive control programs based on sound science," he said. "Visual detection will not and should not be relied on to be the core of our inspection system for the next century."

The need for research on a broad range of topics involving food-borne pathogens is featured prominently in USDA's pathogen reduction program, George said.

"Learning more about the origins of pathogens in the food supply is an essential component of an HACCP program," he said. "Assessing levels of risk and appropriate strategies for reducing that risk are only possible after sufficient research is conducted."

George cautioned that agricultural producers should not be hindered economically by new production requirements that are not matched by real improvements in food safety and quality. He said farmers and ranchers are receptive to new production methods that improve food safety.

"For instance, livestock producers have actively pursued improved methods of identifying individual animals as they move through marketing and processing," he explained. "This desire for continuing information about the final yield and value of an animal may be compatible with USDA's goal of establishing a verifiable trace-back procedure for meat-borne problems."

He said USDA should make every effort to ensure that any system of animal identification is simple, requires minimum record-keeping and is inexpensive, since the producer will likely bear the cost of implementation.

Consumer information programs and labeling information are also necessary, George noted. "Any inspection program, no matter how good, cannot protect against mishandling by food preparers."

The food safety forum was held to provide an opportunity for farmers, consumers and other interested parties to provide input on food safety issues.

Field Crop Condition Remains Good

For the week ending September 11, the average number of days suitable for fieldwork during the week was 6.7 days, according to the Maryland Agricultural Statistics Service. Across the state, topsoil moisture was 10 percent very short, 53 percent short, and 37 percent adequate. Subsoil moisture was 28 percent short and 72 percent adequate.

Statewide, hay supplies were adequate with both alfalfa and other hay into the fourth cutting. Pastures averaged in excellent condition. Field corn and soybeans were in good condition and sorghum was in mostly good to excellent condition. There were reports that the dry, cool weather is beginning to affect soybeans.

Maryland's progress for the week ending September 11 was as follows, listing the item, this year's percentage, last year's percentage and a percentage for the 5-year average.

Planting progress: Corn, dent, 85, 79, 79, mature, 36, 42, 38; silage harvested, 24, 47, 40. Soybeans, setting pods, 98, 90, 89; turned, 15, 20, 16. Sorghum, turned, 58, 28, 62. Sweet corn, harvested, 96, 97, 95; Alfalfa hay, 3rd cutting, 97, 98, 95; 4th cutting, 59, 54, 39. Other hay, 3rd cutting, 68, 56, 43; 4th cutting, 22, 22, 12. Apples, harvested, 35, 29, 31.

WEATHER

Maryland weather for the week ending September 9 had below normal temperatures and below normal precipitation with many stations reporting zero rainfall. Temperatures averaged 65.2 degrees, 6.4 degrees below the normal of 71.6 degrees for the September 3 through September 9 period. Minimum temperatures were as low as 37 degrees in Oakland, but ranged from the mid 40's to low 50's. Maximum temperature was 88 degrees in Hancock; highs were generally in the high 80's. Precipitation averaged 0.01 inches, 0.92 inches below the normal of 0.93 inches. Precipitation ranged from none at most stations to 0.21 inches at Oakland. Regional rainfall averages were: Western,

0.06; North Central, 0.01;

Southern Maryland west of the Bay, 0.00 and Eastern Shore, 0.00 inches.

National Farm Safety And Health Week Announced

September 18-24 has been designated as National Farm Safety and Health Week, the 51st anniversary of a special week to call attention to safety on America's farms and ranches.

The 1994 theme, "Safety and Health: A Way of Life" underscores the importance of safety education to children and adults.

According to the National Safety Council, 1,100 people died on the job in the agriculture industry so far this year. Agriculture remains one of the most dangerous industries in the United States.

"While we emphasize agricultural and farm safety throughout the year, National Farm Safety and Health Week is the time to remind people in both rural

How To Cope With Stress On The Farm

Accidents are a major cause of death and injury among agricultural workers. A study by the National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health showed that farmers also have the highest rates of death as a result of stress-related conditions. Heart and artery disease, hypertension, ulcers and nervous disorders top the list of killers.

America's farmers and ranchers have to cope with more stress than the average worker. Droughts, floods, pests, long hours, financial concerns and other complications can lead to feelings of isolation and frustration.

Experts agree that there are steps people can take to help cope with stress in their lives. These are not meant as "instant solutions."

If one feels overwhelmed, there are many people and organizations available to listen and help.

To help reduce stress, the West Virginia University Extension Service and the National Safety Council suggest the following:

- Acknowledge that stress exists in your life.

- Don't minimize your reactions to stress. If you keep stress buried inside, it is likely to create mental and physical problems.

- Talk about your problems with family, friends, clergy or professional counselors. This will help you clear your head and focus on eliminating or reducing anxiety and stress-related ailments.

- Eat well-balanced meals and try to limit caffeine and alcohol intake. If you smoke, quit.

- Get enough sleep. If you have trouble sleeping, try light reading or listening to relaxing music.

- Keep all machinery in good condition. Eliminating possible breakdowns will help reduce stressful moments.

and urban areas about safety and health challenges faced by agricultural workers and farm residents and how to prevent accidents on farms and ranches," stated Roger Richardson, chairperson of the Maryland State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service Committee.

According to the National Safety Council, accidental deaths of farm residents have decreased the past ten years. From 1983 to 1993, the number of farm residents killed in accidents declined to 2,400 from 3,200. However, the number of farm residents killed increased 2,400 in 1993 from 2,200 in 1992.

National Farm Safety and Health week is co-sponsored by the National Safety Council, the U.S. Department of Agriculture, and other national and local organizations.

Women Face Many Challenges In Farm Life

Statistics show that women involved in agricultural work may be at an increased risk for certain types of accidents. While men are involved in more tractor rollovers, women are at a higher risk of being run over by tractors and other farm machinery, according to preliminary data from the National Safety Council. Farm and ranch experts say that women often assist their spouses by helping hitch equipment to tractors. This activity may expose them to injury or death.

Another area of increased risk for women is working with farm animals and livestock. Preliminary data from farm states shows women often tend livestock while men work with farm tractors and other machinery. As a result, women may suffer disabling injuries from farm animals. In order to prevent accidents, the National Safety Council reminds women who participate in farm chores to take preventive measures such as the ones offered below.

- Wear clothing and safety gear that is appropriate for the tasks or chores at hand. Boots and shoes should be fully laced and loose clothing tucked in to prevent power take-off and equipment entanglements.

- Keep your hair neatly tucked under head gear or tied up when working around wrap points such as power take-offs.

- Be extremely careful when helping to hitch implements to tractors. Do not get caught in a tight location between a tractor and other farm machinery. Learn the common hand signals associated with safe hitching procedures.

- Always face unpredictable livestock so you can watch them at all times.

Larger farm animals such as bulls and horses may panic or become aggressive and inflict serious injury. Swine, especially sows with young pigs, can be very protective of their young and may injure a person when aggravated.

- Do not go along as an "extra-rider" on a farm tractor. Bumpy, uneven ground, quick turns and excessive speed may increase your risk of falling and being run over by the tractor or trailing equipment.

Don't Winter-Kill Your Alfalfa

I believe we lose more alfalfa plants to winter-kill than we realize. This time of the year when you look out at that "lush" alfalfa field, it is very tempting to put it in the barn. The odds are that would be a mistake for our area. The last cutting of the season should be taken four to five weeks before a killing frost or after the plants have gone dormant. Cutting less than four weeks before a killing frost does not allow the alfalfa plant enough time for reserving and storing food for the spring growth. Also, low fertility levels going into the winter can have a drastic effect upon plant hardiness. Keep in mind, for each ton of alfalfa harvested this year you have removed approximately 55 lbs. of nitrogen, 50 lbs. of potassium, 30 lbs. of calcium, 12 lbs. of phosphorus, 6 lbs. of sulfur, 6 lbs. of magnesium and 1.4 lb. of boron.

What Happened To My Tomatoes?

If your tomatoes looked pretty good one day and the next day they were dead, you have been invaded by the late blight. During the last week the blight has "wiped out" a lot of tomatoes in the area. In most instances, the tomatoes will rot very quickly. Then unripened green tomatoes will also deteriorate very fast before ripening. If you're raising more than one variety, make a note of the variety that survived the blight. That would be the one you should raise next year.

New Farming Traditions; Pathways To Sustainability

The Maryland Organic Food & Farming Association and the Maryland Cooperative Extension Service are delighted to announce the upcoming program "New Farming Traditions; Pathways to Sustainability." This day long workshop will focus on organic and low-input farm management and technical practices. Topics will include: Irrigation, Organic Certification, Organic Berry Production, Beneficial Ne-

Export Funds Available For Ag Products

Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Lewis R. Riley has announced that the Maryland Department of Agriculture in cooperation with the Southern United States Trade Association (SUSTA) is currently accepting additional applications for the 1994 Market Promotion Program (MPP) for value-added agricultural products. The branded portion of the MPP provides matching funds to individual companies to promote high-value agricultural products marketed under brand names. The Market Promotion Program assists U.S. companies in exporting their agricultural products by sharing the cost of marketing and promotional activities. U.S. produced branded foods, beverages, seafood, food supplements, pet foods, and intermediate products are eligible for SUSTA's MPP branded. These products must be of at least 50 percent U.S. agriculture in origin by weight excluding added water and packaging. In addition, they may not be covered by another Foreign Agricultural Service cooperative, export incentive program, or state export program; or be covered in a country by another MPP/VAPP company.

MDA's participation in the program enables Maryland producers of high value agricultural products to increase their sales worldwide. Participating companies are able to enter and develop markets which may be too costly to penetrate without the matching funds. Eligible activities include advertising, production of promotional materials, trade shows, and in-store merchandising, to name a few.

These resources will be available to companies during the remainder of FY-94 (November 1, 1994 through April 30, 1995). The deadline for receipt of applications is September 15. A fee of $200 is required at the time of application. In addition, an assessment fee of four (4) percent of the approved MPP funding level is required when the contract is signed. The $200 application fee will be applied to the assessment fee. The minimum requested is $5,000 per company and no company shall receive a grant of more than $270,000.

Interested companies may request an information packet and application form by contacting Errol Small at the Maryland Department of Agriculture at (410) 841-5770 or by fax at (410) 841-5987.

matodes, Marketing, New Crops and much more. Suppliers of goods and services to organic and low-input farms also have been invited to set up exhibits and displays to share their products with potential producers. This unique effort of the Cooperative Extension Service and MOFFA should produce a program that is valuable to longtime organic producers and those considering the shift from conventional farming or other disciplines.

The workshop will be held Monday, October 17, at the Western Maryland Research and Education Center (WMREC), 18330 Keedysville Rd. Keedysville. Doors open for check-in and morning beverages at 8:30 a.m. and the meeting adjourns at 4:30 p.m. Cost of the program is $18 per person and includes lunch and breaks. Pre-registration is required. For registration information please call Steve Bogash at WMREC (301)432-4492. Registration forms and program agendas also will be available from Maryland Cooperative Extension Service offices throughout the region.

MDA Updates Aquaculture Directory

Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Lewis R. Riley has announced that the Maryland Department of Agriculture's Aquaculture Office is updating its aquaculture products directory.

Any commercial grower who has not been contacted by the aquaculture office and would like to be listed in the directory may contact the Maryland Department of Agriculture, Aquaculture Office, Lynne Canter, 50 Harry S. Truman Parkway, Annapolis, MD 21401, telephone (410) 841-5724.

Consultants Certified Through MDA Nutrient Management Program

Maryland Department of Agriculture (MDA) Secretary Lewis R. Riley awarded 34 new private consultants their certification in the Department's Nutrient Management Program, bringing the total number of consultants to 219. Qualified individuals are certified to provide farmers with state-approved nutrient management plans. The plans help manage animal wastes, commercial fertilizers and urban sludge to prevent pollution of ground and surface waters.

"Each plan is site specific and provides farmers with a 'prescription approach' to fertilizer use so that nutrients applied are used by crops and not lost to the environment," explained Secretary Riley. "The goal is to make certain that crops are getting the right amount of nutrients at the right time in the growing season so that few, if any, unused nutrients escape."

Program participation has dramatically increased since its establishment in 1989, when only 10 plans were in place. As of July 1, the Cooperative Extension Service's consultants report that over 384,000 acres, 25% of Maryland cropland, are covered under approximately 5,000 nutrient management plans. This does not include 1993-94 results due to MDA this fall, from the 117 private industry consultants, who were certified for the first time last year.

"There is a long waiting list of farmers wanting to participate in the Nutrient Management Program, or have their current efforts certified in an official plan. I'm pleased to see that more technical support will now be available," commented Secretary Riley.

"Farmers know that sound nutrient management practices are good for the environment, and good for their business. This is a voluntary public-private program that works. We have no doubts that we will achieve our portion of Maryland's 40 percent nutrient reduction goal of the Chesapeake Bay Agreement."

For more information on Maryland's Nutrient Management Program or agriculture's efforts to clean up the bay, persons may contact the Department of Agriculture, Office of Resource Conservation, 50 Harry S. Truman Parkway, Annapolis, MD 21401, telephone (410) 841-5863.

Senior Farmers Are At Risk On The Farm

Older farmers and ranchers must deal with the effects of aging just like everyone else. However, the already dangerous work of farming can become more hazardous as farmers age. The quick onset of fatigue, reduced vision and slower reaction time that are part of the normal aging process can increase risk among older agricultural workers. Also, many suffer from permanent hearing loss and arthritis which can seriously impact safe job performance.

All these factors combine to increase risk among older farmers and ranchers. Research by the National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health has demonstrated that tractor drivers 65 years and older may be two to three times more likely to die in tractor accidents than persons in other age groups. A study conducted by Purdue University farm safety specialists revealed an increased risk for older farm machinery operators because of arthritis. Arthritis limits the mobility of farmers and ranchers during many farm tasks.

The National Safety Council recommends that older farmers and ranchers compensate for the normal aging process:

- Have your vision checked by a doctor regularly. The aging process also can decrease peripheral vision which may affect driving performance.

- Remember that vision is hampered the most at dawn and dusk; avoid riding tractors at these times. Be aware that older drivers' eyes need more light to see well but also are more sensitive to glare.

- Get plenty of rest during planting, harvest and long work periods. Take frequent breaks to protect against fatigue and physical stress. Drink plenty of liquids and keep them available in your work area. Accidents are more likely to occur after fatigue has set in.

- Use extreme caution when operating equipment. Be familiar with any medication you take and its effect on reaction time. Even over-the-counter medications can hamper reflexes and diminish alertness, limiting your ability to operate farm tractors and machinery.

- Make sure that a family member or fellow worker knows where you will be working.

- Know your limitations. Don't push your mind and body past their safe and healthy limits.

Other Queen Farina contestants included Valerie Wiles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Wiles, Aurora, and Tina DeWitt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Myers, Horse Shoe Run.

Junior Queen contestants were Ashley Wilt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Wilt, Eglon; Christie Sharpless, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Sharpless, Aurora; and Nicole Heckler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Heckler, Aurora.

Others vying for the honor of Little Miss Farina were Erica Shaffer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Shaffer, Horse Shoe Run; Amelia Friend, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Friend, Horse Shoe Run; Jenna Sisler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sisler, Aurora; and Hope Heckler, daughter of Mrs. Rodney Heckler, Aurora. The only other Little King hopeful was Anthony Wilt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Wilt, Eglon.

The king and queen contestants collected penny votes or sold tickets for prizes that were given away during the two-day event, sponsored each year by the Mt. Grove Volunteer Fire Department. The contestant who proved to be the best salesman, or collected the most pennies was named the winner in his or her respective age category.

Proceeds from the children's efforts will be used for the VFD's operating budget. Those claiming the titles were awarded savings bonds from various area banks.

Following the coronation, master of ceremonies Brad Stewart named Wayne Shaffer as this year's fire-fighter of the year.

Another main attraction during Saturday's festival events was a decorated cake contest. Cakes, featuring a fire department or potato festival theme, were entered in competition, with the results as follows: Robin Roth, first place, $100; Cindy Harsh and Cris Shaffer, second place, $50; and Wanda Evans, third place, $25. Prizes for the contest were provided by Stewart Funeral Home in Oakland, Brad Stewart owner, and proceeds from the event

Following the decorated cake contest, auctioneer Carl Blizzard auctioned the three prize-winning cakes, as well as several others, to add to the excitement of the afternoon. The top three cakes, purchased by Helen Roth, Joe Slabaugh and Don Roth, brought a total of $595 for the fire department.

Another cake, baked and decorated by Ellen Harsh, Horse Shoe Run, was sold six times, and donated each time to be sold again. That cake, purchased finally by Barbara Evans, Arnold Park Campgrounds, Leadmine, netted more than $600 for the VFD's largest fundraiser of the year. Other purchasers/donors for that one cake were Orval Knight, Tri-

State Coal; Betty Collins for Delegate David "O.B." Collins; Don Knapp, Nelson Excavating; Dennis Roth, Fairfax Sand; and Barbara Miller for Senator David E. Miller.

According to Larry Shaffer, fire chief, in addition to operating costs, the cost of outfitting just one fire-fighter is more than $2,900. The Mt. Grove department has 29 members, and the total cost for protective clothing is nearly $85,000.

The Mt. Grove VFD, formed just 13 years ago, is Preston County's youngest fire department. In addition to the annual potato festival, its largest fundraiser of the year, the organization also sponsors a ramp dinner each spring, and has hosted bluegrass festivals, among others.

53rd Buckwheat Festival To Feature Parades, Music And More

Two weeks from today will be the starting date for the 53rd Annual Preston County Buckwheat Festival, sponsored each year by the Kingwood Volunteer Fire Department.

This year's event, "A Symphony of Sight and Sound," runs from Thursday, Sept. 29 through Sunday, Oct. 2, and festival-goers will enjoy a variety of arts and crafts displays, a giant carnival, commercial exhibits, school and club exhibits, prize livestock, produce and canned goods, a variety of food, including the ever popular buckwheat cake and sausage dinners, and special events.

Parades include the Firemen's Day Parade, on Thursday at 7:30 p.m.; the School Day Parade at 2:30 p.m. on Friday; and the Farmers' Day Parade at noon on Saturday. (Traffic begins to get a bit snarled before parade time, so spectators may want to arrive an hour or more before the parade begins.)

Coronation ceremonies for Queen Ceres L.H. Amber King, daughter of Gene and Connie King, Kingwood; and King Buckwheat L.H. Scott Wolford, son of Kermit and Peggy Wolford, Rowlesburg, begin at noon on Friday, on the Central Preston Junior High School football field. There is no charge for admission to this event, and the public is welcome and encouraged to attend.

Also on the CPJHS football field will be the Band Spectacular, featuring the "Pride of West Virginia," the 315-plus member West Virginia University Mountaineer Marching Band, slated to appear on Saturday, Oct. 1, beginning at 2:30 p.m. In addition to the WVU marching band, high school bands from Pennsylvania, Maryland and West Virginia will perform. The cost for this extravaganza is $2 for those 17 and younger, and $4 for 18 years and older.

OTHER EVENTS
Other Friday features during the 53rd annual celebration will be a tractor driving contest at 9 a.m. on the Preston Educational Center athletic field; a bicycle decorating contest on Brown Avenue at 10 a.m.; and a lamb dressing contest at 4:30 p.m. in the Cow Palace.

Saturday will also feature the 3rd Annual Preston County Buckwheat Festival 5K Classic, beginning at 9:30 a.m. at Camp Dawson; a farmers' skill contest, set for 10 a.m. on the CPJHS football field; a pet show in the Cow Palace arena at 10 a.m.

HIGH BIDDERS -- A cake auction, an increasingly popular part of the Mt. Grove Potato Festival, raised more than $1,200 for the area's volunteer fire department. The top three prize-winning cakes were the first to be auctioned and, in the top photo, Helen Roth, pictured holding her grandson, Mike Roth, was the high bidder on the first-place cake, baked by her daughter-in-law, Robin Roth, for $210. Also pictured is Mrs. Roth's husband, Sam. In the photos below, Joe Slabaugh, left, representing Coastal Lumber, out-bid all others, with $210, to claim the second place cake, baked by Cindy Harsh and Cris Shaffer; and Don Roth, on behalf of Miners and Merchants Bank in Thomas, purchased the third-place cake, baked by Wanda Evans, for $175.

Sunday's Antique Car Show at the civic center will be from 11 a.m. until 3 p.m., featuring antique cars and trucks through 1969, and non-modified production vehicles from 1970-79. There is no charge to view the vehicles, but exhibitors will pay a $3 fee per car.

CIVIC CENTER ATTRACTIONS
The Craig Civic Center will be the sight for various musical attractions during the festival.

A Music Spectacular, starring country western star Ronnie McDowell, is set for two performances on Sept. 30 -- one at 6:45 and the other at 9:45 p.m. The cost is $13 for general admission, and $15 for reserved seating.

The 16th Annual Banjo Fiddle Contest, featuring Everett Lilly and Clear Creek Crossin', is slated for Oct. 1, at 6:30 p.m. The cost of admission is $4 per person.

The Wheeling Symphony, directed by Maestra Rachael Worby, will get underway Oct. 2, at 2 p.m. The cost for this performance is $7.50 for general admission, and $10 for reserved seating.

For information about tickets for any of these events, persons may call (304) 329-0303.

HERITAGE CLASSIC BIKE RACE

For several years, the Heritage Day Bike Race, a 25-mile event, has been an exciting addition to the Buckwheat Festival's Sunday activities.

The race is set for Sunday, Oct. 2, at 11 a.m., and begins at the Community Building on Brown Avenue, Kingwood. Registration begins at 10 a.m. at the same location. Entry fee is $17 per person (pre-registration), or $20 (race date registration). Prizes will be awarded to the top three females and the top three males in each age category.

BUCKWHEAT CAKE DINNERS

Buckwheat cake and sausage dinners will be served in the community building throughout the festival: Thursday, from 11 a.m. until 10 p.m.; Friday and Saturday, from 8 a.m. until 9 p.m.; and on Sunday from 8 a.m. until 6 p.m.

In addition to the dinners served on the festival grounds, visitors will find the dinners available at various restaurants and community buildings throughout the county.

All Buckwheat Festival activities -- exhibits, live-stock, arts and crafts, contests, carnival, coronation, and concerts -- take place in one general, easily walked area (General Chairman Steve Decker, along with the entire Kingwood VFD, welcomes everyone to the 53rd Annual Preston County Buckwheat Festival in Kingwood.

Terra Alta Club Members Convene

The members of the Terra Alta Rotary Club met at Alpine Lake Thursday with Logan Weber in charge of the program. He had as his guest Charles McIntyre of Mtn. Lake Park, who showed a video to the group. It was produced and directed by John Grant and Dusty Stanton, both of Oakland, for Maryland Public Television. The video, commemorating the 50th anniversary of the landing on Normandy beach in World War II, was made particularly for the two Garrett County high schools and Garrett Community College.

McIntyre participated in the landing and was able to comment on the video.

The business meeting included plans for a Rotary float to be entered in the Buckwheat Festival parades on Friday and Saturday, September 30 and October 1, and the Autumn Glory parade on Saturday, October 15. President Don Loudermilk, chairman of the float committee, asked members to "clear their calendars" in order to help with the float.

VOICE OF THE ELECTORATE

During the past few weeks my belief that Garrett County is someplace special has been reaffirmed time and time again.

I have met many wonderful and interesting people who have gone the extra mile to lend their support and encouragement.

More than once I was deeply moved by the honesty, sincerity, and openness of those citizens who shared their concern with me and those citizens who truly wish to see positive changes in Garrett County.

My sincere appreciation to all those who voted and worked for me during the primary election. As always, your concerns will continue to be my concerns.

A SIGN OF THE SEASON - Calendars everywhere have notations on tomorrow's date: "first day of autumn," and a sure sign of the change is shown here - a photograph of the Canada geese on a trial run. Geese can be seen and heard all over the county these days, flying in unsteady V-formations that collapse and reform in a seemingly haphazard fashion. Apparently the geese are practicing for their longer flights south, which will get underway in the coming months. As for now, the stronger geese vie for the leader position and the younger ones learn the patterns. Some of the birds will winter here, but many will be leaving in tidy V-formations to spend the colder months elsewhere.

Suspicious Fire Heavily Damages Mobile Home

A mobile home along Vindex Road near Kitzmiller was heavily damaged by fire of suspicious origin Sunday night.

Volunteer fire fighters from Kitzmiller, Elk Garden, and Deer Park were summoned to the residence of Leonard Paugh Jr. at 9:20 p.m. and discovered heavy flames coming from a rear bedroom of the 14-by-70-foot trailer. No one was at home at the time of the blaze, according to Steve Wendling, fire investigator for Garrett and Allegany counties.

A portion of the structure was saved by fire fighters; however, Wendling estimated the loss to be about $30,000. He said that the origin of the fire is suspicious in nature and noted that a breaking and entering had apparently occurred at the residence after the tenants left the trailer at about 7 p.m. Some of the tenants' possessions were reportedly missing as a result of the burglary.

Wendling added that this was the third structure fire in recent years at this location.

The investigation into the incident is continuing.

Education Board Hits Small Snag At Site, But Will Continue Plan

Members of the Garrett County Board of Education met Tuesday for the regular monthly meeting and discussed a small snag encountered in a survey of the proposed site for the southern area elementary school. Despite the problem, which involves the usage of "emerging wetlands," the board voted unanimously to move on with plans to obtain the site for the new school.

Superintendent Jerome Ryscavage explained in an interview that during the 120-day "option to buy" duration, several required tests and surveys have been undertaken to assure the site is appropriate for the school. Morgan France, local surveyor, studied the area and reported to the superintendent that part of the proposed site does fall into the category of "emerging wetlands." Wetlands, Ryscavage explained, are determined based on the make-up of the soil and the plants growing in that soil.

He informed me that the land considered emerging wetlands does extend in a tongue-like fashion onto the actual proposed school site. The architect was able to adjust the plan so that the size of the land in question is less than an acre," Ryscavage said. He went on to explain that the board may file for a "mitigation request," which will allow them to trade a comparably-sized piece of land (non-wetland) for the small piece in question. He and other school board officials met with representatives of the Water Resources Administration (WRA) last week and were informed that the board would have to receive approval from the WRA to make the exchange.

"I feel fairly confident that we will indeed receive approval," the superintendent said. He did note that WRA approval can take from three to six months time, however.

"In light of the fact that our 120-day option is up on Oct. 9, we will most likely request a six-month extension on the option," he said. The board members were asked if they wished to continue plans on the site, and they voted to do so. The board will meet with the Garrett County Commissioners next Tuesday to inform them of the situation and to continue to pursue the purchase of the land. The commissioners

Bus Driver Found Dead Aboard Bus

A Grantsville area school bus driver was found dead on his bus Wednesday evening on the New Germany Road.

Sixty-five-year-old Cecil Edward Sebold, Grantsville, was found unresponsive by Savage River State Forest Ranger John Frank, who responded to the scene after being notified by Garrett Central.

A passer-by reportedly noticed a Sebold bus pulled to the side of the road, approximately one-quarter mile above Twin Churches Road, and thinking it was suspicious, he called Garrett Central at 6:01 p.m.

Also on the scene were Ranger Rick Lewis, and forensic investigator Jim Wilburn who pronounced Sebold dead at 6:06 p.m. Northern Garrett Rescue Squad transported him to Newman Funeral Home, Grantsville.

Sebold was born Sept. 19, 1928.

Correction Of Computer Error Gives Clark Win

Although early election results released last Tuesday night showed Asa McCain Jr. leading Earl Clark Sr. in the democratic race for the office of District Three commissioner, the discovery and correction of a computer error revealed that Clark was the actual early leader.

According to Fred Sanders, clerk of the Garrett County Board of Elections, a tentative tally compiled on the evening of last Tuesday's gubernatorial primary election listed McCain with 689 votes and Clark with 681.

However, a canvass conducted later in the week revealed that two voting machines in Deer Park had not tallied the votes received by Clark. After correcting this error, election officials realized that Clark actually had earned 742 votes, thus giving him in the early lead, Sanders stated.

After absentee ballots were counted, Clark retained his lead over McCain. In the final tally, Clark, with 764 votes, defeated McCain, who earned 721.

In the close race between Republican District Two commissioner candidates Lawson Duckworth and Clyde Hetrick, the addition of absentee ballots was unable to derail Hetrick's early lead. Election night results placed Hetrick ahead of Duckworth, 848 to 838. After absentee votes were compiled, Hetrick retained his lead with 886 votes to Duckworth's 874.

Four Injured, One Seriously, In Plane Crash

A McHenry man remains hospitalized, listed in "serious" condition in Cumberland Memorial Hospital's intensive care unit, after the airplane he was a passenger in crashed Tuesday evening at the Garrett County Airport, McHenry.

Harry Vaughn Vitez, 43, was flown to the hospital by Maryland State Police Trooper 5 helicopter, after the Piper Cherokee Arrow, Model 28-200 airplane, piloted by a retired state policeman, Lawrence R. Rosage, 54, McHenry, crashed shortly after take-off. Maryland State Police, Barrack W. McHenry, said the plane, en route to Morgantown, W.Va., cleared the end of the runway, but for unknown reasons struck the top of several trees and crashed.

Vitez was seated in the right front seat of the plane. Rosage, and another passenger, Timothy K. Yommer, 34, Min. Lake Park, were treated at GMH and later released. A third passenger, John K. Burnside, 49, Weston, W.Va., was reportedly transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, but refused treatment.

The Federal Aviation Association was notified of the 6:05 p.m. accident, and investigators were on the scene Wednesday afternoon. Also responding to the scene of the crash were members of the Civil Air Patrol who secured the site, members of the Deep Creek Volunteer Fire Department, and the Northern Garrett Rescue Squad.

Candidate's Letter Asks Commissioners To Avoid Spending

The Garrett County Board of Commissioners' decision not to act on a school repair request from county Superintendent of Schools Jerome Ryscavage Tuesday may have been based in part on a letter they recently received from Roger Giotfelty, the newly elected Republican candidate for District Three Commissioner.

The commissioners reported Tuesday that in the letter, Giotfelty asked that the board "defer action of any expenditures of funds for new equipment or hiring of additional personnel, as well as any other activity involving the expenditures of county funds other than payment of routine monthly expenses until after the new board of commissioners is seated."

"A TERRIFIC JOB!" said Maryland State Police Trooper Linda DeVore, as she described the action taken by Grantsville resident Robyn Brenneman during last Thursday's robbery of the Grantsville Branch of First United Bank and Trust. Thanks to Brenneman's quick thinking, she was able to memorize the license plate number of the robbery suspect's vehicle, and assist police in their apprehension efforts. Tfc. DeVore was the officer responsible for coordinating a roadblock in Frostburg, where armed robbery suspect Alexander D. DeVault Jr. was apprehended. DeVore and Brenneman, pictured above, met for the first time Tuesday, beside the bank, where they discussed their inadvertent teamwork. DeVore, one of only two female state police officers in western Maryland (Garrett/Allegany County), praised Brenneman's sense of civic duty, calling it "vital to the quick apprehension." Photo by C. $250,000 Bond Keeps Robbery Suspect Jailed

A Midland man remains incarcerated in the Garrett County Jail, in lieu of $250,000 bond, following his arrest for armed robbery at a Grantsville bank last Thursday afternoon.

Alexander Denning "Denny" DeVault Jr., 49, was charged with robbery with a deadly weapon, five counts of assault with a deadly weapon, possession of a short-barreled shotgun, and felony theft, after he apparently entered the Grantsville Branch of First United Bank and Trust with a sawed-off shotgun, and demanded money from the tellers.

DeVault reportedly held a plastic bag in front of each teller as he walked in front of the counter during the 12:15 p.m. holdup. He then left through a rear entrance of the bank and fled on foot to his vehicle parked about a block from the establishment.

According to a report filed by Tfc. R.M. Hersberger, Maryland State Police, Barrack W. McHenry, DeVault escaped the scene in a four-door Eagle Sedan and initially traveled toward the Pennsylvania state line. He then headed toward Frostburg in Allegany County, and at approximately 1:10 p.m., Tfc. Linda DeVore of the MSP barbed in a Vale spotted the suspect traveling east on Rt. 220.

Hospital "Campaign" Heating Up; Union Vote Set For September 30

While much of the local campaigning for various elected positions has slowed dramatically because of last Tuesday's primary election, another campaign is reaching a peak this week, as some 200 of the approximately 350 employees of Garrett County Memorial Hospital will vote on Friday, Sept. 30, to determine if they want to join Local 27 of the United Food and Commercial Workers Union.

The UFCW Union is affiliated with the AFL-CIO and is one of the nation's largest unions. It represents a wide variety of workers, from meat cutters to grocery store employees to tree trimmers to race track workers. However, less than five percent of their membership are health care workers and Towson-based Local 27 has only one other hospital among its membership.

The hospital employees who will be eligible to vote in next Friday's election include the clerical, technical, and non-professional personnel, which are those employees in the house-keeping, dietary, laboratory, radiology, admissions, and billing and collecting departments. A simple majority of those casting ballots will decide the election.

Both sides have been waging campaigns, primarily within the walls of the hospital, but also through letters to the editor of The Republican. The union representatives have also scheduled a debate for this Saturday evening at the Oakland Elks Lodge between them and the hospital administration; however, Benjamin Rosenthal, hospital president, said neither he, nor any other administrative representative, will participate in the debate.

"Labor relations laws prohibit management from making any promises at these so-called debates, but

Oakland Man Sentenced To 15 Years On Felony Theft Charges

An Oakland man was sentenced to a total of 15 years in the Maryland Department of Corrections, during last week's Garrett County District Court proceedings, after being convicted on six counts of theft.

Paul G. Hesel, 28, was found guilty of five counts of felony theft and one count of petty theft by District Court Judge Ralph M. Burnett. The felony theft convictions carry 15-year sentences, and the petty theft charge brought a one-year term. The judge ordered the sentences to run concurrently, and all court costs were suspended because of the defendant's indigence.

In plea agreements with the state's attorney's office, numerous additional charges of breaking and entering, breaking, entering and stealing, malicious destruction of property, felony theft, daytime burglary, forgery of private documents, uttering, and possession of a controlled dangerous substance (CDS) and its paraphernalia, were not prosecuted.

According to district court records, Hesel was involved in numerous breaking and entering at several summer residences in the Moors Sub-Division area of Melleny and a residence on the Rock Lodge Road during December 1993.

Among the numerous complaints investigated by Garrett County sheriff's deputies was one by Hesel's sister, Sheryl Hesel, who told police someone had been living in her trailer in the Moors Sub-Division, without permission. She had last been at the residence in October 1993, and at that time had removed fuses from the main breaker box and had shut off the electricity. When she returned to the trailer in January, the electric had been turned back on, and dirty dishes were scattered throughout the kitchen and living room. She indicated her brother, Paul Hesel, may have been staying in the residence. When questioned by police about the incident, Hesel reportedly admitted to staying in the trailer for three days in early December.

Another report filed indicated a breaking and entering into one resident's storage building, and the theft of a small propane tank. While police were conducting an investigation into this complaint, they located the tank at Sheryl Hesel's trailer. The defendant reportedly had been using propane fuel to heat the residence, and admitted to taking the tank, as well as other propane tanks from residences in the Moors Sub-Division.

Additional reports filed resulted from the theft of checkbooks from two of the residences. Hesel reportedly forged the check owners' names and made them payable to his alias, "Michael Leo Shaeffer." He and a co-defendant, Shawn M. Robinson, 27, Accident, reportedly cashed two checks and split the money. At another vacation

Ballot Problem Is Discussed By Election Board

The Garrett County Board of Election Supervisors met September 20 to try to resolve a problem which arose during the Primary Election on Sept. 13. The question has arisen concerning the location of board of education candidates on the ballot, which led to some voters failing to see the candidates' names.

The Election Board pointed out that State Board of Election Laws prepares the ballot for all elections held in Maryland and the local board does not have control over the placement of names on the ballot. Any comments, suggestions, and/or criticism, should be directed to the State Board at 1-800-222-8683.

McHenry Man Arrested Saturday, Charged With DWI

An early morning traffic violation stop by Maryland State Police resulted in the arrest of a McHenry man who was charged with DWI (driving while intoxicated) and/or driving while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs.

According to a report filed at Barrack W. McHenry, 11c, M.S. Clapper stopped a 1988 Honda, operated by Steven A. Mills, 22, for driving 67.2 mph in a 45 mph speed zone on Rt. 219, south of the Rock Lodge Road. Other citations included failure to drive right of center and negligent driving.

A subsequent search of Mills' vehicle revealed four plastic bags containing suspected marijuana, and numerous drug paraphernalia items strewn throughout the vehicle, resulting in additional charges of possession of a controlled dangerous substance (CDS) and possession of CDS paraphernalia.

Mills was taken to the Garrett County Jail following his 2:52 a.m. arrest, where he awaited a bond hearing. He was later released on his own recognizance.

B.E. FELONY THEFT
State police are investigating a breaking and entering and felony theft report, filed by Keith D. Harvey, Oakland.

Harvey told police that sometime between 8:45 a.m. and 4:15 p.m. on Sept. 12, someone broke into his residence near Oakland while his family was away, and took computer equipment, large amounts of cash, wedding rings, and a camcorder.

Anyone with information about this incident may contact the investigating officer, 11c, S.H. Anderson, at Barrack W, 387-1101, or 895-1101. The call is toll-free from anywhere in Garrett County.

ONE-VEHICLE MISHAP
Two people were transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad early Wednesday morning following a one-vehicle accident on Rt. 135, near Sand Flat Road.

According to MSP reports, a 1993 Ford Econoline rental van, owned by Hirifty Car Rental Ryder Trucks in Mt. Ranier, and operated by 41-year-old George L. Awkard, Latham, ran off the right side of the road near the intersection of Rt. 135 and the Sand Flat Road, and failed to stop at a stop sign. The van reportedly continued

Theft, Property Destruction Cases Probed By GCSO

Several incidents of property destruction and/or theft were reported to the Garrett County Sheriff's Office this week. Items stolen included two chainsaws from one victim and two ladders from another. Property destruction cases involved vandalism at a Buffalo Coal storage building and the misuse of an all-terrain vehicle.

Richard E. Skipper, Swanton, contacted police on Sept. 9 to report the theft of two chainsaws. The victim told officers that the equipment was inside a back yard shed on the night of Sept. 8 and was gone the following day.

The chainsaws are Homelite brand and their estimated worth is $490, according to the report. There are no suspects in the case.

Two ladders were reported stolen from Franklin N. Winters, Oakland. A six-foot fiberglass ladder and a five-foot wooden ladder were taken from the back of Winters's truck on the night of Sept. 12. Also apparently stolen was $39 worth of gasoline from the victim's truck, which had been parked behind his house.

Winters told police that he has had gasoline stolen before, and other neighbors have reported the same. The value of the ladders was declared to be $200.

Denny Savage, an employee of Buffalo Coal, contacted the sheriff's office when he discovered that a storage building owned by the company had been damaged, apparently by gunshots. The building is located at an abandoned strip mine off Potomac Camp Road, and is checked daily by someone from the company.

On Sept. 12, Savage saw that someone had shot numerous holes into the side of the building, causing approximately $1,000 in damages.

A Crownsville man who owns local property called the police to report the vandalism of his four-wheeler. William Donoho told officers that he owns prop-

Battery Charges Filed Against Oakland Man

An Oakland man was arrested by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office on two counts of battery following a domestic dispute this week. Larry G. Wilson, 31, is accused of battering a woman and her son in the woman's home Monday.

According to the police report, Wilson was asleep on the floor of Edith Tasker's home Monday evening, and when Ms. Tasker attempted to wake him at 10:30 p.m., he threatened her. She and her 10-year-old son then apparently went to bed.

At midnight, Wilson allegedly came into the bedroom and attacked Ms. Tasker, slapping and kicking her. When the son attempted to stop Wilson, the defendant reportedly hit him, knocking him into a closet. Ms. Tasker managed to run outside and hide behind a bush.

Wilson followed her and drove away in his car, presumably looking for her. He returned a short while later. Ms. Tasker had by that time run through briars to a neighbor's house, where the police were contacted. The police report indicated that she sustained numerous scratches from the briars and was bruised.

Wilson was charged with two counts of battery and was incarcerated in the Garrett County Jail. He is being held on $50,000 bond, according to a sheriff's office spokesperson.

In other sheriff's office news, an Oakland man was charged with one count of burglary with intent to steal and one count of theft. Willie G. Friend, 42, is accused of entering the home of Debra L. Friend on Sept. 4 and stealing personal property.

Michael R. Stemple, 22, Oakland, was arrested last week after he allegedly refused to leave a Hutton Road residence after having been told to leave by the owners. Stemple was apparently profane toward Barbara Stemple and refused to leave the home after police officers arrived on the scene.

Stemple was charged with disturbing the peace and disorderly conduct. After spending the night in the local jail, he was released on his own recognizance, according to the report.

The sheriff's office assisted the Oakland City Police in the arrest of two individuals allegedly involved in the death of a 30-30 rifle. Charged were Jason W. Hale, 18, and Robert L. Pyles, 28, both of Oakland.

Hale is accused of breaking into the home of Robert Lee Swanton, and removing the rifle. He apparently gave the gun to Pyles, who then attempted to sell it. Officers acted on information from a third party who reported that the gun had been stolen.

Hale was charged with one count of breaking and entering, and Pyles was cited for theft, according to the report.

A Deer Park woman was arrested on the strength of a warrant this week. Patti Jo Giotofelty, 25, has been charged with burglary, felony theft, and malicious destruction of property. She is accused of breaking into the home of Teresa L. Kitzmiller on Oct. 31 of last year. After gaining entry by breaking a window, she allegedly stole $300 worth of personal property and cash.

A bench warrant was issued for the arrest of Johnny R. Cramer, 35, Albright, W.Va., who apparently failed to appear in district court to face traffic charges. He was scheduled to be in court on July 12, 1993.

Michael A. DeWitt, 21, Mountain Lake Park, was arrested on the strength of a bench warrant for failure to appear in court. He was to face a traffic charge on Sept. 12, according to the report.

Brian R. Griffin, 22, Kitzmiller, was arrested on the strength of a bench warrant for failure to pay $225 into circuit court, according to the report.

Notice

All Oak Grove Church of the Brethren services will be held at the Mettleny Fire Hall until further notice. Due to remodeling.

A body attachment order was issued for the arrest of David H. Ringer, 37, Oakland. Ringer apparently failed to obey a subpoena issued by the circuit court. Pre-set bond was $1,000, which was reduced to 10% after the defendant was taken before the judge last week.

Gary L. Johnson, 40, Accident, was arrested on the strength of a bench warrant last week. He apparently failed to appear in court on August 31.

Oakland Man Pleads Guilty To Sex Offense

An Oakland man pleaded guilty in Garrett County Circuit Court last week to the charge of third degree sexual offense. Bradford L. Shifflett, 23, was arrested on the charge in June after he allegedly molested a 10-year-old female.

Judge Fred A. Thayer accepted Shifflett's plea and ordered a pre-sentence investigation. Bail was to remain at $25,000, according to the court document.

Shifflett was apparently taking care of the child at the time of the alleged molestation. Charges brought against him that were not prosecuted included child abuse, fourth degree sexual offense, and assault and battery. A sentencing date was not indicated on the court record.

As the result of an appeal in a separate case, an Oakland man will serve six months on home detention for a DWI (driving while intoxicated) conviction. Frederick D. Sanders, 53, Oakland, had appealed a sentence handed down to him in Garrett County District Court.

The verdict in district court was guilty, and the judge had ordered Sanders to jail for one year, with six months and one day suspended. He also fined him $1,000.

In the appeal, Thayer accepted Sanders' guilty plea to DWI and also ordered him to be jailed for one year with six months and one day suspended. The judge then declared that the defendant could serve the commitment under home detention, and that he may continue to work during his detention.

Sanders was also ordered to pay for the home detention and was placed on three years of probation. One condition of the sentence is that he remain totally alcohol-free during the commitment and probation.

Bloodmobile To Be In Grantsville

The Johnstown Region of the American Red Cross, Blood Services, reminds donors that there is always a need for blood donations and many sites are available to suit donor schedules.

The next blood drive in Garrett County will be Monday, September 26, from 12:30 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. at the Grantsville fire hall.

Regional Red Cross officials want to remind potential donors that the AIDS virus cannot be contracted through blood donation.

"There is no chance that the AIDS virus or any other infectious disease can be contracted when donating blood," Barbara Sojak, Donor Resources field representative said. "Sterile needles are used on each individual donor and are disposed of after each use minimizing the chance of infection by any disease."

Anyone age 17 or older who weighs at least 105 pounds and is in general good health may donate blood. A person can safely donate blood every 56 days or every eight weeks.

All blood types are needed to maintain adequate supplies, especially negative types and type O, Sojak said.

For more information about this drive or another in this area, persons may contact Barbara J. Sojak at 1-800-542-5663.

Garrett Community College FTE Enrollment At All-Time High

Fall enrollment at Garrett Community College appears to have reversed the trend of declining enrollments at other community colleges and four-year colleges, according to Deloris Edgar, GCC registrar.

With the head count tied with last year's record-breaking 719, the significant increase in number of full-time students (413) has resulted in a 14% rise in full-time equivalencies (FTE's). Enrollment figures showed 250.12 full-time equivalent students as of September 14, the end of the current registration period.

Commenting on the unusually high number of new students, Joan Crawford, director of enrollment development, said, "We see several factors working in our favor to attract new students to GCC - our reputation for academic excellence, the new residence hall, the winning records of our basketball, baseball and volleyball teams, and special promotions we have done with area high schools. An additional factor is our relatively low tuition."

GCC Fares Well In May Survey Of Graduates

Garrett Community College received high marks from members of the May 1994 graduating class, according to a recently published survey. Fifty-four of the 89 graduates completed the survey, for a response rate of 61%.

The majority of students (69%) indicated that they would choose GCC if they were to start college over again, and 87% felt that GCC improved their quality of life.

Eighty-four percent of the students rated the following services at GCC as "good to excellent": academic advising, financial aid, developmental assistance, registration, business office, library, and food service.

As in other years, this year's graduates listed GCC's location and relatively low cost as their primary reason for attending GCC.

Unreasonable Request...

It disturbs us greatly that the Garrett County commissioners, two of whom are now lame duck office holders, are in any way responding to a request by one of the candidates for commissioner that they defer actions or any expenditures of funds other than (to cover) routine monthly expenses.

The present commissioners are still the commissioners of this county, and have just as much authority and responsibility today as they did last week before the results of the primary election were tabulated. There are decisions that must be made now and there will be additional ones before the ends of their terms in December. We, as constituents, should expect them to continue to meet and act according to the oath they took almost four years ago.

Certainly the fact that at least two of the three of them will no longer be in office after the first of the year should have a bearing on some of their decisions over the next few months. But to even consider deferring all decisions that have to do with expenditures of funds is ridiculous.

It is also recognized that the new board of commissioners may have a different opinion about certain expenditures, and it may be within their power to change a decision made today by the present board. But that should not prevent the present commissioners from going ahead with business as usual.

Our specific fear right now is that, because of this request, the plans for construction of the new elementary school just outside of Oakland may get derailed. Considerable sums of money have already been spent on this effort, and we will be outraged if the project is nixed and these funds are wasted.

While we fully expect Commissioner Groves to continue to oppose the school project because of various political promises that he had made earlier, we sincerely hope Brenda Butcher has the courage to continue to do her job and not let this request from the candidate who defeated her sway her from continuing to support the project.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

To all my fellow co-workers at Garrett County Memorial Hospital -- the following statement is my own, heartfelt, personal opinion.

I have tried my hardest to look at both sides fairly. And, in doing so, I have seen more problems popping up, in so many different ways. I would imagine others may also have seen the same.

I feel like a cat sitting on a fence, meowing and waiting for the shoe to hit me in the head -- not knowing which way to go when it does, or where it will come from. Or, I feel like I'm standing in front of a firing squad of 12 rifles, waiting for them to go off -- and not knowing which bullet I will get hit with first. It's a very scary feeling. How would you feel?

I can only hope that every one of my co-workers would just take a step back, and really look to see what is the most important to themselves, as well as their co-workers. What's more important, true friends (which are hard to find), or money?

In our lifetime we are not, and never will be given any guarantees! A lot of promises will, and can be, made to anyone, about anything. But in all honesty, how many will really come true or be kept?

To everyone, your friend,

Michael Gene Powell

To the Editor:

As former employees of Garrett County Memorial Hospital, we would like to express our concerns on behalf of those presently employed by this facility.

A debate between the President of GCMH, Ben Rosenthal, and the United Food & Commercial Workers Union Local #27, has been scheduled for Saturday, September 24, at 6:00 p.m. in the auditorium of the Elks Lodge.

We encourage all employees, as well as the general public, to attend this informative session to elucidate the facts and ascertain answers to questions.

We would like to address the following:

1) The union was contacted by the employees prior to any lay-offs.

2) Union meetings have always been on a volunteer basis, they have never been mandatory. However, Garrett Memorial Administration has deemed it mandatory for all hospital employees to attend anti-union meetings. This seems like hospital harassment, not union harassment.

3) Hospital officials have been astute to denote salaries of union officials, but have made no mention of the earnings of administrative employees (1 administrator, 2 vice presidents, 2 administrative directors and 30 department heads, supervisors and nurse managers) for a 76-bed hospital -- sure sounds like a lot of chiefs. 4) All employees were not given $1.00 on the hour when the hospital changed insurance companies. New employees received no additional money. Also, everyone has neglected to mention for those who did receive the additional $1.00-hour, it was quickly absorbed by the higher premium and higher deductible.

5) The president of the Local #27 has guaranteed in writing the following:

a. No initiation fee for any employees on the payroll at time contract is accepted.

b. Employees will not pay union dues until 30 days after contract, and employee receives a pay raise.

c. Dues will be $4.50 per week.

d. Dues will not be increased for at least the duration of first contract; all increases thereafter will be voted upon by the employees.

e. Local 27 will not allow GCMH to negotiate any wage or benefit losses during negotiation.

f. Local 27 will be there to represent and negotiate for the employee.

g. Negotiating committee will be elected from co-workers.

h. Employees will be allowed to elect their shop stewards.

i. No strike, unless 2/3 of the employees working at GCMH vote to authorize it.

j. Employees will not be affected should any other facility represented by UICW go on strike.

Volunteers Needed For Habitat

by Barbara Briggs

Sunday, September 18, was the International Day of Prayer and Action for Human Habitat. Garrett County Habitat for Humanity, Inc., has been in Garrett County since 1983. The organization is in the process of finishing its 26th home and needs to have its 27th home under roof before winter.

Habitat is dedicated to its mission to eliminate substandard housing for all God's people in need. Families who do not qualify for Farmers Home, Maryland Bond, or any other conventional loans may be eligible for a Habitat home. The family must complete an application and provide proof of income to begin the review process. Families are visited by two Family Selection Committee members to check out their need for a new home. This visit starts a lengthy process, which may lead to homeownership or suggestions of other places that may be of assistance.

Habitat is a hand up, and not a hand out. Families must complete 500 "sweat equity" hours on other Habitat projects, of which 300 hours must be completed before the house is finished and 200 hours after they move into the home.

Habitat is not a government-funded program. Donations from individuals, churches, businesses, and private foundations are Habitat's only means of income.

Volunteers are the lifeblood of Habitat's operation. There are many ways to get involved, from serving on a committee to building homes. Experienced volunteer builders to help us in specialty areas of building, such as masonry, electrical, and plumbing, are a major need. Volunteers who want to use a hammer, saw, or paint brush are always on demand.

You may volunteer your services or make a donation towards Habitat's work by contacting me, Barbara Briggs, at 301-334-9431 ext. 113 or by writing to Garrett County Habitat for Humanity, Inc., P.O. Box 363, Oakland, MD 21550.

View From My Window

by Jeffrey Wilson

A FLOCK IN EVERY YARD

Of the 10 hens in my backyard flock four were hatched early in 1989. They are Banded Plymouth Rocks, charcoal grey birds with fine, horizontal lines of white. Their large size makes them the choice breed for meat as well as eggs. These hens are survivors of a flock of 17. A few of the original number I lost to natural causes. The balance departed this life in the teeth of a fox.

A nearly six-year-old laying hen is unheard of in the commercial egg business. Even in a backyard flock, my guess is that my hens might win a prize for longevity. Indeed, I have intended for quite some time to dispatch the final four, and enjoy chicken corn soup and chicken pot pie.

One reason they are still laying eggs is that I haven't had time to kill and clean them. Another reason I haven't killed them is that, when I do have time, they are still laying eggs.

I don't mean to tell you that those four old biddies lay up to the standard they once set, nor that they lay as well as the six Rhode Island Reds which brother Eric hatched out for me earlier this year. Among the four of them they manage to lay an egg or two a day which is just enough to keep my hand away from the hatchery.

If I bought all their feed, they probably couldn't pay their keep at that rate. The fact is that I augment the purchased mash and grain with table scraps and leftovers from the garden. They scavenge some of their own food every afternoon when we let them run the yard. And now that our tenant is chopping corn we will glean carcass from the ends and corners of fields.

Together the 10 hens have been producing about four dozen eggs a week. That's enough for us and some to share. An aunt suggested that I make sure nobody was adding eggs to the nests to fool me, as my Grandfather Wilson did to my grandmother many long years ago. When my grandmother told her brother, a great chicken man, about her booming production, he commented only, "That's wonderful, Lucy." The only problem is that you have more eggs than chickens. So far, I haven't had that problem.

Many experts in agriculture, both practical and theoretical, scoff at the backyard flock, the garden, the home orchard and other means of raising one's own food. They smile condescendingly upon it as a hobby. To the goal of self-reliance through food production, the standard answer is that it can all be purchased more cheaply at the store. Even if that were true (and I don't believe it is) it would be only a partial truth.

It is not cheap if I am buying meat or vegetables from central and South America which had DDT applied to it for insect control. It is not cheap if hormones were used to stimulate growth, or chemicals were used for weed or pests.

It is ironic that farmers have been largely persuaded to abandon the first purpose of farming, namely to live off the farm. Until a few decades ago the farm family consumed what it raised first, and then sold the excess as cash crops. Today most farm families depend on the grocery store and the shopping mall as much as anyone else. Some folks think that is progress. I am not among them.

Production agriculture -- that's when you raise everything to sell and keep nothing to eat -- seems to me like throwing out the baby and saving the bathwater. All production agriculture has accomplished is to move people off the farm. In 1910 there were a 100 million people in this country, of which 33 million lived on farms. In 1990 there were 240 million Americans. Four million of us lived on farms. We went from being a third of the population to less than two percent. Thanks to production agriculture the American farmer is an endangered species.

Lots of things need doing to revive farming in America. An essential thing is to restore homestead agriculture to the farm. That is to re-establish the first reason for farming, to provide for one's own household from the gardens and fields of the farm.

Brother Eric has more hens than I do, and he keeps a rooster so he can keep us both in hens. He also has a six-month old Jersey heifer staked out in his yard. At present he is transforming her shed into a structure that looks a good deal more like a barn. We share books like Raising the Homestead Hog and Root Cellaring.

We are relearning the lessons our grandparents knew by heart and which experts taught our parents to forget. It does not matter if the Department of Agriculture or the Internal Revenue Service considers us farmers, because we know we are.

To the Editor:

Regarding this week's cartoon (September 15th issue). As a Catholic I found it insulting: as a woman, offensive. The church has long withstood criticism and will continue to endure. Personally, I was hurt.

The Republican certainly has a right to express an opinion. I do feel however that a concern of this magnitude should be accorded the professionalism and sensitivity that your paper usually exhibits.

It is sad to think of Republican readers laughing at the faith and morals of others.

Sincerely,

Roberta Andersen

To the Editor:

It was snowing that morning, as March weather usually brings here in Garrett County. The night before had brought yet another type of conflict -- fire, which destroyed most of a home in which an elderly man lived alone.

When I arrived at what was left of this home, I found a man, not beaten, but temporarily detained. His hope was to close off the section not destroyed by the fire and begin reconstructing in the spring, this small, inadequate place which he had called home for over 20 years.

Knowing the basics of construction, I instantly came to the conclusion that the structure could not be rebuilt safely and certainly not by this singular individual. In order for this man to have a decent place to live, a new home would have to be built.

Complicating circumstances limited the resources available to finance such construction. Was I to let this man "fall through the cracks" as many in our county do. For some families, receiving financial assistance needed to improve present homes or build new ones seems virtually impossible. If the family does not fall within the given income guidelines, their dreams cease, or so it appears.

In that morning's conversation, the gentleman stated that he didn't want any hand-outs, only a helping hand to rectify what the fire had destroyed. Taking those words to heart, I approached an organization, whose mission is to build safe, adequate houses for those in need. I attended my first Habitat for Humanity Workcamp meeting. Dreams did not cease, for within 60 days, the gentleman spent his first night in his new home.

In my job working with emergency housing situations, I have since called upon Habitat for Humanity for their assistance solely or in conjunction with programs through our agency. Seeing the lives of so many families change through home ownership or home rehab instills my belief in the words giving people "a hand up, not a hand-out."

ROTARIANS DEDICATE BOOTH - The Rotary Club of Oakland formally dedicated its new french fry booth at the Garrett County Fairgrounds in McHenry last Thursday evening with prayer and a picnic. Invited guests included Dale Giotfletty of the Fair Board, Ed Wilburn, contractor, and Jim Teets and Bausch and Lomb employees who were thanked for raising over $3,000 for the Rotary Christmas Project. Over seven tons of potatoes were cooked during fair week, as the booth brought in a gross income of over $26,000 and netted approximately $12,000 which will be used to support the club's Christmas project and numerous other local organizations and charities.

County Memorial Hospital who are the "fence sitters" in the unionization issue as well as those who are opposed to the union. Your votes on September 30 are more important than you realize. The union issue will be decided by the percentage of Yes votes of the total number of votes cast; not of the total number of people who are eligible to vote. For example, if only 100 people vote and 51 of those people vote Yes, the union will be in. It's that easy.

This issue should be taken seriously and all eligible voters should decide which way they want to vote and to cast that vote on the 30th. Our futures are at stake, and I don't mean just future wages and benefits. Unreasonable demands by a union could mean a strike. An extended strike could hurt the reputation of this hospital enough to cause patients to seek medical treatment outside of Garrett County. This hospital has supported many families and generations in this community for about 50 years and I would hate to see Garrett County lose an employer of its magnitude.

What voice will we have if the union is successful in negotiating a "closed shop" arrangement with administration? What choice will we have if the union gets its fangs into the hospital? We will be forced to join the union or lose our jobs, and we will be forced to pay weekly dues for representation we don't want or need. I strongly urge those who are still "on the fence" to vote NO - do it for yourself and do it for all of us who are opposed to union control of our lives.

To the Editor:
What it means to our family to receive a new Habitat home. It means a great deal to us because getting a new home means that we will have a home that we can call our own and it means we will never have to rent ever again.

When you are renting there are usually rules that the landlord expects you to follow. With getting our new home we have our own rules because it will be our own home. We have always dreamed of having our own home and didn't think we would ever get one. Habitat has made our dreams come true. We are very thankful to Habitat.

We have five children and Habitat has made their lives better and happier because when we rented apartments or a house we were very crowded and uncomfortable.

We all are very proud and thankful to Habitat.

Sincerely,
The Ralph and Donna Park Family

To the Editor:
I can't believe I made such a huge blunder! In my press release to The Republican newspaper which appeared in last week's issue, I stated that this year's "Life Chain" is a peaceful, prayerful time of reflection on the thirty thousand lives lost to abortion since the legalization of abortion in the United States. The actual figure should have been thirty million lives. In our country, a child dies to abortion every 20 seconds. That's three per minute, 183 each hour, 4,384 every day, 131,520 children killed each month, 1.5 million lives snuffed out every year.

Much of my article was edited out, but I believe many people would like to know the rest of it. The purpose of the chain is "to pray for personal forgiveness, for the protection of unborn children and their mothers, for abortionists lost in spiritual darkness, for politicians and jurists, and for unity and commitment among God's people."

It continued, "According to national director, Royce Dunn, the Chain's primary purpose is to minister to the participants themselves. We must acknowledge our past failures to defend and aid the victims of abortion, both child and mother. We must also aid women who have had abortions and who may have been victims of boyfriend or husbands' demands." Dunn insists that women bear too much of abortion's stigma, while men bear too little, and he sees pro-lifers as the true defenders of women's rights. "Abortion terminates pregnancy with the death of a child," says Dunn. "It does not terminate motherhood, and women intuitively know and endure this painful truth. The current abortion era is the darkest period in our nation's history, and it will end when a sufficient number of Christians declare that the killing must not continue. Abortion's prey on women and children defiles God's holiness and disgraces any nation that permits it."

The Life Chain will be held Sunday, Oct. 2, in downtown Oakland, from 2-3 p.m.

Thank you for allowing me to have this forum to issue an apology for my mistake and to keep our local people informed.

To the Editor:

Garrett County Habitat for Humanity, a non-profit, non-denominational housing ministry, urgently needs your help to complete their 26th home by October 8th. We need people to help finish siding, sand and paint drywall, stain windows, complete trim work and seeding. The family that has been chosen to receive this home has a lease that expires October 15th. We would like to dedicate this home by the 8th of October so they may get moved before the lease expires.

We also need workers to help us get our 27th home under roof before winter sets in. We need block layers as soon as possible to lay in the foundation. We have a youth group that is willing to come and help us for one Saturday in October. This is a great start, but is just the beginning of the work that needs to be completed. Let's work together to get this family in their home by Christmas.

All skill levels are needed, especially persons who can provide assistance in masonry, plumbing, and electrical work. Builders are urged to donate one day of your time or that of one of your crew members. Those interested may contact me, Barbara Briggs, at 334-9431, ext. 113.

To The Editor:

On Monday August 22, while visiting in the Oakland area, I became ill. We were having dinner at the home of prominent local residents who recommended that I go to the local hospital emergency room. We took this very sound advice.

Upon arrival, I was given a very cordial and caring reception by the admitting representative. After a short wait, a very caring admitting nurse took a history and vital signs. A doctor appeared soon after who was very attentive and responsive to my problems. He prescribed an immediate therapeutic treatment to relieve my problem, took X-rays to assure that no possible additional symptoms were present, and prescribed continuing medications.

I am writing this letter to you, because I think that the whole Garrett County community should be aware that what you have here is an exemplary model of what good medical care should be and is all about. I cannot praise the staff enough. I can only say thank you, Garrett County, for your tender loving care.

GOBA Members Meet, Discuss Activities

The Greater Oakland Business Association (GOBA) held its regular monthly meeting last week and discussed several current and future activities and projects.

The month's guest speaker was Fred Warther, who talked to the group of 12 business representatives about the proposed "Garrett Showcase" theatre and mini-convention center, to be located on Rt. 219 near Uno's Restaurant, Deep Creek Lake. GOBA members voted to support such a project and to provide one member as a member of the future board of directors.

The members were informed that the historical trust funding for the walking tour brochure did not come through, but there may be funding available from the Maryland Downtown Development Association (MDDA) next year. GOBA members also agreed to solicit businesses to purchase a listing in this directory to help defray costs.

The MDDA annual meeting will be attended by Connie Margison and Peggy Jamison.

The business association also discussed the upcoming Southwest railroad tour, which will include a train stop at the Oakland station on Oct. 8.

At least 200 passengers are expected to be on the train and they will be stopping in Oakland at noon until approximately 2 p.m. A variety of vendors will be selling food, and box lunches will be available at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church. The Garrett Community College Pipes and Drums will provide musical entertainment.

For more information about the train, persons may contact Amy Rudy at 334-2654 or Karen Reckner at 334-3322.

Business persons were reminded to hang out their Autumn Glory bunting. For those who do not have a bunting, they are available for sale at Marvin's Men's Wear.

The GOBA billboard has been put back in place along Rt. 219 in McHenry. Gratitude was expressed to Barry Domenick and the town of Oakland for their efforts in replacing the sign.

The merchants discussed possible activities for the day after Thanksgiving, as this day is one of the busiest of the year. The topic will be discussed further.

The Garrett County Office for Children, Youth, and Families is planning a summit to focus on the needs of children residing in the county. The office has requested that a representative from GOBA attend the summit. Any person interested in doing so should call Bob Stephens at 334-1189 or Janna Naylor at 334-3923.

Duane Yoder of Community Action told the group that a shuttle service - People Movers - will soon begin in the Oakland area. The shuttle will run all day and will make stops at area grocery stores, apartment complexes, and other sites. The future plans include a shuttle that will travel as far as McHenry with numerous stops along the way. The definite date for the shuttle service to begin was not noted.

Not Just Quilts

Oakland's newest business, Not Just Quilts, opened its door to the public last month with their grand opening, inviting the public to a different kind of shop. Not Just Quilts offers quilt classes, unique 100% cotton fabric, gifts, and quilt supplies.

Karin Rodeheaver of Bayard, W.Va., and a former resident of Frankfurt, Germany, has taught quilting, along with Ella Jones, in Garrett County for many years. She shares her talent of the craft by teaching today's modern quick techniques. Quality handmade items are also available for sale at this unique little shop at 210 East Alder Street.

Rodeheaver has had her work exhibited in the cultural arts division in Charleston, W.Va., and has a contract with the state of West Va. to purchase her work. In Garrett County, her work is seen during the Autumn Glory Festival when she quilts and pieces the Garrett County Arts Council quilt for their annual festivities.

Not Just Quilts is just what the name implies, as the business features handmade pieces from area crafters, along with quilt supplies, tools, fabrics and quilted items.

The craft is based around the American art of quilting with the touch of modern times, featuring Hoffman Metallic 100% cotton fabric and handmade lace items, all giving it the soft touch for today's appeal.

Mrs. Rodeheaver and her daughter, Linda, hope this new venture will be an additional attraction to the many visitors of Garrett County and the surrounding area.

The shop is open Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and on Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Not Just Quilts will offer quilting classes in the new fast piecing techniques and speed rotary cutting. Pre-registration for the classes are requested and can be made by calling the shop at 334-3304 or by stopping in.

Extension Service Offers Newsletter

Good stewardship of Maryland's forests is essential to the protection of the state's wildlife, water, timber and recreation resources. However, with 90 percent of Maryland's woodlands in the hands of more than 125,000 private landowners, getting stewardship information to those who need it is a formidable task.

That is why the Cooperative Extension Service, University of Maryland at College Park introduced a quarterly forest stewardship newsletter last year with the Maryland Department of Natural Resources' Forest Service, the Maryland Tree Farm Committee and the Forest Stewardship Committee. Called "Branching Out: Maryland's Forest Stewardship Educator," this four-page publication contains information on educational programs, new publications and video resources, as well as feature articles about landowners who have put stewardship practices to work on their land.

Woodland owners, or those interested in forest stewardship, and interested in receiving this free newsletter, should send their name and address to Branching Out, Cooperative Extension Service, 18330 Keedysville Road, Keedysville, MD 21766; or call 301-432-2735.

Education Board Members To Attend MABE Conference

The Maryland Association of Boards of Education (MABE) will hold its annual three-day conference September 22-24 at the Holiday Inn Hotel Conference Center and Marina in Solomons. Attending the event from the Garrett County Board of Education will be Superintendent Jerome Rysavage, board president Beverly Murphy, Charlotte Sebald, and Hannah Sincell. Carolyn Warner, former local board member and Arizona State superintendent, will be speaking at the opening luncheon. An addition to this year's conference will be MABE's first vendor exhibit. From conclusion of the afternoon clinics until 7 p.m., vendors will display their wares and services for board members and superintendents. Governor William Donald Schafer has been invited to join MABE members for Thursday breakfast and receive recognition for his support of education funding during the last years of his tenure as governor. Following breakfast, MABE's annual business meeting and a superintendent's meeting will be conducted. A wide variety of informative mini-rounds will be featured on Thursday afternoon. Topics to be addressed by Maryland experts will include negotiations issues, on-line information networks, employee health benefits, student board representation, leadership development, current "sub-stances on the street," status of misconduct, and student self-esteem support. State board members have been invited to participate by presenting the status of their local certification and high school assessment plans.

Thursday evening's gala "Presidents' Reception and dinner" will honor past MABE presidents. Garrett County students will entertain with a string ensemble. Friday morning will be devoted to panel presentations on year-round education, effective schools, MSPAP, and special education student inclusion. The gubernatorial candidates successful in the primary have been invited to the closing luncheon to share their vision on Maryland public education.

Those serving on the Conference Program Committee are Joseph Mich, chairman, (Carroll); William Phalen and Gail Hoer, (Allegany); Bennett (Calvert); James Gies and Superintendent Dr. Lowell R. Carter (Charles); Marlene Feldman (Dorchester); Beverly Ann Murphy and Hannah Sincell (Garrett); Beverly Beander (Prince George's); Laura Harrison (Talbot); and B. Marie Byers (Washington).

Food For Thought

by Chef Francesco Pisano
McClive's Restaurant

Like magic, turn leftover mashed potatoes into delicious soup. Sauté chopped onions and garlic in a little oil, then the potatoes and any other vegetables you want to add. Mix in enough chicken broth for the consistency you want and heat through. Season with thyme and pepper.

Though roadside cider stands may be tempting, there have been reports of contamination with E. coli, a potentially deadly bacteria. Either boil the cider for two minutes, or buy pasteurized.

Super quick sorbet. Take pears or peaches in heavy syrup out of the can and freeze, buzz in the processor. That's it!

Herb-mustard rub adds flavor and a golden coating when rubbed onto a pork, beef or lamb roast. Combine a small finely chopped onion, 2 Tbs. good mustard, and 1/4 tsp. each pepper, rosemary and marjoram.

Here's how to keep herbs fresh in the refrigerator for weeks: snap off six inches from the bottoms of the stems and place the greens in a jar with two or three inches of water. Cover loosely with a plastic bag.

Here's how to keep your family cook happy: take her or him out to dinner now and then at McClive's Restaurant. McHenry. Open daily for dinner 327-1172

Foster Care Review Board Seeking Members

The local Foster Care Review Board is currently in need of volunteers to serve on the board, which reviews area foster care situations once a month.

According to a release from the Maryland State Board for Review of Foster Care of Children, the case plans of over 5,500 Maryland children in foster care are reviewed every six months, with local boards meeting once a month to review these children's permanency plans and to help ensure that they are moved through the system in a timely and appropriate manner as possible toward a permanent home.

Five local review board members and two alternates are appointed for four-year terms. A local selection committee interviews applicants and makes recommendations to the governor's office for official appointment. Board members and alternates are required to participate in training sessions in order to serve on the review board.

Board members are reimbursed for mileage but are not compensated for their time. After reviewing a child's case, the board makes a recommendation to the juvenile court regarding the department of social services' permanency plan for the child. The recommendations are advisory only; the court has final responsibility for decisions regarding the child.

The recommendation may be that the child return to his/her natural parent or guardian; be placed in adoption; become independent; or, more rarely, remain in long-term foster care.

There are 54 review boards throughout the state, according to the release. Since the review process was initiated in Maryland, the average length of stay for a foster child has fallen to approximately 20 months, and the number in care has been cut nearly in half to 5,100.

The release from the state board states that this reflects some progress in preventing placement when possible and in making permanent placements for children.

However, because of severe social problems in the past few years, the burden on child welfare problems has increased. As many as 3,300 children enter foster care each year, according to the release, and placement resources are scarce.

She and her husband, Michael, are the parents of a 10-month old daughter, Allison. The family recently moved to McHenry. They are familiar with Garrett County, having visited in the local area for several years to kayak and raft on the Youghiogheny River.

Holly Janoska Joins Faculty At Southern

Nearly 20 new employees have been added to the faculty and staff of the Garrett County Board of Education this fall in various areas of instruction, according to Henrietta Lease, director of personnel. One of the new faculty members is Holly Janoska, a licensed social worker who is serving as a teacher and case manager in the career employability and Maryland's Tomorrow program at Southern High School.

Janoska is responsible for teaching a career employability class for seniors which deals in part with job seeking and finding and keeping skills in addition to helping students develop career goals. She will also supervise students in their work experiences.

As a case manager for the Maryland's Tomorrow program, she will provide assistance for at-risk students and their families in an attempt to decrease the drop-out rate and increase students' success. Mrs. Janoska, a native of Michigan, earned her undergraduate degree from Central Michigan University and completed her master of social work degree at the University of Michigan. Following eight years as a social worker in Michigan, she moved to Maryland where she was employed for the past two years as a social worker in the Baltimore City Public Schools.

Heslop, Huskies Dominate Poolesville For First Win

A 100-yard, three-touchdown performance by junior running back Brian Heslop, plus total domination of the line of scrimmage, high-lighted Northern High School's game against host Poolesville Friday night, a game which the Huskies won, 27-12. The victory ended the young Husky squad's season mark at 1-1.

Heslop received outstanding blocking from the Huskies' big offensive line, anchored by Steve Savage, to basically have his way against the Poolesville defense. He carried the ball 24 times, as the Huskies generated a total of 244 yards on the ground and another 108 through the air on seven completed passes.

After a scoreless first period, Heslop opened the scoring with a 10-yard touchdown run and Jeremy Brenneman pulled in a half-back pass from Heslop to record the two-point conversion.

Midway through the same period, Brenneman connected with D.J. Durst on a 34-yard scoring aerial to put Northern up 13-0. The point-after kick was blocked.

The Huskies still weren't finished before halftime, as Heslop capped another drive with a seven-yard touchdown run. He also kicked the extra point to make it 21-0 at intermission.

Northern added an insurance touchdown in the third quarter, this time on a five-yard run by Heslop. The kick for the extra point was no good.

Northern Coach Tom Vent decided to give his younger players experience in the fourth quarter, and the Poolesville offense took advantage of the situation. John Zidell pulled in a seven-yard pass from Russ Wayton to score the home team's first points. The conversion attempt was no good.

Then Aaron Raybolf doubled Poolesville's score late in the contest with his five-yard touchdown run. Again the kick for the extra point failed.

Leading the Northern defensive unit, which allowed only 42 yards on the ground and a total of just 116 yards, were Savage, Lee Collins, Cody Brenneman, and Bill Spicher.

"Our kids continue to play very well on the road," Coach Vent said. "I think before the Beall game at home this Friday we will load up the boys on the buses and drive around for about two hours."

We really dominated the game, especially offensively," Vent said. "Brian Heslop had a great game for us, and he got a lot of support from our offensive line. Coach (Phil) Carr, our offensive coach, just did a super job."

Vent noted the efforts of Steve Savage on the offensive line, describing him as one of the area's top linemen. The one source of disappointment for Vent and his staff was the performance of the younger Huskies in the fourth quarter.

They really let down, and we keep telling them that they are just one play away from having to go into the game and keep pace if someone gets injured," Vent said.

The Huskies came out of the contest with only the minor bumps and bruises from any typical game, and should be at full strength this week when they host the undefeated Beall High Mountaineers.

"This will be a big regional game for both teams," Vent said, "and we're going to have to play extremely well to win it."

Vent said the Beall team is basically a "clone" of last year's Mountaineer squad that lost in the state Class A finals by just a few points.

"They lost some of their key skill people, but they basically have everyone back on their lines," he said. "They have also won 16 straight regular season games."

The Beall wishbone offense is led by two big linemen in senior tackle Ronnie McKenzie (6-4, 240) and senior Mike McGlinchey (6-2, 230), plus senior fullback Chad Cutler (5-7, 200).

They are also getting strong performances from sophomore halfback Shawn Holloway (5-11, 200), who played at Northern last year.

The Beall 5-2 monster defense is led by McGlinchey, senior nose guard Tony Tringler (6-0, 200), and Frost in the secondary.

The Mountaineers are under new coach Roy De-

Vore, who has served as an assistant coach at both Northern and Southern.

Roy is a good fundamental coach," Vent said. "This will be sort of a homecoming game for Roy. I just hope that his former team (the Huskies) will win it."

Vent said he is anticipating a strong running game and very little passing from the Mountaineers, while his offense will be centered around Heslop.

"It's no secret that we plan to get the ball to Brian a lot, and hope that our line continues to do a good job opening the holes for him," he said.

"It should be a great football game," he concluded.

Friday's kickoff at the Northern athletic field is slated for 7:30 p.m.

Husky Jayvees Blanked Twice

The junior varsity football team of Northern High School had a tough week, as the Huskies were pounded on the gridiron last Wednesday evening, 35-0, by host Fort Hill, and were then blanked by visiting Allegany Monday night, 40-0. Both the Camper and Sentinel jayvee teams are undefeated.

Ryan Raley pulled in two touchdown passes for Fort Hill, while Trae Foster recorded 102 yards of rushing and a touchdown on just nine carries. Rick Jenkins and Wayne Shilling also each scored a rushing touchdown.

John Snelling, Jim Green, and Jeremy Hoover were defensive standouts for the Huskies, while Jonathan Hames, Travis Broll, and Mike Paige excelled for the Sentinels.

Against Allegany the Huskies could not contain Rashad Paige, who scored four touchdowns.

The Huskies will not play again until October 6 at Southern.

Ram Defensive Effort Leads To Win Over Musselman

For the second week in a row the Southern High School varsity produced an outstanding defensive effort on the home gridiron, and because they were able to finally move their offense, the Rams recorded a big 16-8 victory Friday night over the visiting Applemen from Musselman High School. The win evened the Rams' record at 1-1, as they opened with a 7-0 loss the previous week to still-undefeated Frankfort.

Tailback Scott Dawson accounted for 14 of the Rams' points with a pair of touchdowns and a two-point conversion run and also led the team in rushing with 98 yards on 17 carries. A blocked punt recovery in the Rams' end zone resulted in Musselman's touchdown.

The Rams took the opening kickoff and proved right away that they could move the ball against the Applemen, with Dawson, quarterback Jeremy Fitzwater, and senior fullback Paul Berkeridge recording most of the yardage. The 10-play drive was capped by Dawson on a one-yard touchdown run at the 6:10 mark of the first quarter. Dawson's successful run for two points put the Rams on top, 8-0.

The Applemen were unable to move the ball effectively against the stingy

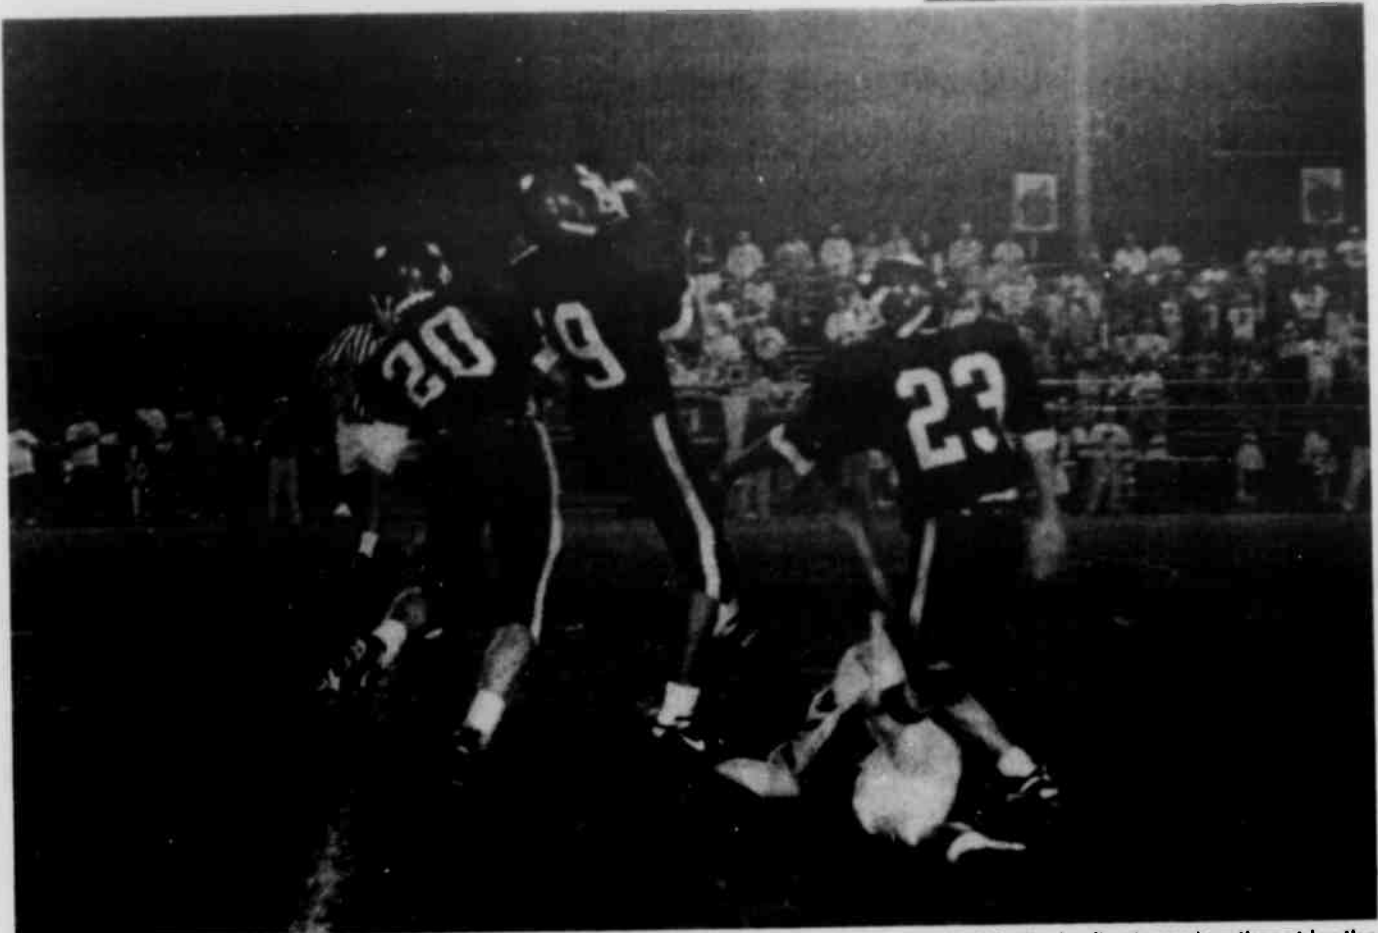

Ram defense; but the Musselman defense also stiffened and began to record a number of sacks of Fitzwater in the Southern backfield.

A 65-yard punt by Musselman midway through the second period pinned the Rams on their own three-yard line. After the Rams were unable to move the ball more than about five yards, Fitzwater stepped to the back of his end zone to punt; but the ball was blocked and rolled to the corner of the end zone, where Applemen Mike Danner pounced on it for the touchdown.

Chris Horner fired a pass over the center to Todd Davis for the two-point conversion, knotting the score at 8-8.

The visitors nearly went on top on the opening kickoff of the second half, as Davis received the ball and got past every Southern player up the center of the field, with the exception of Andy Woods, whose open-field solo tackle on the COMING DOWN WITH AN INTERCEPTION, but unable to hang on to it a second later is Southern High Ram Andy Woods during Friday night's game against visiting Musselman. Woods did come up with a key interception later in the game, however, that halted a final scoring threat by the Applemen. The Rams won the game, 16-8, to even their record at 1-1. Other Rams in the above photo are #20, Jeff Droppelman, and #23, Adam Moomau.

Applemen 46 prevented a certain touchdown.

Musselman then went to the air and were threatening again when Matt Saville hauled in a Horner aerial with just one man to beat, but promptly fumbled the ball away to the Rams.

Woods received a punt return on the final play of the third quarter and raced 26 yards to the Southern 46. On the first play of the final stanza, Dawson powered his way around the right end on an option play and raced down the sidelines to the end zone to score what would be the winning touchdown. Fitzwater kept the ball on another option play to score the two-point conversion.

The Rams seemed to have the game well in hand until they were forced to punt with less than two minutes to play and Musselman again blocked Fitzwater's attempt and took over inside the Rams' 30-yard line. Two plays later, however, Woods picked off Horner's pass at the one-yard line to ice the victory for the Rams.

"This was a great effort by our kids," Coach Tom Woods said. "We were so proud of them for being so willing to bounce back after a tough loss the previous week."

S: Scott Dawson 3 run (Dawson run)
M: Mike Danner blocked punt recovery (Todd Davis pass from Chris Horner)
S: Dawson 46 run (Jeremy Fitzwater run)

"One of the keys was that we got off to such a good start and knew right away that we could move the ball against them," he said, "which really built our confidence."

Woods was particularly pleased with the efforts of his linemen, both offensive and defensive, against the Musselman line personnel who were all back from last year's state runner-up team. "I also believe our (Andy Woods') punt return right before the fourth quarter really gave us the momentum we needed late in the game," he said, "because we scored on the very next play."

Woods commented particularly on the defensive efforts of Berkeridge, Seth Tressler, and Woods; the offensive blocking of Todd DeWitt, Matt Glotfelty, and Shawn Durst; and the running efforts of Dawson, Fitzwater, and Berkeridge.

The only real disappointment, Woods said, was the two blocked punts.

"We worked and worked on that in practice," he said. "Obviously we need to work some more on it."

The Rams will face another formidable opponent this Friday evening, as they take to the road for the first time and meet the Golden Tornado of Keyser High School, a team that is 1-3 on the season and coming off a disappointing 12-10 loss to Bishop Walsh.

"Keyser is a very young team that, as you would expect, plays very well at times and pretty poorly at other times," Woods said. "They do have very good speed among their skill people; probably superior to Musselman's."

Among the top offensive players for Keyser are three-year starting quarterback Aaron Sanders (6-0, 170), a senior; big senior tight end Robert Redman (6-4, 225); an elusive back in sophomore Chance Twyman (5-9, 175); and another good back in junior Corey Shoemaker (5-9, 150).

The Tornado uses the I-formation with a split-back offense and the option.

They pass roughly 15 times per game, with Redman and Shoemaker as Sanders' primary targets.

Redman is also an excellent kicker.

"Another concern for us is their size," Woods said. "Their offensive line averages about 230 pounds and their defensive line averages about 240. They are big, tall kids."

The 5-2 defense is anchored by Twyman and sophomore Steve Starcher (5-10, 160) at linebacker positions and junior Jared Keplinger (6-1, 254) at tackle.

"They blitz about 90 percent of the time," Woods said.

A big plus for the Rams this week is the surprise return of senior tailback David Crocco, who was believed to have been finished for the season with a dangerous spinal injury.

"David has been cleared to play by a group of specialists who determined that he has a node, and not a fracture, on his spinal column," Woods said. "We're really happy for David and his family, and certainly pleased for our team that he's back."

Woods said that Dawson has missed most of practice this week with a knee bruise, but is expected to play Friday night.

Friday's kickoff in Keyser is slated for 7:30 p.m.

Oakland Jets Handed First MTYFL Defeat

The Oakland Jets were handed their first Mountaintop Youth Football League defeat of the season Sunday by the Parsons Vikings, 28-13, on the Southern High School field.

Wesley Lambert put the Vikings on the board in the opening moments of the game with a 64-yard touchdown run and B.J. DiBacco ran successfully for the conversion.

The Jets responded with a drive all the way to the Viking seven-yard line behind a long pass play from Justin Liller to Keith Parks, but after a penalty the Jets fumbled the ball away. Jet linebacker Andrew Rickman got the ball back when he intercepted Jason Hedrick's pass, but Derek Simmons picked off one of Liller's aeriels a few plays later. Lambert then broke loose for a 73-yard touchdown run and also ran for the point-after to give the Vikes a 14-0 lead.

The second half began with DiBacco intercepting a Liller pass and racing 48 yards for the Vikings' third touchdown. Hedrick passed successfully to Neil Parsons for the point-after.

A Jeremy Hayhurst fumble recovery on the Viking 25 set up the Jets' first score, as Josh Bosley carry and the conversion attempt failed.

Bosley finished with 118 yards on 14 carries, while Lambert recorded nearly 200 yards for the Vikings.

Lenny Ford and Bosley were defensive standouts for the Jets, while Lambert, DiBacco, and Simmons excelled for the Vikes.

The Jets will play again this Saturday evening at Northern High School in a 6:30 p.m. contest with the Terra Alta Dolphins.

Steelers Defeat Dolphins, 20-7, In Youth League

Behind a 137-yard rushing effort by T.J. Snelling and two touchdown passes by Craig Kamp, the Northern Steelers got back on the winning track Saturday evening during a steady rain by defeating the Terra Alta Dolphins, 20-7, on the Northern High School field.

After a scoreless defensive battle in the first quarter, Snelling opened the scoring with a 20-yard touchdown run in the period and Kamp ran for the conversion to give the Steelers a 7-0 lead.

Later in the same period, Kamp connected with Jesse Shimrock on a 21-yard scoring pass. The conversion attempt was no good.

The Steelers took a 20-0 lead in the third quarter when Kamp hit Jed Wilhelm with a 19-yard touchdown strike and Snelling ran successfully for the conversion.

The Dolphins averted a shutout when Grant Elton capped a drive in the fourth quarter with a three-yard scoring run and Jason Ringler carried the ball for the conversion.

Snelling's 137 yards were recorded on 14 carries.

Defensive standouts for the Steelers were Justin Heslop, Chris Kohler, Keith Artice, and Jason Perry.

The Steelers will host a doubleheader this Saturday at the Northern field, with the Dolphins meeting the Oakland Jets in the 6 p.m. game and the Steelers entertaining the Oakland Raiders in the 8 p.m. contest.

Raiders Defeat Rams In Youth League Contest

The Oakland Raiders of the Mountaintop Youth Football League rolled to a 39-21 win Sunday behind a 194-yard, three-touchdown effort by Jesse Coddington and a 148-yard, two-touchdown performance by Nick Dolan.

Coddington, who recorded his yardage on 18 carries, while Dolan had 14 attempts. Chris Williams added 58 yards on eight carries and Todd Tasker recorded 22 yards and one touchdown on six carries.

Defensive standouts for the Raiders were Coddington, Dolan, Tasker, Bobby Cannon, and Jerrett Bolden.

to say
Thank You!

A sincere thanks to all who voted for me in the Republican Primary. A special thanks to the Republicans and Democrats who gave me the privilege to serve as your county commissioner the past four years. You gave me the opportunity to have a very honorable place in the history of Garrett County, as the first woman county commissioner.

Now a message to my opponent and winner of the Republican Primary, Roger Gloffetty. I have already congratulated you by telephone. Publicly, I want to say my slogan was, "When you talk Brenda listens." I listened on election eve and got the message "loud and clear." The majority of the Republicans wanted you as their commissioner candidate. I congratulate you and wish you the very best.

Rams Nearly Upset Powerful Soccer Team Of Fort Hill

In one of the season's most exciting high school soccer matches, the Southern High Rams just missed upsetting area power Fort Hill last Thursday evening in Oakland. After tying the score three times in the contest, the Sentinels held on for a 4-3 victory.

Fort Hill put the first point on the board at the 17:38 mark of the first half when Scott Windle tapped in a dew-soaked ball that had slipped through the hands of Southern goalkeeper Justin Helbig.

The Rams answered just a minute and a half later following a throw-in by Stephen Goralski, which was headed by Christian Coviello over the defense to Dan Nelson, who headed past Fort Hill keeper Emory Nelson and into the net.

Ryan Alam helped put the Sentinels back on top 2-1 when he broke through the Ram defense down the right wing and fired a shot under a diving Helbig, bouncing the ball off the post. Brandon Monahan then re-directed the ball into the net for the score.

The Rams tied the score again at the 24:54 mark of the second half when Dan Nelson fed Derek Spirk, who shot a 30-yard rocket into the left corner of the net.

The Sentinels took a 3-2 lead about two minutes later by capitalizing on an officiating decision that gave them an indirect kick eight yards in front of the goal. Windle sent the shot above the Ram wall and into the net over Helbig's out-stretched arms.

The score was tied a third time at the 22:52 mark when Nelson picked off a Sentinel goal kick and jammed it past on off-balanced defense.

Alam won the game for Fort Hill (3-0-1), as Monahan pounded a long indirect free kick that bounced off a Ram defender near the goal and Alam booted it past Helbig for the Sentinels' fourth goal.

"We're extremely pleased with how our players kept coming back," stated Southern Coach Tom Powers. "We tied them three times and made one small mistake that they capitalized on, which gave them the win. Our kids can hold their heads high. They really rose to a higher level of competition."

The Sentinels went on to record a 3-1 win Tuesday evening over Bishop Walsh, the area's number one team that was riding a 23-win streak.

The Rams will play again this evening in Frostburg against a strong Beall team. The junior varsity game will begin at 6 p.m. and the varsity will be kicked off at 7:30.

Southern's next home game will be next Tuesday against Salisbury, with the same kick-off times.

Suspect Jailed

Tfc. DeVore told The Republican this week that after police radioed the car's description, she parked near the Wright Auction House in Finzel to observe several potential escape routes. She was reportedly the first officer to sight DeVore's vehicle, and helped coordinate a police roadblock in Frostburg.

Others offering assistance were Frostburg City Police, MSP from the Cumberland barrack, MSP CID, CVI-D, Allegany County CBI (Combined County Criminal Investigations) Unit, Allegany County Sheriff's Department, Garrett County Sheriff's Department, and special agent Schellenberger, FBI.

Huskies Booters Still Looking For First Win

The Northern High varsity soccer team is still looking for its first victory of the season, as the Huskies were pounded by Mt. Savage last Thursday, 11-0, and then fell to Salisbury on Tuesday, 6-1. Both contests were played on the Huskies' field.

Tim Burkett finished with two goals and two assists for the Mt. Savage Indians, while Steve Winebrenner, Mike Brailer, and Bill O'Neal also finished with two goals each. Jason Hensel, Josh Cook, and Mark Moulden each scored one.

Mt. Savage led in shots on goal, 28-7. Matt Fritz recorded 13 saves for the Huskies, while Andy Brehm had five for the Indians.

In Tuesday's game versus Salisbury, Jason Benning, Brian Gregory, Jeremy Hoover, Shawn Wilt, Tony Ferraro, and Richard Landis each scored goals for the visitors, while Frederick Goldberg recorded the Huskies' lone point.

The Huskies were out-shot by a 38-7 margin and had only two corner kicks, compared to six for Salisbury.

Fritz had 13 saves once again for Northern and R.C. Deer had five for Salisbury (2-2-1).

Coach Tom Ables' Huskies (0-5) will host a strong Westmar team this evening in a 7 p.m. game and then not play again until Oct. 4 at Southern.

The police report indicated that when the suspect spotted the roadblock, he pulled off the road and surrendered to DeVore.

According to the trooper, after the suspect was read his rights, he commented, "I knew it was over as soon as I saw you."

The shotgun and an undisclosed amount of money were recovered from the vehicle.

Police were aided through the efforts of a Grantsville Post Office employee, Robyn Brennenman, who saw what "looked like a bank robber" exiting the bank. Brennenman memorized the license plate number of the suspected getaway vehicle, and advised state police. They were then able to set up area road blocks.

According to other written reports, the 1988 Eagle DeVore was driving is owned by a family member, and was taken from the Frostburg Industrial Park sometime last Thursday morning.

Others offering assistance were Frostburg City Police, MSP from the Cumberland barrack, MSP CID, CVI-D, Allegany County CBI (Combined County Criminal Investigations) Unit, Allegany County Sheriff's Department, Garrett County Sheriff's Department, and special agent Schellenberger, FBI.

All volunteers receive a commemorative Deep Creek Lake Autumn Bike Tour t-shirt.

A&A Team Wins Two Of Three Soccer Games

The Deep Creek Soccer Club, an adult team sponsored by A&A Realty, opened its season recently with a 4-1 loss to Valley Novelty of Mt. Savage, but has come back to win the next two contests, including a 5-2 decision over the Oscars of Cumberland and a 2-1 victory over a Frostburg team sponsored by When Pigs Fly.

The A&A booters, who are using a field at Grantsville Elementary school as their home location this season, also fared well in a 7 vs. 7 tournament at Flintstone before the regular season.

In the loss to Valley Novelty, Mike Seibert scored an unassisted goal for the Deep Creek Club, but goals by Burkett, Africa, and two by DeLaven gave the home team the win.

Against the Oscars of Cumberland, A&A scored all of its five goals in the first half. Brazilian-American Alex Rocha, Spencer Richards, Mike Seibert, and Steve Prosser accounted for the goals, while Mike Hoffeditz, Russell Christner, and Richards were credited with assists.

A successful penalty kick by Mike Adams and another goal by Art Zais off an assist by Tom Buzzard were recorded for the Oscars in the second half.

Sunday afternoon's game against the "Pigs" of Frostburg featured a scoreless first half. The first goal was awarded by referee Dave Spirk when Seibert's shot rebounded straight down off the underside of the crossbar. Rocha was credited with an assist.

A&A made it 2-0 when, out of a confused melee in the Pigs' goal area, Prosser recorded the goal off an assist by Hoffeditz.

Deep Creek keeper John Steele stopped a strong shot from inside the penalty area with a diving save to prevent a goal by the Pigs. The visitors did score, however, on a penalty kick with less than two minutes to play.

In the 7 vs. 7 tournament at Flintstone, the Deep Creek Club made it into the semifinals. The eventual winner of the event was a team of college players from Frostburg State University and Allegany Community College.

A team spokesman said that referee Spirk and linesmen Derek Spirk and Aaron Chorpennig "should be commended for helping the league raise the standard of officiating, especially considering the amount of time and travel involved, and the minimal payment for their efforts."

The spokesman also noted the volunteer efforts of Spencer Richards, a native of England, who has been assisting not only the A&A club, but also the Northern High School varsity and junior varsity teams as a volunteer trainer and assistant coach. Richards will return to England early next month.

The Deep Creek Club will host a team from Lonaconing this Sunday at 1 p.m. Spectators are welcome.

"I am requesting this action based on the fact that payment of the expenses will be the ultimate re-

Glotfelty went on to ask that, in the event that a significant expenditure is necessary, all current commissioner candidates be informed of the situation before any action is taken.

At this week's commissioner meeting, Rysavage did not receive an answer from the Garrett County Board of Commissioners when he presented a request that the board finance repairs to the air conditioning system at Broad Ford Elementary and Southern Middle Schools.

Commissioner John Braskey remarked that if the current commissioners voted to approve this expenditure, commissioners elected in the November general election could reverse the vote and halt the air conditioner repairs.

The commissioners turned down a request for repairs to the Broad Ford Southern air conditioner last year. However, at that time, the total cost of the repairs, estimated at $250,000, would have been paid for through a 50/50 split between the county and the state. This year, Rysavage explained, the state is willing to contribute 70 percent of the project costs. This would make the county's cost $75,000.

across Sand Flat Road, traveled through a some weeds, and came to rest in a ditch.

Awkard and his passenger, Montisha I. Artis, 22, Washington, D.C., were both admitted to the hospital. Artis has since been released, and Awkard remains hospitalized, listed in "stable" condition, according to a hospital spokesperson. Tfc. D.W. Broadwater investigated the 1:20 a.m. mishap.

MDOP

A malicious destruction of property report has been filed with the local state police barrack.

A report filed by Tfc.

W.I. Mowbray indicates an insulated metal exterior door on a hunting cabin at the Harmony Hunting Club, Hoyes Run Road, was damaged sometime between 10 a.m. on Sept. 5, and 8:30 a.m. on Sept. 17. Police said unknown persons fired several shots into the door. It is believed two weapons, a small caliber and a large caliber, were used.

DWI ARREST

On additional DWI arrest was logged at the McHenry Barrack during the past week.

Guy Michael Taylor, 36, address unknown, was arrested and charged with DWI by Tfc. M.E. Rodeheaver on Tuesday afternoon.

erty off of Cranesville Road where he vacations frequently. He keeps his four-wheeler padlocked and hidden on the land when he is not there, and discovered last weekend that someone had broken the padlock, hot-wired the ATV, and ridden it, causing damage to it.

The ignition switch was broken, the mud flaps on front and back were removed, the body was scraped and then an attempt was apparently made at repainting it, according to the report. The repairs will cost $400, and the value of the chain, lock, and tarp used to cover the four-wheeler was estimated to be an additional $100.

In another case, an Oakland woman reported that her vehicle was damaged on the night of Sept. 15. Joyce Smith had parked her 1988 Jeep truck in the parking lot of Hyde Laundry on that evening, and the next morning found that the rear tail light, side quarter panel, bumper, and tailgate had been damaged, apparently by another vehicle backing into the Jeep.

The damage estimate was reported to be $1,000.

Any person with information about any of these cases is urged to contact the sheriff's office at 334-1911.

TWO-VEHICLE MISHAP

An Oakland man was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Oakland, following a two-vehicle accident on Rt. 219, near Foster Road, Wednesday afternoon.

According to MSP reports, Noah McDaniel, 22, was taken to the hospital after the van he was operating struck a tractor-trailer operated by Robert Rowman, 45, Ontario, Canada. He was later discharged and taken by private vehicle to another hospital. It was not known which facility, according to a hospital spokesperson.

McDaniel was apparently traveling south on Rt. 219 when his van crossed the center line and struck the rig. Police said Rowman, who was slightly injured, attempted to avoid the collision. He was treated and released at Garrett Memorial.

Charges are pending against McDaniel. Also responding to the scene was Southern Garrett Rescue squad and members of Oakland Volunteer Fire Department.

Cases Probed

trailer, Hesel apparently made five long distance phone calls. When the owner received his phone bill and noticed the calls, he went to his Moors Sub-Division residence and discovered someone had been inside. Police called the number and a female on the other end told them Hesel had called her on the dates noted on the bill.

The CDS possession charges against the defendant stemmed from a search of his residence during the investigation. Police officers discovered a wooden ashtray containing several marijuana cigarettes and a smoking pipe containing marijuana residue.

In other district court news, Lance L. Logsdon, 19, Accident, and Franklin L. Cogley, 19, Accident, were sentenced on their conspiracy convictions stemming from a guilty verdict in May district court proceedings. The verdicts had been amended from charges of malicious destruction of property.

Logsdon was handed an 18-month jail term, with all of that sentence suspended except four months. He was also given 52 days' credit for time already served, and a work release was recommended. Cogley also received an 18-month jail sentence, with all of that suspended except for three months. Each was placed on three years of supervised probation, and must make restitution to the victims.

Court records indicate Logsdon, Cogley, and a co-defendant, Christopher Giotfely, conspired to commit numerous acts of malicious destruction of property between Oct. 8-9, 1993, in the Mtn. Lake Park area. They reportedly destroyed windows on several cars parked in the area on those dates.

Battery charges against Jay B. Sowers, 35, and Nanette S. Sowers, 28, both of Oakland, were not prosecuted by the state's attorney, at the request of the complainants. Each had filed the charges against the other after a domestic dispute in July.

A Mountain Lake Park man was convicted on one count of assault in visiting Judge Paul Staken's court. Judge Burnett had recused himself from this case.

Gregory J. Tressler, 32, was handed a six-month suspended sentence, fined $250, and placed on two years of supervised probation. Additional charges of resisting arrest and battery were not prosecuted by the state's attorney's office. Conditions of Tressler's probation state that he must continue counseling until he is excused by the parole and probation board.

The charges had been filed against Tressler by Garrett County Sheriff's deputy, Cpl. Randy Sines, after the officer responded to a domestic dispute at the defendant's home. When he arrived, Tressler and his wife, Leslee, were involved in an argument. According to court records, Gregory Tressler was at the top of the stairs, holding a 2-year-old child. When Sines attempted to restrain Tressler, he grabbed the officer by the throat and resisted handcuffing.

In a related case, charges of battery and reckless endangerment filed against Tressler by Sam Sanders, were not prosecuted because of plea agreements with the state's attorney.

Sanders' 2-year-old child was in Leslee Tressler's care at the time of the incident.

James R. Collins, 24, Mtn. Lake Park, pleaded guilty to one count of malicious destruction of property in Judge Burnett's court. He was sentenced to 60 days in jail, with all of that time suspended except for 30 days, fined $150 ($100 suspended), and placed on one year of supervised probation. The judge also ordered Collins to make $266.31 restitution to the victims.

According to district court records, Oakland police officer Shawn Groves responded to an MDOP complaint on April 28. A 1989 Mustang belonging to James Fridel had a broken windshield and paint chipped from the door, and a Chevrolet Sprint belonging to Tonya Warnick also had a broken windshield and scratches on the hood. The pair implicated Collins in the incident.

A pre-sentence investigation and psychiatric evaluation were ordered for Harvey G. Bowser Jr., 18, who was convicted on three counts of reckless endangerment in last week's court proceedings.

Court records indicate Garrett County sheriff's deputies were dispatched to a shooting complaint on June 27. Upon their arrival, the deputies learned Bowser had shot a 20 gauge shotgun twice in the direction of a residence occupied by Steven and Patricia Hinebaugh and their two children. One round reportedly penetrated an exterior wall and struck an interior wall, landing in one child's bedroom.

One count of assault against Steve A. Burns, 27, Oakland, was not prosecuted because of insufficient evidence. The charges stemmed from a June 12 incident at Steyer Mine Road.

Brian Miller, 29, Chesapeake, Va., and Christopher F. Newton, 27, Virginia Beach, Va., were both granted probation before judgment on earlier convictions for breaking and entering. The charges had stemmed from a Jan. 3 incident at the Wisp Resort, when the two reportedly stole tools, a vacuum cleaner and billiard accessories from the establishment.

Drug related charges against Bryan D. Olszewski, 35, McHenry, were dismissed without prejudice by Judge Burnett because the charging officers failed to appear for the trial. This, according to court records, is the second time the officers were not in court to substantiate the charges. When a case is dismissed without prejudice, however, the state's attorney may re-open it at a later date if the need arises.

Olszewski had initially been charged with two counts of manufacturing, distributing and dispensing CDS, one count of possession of CDS with intent to manufacture, distribute and dispense, one count of CDS possession, and one count of possession of CDS paraphernalia.

According to court reords, Maryland State Police, along with members of the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force had been involved in an ongoing drug investigation at a residence, occupied by Olszewski at the Wisp Resort and, on April 14, they were able to buy one-quarter ounce of marijuana for $60 at that residence. The purchaser, reportedly went into Olszewski's residence and came out with a baggie containing marijuana.

A subsequent search of Olszewski's residence revealed 12 baggies containing suspected marijuana, small loose amounts of the drug, and a smoking pipe. $120 in currency was also found in the residence, and $60 of that amount was the exact currency handed to the purchaser, according to police statements.

To the Editor:

On October 2-8, 1994, Garrett County Lighthouse, Inc. along with thousands of other facilities, programs, and advocacy groups will recognize Mental Illness Awareness Week.

The common link that all of us share is that we remain cognizant of the needs of those with mental illness. During this week we are asking citizens of Garrett County to call us - our number is 334-9126 - hear about services, learn about mental illness, discover how you can help, or give us the "razzberries" if we are not meeting your rehabilitation needs. Our mission is to provide services that are responsive to the consumers and accountable to the community.

Thank you for your support.

Debbie Jo Adams-Norowski

To the Editor:

I live in a nursing home. We who live here have very little opportunity to get outdoors or around the community. There are people here from Washington, D.C., Baltimore, and other states, who have never had a chance to see Oakland or the county.

The Autumn Glory Festival is one of the biggest events in Garrett County. But how many nursing home residents will have a chance to see the parade?

We had a yard sale to raise money for activities, but did not make much money. To have activities, we must raise the money or depend on volunteers, to sing, entertain, etc.

To get transportation for trips, we must pay full price, each way, per person, no group rates.

"Fixed income" does not describe our situation. People with a job are on a "fixed income." It's the amount that counts. Many people here must live on 40 dollars a month. We cannot afford the trip to see the parade.

Would it be possible for the parade to be routed past one or both of the nursing homes in Oakland? Let's see some community spirit.

Thanks for reading my letter.

Sincerely,
Rita Schurade

Cogleys To Lead Area Crusade At Glendale Church

Evangelists Michael and Mary Cogley, Oakland, will lead an area-wide Hope For America crusade at the Glendale Assembly of God Church on Sunday, Sept. 25.

"Hope For America crusades are a powerful new strategy designed to reach the heart of America, with a message of hope found only in the gospel," according to Rev. Cogley. "America is in serious trouble. Once known as a Christian nation, we are now the largest mission field in the western hemisphere."

Crimes, drugs and gang violence have turned our streets into blood-stained battlefields. Dysfunctional families are the norm, with one out of two marriages ending in divorce. Sexual and physical abuse, particularly against children, have reached epidemic proportions.

The Glendale church will also host a hymn sing on Saturday, Sept. 24, beginning at 7 p.m.

Pastor David P. Goldizen and the church's congregation invite the public to attend either or both of these events.

Bartlett Pleased With Wording In Congressional Bill

Congressman Roscoe Bartlett (MD-6) expressed approval and relief that conferees on the Treasury, Postal Service, and general appropriations bill inserted language in the bill that would forbid White House staffers from using government helicopters and other vehicles for personal use, or to give free rides to friends.

Bartlett blew the whistle on the director of White House Administration David Watkins and other Clinton White House aides in May when they took a presidential helicopter to Holly Hills Country Club in Frederick to play golf. A photo of the White House aides boarding Marine One with their golf bags while being saluted by a Marine was published in the Frederick News-Post. Watkins was fired over the incident, and Bartlett succeeded in launching a Government Accounting Office (GAO) investigation into the matter that is still pending.

"I am pleased there is bipartisan support in both the House and Senate to stop the kind of arrogant abuse of power and blatant waste of taxpayers' money that we witnessed last May with the White House staff golf trip by helicopter," said Bartlett. "Hopefully, this action by Congress will help us begin to restore some public faith in Washington that has been on a frightening decline for quite some time."

The bill awaits final passage in the House and Senate.

Rabid Raccoon Brings Year's Total To 13

The 13th rabies case of 1994 was confirmed last week by the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene Laboratories, according to a spokesperson from the Garrett County Health Department.

The diseased animal was a raccoon, which on Sept. 15 entered an Avilton Road barn in daylight and attacked an unvaccinated barn cat. The cat was later euthanized and the raccoon carcass was submitted for testing. Other unvaccinated cats in the barn that may have been in contact with the raccoon will either be vaccinated or euthanized, the spokesperson said. There was no human exposure in the incident.

The health department is currently holding a six-day series of rabies clinics throughout the county, to conclude Saturday. More information may be obtained by contacting Environmental Health Services at 334-8980.

Union Vote

give free reign to the unions to make whatever promises they wish," he said. "For me to participate would be like stepping into a boxing ring with my hands tied at my waist. There is no way I would agree to do such a thing."

The primary issue in the campaign concerns job security, an issue that became heated in June after five employees were laid off by the hospital administration. There is also some concern about what pro-union employees describe as a loss or reduction of benefits, particularly in their health care coverage.

According to two employees who favor unionization, phlebotomist Bonnie Stemple and unit secretary Chris Livengood, interest in bringing a union to the hospital grew rapidly after the five lay-offs in June. Livengood said that the layoffs "hit the hospital's employees like a bomb shell."

Livengood believes that the hospital handled the layoffs poorly. On the day of the layoffs, Livengood recalled, the five employees who were to be let go came to work as usual, were told that they no longer had jobs at the hospital, and were escorted to their cars. She added that four of these employees had worked at the hospital for at least 20 years each.

Pro-union employee Juanita Stonebreaker remarked that since the layoffs the hospital has hired personnel, and added that current employees now do the jobs formerly done by the laid off employees.

"There is no easy way to lay off anybody," Rosenthal responded, explaining that the possibility of layoffs had been discussed with the employees during the past year. He said that, because of regulations of the Maryland Health Cost Review Commission, the state agency which controls the amount that hospitals can charge for services, the hospitals was faced with the need to budget $1 million in savings for fiscal year 1995. These savings could come in the form of reduced expenditures and/or added revenues, he said.

Before completing the new budget, Rosenthal said that he discussed the issue with department heads, physicians, and the members of the hospital board of governors, and held question and answer sessions with the employees. He said that he hoped to find constructive ways to achieve the savings, and that layoffs would be a last resort. However, in the final analysis, it was impossible to achieve the needed cuts savings without the layoffs, he said.

Stonebreaker stated that when ideas for saving money were requested by the administration she contributed "a full page of suggestions." However, when the layoffs came, she said the hospital staff was "floored" because it was expected that the cost reductions would be achieved in other ways.

Rosenthal said he did receive several hundred suggestions from the employees, many of which were implemented; but that the layoffs were still needed. He added that the five employees who were released were given a severance package and were offered free counseling services. He said that, despite allegations to the contrary by pro-union employees, the layoff procedure also followed the hospital's seniority policy.

Mary Brown, a laundry worker with 20 years service at the hospital, said she thought the layoffs were fair, and that the laid off employees did have some opportunity for other jobs at the hospital.

Livengood said that, with the union, employees will be treated with "respect and dignity" by the administration. "I want employees to be able to speak up," she said.

In Brown's view, though, employee input is already accepted and acted upon by hospital administration. "We can speak to Mr. Rosenthal at any time," she said. "His claim that his door is always open is true."

Another issue central to the union debate is employee health coverage. According to Stemple, the health plan in place five years ago was "really good." However, she says the plan was dropped by the administration for a second plan which had a higher premium and deductible than the first, but which she believed offered inferior coverage.

Livengood said that the employees were polled to determine what they wanted in a healthcare plan, but the plan that was put into place lacked the features that the employees requested in the poll, such as a prescription card, dental coverage, and a lower deductible. "Our opinion doesn't count," she said.

Rosenthal stated that, in the past five years, the employees have received 19 new benefits in their health care coverage. He said that the hospital has also faced significant increases in employee insurance premiums. By switching health plans, he said that the hospital saved $400,000, which was given back to the employees in the form of a $1 per hour raise enabling them to buy more coverage on their own. He said some employees have told him that they have saved money through this arrangement.

According to the National Labor Relations Board, Moran Manor Nursing Home, Westport, has filed for decertification; that is, removal of Local 27.

According to Stemple, union regulations prevent organizers with Local 27 from being interviewed by after the union was voted in just one year ago. Among all of the unions in the country, the United Food and Commercial Workers Union ranks third in the number of decertifications filed against it.

When asked why it would not be beneficial for the employees to vote the union in and "try it for a year," and, if dissatisfied, simply file for decertification next year, Rosenthal said that the decertification process sometimes takes years to complete, and it may not be successful.

Of the 264 decertification elections filed in the past four years against the UFCW Union, 122 are still unresolved and 49 were decided in favor of the union.

Rosenthal also added that, of 20 major unions surveyed, the UFCW ranked fifth in the number of union-related acts of violence from 1975 through March 1991.

According to Stemple, union regulations prevent organizers with Local 27 from being interviewed by

Household Help

by John Amantea

Q. I recently read your Household Help column in our weekly newspaper and would appreciate your advice. I would like to know if there is a method to clean up my hardwood oak flooring.

A. In August, 1993, we purchased an older home built in 1954 and would like some tips from you. If at all possible, I would like to avoid sanding because of the mess and expense involved. Can you give me some guidelines on sprucing up my floor?

A. As I've mentioned in several of my columns, there is nothing like a beautifully waxed, hardwood floor. However, as in your case, it is only possible if you sand that floor. The actual cost is low and even then, you can shop around for a reasonable rental center.

Basically, the only piece of equipment you'll need is a large, upright belt sander. The dealer you do business with should provide you with instructions and sandpaper.

Let me just say, you're fortunate to have such a durable hardwood floor in your home. Now, down to work. Before you begin, make sure there aren't any protruding nails or staples that will obstruct the sander. Also, be especially sure that you sand only with the grain of the floor boards. Working in small areas at one time is also recommended because you can penetrate the grimy spots.

Once your chore is completed, be sure to vacuum up all the debris and damp mop the entire area. Finally, you can apply several coats of a good polyurethane finish and enjoy many years of beauty.

Q. My question is a basic one and only pertains to caulking. I own a home and have caulked for a few years. I'd like to know a neater way of applying it. Do you know of a smarter method of spreading caulk from a gun applicator?

A. One very common way of caulking from a gun is to first spread it and then use your index finger. The way this is done, especially in corners, is to run your index finger on the caulking to form a perfect bead.

Another and more perfect method is to position and use masking tape wherever possible. Using the above way will allow all the excess caulk onto the tape, only. This will also give you a neater head when applying caulk.

Home Tips

SLICE AND SERVE — Because my family likes double-cheese pizzas, I bake my own at home. The pizza pans I purchased had deep lines cut into them by the pizza-cutter wheel. Cutting the pizzas was a awful project — until I remembered my trusty kitchen scissors.

Now I cut through the pizzas and toppings with ease. The scissors come apart for cleaning and disinfecting. The pans no longer bear the marks. My pizza slices aren't pulled or pushed off the pan while cutting and I don't burn my fingers! Kate G., Phoenix, Ariz.

KEEP IT CLEAN — I use only one rack in my oven and keep the other under the sink. This way, if there is any dripping or spattering, I don't have two racks to clean, yet the other one is at hand when needed.

My oven is self-cleaning, but the racks are cleaned manually to keep them shiny, so anything that helps is a blessing and a timesaver. Jeanine W., College Park, Md.

JOT IT DOWN — I correspond with several relatives and friends. Sometimes it is a month or so before I am able to answer their letters. As events happen that I plan to tell them about, I jot them down on the back of their unanswered letter. Then, when I am ready to write to that person, I can easily remember the things I want to share. Julia C., Washington, D.C.

COUPON CLIP — Before I go to the supermarket, I get out all the coupons I know I'm going to use. I take a letter-sized envelope and on the outside I list the name of the coupon and amount beside the name. Then I put the coupons in the order of the store aisles and insert them in the envelope. As I purchase an item, I just mark it off on the envelope.

When I get to the checkout, all I do is take the coupons out of the envelope and give them to the cashier. Brittany K., Louisville, Ky.

Q. I collect small Heisey glass animals. What is the difference in value between those marked with the H in a diamond and those marked IG?

A. Heisey made small animals of clear or pale amber glass from 1933 to 1957. The molds were then purchased by Imperial Glass, which made animals from the molds from 1969 to 1978. Imperial made 12 types in caramel slag glass and marked IG.

Collectors like to assemble full sets; the price is often determined by the number of copies of an animal made, not by the mark on the bottom. For example, the caramel slag Scotty sells for over $175. The Heisey original is half as much, but the slag glass mallard duck sells for less than the Heisey original.

Q. I found two small bottles in my grandmother's attic. They are only three inches high. One is 12-sided, dark amethyst, and has raised letters that say "Co. Sam Johnson, Proprietor, Richmond, VA, 1852" on one side, "Alancasters Indian Vegetable Bitters" on the other. The other bottle is an aqua-colored barrel marked "Root Bitters." Can you tell me about these bottles?

A. Bitters was a medicine made of roots and herbs. It was a popular tonic in the 19th century. "A Lancaster Indian Vegetable Jaundice Bitters, Sam Johnson proprietor" was made and sold in the 1850s. Like other bitters drinks, it was usually offered in bottles that were at least eight inches high.

There were many types of bitters sold in barrel-shaped bottles. When bottle collecting became popular in the 1970s, figural bottles were made by the Wheaton Nuline Co. for sale in gift shops. Most of the bottles were marked Wheaton on the bottom. There were even copies of the copies made in the Orient, and most of those bottles are unmarked.

Your three-inch bottles were shown in the Wheaton 1971 catalog. The bottles are only 20 years old and are valued at only a few dollars.

THE OLDER WOMEN'S LEAGUE

IS always out front on issues that affect the well-being of women in their mid and senior years. In August, they released a report on osteoporosis, the bone thinning disease that affects too many postmenopausal women. Although osteoporosis is the direct cause of some million and a half bone fractures among older people (it affects men as well, but mostly women) yearly, as well as some 300,000 hip fractures (often resulting in the loss of the ability to walk), it is not an inevitable part of growing older.

OWL President Lou Glasse says, "The greatest tragedy is that, for many women, osteoporosis is preventable and treatable. Our goal is to make every woman, health care professional, caregiver, and policy maker aware of the dangers this disease poses to women, and to tell them what can be done to prevent and mitigate its consequences."

Among the findings in a nationwide poll of 1,000 American women age 40-80 were these surprising results:

1. Only 36 percent of the women asked said they knew a great deal about the disease. Among the respondents, only 18 percent of African American women and 19 percent of Latin women said they knew a lot about it.

2. Women don't realize the risk. Only 12 percent said they are very worried about developing osteoporosis.

3. Good osteoporosis health care is not given to everyone. Only 56 percent of women surveyed said they had been asked by health care providers about their risk of osteoporosis.

4. Information changes behavior. After getting the facts about preventing osteoporosis, some 82 percent of women changed their diets to include more calcium, some 80 percent of women began doing weight-bearing exercises (another important preventative), and some 56 percent of women decided to discuss their risk with a health care provider.

COVER STORY

Sam Waterston joins Law & Order on NBC

BY SUZANNE GILL

Producer Dick Wolf's drama Law & Order is more like a long-running play than a TV series. Most series are so tied to the coattails of a star persona that the loss of a leading player can be crippling or even fatal.

But Law & Order, airing Wednesdays on NBC, is still thriving, though it entered this season with just one member of the original cast. Each season Wolf has weathered adjustments and capitalized on new blood.

"The play is the thing here," Wolf explains, quoting Hamlet. "People change jobs, people move on in life. One of the things that we've maintained throughout the life of the show is that it tries to reflect that."

This season, New York City District Attorney Ben Stone, played for four years by Michael Moriarty, moves on, and Jack McCoy (Sam Waterston) takes his place. McCoy inherits Stone's junior colleague, Clair Kincaid (Jill Hennessy), who has an expanded courtroom role this season.

Wolf calls Moriarty's resignation from the show a misunderstanding. Moriarty has claimed that because he spoke out against U.S. Attorney General Janet Reno on the issue of regulating TV violence, he was punished by being virtually written out of the show for a week. The episode instead focused entirely on detectives Briscoe (Jerry Orbach) and Logan (Christopher Noth) — an unusual departure from the show's formula.

Though Wolf says he tried to dissuade Moriarty from the decision to resign, he knew he had options if he failed in the attempt.

Enter Academy Award nominee Waterston (The Killing Fields), who started two years ago in NBC's I'll Fly Away. Joining Law in its fifth season, Waterston seems to have his eyes open.

"The thing that I've always

liked about this show is the fact that it has the same unmerciful attitude towards its characters that real life at work does," Waterston says.

Which means the show must go on.

Waterston's character was born during a two-day meeting with Wolf and his creative team in Los Angeles. Whereas Ben Stone was solidly intellectual in his approach, Wolf says Jack McCoy is "an urban Sam Ervin" — a reference to the colorful Southerner who chaired the U.S. Senate's Watergate investigation in 1974.

McCoy "is much less troubled by the vagaries of the law" than Stone, Wolf says. "much less apologetic about some of the things he does."

"He sees the law as a gigantic, three-dimensional chess game, and he is one of the master game players. He's there to win. He's there to play hard."

Waterston calls McCoy "a merry attack dog" and dismisses any comparisons to Forrest Bedford, the soft-spoken attorney and family man he played on Will & Grace.

"People narrow the categories for actors, and actors are all ways trying to push the walls out," he says.

"What Law & Order has succeeded in doing, which is to have a very high standard of quality and stay on the air, is a very tough trick to pull."

IN FOCUS

Harrison Ford (pictured) gives new complexity and depth to the role of Dr. Richard Kimble in The Fugitive, a film adaptation of the '60s TV series airing Saturday, Oct. 1, on HBO.

Cynics who scoffed when the project was announced were silenced after the film opened in 1993 and promptly catapulted relative novice Andrew Davis onto the A-list of top directors.

Co-star Tommy Lee Jones won an Oscar for his richly nuanced portrayal of Kimble's nemesis, Lt. Girard.

MOVIE MARQUEE

Girl kills to be popular in A Friend to Die For

BY AMY HIBBERT

Striving to be popular is an ultimate goal of most high schoolers. That driving need is what leads one girl to commit murder in A Friend to Die For, airing Monday, Sept. 26, on NBC.

This shocking, fact-based story is about a proud, upper-middle-class community torn apart by the murder of a high-school student by one of her peers.

Emmy nominee Kellie Martin (Christy) plays Angela Delvecchio, a good student with a positive attitude toward honest, hard work.

Tori Spelling (Beverly Hills, 90210) is Stacy Lockwood, the all-American image. She is rich, beautiful and popular. The girls idolize her and the boys adore her.

Angela represents everything Stacy is not. Angela comes from a family that is not rich and is raised by a devoutly religious mother (Valerie Harper).

When the high-school principal (Terry O'Quinn) challenges her students to be the best, Angela is determined to do just that. More than anything, she wants Stacy to like her.

With this determination, Angela tries out for the yearbook staff, the cheerleading squad and an elite social-service club called the Larks.

Both Stacy and Angela are accepted by the Larks, and Angela feels she is on her way. But, she falls short of her other goals, particularly Stacy's friendship.

In a desperate act to win Stacy over, Angela lures her out on Lark business, but the plan backfires. What begins as a night for Angela's dreams to come true turns into a night mare.

Tori Spelling

This story is not just about the death of a girl, though. It's about the death of two girls as Angela must deal with the humiliation that the community puts her through.

This disturbing story shows that both girls are the victims in this case, and that a mixture of society and the pressure to be popular is in fact the real victimizer.

Sticking to the theme of murder, NBC will air The Innocent on Sunday, Sept. 25. Kelsey Grammer and Polly Draper star in the story of an autistic boy who is the only witness to a brutal crime.

Susan Dey and Richard Dean Anderson star in Beyond Belief, airing Tuesday, Sept. 27, on CBS. Domestic violence is the topic of this dramatic presentation.

Also this week, Harrison Ford and Tommy Lee Jones are on the run in The Fugitive, airing on HBO, Saturday, Oct. 1.

Q: I was recently reading in a "movie flub" book about the scene in The Wizard of Oz in which a Munchkin supposedly hanged himself in the background. The book says it possibly was a stagehand walking behind the backdrop. I think it is one of the turkeys from the opening of the scene (where Dorothy and the Scarecrow meet the Tin Man). Has anyone ever verified this? —Daniel Kelly, Floral Park, N.Y.

A: Daniel, you are dealing here with a man who just read what seems like the 98th insipid letter about a Mark-Paul Gosselaar death rumor (all of them different, by the way). And now you bring me suicidal little people and AWOL turkeys? I don't think so. I know there were a lot of gaffes on Oz, including Judy Garland's pigtails that changed length in several scenes, but to the best of my knowledge expert Ozians dismiss that suicide story. As for your low theory, sorry, I have no information about it.

Q: Please tell me what happened to Kristy McNichol of Empty Nest? Is she ill? Has she quit acting? I miss her. —Kathy McCoy, Fort Wayne, Ind.

A: Production sources reported that McNichol's abrupt departure from Nest was due to her battle with manic depression. For now, at least, she seems to have no plans to resume her acting career, which had stalled badly pre-Nest.

Q: Please settle an argument. My aunt says Greg Evgan of B.J. and the Bear played the rapist in the TV movie One of Our Own. My mom says no way. —Delynn Trowbridge, Merrifield, Minn.

Harris mines comic gold as one of the Buchanans

BY JOHN CROOK

Batten the hatches: Here comes Hurricane Harriet.

Harriet Sansom Harris plays Vivian Buchanan in The Five Mrs. Buchanans, now airing Saturdays on CBS. More than one TV reporter already has suggested that her flamboyant portrayal of a class-conscious but basically good-hearted Midwesterner could be this fall's "breakout" character.

Vivian is the kind of woman who enters her sister-in-law Alex's (Judith Ivey) thrift store by the back door so her friends won't think Vivian shops there. When she isn't delivering acerbic observations on everyone around her, she's barking commands to her hyperactive (and unseen) twins, Lyndon and P.J. "If you misbehave in church, Jesus won't love you any more!" she thunders in one scene.

For a relative newcomer like

Harris to hold her own with two-time Tony winner Ivey and Oscar winner Eileen Heckart takes backbone, but Harris says she thrives on the situation.

"It's a really great group," she says of her castmates. "The women are just wonderful and very talented. I think each of us brings something to the show that makes for a wonderful balance. It's fun to come to work and watch what people are doing and go, 'Oh, THAT's how she does that.'"

The role of Vivian caps several months of high-visibility guest shots for the Texas-born, Juilliard-trained actress, who made an unforgettable appearance on Fraser last season as an agent trying to seduce the title character into shilling for a salted nuts company ("I'm Dr. Fraser Crane, and I know a nut when I see one"). If scheduling permits, she'll reprise that character this season, she says.

Sam Waterston plays New York City District Attorney Jack McCoy this season on Law & Order, a crime drama airing Wednesday nights on NBC.

IN FOCUS

Robin Williams copped a Golden Globe Award — and an Academy Award nomination — for his fact-based portrayal of a Saigon disc jockey in Good Morning, Vietnam, airing Saturday, Oct. 1, on USA Network.

Williams plays soldier Adrian Cronauer in Barry Levinson's 1987 comedy, a role that basically turns into an opportunity for Williams to do his outrageous riffs on a variety of topics.

SOAP TALK

Days of Our Lives great Billie/Bo/Hope debate

BY CANDACE HAVENS

Fans of Days of Our Lives are some of the most loyal in the world of soap operas. They let their views be known, and they are incredibly supportive of the show. But now fans are split down the middle in the great Billie/Bo/Hope debate.

It all started when the producers of Days decided to bring back Kristian Alfonso's character, Hope. Bo (Robert Kelker-Kelly) and Billie (Lisa Rinna) were in the middle of a big romance when Bo's ex-wife, Hope, who was supposedly dead, reappeared.

The Days writers didn't want to make it too easy for Bo to choose between the two women, so they made Hope lose her memory and called her Gina. For months the characters waited for DNA tests to establish the true identity of Hope/Gina, but the test came back inconclusive.

Some fans were furious when Bo decided to dump Billie so she could get on with her life. Others want Bo with Hope. Here is what some fans say.

Dear Candace: I think Bo and Hope should be together. They were a wonderful couple in the old days, and they share a son. They also have a lot of chemistry. —Lauren Howell, Haverhill, Mass.

Dear Candace: Bo and Billie should stay together. Poor Billie never gets what she wants, and it isn't fair. And Bo and Billie make such a terrific couple. —Canadian fan

Dear Candace: I belong to a group that watches Days, and we think that Bo and Hope belong together. Billie was good, but she would be better off with Mike Horton. Soap fans in West Palm Beach, Fla.

Dear Candace: I have watched Days since it began, and am a big fan of the show. I have waited so long to see Bo and Billie get married. It isn't fair for him to even consider Hope. —L. Dodson, Holly Hill, Fla.

Dear Candace: I want Hope and Bo to get back together. Their love was so strong, and they make a very good couple. I also like Billie, but the writers need to find her a new love. Mike Horton would be a good choice. —Jennifer Crippen, Guyville, Ohio.

Dear Candace: Bo and Billie have such chemistry. I have watched the show for 20 years, and I am disappointed they brought Hope back. Billie is such a wonderful woman, and she deserves some happiness. —Fan in Daytona Beach, Fla.

CABLE OVERVIEW

A hero's poignant life, a flood of new series

BY SUZANNE GILL

Arthur Ashe: Citizen of the World is an intelligent and emotional tribute to the life of the late tennis champion, author, civil rights activist and humanitarian. It debuts Tuesday, Sept. 27, on HBO.

Interviews with Bryant Gumbel, Billie Jean King, John McEnroe, Stan Smith, Andrew Young and Nelson Mandela give counterpoint to the narration, written by Frank Deford and read by Ossie Davis.

Says Ashe's friend Eddie Mandeville, "His energy was boundless, and his commitment to things that he never preached about just continued to stagger me."

Worldly considerations prevail at The Learning Channel Wednesday, Sept. 28, as A Baby's World and Paleoworld join the lineup. Baby looks at the development of infants and toddlers in six episodes over as many weeks. Paleoworld uses robotic models and computer graphics to explore the world of dinosaurs. The 13-week series begins with a look at the evolution of the meat eaters.

Tammy Wynette is host of The Legends of Country Music, debuting Thursday, Sept. 29, on The Nashville Network.

For the premiere, Wynette invites Loretta Lynn and newcomers John Berry and Joy Lynn White to be her guests.

After five more weeks, Wynette turns the reins over to Willie Nelson, who will play host to a succession of honky-tonk heroes and heroines.

Also Thursday, The Discovery Channel offers three series premieres.

Ossie Davis

The Know Zone lets San Francisco disc jockey Don Bleu be the viewer's guide to the latest inventions, science and technology.

World of Wonder mixes science, unexplained phenomenon and That's Incredible.

Finally Kevin Nealon (Saturday Night Live) sets out on the "quirky side roads of American culture" in Amazing America to find the "insular clans that flourish just beneath the surface of American society." In the first episode, this means quirky quality time at a Deadhead gathering, a baby beauty pageant and a Star Trek convention.

Rev. Allen Jr. and Lisa Stewart are hosts of Testimony, a series based on the popular Stutter Bros Show segment. Written by Stutter Harold and Don Reid, it premieres Friday, Sept. 30, on INN.

Larry King scans the heavens over Rachel New York for signs of extraterrestrial life in Larry King: The UFO Cover-Up. Saturdays on INN.

Michael Attends RVP Council At Lakeview Resort

Rob W. Michael, State Farm Insurance agent in Oakland, attended the recent Seaboard Regional Vice President's (RVP) Council at Lakeview Resort and Conference Center, Morgantown, W.Va.

The RVP council, composed of the top 10 agents from each of the agency director areas, was established for agents who have demonstrated superiority in sales, while also achieving profit, according to Sandy Epling, agency director and chairperson for this year's meeting. This select group provides input to State Farm on important issues affecting the company's goals and expectations, Epling said.

Michael, a State Farm Insurance agent for the past 19 years in Garrett County, is active in community involvements, serves on the Garrett County Memorial Hospital Board of Governors, Garrett Community College Board of Trustees, the Oakland Zoning Appeals Board, and was instrumental in establishing the Garrett Community College Alumni Association, where he served as the organization's first president.

On The Menu...

Teen Cuisine

Planning your own party your own way is a lot of fun, and pulling off the responsibility will give you a real sense of achievement. Take your "teen cuisine" party one step at a time. First, decide how many friends you would like to entertain. Second, plan your afternoon or evening of fun — gather the tunes, get games ready, or opt for a marathon of movies. Last, prepare a shopping list for this delicious party menu.

Zesty Seafood Dip can be made the day before the party. This creamy dill dip, tangy with bottled lemon juice and chock full of seafood bits, makes the crunch of a smothered chip or fresh veggie all the more enjoyable.

Fun to make and fun to say, Fruit Kabobs with Lemony Peanut Butter Drizzle are for the adventuresome in spirit. Colorful chunks of fresh fruit are artistically presented on skewers, with your most wild squiggle of drizzle.

Adding spice to the finger food selection are irresistible Popcorn Mix-Ups. A mix of popcorn, peanuts and pretzels seems innocent enough, but wait until you've tasted what chicken-flavor instant bouillon, curry powder and hot pepper sauce can do for these usually tame snacks — WOW!

Honey Dijon Drumsticks, a perfect pick-up food, will satisfy the hungriest of your guests. Bouillon, Dijon-style mustard and honey add punch to these crunchy drumsticks coated with buttery cracker crumbs. Party-goers will also love Mexican Pizza, combining two favorite cuisines for a smashing taste success. An Italian bread shell cradles traditional Mexican toppings — ground beef seasoned with spicy salsa, bell pepper slices and lots of shredded cheese.

Wash it all down with fruity Strawberry Banana Shakes. Simple to prepare, this frozen drink combines fresh strawberries and ripe bananas with the added zip of bottled lemon juice for a taste as exciting as the party itself.

Go ahead and show off a little! Plan ahead, serve up fun food and make it a party to remember.

Party WITH A PURPOSE

Make your gathering even more meaningful:

- 1. Clean Up and Recycle — Invite your friends in an area known for litter. Clean it up, take the recyclable materials to the nearest recycling center, and reward yourselves with a party.
- 2. Feed People in Need — Request that each of your guests bring several cans of food to the party. Choose a local pantry or shelter and donate the food, along with the leftovers from your party.
- 3. Clothe the Less Fortunate — Suggest that your friends clean out their closets and bring over the clothes they have outgrown. After the party, donate the clothing to a children's shelter.

Mexican Pizza

(Makes one pizza)

- 1 (12-inch) round prepared Italian bread shell
- 1/2 pound lean ground beef
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1 clove garlic, finely chopped
- 1-1/2 cups salsa
- 2 teaspoons beef-flavor instant bouillon
- 1-1/2 cups (6 ounces) each shredded cheddar and Monterey Jack cheese
- Red and yellow bell pepper slices
- Sliced black olives, optional

Preheat oven to 450°. In large skillet, brown beef, onion and garlic; pour off fat. Stir in salsa and bouillon. Simmer 5 minutes. Place bread shell on large baking sheet, top with salsa mixture, cheese, sliced peppers and olives. Bake 10 to 12 minutes or until cheese melts. Refrigerate leftovers.

Honey Dijon Drumsticks

(Makes 4 servings)

- 1/4 cup Dijon-style mustard
- 2 teaspoons chicken-flavor instant bouillon
- 2 teaspoons honey
- 8 chicken drumsticks
- 1 cup round buttery-flavored cracker crumbs (24 crackers)
- 3 tablespoons margarine or butter, melted

Preheat oven to 375°. In medium bowl, combine mustard, bouillon and honey. Coat drumsticks with mustard mixture, roll in cracker crumbs. Arrange in greased baking dish, drizzle margarine over drumsticks. Bake 40 minutes or until chicken is tender. Refrigerate leftovers.

Popcorn Mix-Ups

(Makes about 10 cups)

- 1/4 cup margarine or butter
- 1 teaspoon chicken-flavor instant bouillon
- 3/4 teaspoon curry powder
- 1/4 teaspoon hot pepper sauce
- 6 cups popped popcorn
- 3 cups mini-pretzels
- 2 cups unsalted peanuts

In small saucepan, combine margarine, bouillon, curry powder and hot pepper sauce. Cook and stir until margarine melts and bouillon dissolves. In large bowl, combine popcorn, pretzels and peanuts, toss with margarine mixture.

Fruit Kabobs with Lemony Peanut Butter Drizzle

(Makes 10 to 12 servings)

- 1/2 cup honey
- 1/2 cup creamy peanut butter
- 1/4 cup bottled lemon juice
- 2 tablespoons water
- 6 cups cut up assorted fresh fruits (apple, pear, peach, nectarine and plum slices, strawberries, grapes, banana and pineapple chunks)

Additional bottled lemon juice
In small bowl, combine all ingredients except fruit and additional bottled lemon juice; mix well. Chill to blend flavors. Meanwhile, to assemble fruit kabobs, dip fruit in bottled lemon juice to prevent browning. On wooden skewers, arrange fruit. Serve with Lemony Peanut Butter Drizzle. Refrigerate leftovers.

Not pictured

- 1 (8-ounce) package cream cheese, softened
- 1 (8-ounce) container sour cream
- 1/4 cup bottled lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon chicken-flavor instant bouillon
- 1/2 teaspoon dill weed
- 4 ounces surimi seafood, finely chopped (about 1 cup)

In small bowl, beat cream cheese until fluffy. Add remaining ingredients except surimi; mix until smooth. Stir in surimi. Chill to blend flavors. Serve with potato chips or assorted fresh vegetables. Refrigerate leftovers.

Strawberry Banana Shake

(Makes about 1-1/2 quarts)

- 1 quart fresh strawberries, washed and hulled
- 2 ripe medium bananas
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/3 cup bottled lemon juice
- 4 cups ice

In blender or food processor container, combine all ingredients except ice, process until smooth. Add ice; process until smooth. Serve immediately.
TIP: Shake can be made ahead and placed in freezer for 2 hours, stir before serving.

Keep Maryland Beautiful Award Contest Noted

As part of its Keep Maryland Beautiful activities, funded by the State Highway Administration, the Maryland Environmental Trust is accepting applications for the Margaret Rosch Jones Award and the Bill James Environmental Grants.

The Jones award is given in memory of Margaret Jones, the executive director of the Keep Maryland Beautiful Program for many years. The trust hopes to remind citizens of her "devotion, energy and ingenuity" by presenting an award in her name to a group whose voluntary activities in 1994 personified these attributes which Margaret Jones brought to her work. Applicants must also meet one or both of the following criteria:

1) Groups that have been active in educating people in their community about at least one of these concerns: litter prevention, community beautification, and local or statewide environmental issue(s).

2) Groups that have been successful in eliminating or reducing the causes of a local environmental problem rather than address the symptoms.

The Bill James Environmental Grants are given in memory of William S. James who drafted legislation to create the trust, incorporating the activities of the Governor's Committee to Keep Maryland Beautiful. The objectives of the grants are: 1) to encourage a sense of stewardship and personal responsibility for the environment, 2) to stimulate a better understanding of environmental issues, 3) to instill a growth management ethic, and 4) to aid in the elimination or reduction of a local environmental problem.

to $2,000 is for voluntary non-profit groups or communities which have already demonstrated a basic understanding and resolution of an environmental issue.

The Bill James grants of up to $1,000 are for proposed environmental education projects by school groups, science and ecology clubs, and other non-profit youth groups.

Applications may be obtained from the Maryland Environmental Trust, First Floor, 100 Community Place, Crownsville, MD 21032-2023. Completed applications must be received by Oct. 31, 1994.

NINETY-NINE YEARS AGO a freight train was being unloaded at the Oakland B&O station when it was rammed by another train, resulting in the pile-up pictured above. Evidently the station was not damaged. The people in the Annual Springs Folk Festival Slated Oct. 7-8

Mountain craft presentations, authentic Pennsylvania Dutch food, bluegrass music and pioneer artifacts will be featured at the 37th Annual Springs Folk Festival on Friday and Saturday, October 7 and 8, in Springs, Pa.

"Our crafts and demonstrations are among the most unique of any regional festival, drawing visitors from several states," said Lois Oester, publicity director for the festival. "The Folk Festival showcases the trades and lifestyles of settlers in our area during the early 1800's."

Nearly 90 exhibits are displayed in the juried craft show featuring familiar crafts as well as Canoe dipping, braiding, tatting, and basketry. In addition, leather crafts, wooden toys, and corn husk creations provide a variety of unique items. The outdoor trails are lined with pioneer craftsmen including the beekeeper, tinsmith, ropemaker, blacksmith, and sauerkraut maker. Old-timers demonstrate the art of log hewing, railsplitting, and flailing grain, while visitors take horsedrawn hayrides that stroll throughout the festival grounds.

"One of our most popular attractions is the continuous musical entertainment," said Oester. Bluegrass music featuring the fiddle and banjo, the a capella singing of local Mennonites, and the melodies of the hammered dulcimer are an annual favorite. Authentic Pennsylvania Dutch food highlights the concession areas. Traditional family style dinners, as well as funnel cakes, apple-butter bread, bean soup, and other food items can be found throughout the Festival grounds.

History buffs can view one of the area's biggest collections of artifacts from the pioneer farm, home, and workshop at the Springs Museum.

The festival is held from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Admission is free to children five and under, $1 for youths 5-12, and $4 for adults. Group rates are available if arranged in advance and there is plenty of free parking.

Springs is located on Route 669 between Salisbury, Pa. (US 219) and Grantsville (U.S. 40, I-68) in Southern Somerset County. For more information, persons may call (814) 662-4158 or (814) 662-2051.

Grantsville Church To Note 100 Years

The congregation of St. Paul's Methodist Church, Grantsville, will celebrate the church's 100th anniversary with a homecoming on Sept. 25 at 11 a.m.

The event will feature a rededication and thanksgiving service with Rev. K. Almond of Broad Oaks Methodist Church, Clarksburg, W. Va., presenting the sermon entitled "Preaching the Windows," Psalms 139. A covered-dish dinner will follow the service. Almond will discuss her recent trip to Russia in the afternoon. Rev. Lee Williams is St. Paul's regular pastor.

Former members and friends of the church are invited to attend the event.

As part of the anniversary celebration, each month this year members of the church have met to exchange memories about St. Paul's.

Soprano, Tenor Recital Slated

The Frostburg State University Department of Music will present mezzo-soprano Karen Soderberg and tenor Allen Emerick in recital at the Performing Arts Pealer Recital Hall on Sunday, October 2. The performance will begin at 3 p.m. and is free and open to the public. Donations towards the Music Scholarship fund will be accepted.

The duo will be accompanied by pianist Joan Dixon. The performance will include music from Italian composers Giuseppe Sarti, Alessandro Scarlatti, Marcello Benedetto and Stefano Donaudy; German composers Hugo Wolf and Gustav Mahler; French composers Gabriel Faure and Claude Debussy and duets by Henry Purcell, Franz Schubert, Robert Schumann and John Cage.

Dr. Soderberg is department chair and director of vocal/choral activities at FSU. She is the current state president of the American Choral Directors Association, College/University representative for the Maryland Choral Educators Association, and frequent adjudicator, clinician and guest conductor.

Emerick is coordinator of Performing Arts and Cultural Events at Allegany Community College. He has sung with Margaret Hills, Robert Shaw, and Gerard Souzay.

Ms. Dixon joined the faculty of the FSU music department this year. She graduated from Drake University and a master's degree in music and is currently a doctor of musical arts candidate in piano performance and pedagogy at Southwestern Baptist Seminary in Texas.

Rural Maryland Group To Meet In Cumberland

The second meeting of the FORVM for Rural Maryland will be held Thursday, Oct. 13, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., in the Crown South Room at the Cumberland Holiday Inn, South George Street, Cumberland. According to a spokesman for the program, this meeting will provide the opportunity to learn more about this national initiative and to allow those with an interest in rural Maryland to assume a leadership role in this new organization.

The rural development council concept was initiated three years ago under the direction of the White House and the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Thirty-nine states currently have or are initiating councils. Councils are open organizations. Each council's membership includes federal, state, and local governments, private non-profit and consumer representatives.

Garrett County Commissioner John Braskey and Duane Yoder, executive director of the Garrett County Community Action Committee, both serve on the FORVM's Executive Board. Braskey has been selected by the Executive Board to be the vice chair. His selection will be confirmed at this general meeting.

Seen as a new way of identifying and solving problems, each council serves as a neutral forum addressing difficult issues, such as governmental regulations which impede the delivery of services to rural areas. The councils have, within their membership, direct access to the programs and policy makers at the state and federal levels. In other states, councils have successfully interceded on behalf of the private sector and citizen organizations and local governments to untangle "red tape" and modify onerous program requirements.

For registration or other information about the FORVM, persons may contact Bill Walker, executive director, or Susan Kelliher at (410) 514-7267. Sign language interpreters and/or other appropriate accommodations for individuals with disabilities will be

Evangelist Teel To Lead Services In Loch Lynn

Evangelist Robert E. Teel will lead revival services at the Loch Lynn Church of God the week of October 2-9, according to Rev. Robert H. Fletcher.

Born in Ada, Okla., and reared in southern California, Teel was a national champion in gymnastics and many experts believed he was destined to win a gold medal on the rings for the United States in the Olympics. At the height of his career, however, he began to abuse drugs and alcohol and was banished from Olympic competition.

Teel says that in 1972 he was "delivered from drugs and alcohol by the power of Christ" and has invested his time and efforts since that time "proclaiming the Gospel."

Teel says his mission is to encourage local churches to "become involved in the study of the word and to minister to local communities."

The revival services at the Loch Lynn church will begin at 7 p.m. each evening. Rev. Fletcher invites the public to attend.

THE WINEBRENNER FAMILY GOSPEL SINGERS, pictured above, will perform at the Pentecostal Holiness Church, Corinth, W.Va., on Sept. 25 at 7 p.m. Members of the group include lead singer and guitarist Charles Winebrenner, tenor Barbara Winebrenner, lead singer Richard Winebrenner, bass singer Arlie Winebrenner, and keyboard player Debbie Winebrenner. "The purpose of the group is to uplift the name of Jesus," a church spokesperson stated.

Preston Braces For Another Huge Buckwheat Feast

If 1993's Buckwheat Festival crowds are duplicated this year, members of the Kingwood Volunteer Fire Department may expect to serve 14,000 buckwheat cake and whole-hog sausage dinners this year to hungry fairgoers.

Kingwood, a town of fewer than 3,500 residents, plays host to approximately 100,000 visitors each year during the annual Preston County Buckwheat Festival, an event which combines a carnival midway, parades, livestock and craft shows, music, and, of course, plenty of buckwheat cakes and sausage. According to a festival spokesperson, many people make the trip to Kingwood primarily to partake of the festival's namesake cuisine.

For Festival '93, 10,700 pounds of pork were made into 35,000 sausage patties to be served by the KVF-D at the Kingwood Community Building adjacent to the fairgrounds. Seasoning this sausage were 12 pounds of Jamaican ginger, 18 pounds of black pepper, 150 pounds of salt, and 288 pounds of brown sugar.

To keep up with the constant demand for traditional buckwheat cakes, the firemen went through 4,000 pounds of buckwheat flour and 50 pounds of yeast before the end of the four-day fair. Also consumed were 2,472 pints of milk, 204 number-10 cans of applesauce, 612 pounds of margarine, 1,236 24-ounce bottles of syrup, and "megagallons of coffee."

Also during the Buckwheat Festival, church groups in towns along the routes leading to Kingwood display signs urging travelers to stop there for buckwheat dinners and avoid the crowds, and many county restaurants serve buckwheat cake for breakfast, lunch, and dinner.

The 53rd Preston County Buckwheat Festival will be held Sept. 29 through Oct. 2.

Read. Then Recycle.

WVU Band To Perform During Festival

The 53rd Annual Preston County Buckwheat Festival, aptly titled "A Symphony of Sight and Sound," and scheduled for Sept. 29-Oct. 2, will feature a special addition to its musical events this year -- "The Pride of West Virginia," the WVU Marching Band.

This 315-plus member band will be featured in Saturday's Farmer's Day Parade at noon, and again at the Band Spectacular, set for 2:30 p.m. on the Central Preston Junior High School athletic field.

Performances by high school bands from Pennsylvania, Maryland and West Virginia are also on the agenda during the spectacular.

Cost of admission is $2 for those 17 years of age and younger, and $4 for those 18 and older.

Terra Alta First Church Plans Events

The annual Preston County Buckwheat Festival unofficially begins the buckwheat cake-and-sausage season in Preston County.

Again this year, the Methodist Men's group of Terra Alta First United Methodist Church will be serving buckwheat cake dinners all day long on Thursday, Sept. 29. Serving begins at 6 a.m. and will continue until 7 p.m.

Donations will be $4.50 and $2.50. Pastor Norvell Robertson suggests that buckwheat cake enthusiasts "start the day with breakfast at First Church, then stop by later before heading to Kingwood for the Firemen's Parade."

Berlin Graham, president of the Methodist Men, is chairman for the event.

WORLD COMMUNION SUNDAY
On Sunday, Oct. 2, Terra Alta First U.M. Church will celebrate World Communion, along with other churches internationally.

WELCOME TO THE BUCKWHEAT FESTIVAL -- Queen Ceres Lill Amber King, and King Buckwheat Lill Scott Wolford, pictured above, will reign during the 53rd Annual Preston County Buckwheat Festival, slated this year from Thursday, Sept. 29, through Sunday, Oct. 2, on Firemen's Field, Kingwood. Festival-goers will enjoy a variety of exhibits, livestock, arts and crafts, contests, parades, and musical events, as well as a carnival, and other activities, all in a general, easily walked area. Members are asked to bring suggestions for a masthead to the Oct. 15 meeting. A free year's membership will be given to the person whose title is selected.

Congratulations to all the winners of the past elections, and a special thank you to all those who believed in me and my ideas for sound government. Your confidence in me, through your vote, will be long remembered.

Farmers Asked To Make ASC Nominations

"Farmers are asked to nominate candidates of their choice by October 31 to be on the ASC county committee ballot," says Kenneth Bachtel, chairperson, Garrett County ASCS Committee.

The ASC county committee election will be conducted from November 25 to December 5 by mail ballot.

ASC committees are responsible for managing federal farm programs on the local level. To meet the needs of individual producers, ASC committee members must be concerned and responsible individuals, Bachtel said. Maryland farmers have the opportunity to nominate people they feel would best serve the farm community. Producers interested in nominating a farmer for the slate of nominees should request a petition from their county ASCs office. Petitions will no longer be mailed to all eligible voters.

A few basic considerations should be kept in mind when circulating petitions, Bachtel said. In order to be valid, petitions must be limited to one nominee each, must include written certification that the nominee is willing to serve if elected, must be signed by at least three eligible farm votes in the ASC community, and must be received in the county ASCS office by the October 31 deadline.

Farmers may circulate or sign nominating petitions for as many candidates as they choose. Anyone wishing to nominate a farmer for the ASC committee election may contact the county ASCS office for full details, including eligibility requirements for office holders. Contact the Garrett County ASCS Office at 334-1901.

Farmers should petition for and elect those individuals they feel would do a good job as a member of the ASC committee. The election of concerned farmers to positions on ASC committees is essential in the administration of farm programs," Bachtel said.

Bachtel further explained that the county ASCS office welcomes all valid petitions. The opportunity to nominate, vote, and be elected to office is guaranteed to all farmers

Maryland Corn Production Steady

Maryland: The corn production forecast for 1994 was unchanged from a month earlier in Maryland based on conditions on September 1, 1994. The yield remained 110 bushels per acre from 380,000 acres for a total output of 41,800,000 bushels.

The soybean forecast increased from August 1 to September 1, 1994, by one bushel per acre. Now growers anticipate an average yield of 37 bushels which would be a new record high. The current record is 36 bushels set in 1990.

Total soybean production is forecast at 20,350,000 bushels, which would surpass the current record high 1992 production of 17,985,000 bushels. The 1994 tobacco production forecast remained unchanged from August 1 to September 1 at 12,325,000 pounds. August weather became cooler than normal. Temperatures at the beginning of the month averaged 2 degrees above normal and declined to three to five degrees below normal. Maximum daily temperatures remained in the 80's most of the time and overnight lows dropped into the 50's. At the end of August temperatures moved up to near normal levels. Rainfall was rather light during August throughout Maryland except during the middle of the month. Near September 1, 1994, corn was mature on 13 percent of the Maryland acreage and 68 percent of the corn was in the dent stage or beyond. Soybeans were setting pods or more advanced on 91 percent of the acreage. Only three percent of the soybeans were turning color. Development of corn and soybeans was only a couple of days behind normal.

United States: Corn production is forecast at 9.26 billion bushels, up fractionally from the August 1 forecast but 46 percent above the 1993 production. Based on conditions as of September 1, yields are expected to average 129.0 bushels per acre, up 0.6 bushel from last month and 28.3 bushels above a year earlier. Acreage for harvest as grain is estimated at 71.8 million acres, the same as last month.

Soybean production is forecast at a record high 2.32 billion bushels as of September 1, up 1 percent from the August 1 forecast and 28 percent above 1993. Yield is forecast at a record high 38.2 bushels per acre, 0.6 bushels August 1 and 6.2 bushels above 1993. The previous record high yield of 37.6 was set in 1992.

The National Agricultural Statistics Service is conducting corn objective yield surveys in 10 States during 1994. Randomly selected plots in corn for grain fields are visited monthly from August through harvest to obtain specific counts and measurements. Counts from this survey are not official estimates of the Agricultural Statistics Board, but are intended to show trends in corn production practices.

In 1990 corn plant population per acre ranged from 16,100 in South Dakota to 23,100 in Minnesota. For 1994 population ranged from 19,100 in South Dakota to 26,100 in Minnesota.

Replacement Beef Heifer Workshop Set

Beef producers are invited to participate in a two-session workshop on Replacement Heifer Selection and Management. This is a Maryland state-wide program through "live" interactive video. The workshops are co-sponsored by Garrett and Allegany County Cooperative Extension Service at the Video Laboratory at Frostburg State University on Monday evenings, October 3 and 10, from 7:00 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.

The program will originate "live" from Towson State University. Participants will have the opportunity to interact with producers from three other sites in Maryland.

The program will be as follows:

Monday, October 3: Introduction to Integrated Resource Management and Standardized Performance Analysis; Heifer Management Steps from Weaning to Start of Breeding Season; Selection, Nutritional Management, Preventive Health and Homework Assignments.

Monday, October 10: Heifer Management from the Start of the Breeding Season to Calving; Breeding Management, Nutritional Management, and Disease Control; Economics of Raising Replacement Heifers.

The instructors will be Dr. Douglas Carmel, Extension veterinarian, and Dr. Scott Barao, livestock specialist.

There will be a registration fee of $10 per farm unit, limited to two people per unit. Reservations must be made no later than September 28 by contacting the Garrett County Extension office at 301-334-1990.

Senate Retains Ethanol's Role In EPA Clean Air Program

By a vote of 51-50, with Vice President Al Gore breaking the tie, ethanol retained its role as a contributor to the Environmental Protection Agency's reformulated gasoline (RFG) program.

An amendment by Sen. Bennett Johnston (D-La.), which would have cut funding for using ethanol in reformulated gasoline, was tabled by the Senate in effect killing the amendment and providing for the use of ethanol in reformulated fuels.

Sen. Barbara Mikulski (D-Md.) offered the motion to table the Johnston amendment.

Dean Kleckner, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, said the Senate's action in support of the EPA's renewable fuels program "helps assure the future for ethanol as an American grown, American made, renewable fuel."

"This Senate victory, sealed with the tie-breaking vote of Vice President Gore, underscores the proven benefits of renewable fuels to the environment and the positive impacts ethanol use has on agriculture and the economy."

Use of ethanol, which is made primarily from corn, is expected to translate into a 7-10 cent-per-bushel increase in corn prices and will create 14,000 new jobs, says USDA. It also would benefit taxpayers by reducing farm support payments and energy imports.

"We are pleased that once again common sense on behalf of ethanol was able to pull out a win over big oil dollars," Kleckner added. "Ethanol opponents are now intensifying efforts to overturn the EPA ethanol rule."

Kleckner said oil companies have launched a legal challenge to the ethanol rule. "With the close vote in the Senate, we can also expect more bruising battles with ethanol opponents in Congress."

America's farmers will support the Clinton administration in any challenge to the EPA's plan to include ethanol in the nation's clean air program, he noted. "Considerable research and study by EPA and USDA have gone into the administration's plan to allow a role for ethanol in the clean air program. It is appropriate that we move forward on the EPA program and not push it back into the political process."

Last month, EPA ruled it would phase in a requirement that 30 percent of the new oxygen enhancing additive, required by the 1990 Clean Air Act, must come from a renewable source—principally ethanol. Opponents argued that the rule unfairly favors ethanol over methanol.

The Clean Air Act requires fuel used in nine cities with the worst air pollution contain an oxygen enhancing additive so it burns cleaner. Ethanol, an ethanol derivative called ETBE and petroleum-based MTBE are used to provide the added oxygen.

SWEET CORN AS HIGH AS THE SKY -- This crop of sweet corn raised by the Gary DeBerry family on Route 219 north of Oakland, grew to reach 14 feet, quite unusual for sweet corn. The variety was called Showtime from Southern States, and is a late variety of bi-colored corn. Pictured above with the corn is DeBerry's father, William, who is 5'11" tall and can hardly reach the ears on the stalk. Those ears, out of the husk, average between 13 and 15 inches in length. The variety is really a novelty. Some of the stalks produced two of these large ears, some stalks only one, but DeBerry says he is not very pleased with the flavor of the corn and will probably not plant it again next year. The DeBerry family has been selling corn along Rt. 219 at their farm for eight years, beginning with a half-acre plot. This year they planted 19 different varieties of sweet corn on 20 acres. They started selling their corn on July 27 and sold approximately 3,000 dozen ears this summer. The family includes Gary, his wife Cathy, daughter Danielle, son Jamie, father-in-law Harold Gnevy, father and mother William and Maxine DeBerry. This year they also hired Julie, Tammy, Nathan and Jason Martin to help pick the corn at the peak of the season. As an extra added attraction, they had a free corn sample day this summer, when they roasted different varieties of corn for their customers to taste. DeBerry said the day was a lot of fun and went over very well. The DeBerry family will be back next summer, and invites everyone to stop by and say hello.

Don't Rush The Harvest Of Your Corn Silage

I have seen some farmers harvesting what appears to be very green corn. There are a couple important factors that you should keep in mind for determining when to harvest. First of all, the optimum moisture content is from 60 to 65 percent. Corn silage is a good economical forage; however, an animal can only consume a limited amount and if there is an excess of water, you will have trouble getting the desired dry matter content in the animal. Excess water decreases the value of corn silage more than you may realize. Also, excess seepage from the silo leaches out some of the nutrients. Plus you are putting extra weight stress on the silo structure.

Secondly, you should harvest after the corn kernels have formed the black layer at the base of the kernel. Immature kernels will lower the energy content of the silage. Using the microwave is an effective method of measuring the moisture content. If you need instructions, give me a call.

1994-95 Maryland Hay And Straw Directory

The Maryland Department of Agriculture Marketing Office is compiling information for the "Maryland Hay & Straw Directory." This directory will be mailed direct to over 300 Maryland licensed horse stables; as well as landscape contractors, hydro-seeders, livestock producers and others who are looking for a source of hay or straw. If you are interested in advertising your hay or straw in the directory, contact my office for an information sheet (301-334-1990). The deadline is October 9.

FIRST PLACE CONSERVATION BOOTH -- North Glade 4-H Club is pictured accepting a first-place award of $100.00 for their conservation booth at the 1994 Garrett County Fair. Presenting the award is George Bishoff, chairman of the Garrett Soil Conservation District. GSCD sponsors a "Conservation Exhibit Award" each year to encourage 4-H and FFA clubs to consider conservation as the theme for their club exhibits at the fair. The effort is to instill in club members a sense of good resource stewardship and conservation ethics. It also helps them to become more aware of the benefits of practicing conservation. After six months on market, BST's impact only slight

By Ken Olson

Bovine somatotropin (BST) made its long-awaited entry into the dairy world approximately six months ago when it became available to producers under the brand name "Posilac." It was greeted at that time with a mixture of apprehension and anticipation. Would it work as well as reported? How would consumers react? What would happen to milk prices? Let's take a look at the situation now.

Monsanto, the company that produces "Posilac," indicates that sales are running ahead of expectations, but use is difficult to measure since it is not releasing sales figures. The company indicates that several million doses have been sold to producers with herds that make up at least 20 percent of U.S. dairy cows.

The production impact is difficult to quantify due to the lack of information on product use, but nationally it appears to be modest. Most producers who have used the product report very positive production responses for individual cows and for herds. On a state basis this is difficult to demonstrate. Many reports indicate that New York has one of the highest usage rates of the product, yet the increase in production per cow in the state during the months since product approval are below the national average. On the other hand, California was reported to have low initial use, but production increases in that state have been dramatic.

Consumer reaction to use of the product and the potential impact on demand was a concern of the industry when BST became available. Since February, media coverage has increased consumer awareness of BST, but there has been no identifiable impact on consumption. In June, Gallup tracking showed that 59 percent of consumers surveyed were aware of BST, which is almost triple the February level. Industry efforts to assure consumers that dairy products are still safe and nutritious appear to be successful.

USDA figures show that during May, sales of fluid milk products in the federal milk marketing orders and California were up 0.4 percent from May 1993. For the year, sales are up 0.6 percent.

FDA issued an "interim guidance on voluntary labeling" in February, but has not yet finalized it. Several states, including Vermont, Maine, Minnesota and Wisconsin, have passed labeling laws and are at various stages of implementing them. National legislation has been introduced but is unlikely to move forward. Several processors are providing "producer certified" milk and products coming from cows not receiving supplemental BST. Sales of these products, while not large, appear to be strong enough to justify continuing them.

It is expected that there will be additional publicity about BST as a new school year begins. Activists are trying to convince school boards to require "certified BST-free" products in schools. So far, they have had limited success in this effort. They are also beginning another advertising campaign against BST. This combination of activities means it is unlikely that the issue will go away quickly.

What can we say about BST at this point? A general observation would be that, as we have stated in the past, BST is being used and is performing much as any other production or management tool. Producers are still determining if it is a product that fits their operation and management system. It has not led to dramatic changes in production or consumption. Consumers have an increased awareness of BST, but have not altered their milk buying patterns because of it.

This positive consumer response is likely due, at least in part, to industry activities to assure consumers of the continued safety and nutritional value of milk and dairy products.

The full impact of BST will not be known for several years, but it appears that producers will have the opportunity to decide if it is a technology that works for them.

Field Day For Woodland Owners Set For Oct. 1

A field day workshop for woodland owners interested in learning ways to realize income from their property, while at the same time balancing profitability and good stewardship, is set for Oct. 1 in Friendsville.

The marketing of forest products is a common method to generate income, but it requires special planning and care to assure good stewardship, according to workshop organizers. Other woodland owners may consider developing a woodland enterprise such as shiitake mushrooms, ginseng, sawmilling, or others. Understanding the marketing, business, and financial realities of these enterprises will help to assure success.

The field day will be held on Saturday, October 1, beginning at 9 a.m. at the Friendsville fire hall. Following lunch, the program will move to the property of Bill and Elsie Slagle to tour their ginseng and shiitake mushroom operation. The Slagles have cultivated many acres of ginseng un-

BVD-Type 2 Not Diagnosed In Maryland

A new and more deadly form of bovine virus diarrhea, BVD-Type 2, which appeared in Ontario in 1993, has recently emerged in several states including Pennsylvania. It is not the same as the less acute BVD-Type 1 which has been a relatively infrequent but costly problem in beef and dairy herds throughout the U.S., including Maryland, for many years. BVD-Type 2 has not been diagnosed in Maryland. Introduction of new animals, that is, purchased additions or cattle returning from shows and fairs poses an extremely serious threat to non-vaccinated herds.

All owners, buyers, and exhibitors of cattle are urged to consult their veterinarian immediately for recommendations regarding vaccination. Fortunately the vaccines available for protection against BVD-Type 1 also protect against Type 2 if the directions are strictly followed.

Roger E. Olson, DVM, acting state veterinarian, Maryland Department of Agriculture, also strongly recommends that farmers: Avoid or restrict introduction of new cattle into existing herds.

Isolate any unavoidable additions including animals returning from shows from others for three weeks.

Have herd additions and blood tested for BVD before they arrive.

Change or disinfect footwear and clothing after returning from other farms, auction markets, or fairs and shows.

For additional information or to report suspected BVD-Type 2 cases, interested persons may contact the Maryland Department of Agriculture Animal Health Laboratory in Oakland, or Acting State Veterinarian Dr. Roger E. Olson, at 410-841-5810.

Troop #22 Engages In Summer Activities

Boy Scout Troop #22 engaged in numerous outdoor activities this summer, beginning in June with a seven-day camping adventure at Camp Potomac. While there, the scouts participated in activities such as rifle shooting, archery, swimming, sports, metalworking, leather working, wilderness survival, and music.

Those attending the camp were Patrick Forman, James Marc, Christopher Remley, Matthew Vecchioni, Erik Yoder, and Ed Remley, assistant scout master.

The troop worked on building a 25-foot tower on the Forman Tree Farm in July. Those participating in the construction included those scouts who attended Camp Potomac as well as Rick Vecchioni, Charlie Nolan, Jamie Durst, Justin Wilson, and Christian Covello. Scout masters and assistants included Dwayne Yoder, Ed Remley, John Forman, Al Covello, and Dale Eaton. Gratitude toward the Forman Tree Farm was expressed for providing the scouts a place to build and camp, as well as donating the logs to construct the tower.

Two scouts from Troop #22 went to High Adventure Camp in August. Those attending were Rick Vecchioni and Patrick Forman, along with Scoutmaster Dale Eaton. The boys participated in a three-day canoe and backpacking trip at the camp. The rest of the week was spent in "discovery camp" at which they practiced shooting, throwing tomahawks, and repelling and climbing on "the wall."

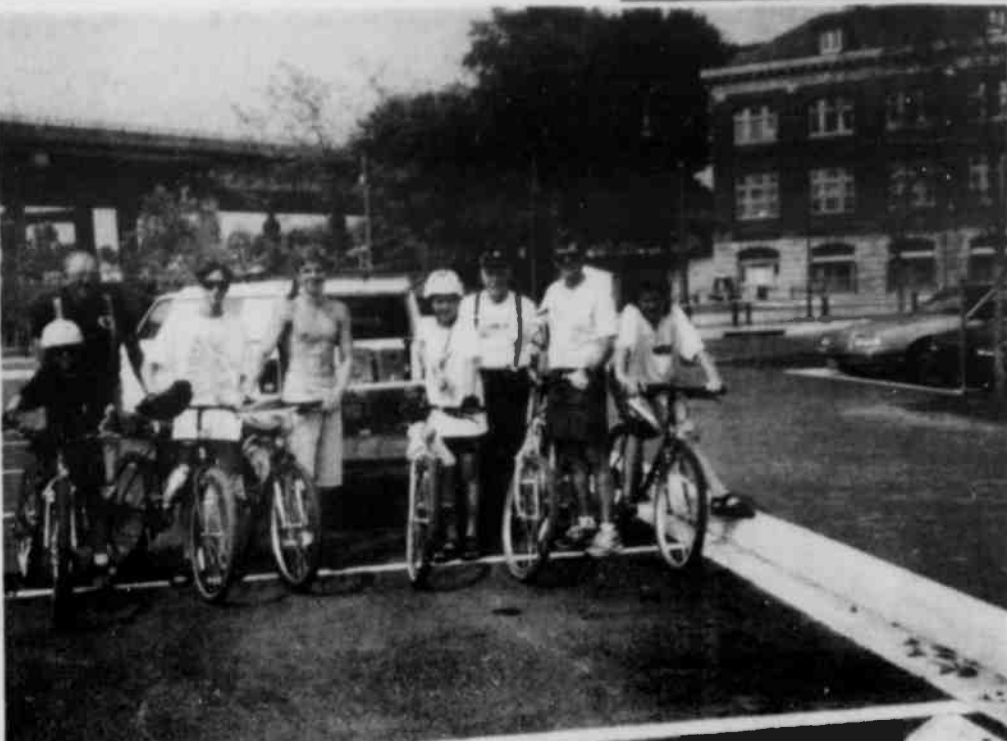

Another August activity for the troop was canoeing on Alpine and Broadford lakes under the supervision of Sally Mark and Mike and Chris Howell.

A Court of Honor ceremony took place on Sept. 14 at Broadford Lake to recognize the scouts for their efforts over the summer. Those receiving merit badges were Christian Covello, hiking; Patrick Forman, emergency preparedness, environmental science, forestry, railroad science, rifle shooting, and wilderness survival; James Marc, bugler, Indian lore, metalwork, and music; Christopher Remley, metalworks, sports, and swimming; Matthew Vecchioni, leatherwork; and Erik Yoder, metalworks, sports, and swimming.

The highlight of the Court was the presentation of the Life Rank to Patrick Forman. Forman's next step in scouting will be to work toward the Eagle rank.

Future events for Troop #22 include a three-day camping trip at the Council Camporee in October, and a four-day biking trip on the C&O Canal in November.

The troop is presently selling caramel popcorn for $12 in a holiday canister. Any person interested in supporting the troop by purchasing popcorn may contact any scout or call Sally Marc at 387-5784.

SCOUTS HAVE BEEN BUSY - Members of Boy Scout Troop 31, Oakland, had a busy summer with a variety of activities, including cycling the entire length of the historic C&O Canal. The 184-mile trip took four and one-half days for the scouts to complete. The hike included side trips to the C&O Canal Museum in Hancock, the Antietam Battlefield in Sharpsburg, and Harper's Ferry, W.Va. The scouts and leaders who participated are pictured above at the Western Maryland Railroad Station in Cumberland at the beginning of the trip. Pictured left to right are: Bryce Taylor, leader Paul Shogren, Josh Teets, David Peterson, Michael Schwalm, leaders Howard Boltz and Tom Peterson, and Johnny Peterson. The scouts also spent a week at Camp Liberty, one of the three camps on Heritage Reservation near Uniontown, Pa. Pictured left to right, front, are: Mike Dehus, Adam Murray, David Murray, Charles Smith, Michael Schwalm, Jamie Stanton, Bryce Taylor, and Jordan Hazelwood. Standing in the back, same order, are leaders Tom Peterson and Paul Shogren, and Johnny Peterson.

Nominations For Women's Hall Of Fame Sought

The Maryland Commission for Women has announced that it is again seeking nominations of outstanding Maryland women for induction into the Maryland Women's Hall of Fame. Nominees should represent women who have participated in shaping the state of Maryland, the nation or the world and be "examples for tomorrow's leaders."

The Hall of Fame was established in 1985 as a permanent recognition of the significant contributions of Maryland Women throughout history. It honors those who have made unique and lasting contributions to the economic, political, cultural and social life of the state. The project, jointly sponsored by the Maryland Commission for Women and the women legislators of the Maryland General Assembly, has heightened awareness of women's roles in history.

The public's participation in this process is why 49 women have been recognized with induction into the Hall of Fame. For further information or to request a nomination packet, persons may call Joanne Saltzberg, executive director of the Maryland Commission for Women, at (410) 767-7137.

Each year for the past 27 years I have observed the June procession of graduates at Southern High School as they receive their diplomas. Many smiles; some tears as they end their journey of 13 years through the Garrett County school system.

Very few of these young people have an opportunity to live and work in the communities in which they were born and raised.

I have been painfully aware of this problem and will do all I can to encourage the creation of jobs in Garrett County.

After all the rhetoric has been published and the politicians' promises have been forgotten, who do you believe will remember their commitments to the citizens of Garrett County? Who do you believe will dedicate himself to bring jobs to our communities?

As a Garrett County Commissioner, your concerns will be my concerns.

LIONS PAST PRESIDENT GIVEN PLAQUE - Jerry Ferguson, past president of the Oakland-Mountain Lake Park Lions Club, was presented with a Past President's Plaque recognizing him for his efforts in directing the club's activities in the past year. A club spokesperson stated that along with other officers, board of directors and members, Ferguson "put in numerous man-hours in fund raising and community activities to help make this area a better place to live and to provide help where it is needed." Pictured above left presenting the plaque to Ferguson is current President Paul Shockey, who assumed the duty on July 1. The club's next meeting will be Sept. 26, at 6:15 p.m. at the American Legion Home on Memorial Drive. District Governor Roy Cool will be the guest speaker.

These courses are designed for individuals who wish to improve their skills in reading, writing, and math and for those at more advanced levels who wish to test for their high school diploma.

Because all lessons are individualized and self-paced, students may enter these courses any time during the year. Scheduled times and locations are as follows: Monday, 6-9:15 p.m., Oakland Center, GCC; Monday, 6-9:15 p.m., Bloomington Elementary School; Mon./Wed., 11:30 a.m. - 1:30 p.m., Oakland Center, GCC; Tuesday, 10 a.m. - 2:30 p.m., Oakland Center, GCC; Wednesday, 5-8 p.m., Friendsville Elementary School; Thursday, 5:30 - 8:30 p.m., Accident Elementary School.

Each year approximately 200 students take advantage of this opportunity to improve on skills they have already developed during life or to pursue the goal of achieving their high school diploma, according to a GCC spokesman. These courses are supported by a grant from the Maryland State Department of Education and are free of charge to all students.

For further information on any of these courses, persons may contact Patricia Baer at 334-8304 or 387-3069.

An Authoritative Source of Vitamin & Mineral Information

Who do people ask for advice on vitamins, minerals, and other nutrients? Although there are many sources of vitamins and minerals, your pharmacist may be the best information source. Here's why:

Vitamins are organic chemicals, and minerals are inorganic chemicals. Both nutrient types affect your body's chemistry. Your pharmacist has completed courses of study in inorganic chemistry, organic chemistry, and biochemistry.

Symptoms of nutritional deficiencies, acute diseases, and chronic diseases often are difficult to distinguish. Your pharmacist can suggest when you should consider visiting a physician or other health professional rather than taking supplements.

Your pharmacist is a prescription and nonprescription medicine expert and knows how medicines interact with supplements.

Your pharmacist can provide you with a variety of supplement brands, not just the latest "miracle nutrient" promoted on cable television or by various marketing schemes.

Your pharmacist is licensed by your state as a health care provider.

Your pharmacist cares about you and your family - not just the supplements you may be taking.

Suspected Bank Robber Indicted By Grand Jury

A man suspected of robbing the Grantsville Branch of the First United Bank and Trust has been indicted by the September Term Grand Jury, according to a report from the Garrett County Circuit Court. A second man was also indicted by the jury on lesser charges of theft in an unrelated case.

Alexander D. DeVault Jr., 49, Midland, has been charged by the Grand Jury with three counts of robbery with a dangerous and deadly weapon, three counts of robbery, four counts of assault, and one count each of felony theft, use of a handgun in the commission of a crime of violence, and possession of a short-barreled shotgun.

DeVault was arrested by Maryland State Police last week after he allegedly entered the local bank and threatened at least two tellers with the shotgun, demanding money. He was given the cash in the drawers, and he exited the bank and left in his own vehicle, according to reports.

What makes the project unusual is that the trout are being reared in the discharge water from the mines, water that at one time was the major pollutant of streams and rivers because of its extreme acidity. Mettiki Coal Company Unveils Unique Trout Rearing Station

A special gathering for a rather extraordinary project was held Tuesday at the Mettiki Coal Company near Kempton, as the company explained and conducted tours of its innovative trout-rearing station at the mine site. What makes the project unique is that the water being used to raise the trout is the discharge water from the mining operation, water that at one time, because of its highly acidic content, was responsible for the pollution of many of the state's waterways. Not only is the water in Mettiki's treatment plant suitable for raising trout, but early results indicate that, because of its aeration and strict, year-round temperature control, the growth of the trout is more rapid than in conventional rearing stations.

Attending Tuesday's event were representatives of the Maryland Department of Natural Resources, including Dr. Torrey Brown, DNR secretary; representatives of Mapco, Inc., parent company of Mettiki; Joseph Craft III, representative of various agencies; local elected officials; and media representatives.

"This is truly an incredible event," said Dr. Brown, who was one of several program speakers. "Ten years ago the idea of raising fish in mine discharge water was considered impossible. As recent as two years ago, it was believed to be possible, but extremely difficult."

"This is the best possible example of industry and government working together for both economic development and the protection of our natural resources," Brown said. "Mettiki developed and become a WVU cheerleader. In her spare time, Wendy enjoys horseback riding, swimming, playing softball, and helping with the Oakland Jets Youth League cheerleaders."

This past summer, her softball team, Mt. Top Glass, coached by Curt Bucklew, took first place honors in the tri-county women's league. Wendy is the daughter of Roger Craver and Diane Arnett. The queen will be accompanied throughout the Autumn Glory Festival by Princesses Shannon Nicole Phillipi of Southern High School and April Hutchinson of Northern High School.

Oakland Mayor Announces Bradley Manor Will Be Razed At Last

Oakland Mayor Asa McCain said.

As part of the lengthy process of settling the housing site dilemma, the town of Oakland has prepared a plan for the area that includes 32 housing units for elderly persons, to be styled similarly to Underwood South, and 32 "affordable income" apartments with rent to be under $300.

Also in the plan is a community playground with five basketball courts, three tennis courts, and a recreation building where classes and small community events can be held. McCain said an ice skating rink is also being planned, as well as a mile-long paved loop for walking, jogging, and biking. McCain's long term idea is to continue the walking loop on out to the Mountain Fresh Pavilion. Community Development Block

History, Personal Experiences Are Highlighted At WWH Convocation

"Excellent program." "I wish all the history students could have been here." "It really made me understand more about the war." These were some of the comments written at the close of the World War II Convocation held at Garrett Community College last Friday.

At that program GCC students, faculty, and staff and a number of community residents, many of them veterans of World War II, heard four speakers present information about the war and relate some of their own personal experiences.

The program began with a color ceremony conducted by members of local veterans organizations: American Legion Post 71 of Oakland, Post 208 of Accident, Post 214 of Grantsville, VFW Post 10077 of Oakland, and Disabled American Veterans Mt. Top Chapter 29. The color guard was organized by Jim Sedgers and Rev. John Grant who gave the invocation. The Accident Concert Band provided patriotic music for the ceremony.

In his welcoming remarks, GCC president Dr. Steve Herman told the audience the reason for the college choosing the World War II Commemoration as its yearlong theme. "More

Commissioners Asked To Vote On School Site

Garrett County Superintendent of Schools Jerome Ryscavage came before the Garrett County Board of Commissioners Tuesday to request that they make a decision regarding the purchase of the site for the proposed southern area elementary. The commissioners may vote next Tuesday on whether or not to purchase the site for the new school.

Ryscavage explained that the county's option to buy the site will be up on Oct. 3, but that an extension can be requested from the state. He stated that he does not want to ask for an extension unless the commissioners make a commitment to purchase the site.

Ryscavage informed the commissioners Tuesday that a recent school site survey has indicated that approximately one acre of emerging wetlands exists on the site. Upon this discovery, Ryscavage met with the project architect, surveyor, and a representative of the Maryland Water Resources Administration to review the site and its usability.

According to Ryscavage, the architect determined that the site is usable, but that before construction begins an area of wetland in the center of the site will have to be converted to non-wetland. To preserve the wetland environment, an equal amount of non-wetland near the edge of the site, away from the school, will be converted to wetland. This plan must be approved by the WRA before any work can be done. Ryscavage stated. He expects that the WRA will reach a decision on the issue in 3 to 6 months.

"We need your commitment to purchase the site if it is approved by the WRA," Ryscavage told the commissioners. He added that the school board itself currently has sufficient funds to purchase the school site, which is priced at approximately $200,000. However, Ryscavage does not want to proceed with the project without the commissioners' support. The school board has already spent between $30,000 and $33,000 on the southern elementary school project.

After Ryscavage's presentation, Commissioner John Braskey asked the superintendent if he could brief Commissioner Brenda Butscher, who did not attend Tuesday's commissioners' meeting because of a family death, on the issue later in the week. Ryscavage agreed to confer with her before the next commissioners' meeting.

The outcome of next week's commissioner vote on the purchase of the school site is still uncertain.

Tuesday Accident Claims Lives Of Two Garrett County Teenagers

Two Garrett County teenagers died following a single-vehicle accident Tuesday afternoon on Interstate 68, just west of Rt. 495 near Grantsville.

Sixteen-year-old Annette Michelle Jenkins, Star Route, Frostburg (Garrett County), a junior at Northern High School, was pronounced dead at the scene, following the 3:31 p.m. accident, and Timothy C. Durst, 17, Grantsville, also an 11th grade student at NHS, who was initially listed in "critical" condition at Cumberland Memorial Hospital, died Wednesday evening from injuries sustained in the accident.

In a report filed by the R.J. Sivic, Maryland State Police, Barrack W. McHenry, Jenkins and Durst were passengers in an eastbound 1985 Chevrolet pickup truck operated by a 17-year-old Frostburg area male. State police would not release his name, but he was reportedly treated and released at Cumberland Memorial.

The Sivic said a witness reported the driver was operating the vehicle at a high rate of speed when he lost control. The pickup skidded sideways, struck a guardrail and overturned, ejecting all three occupants. No one in the vehicle was wearing a seat belt.

Officials from the State Highway Administration diverted traffic to alternate routes, as eastbound lanes on I-68 were closed for nearly three hours.

Other written reports indicate the accident occurred on dry roads, in a straight section of the highway. The Sivic is continuing his investigation. Also responding to the scene were members of Northern Garrett Rescue Squad and Grantsville Volunteer Fire Department.

Man Injured In Plane Crash Now Listed "Stable"

A McHenry man who was seriously injured in a plane crash last Tuesday at the Garrett County Airport remains hospitalized at Cumberland Memorial Hospital. His condition has been upgraded to "stable," according to a hospital spokesperson.

Harry Vaughn Vitez, 43, was a passenger in a Piper Cherokee Arrow airplane en route to Morgantown, W.Va., and piloted by Lawrence R. Rosage, 54, McHenry, that crashed shortly after takeoff.

Two other passengers, Timothy K. Yommer, 34, Mtn. Lake Park, and John K. Burnside, 49, Weston, W.Va., were slightly injured in the 6:05 p.m. accident.

The Federal Aviation Association (FAA) is continuing its investigation into the accident, and may take up to 30 days to issue its findings.

GCSO Looking For Leads In Local Daytime Burglary

The Garrett County Sheriff's Office is currently seeking information into a daytime breaking, entering, and theft at a local residence. Dale Wagner contacted the office on Sept. 15 when he and his wife discovered that someone had broken into their home, located on Rt. 219 south of Sand Flat Road, and stole several items. The family's losses have been recorded to be over $2,000.

Wagner said the house was empty on the 15th while he and his wife were at work. The culprits entered the home and ransacked several rooms, stealing numerous home interior decoration items, women's clothing, jewelry, shoes, and $500 in cash. A metal door was also damaged.

Detective Randy Shaffer has urged persons with any information about the crime to contact him at the sheriff's office. He asked that persons who noticed unusual vehicles or persons in the area on that day to relay that information to him. A similar crime took place in the same area that day, and is currently being investigated by the Maryland State Police.

In other investigation news, the theft of $1,185 in tools was reported this week by Donald Metheny, Friendsville. The victim told police that he is currently building an addition on to his home and on the night of Sept. 17 had left several tools in the unfinished open room. He went out of town that evening and upon his return the following day discovered that the tools had been taken.

The residence is located on White Rock Road. There are no suspects in the case.

A rash of vandalism was reported in Kitzmiller last week. On the night of Sept. 22, several businesses and residences were vandalized with shaving cream, eggs, and other items. The Kitzmiller Elementary School was also affected, as the culprits wrote obscenities on the sidewalks. Several cars were hit with eggs or sprayed with shaving cream, according to the report.

After a short investigation, police found a lead, and juvenile suspects have been questioned in the case, according to the police report. The damages to the homes and businesses were nominal.

Western Maryland Symphony Concert Season Will Open October 22

The first of four concerts in the 1994-95 concert season of the Western Maryland Symphony will be given in the Performing Arts Center of Frostburg State University October 22 at 8 p.m. Dr. Jon Bauman is music director and conductor.

This opening subscription concert was originally scheduled for October 29, but was moved to avoid conflict with a major Sacred Heart Hospital benefit. Chairman of the Western Maryland Symphony board Paul Herring stated that it was "impossible" to find a date where there was no conflict, but that major events should be scheduled on different dates whenever possible.

The program for the October 22 concert remains the same. It will open with Leonard Bernstein's "Candide" Overture and continue with Henri Paul Sicie as soloist in Mozart's "Piano Concerto No. 23." The final work will be Beethoven's "Fifth Symphony."

Sicie is well known to Western Maryland audiences from his many concerts in the region when he was the performing artist on the faculty of FSU. He performed with the Maryland Symphony at Hagerstown and the Baltimore Symphony, as well as at the Music at Penn-Alps Festival. The October 22 concert will be the first time Sicie has played music by Mozart in Western Maryland.

Dr. Sicie is a graduate of the Conservatoire de Musique de Nice and Rice University. This past summer he accepted a position with the University of British Columbia, where he now resides with his wife, Nancy.

A special feature of the initial concert will be a discussion of the program by Allen Emerick. This free pre-concert feature will take place in the Performing Arts Center from 7 to 7:30 p.m. the evening of the concert. Emerick, a well-known musician in the region who teaches at Allegany Community College, will explore the individual pieces on the program, as well as their relationships to each other and to the historical period from which they come.

Tickets for the four-concert season are now on sale at the office of the Western Maryland Symphony in the Western Maryland Station Center on Canal Street in Cumberland. The phone number is (301) 724-1755. A $25 subscription to all four of this season's concerts is now available on a first-come, first-served basis. Orders for the $7.50 single tickets are now being taken. Those orders will be filled in order of receipt beginning October 10.

Previously, tickets have been available only to members of the Western Maryland Symphony Association, the parent organization of the symphony. Membership contributions, which are partially tax-deductible, support those costs of the WMS not covered by ticket sales and other income. Membership is still available, beginning at $50. A season ticket is given a member, and two season tickets are offered to all members who contribute $100 or more.

Tickets purchased will be mailed to WMSA members and subscribers in early October.

The policy of the Western Maryland Symphony Association is to honor membership applications first, then to satisfy requests for season tickets, and finally to fill as many single ticket requests as possible, according to Herring.

Bloodmobile To Visit Oakland

The Johnstown Region of the American Red Cross, Blood Services, has announced that the bloodmobile will be in Garrett County this Friday, Sept. 30, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Oakland Armory.

Regional Red Cross officials want to remind potential donors that the AIDS virus cannot be contracted through blood donation.

"There is no chance that the AIDS virus or any other infectious disease can be contracted when donating blood," Barbara Sojak, Donor Resources Field Representative said. "Sterile needles are used on each individual donor and are disposed of after each use minimizing the chance of infection by any disease."

Anyone age 17 or older who weighs at least 105 pounds and is in general good health may donate blood. A person can safely donate blood every 56 days or every 8 weeks.

All blood types are needed to maintain adequate supplies, especially negative types and type O.

For more information about this drive or another in this area, persons may contact Barbara J. Sojak at 1-800-542-5663.

Woman Sentenced To Five Days For CDS Violation

A Friendsville teenager was sentenced to five days in the Garrett County Jail for an earlier conviction of marijuana possession. Kathy Jo Harding, 19, was found guilty of the possession charge as well as a paraphernalia possession charge in a July trial in Garrett County Circuit Court.

Judge Fred A. Thayer had ordered a pre-sentence investigation at the time of the conviction, and last week decided to sentence the defendant to jail time for only the drug possession charge. The court opted to withhold any penalty for the paraphernalia violation, according to the report.

Harding was originally charged after a November 1993 investigation by the Maryland State Police Drug Enforcement Division.

Civic Club Wins Third Place In National Contest For 1993 Effort

The Civic Club of Oakland, in cooperation with several other local organizations, captured third place in the Community Improvement Program of the National General Federation of Women's Clubs (GNWC) Contest for the club's year-long Celebration of Garrett County Women. Fifty-one clubs out of an eligible 8,300 federated clubs were in the finals, and the local group was placed third. This marks only the second time a Maryland club has received an award in the top five.

The club was awarded a national prize of $2,500 and a $150 state prize. According to a club spokesperson, the money will be spent on additional community improvement efforts. A committee has been formed to explore possible projects for its use.

The Celebration of Garrett County Women spanned throughout 1993, with numerous activities and events offered with the purpose of educating the Garrett County public about the achievements of local women as well as teaching women and girls about opportunities available to them in today's world. The seed for the idea was introduced by high school teacher Jane Avery, who was concerned about the trends of many of her female students who were dropping out of school, getting pregnant at a young age, and going on welfare. The women of the Civic Club decided to address the problem, and the idea of the year-long project was formulated.

Twenty-three area organizations agreed to help with the effort, and did so by offering special women's fairs; computer, math, and science fairs; and seminars that offered employment and career ideas.

The first women's fair of the year was held at Garrett Community College, with 56 community organizations and businesses participating. Over 400 guests came to the event, which offered 34 different classes, exhibits, and demonstrations. The Civic Club paid to have all the county's eighth grade girls bused to the event, and the high school girls were given excuses from school to attend.

Women in the community were recognized throughout the year in newspaper features and on the radio. The musical play Quilters, the story of pioneer women and their hardships in the 19th century, was staged by Avery and performed by a cast of local women. An outdoor weaving project was conducted by Sonia Pratt involving several area women who wove together strips of material from fabrics that had meaning in their lives, and a laceworks project was completed by several other area women who sewed together a spectacular wall hanging under the supervision of Kris Parker, a fabric artist from Philadelphia.

A project titled Holding Our Own, organized by Linda Reeves-Cook, included area women of all ages who were asked to sum up their lives in the contents of a drawer. The exhibit was displayed at GCC and later sent to the Maryland Art Place where it received a favorable review in The Baltimore Sun.

Funding for various events came from several sources, such as the Garrett County Arts Council, the Maryland State Arts Council, the Mid-Atlantic Arts Foundation, and numerous local organizations, businesses, and individuals. Garrett Community College provided space, personnel, and support services, enabling the event to be held in the center of the county.

The Grand Jury also indicted Curtis L. DeWitt, 21, Oakland, on two charges each of breaking and entering and misdemeanor theft. Bail has been set at $5,000, according to the court report.

DeWitt is accused of breaking into an Oakland town storage building on June 29, 1992, and stealing four cases of Pepsi. He is also accused of illegally entering Fox's Pizza Den in Oakland on July 9, 1992, and stealing the cash box and $275 in currency.

Rural Health Conference Set At Wisp Resort

The Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene (DHMH) Office of Rural Health will sponsor the first annual Maryland Rural Health Conference October 6-7 at the Wisp Resort and Conference Center, Deep Creek.

"The conference provides an opportunity for rural health practitioners to discuss issues of common concern for rural health care and develop strategies for addressing their issues," said Jonathan Foley, director of the DHMH Office of Rural Health.

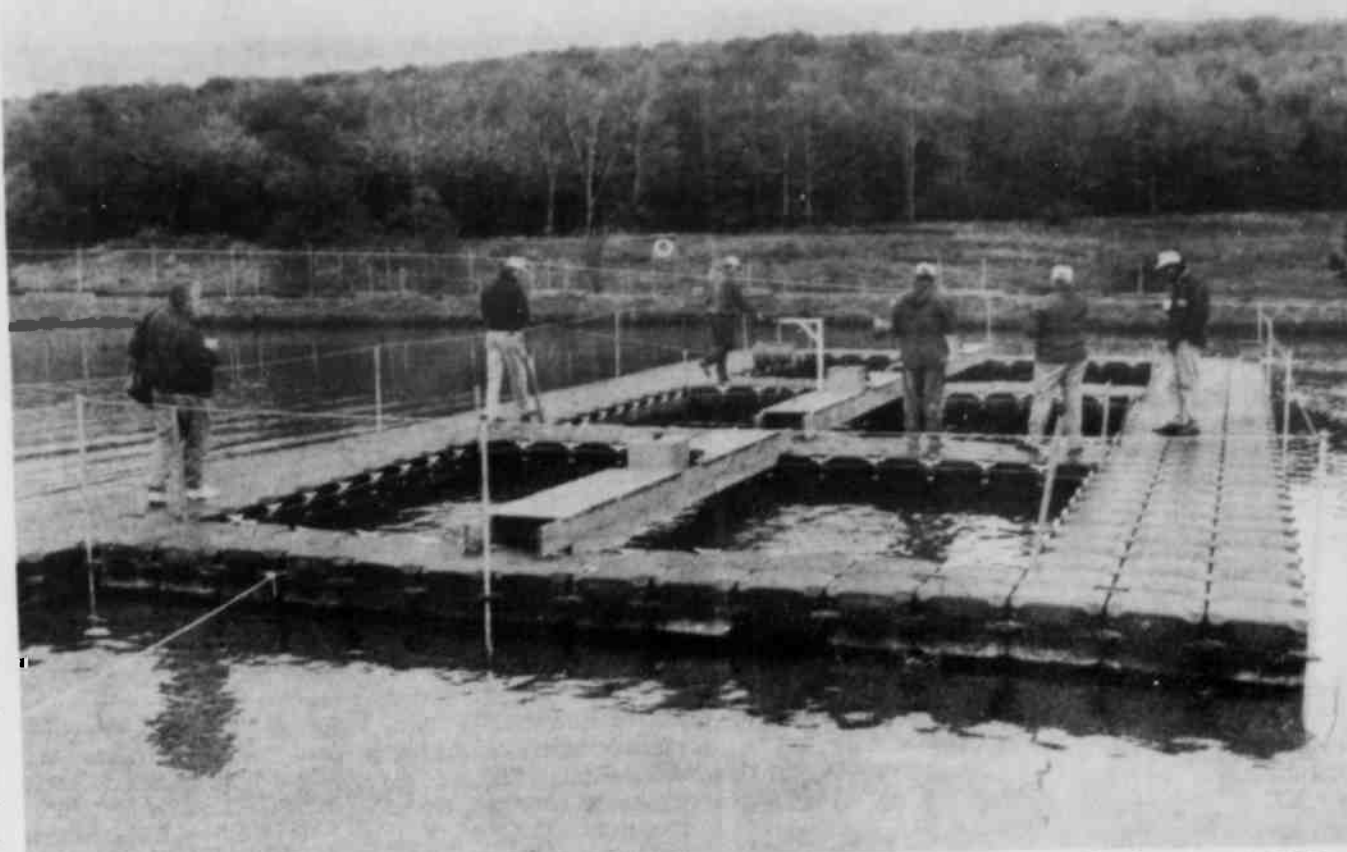

Those attending will include physicians, nurses, allied health professionals, hospital personnel, social service professionals, state and local government officials, and consumers.

The Maryland Office of Rural Health, a division of DHMH, was created in August 1993. The primary mission is to assist persons in rural areas in developing health care systems that meet the needs of Maryland's rural communities. This mission is fulfilled by:

attracting federal funds to improve delivery systems; recruiting and retaining providers in rural areas; publishing a quarterly newsletter that includes information on federal and state programs, funding opportunities, and legislation; developing a rural telecommunications strategy; and building coalitions with other state agencies, medical schools, and universities to develop coordinated approaches to rural health issues.

Among the local persons who are part of the conference faculty will be Dr. Rex D. Archer, county health officer; Ben Rosenthal, president of Garrett County Memorial Hospital; and Jim Harvey, vice president of Garrett Memorial. Others include Del. Casper R. Taylor, Speaker of the Maryland House of Delegates; John Colmers, director of Health Care Access and Cost Commission; Chuck Fluharty, director of the Rural Policy Research Institute; Jerry Cooney, of the Federal Office of Rural Health Policy; and Cal Pearson, president of the Maryland Hospital Association; and Nelson Sabatini, director of the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene.

Topics will include: Rural Health in Era of Health Reform; Identification of Maryland Rural Health Issues; Training Students/Residents in Rural Sites; Serving Hard-to-Reach Populations; Recruiting Providers to Rural Areas; Telecommunications; Health Reform; What it Means for Rural Maryland and its Communities; Community Development - A Grassroots Approach to Collaborative Agreements; Integrated Rural Networks; Impact of Managed Care on Rural Health in Maryland; Developing Solutions to Maryland's Rural Health Problems; and Developing a

Some 30,000 rainbow, brown, and cutthroat trout are presently being reared at the Mettiki station in treated discharge water from the mining operation. The trout, which were supplied as fingerlings by the Department of Natural Resources, will ultimately be used for stocking Maryland's waterways. Mettiki Coal Is Honored By Potomac Edison Energy-saving measures taken by Maryland's largest coal producer, Mettiki Coal Corporation in Garrett County, have saved the firm electricity and money and have earned it an Energy Management Award from The Potomac Edison Company. Potomac Edison Company Industrial Services Representative John Hollis presented the award Tuesday to Charley Wesley, vice president of operations of MAPCO Coal's Western Maryland facility.

According to Hollis, Mettiki has taken an "aggressive approach" to energy management in order to save electricity.

"Mettiki has been very successful in saving energy during the 'past year' in which we have worked with the company on this demand-shifting project," Hollis said. "The company's coal mining operation uses long-wall technology which, before this program started, necessitated running the mine 24 hours a day and a coal preparation plant 16 hours each day. By rearranging work and maintenance schedules, Mettiki was able to operate the mine 16 hours per day and the preparation plant 16 hours each day during Potomac Edison's off-peak hours. Mettiki installed metering which is driven by pulses from Potomac Edison equipment, allowing the company to continuously monitor its demand for electricity."

"Mettiki reduced its electricity costs by more than $371,000 over the past 12-month period. That's very significant savings. And the company reduced on-peak demand for power by nearly 20 percent. These are savings that Mettiki will continue to realize while it participates in the demand-shifting program."

Wesley responded, "Demand-side management is an essential part of Mettiki's culture. Every employee is an owner in this operating scenario. The Mettiki employees realize the competitive nature of the coal business and represented themselves as owners in all matters that deal with job security, quality of life and safety."

The presentation was held Tuesday during a special program that unveiled Mettiki's trout-rearing project (see separate story). Hollis said that Potomac Edison has programs in place to help all types of businesses determine ways of saving energy and energy dollars. Persons desiring more information on these programs, may contact Hollis at Potomac Edison's Western Division office in Cumberland at (301) 759-5703.

Governor William Donald Schaefer will be among the dignitaries on hand Saturday, Oct. 1, when Maryland's first state multi-law enforcement center, the Garrett County Public Safety Center, is dedicated. State and local officials will join the governor in the official unveiling of the facility, slated to get underway at 11 a.m.

The 12,540 square-foot complex and an adjacent 5,323 square-foot garage house the Maryland State Police, Barrack W, the Western Detachment of the Department of Natural Resources Police, and the local Maryland State Fire Marshal's office.

Also planned at the facility is an open house on Sunday and Monday, Oct. 2-3, from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. each day.

According to Lt. Charles H. Hinnant, commander of Barrack W, the two-day open house will feature displays and exhibits from all three agencies occupying the safety center. It is hoped the new MSP Dauphine helicopter, based in Allegany County, will make an appearance during the open house, but it will definitely be on hand for the dedication. Also scheduled for the public's viewing will be K-9 personnel, a scuba team, and new state police cars and motorcycles. "We want to invite the residents of Garrett County, and the friends of the Maryland State Police to tour the new facility during the open house," Hinnant concluded.

An Important Election...

An election will be held tomorrow at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, the results of which could have a significant effect on the future of that institution. We sincerely hope that the approximately 200 (of 350) employees who are eligible to vote in that election will decide that representation by Local 27 of the United Food and Commercial Workers Union is not in their best interest, nor that of the community which is served by the hospital.

As expected, the union painted an extremely rosy picture for the hospital employees, virtually assuring them that life in the workplace would be wonderful with their representation. We are pleased that, during the past several weeks, the majority of employees have been listening, learning, and conducting their own research on just what it would mean if the union gains a foothold at Garrett Memorial. Perhaps the union representatives sold the employees short and assumed that the majority of them would simply accept their claims hook, line, and sinker, without really checking them out. We believe that such has not been the case, and we commend the employees for their efforts to get the real story.

We are all fortunate that the primary concern of all of the employees at our hospital, including those who are pro-union, is patient care. This is one of the main reasons GCMH is such an outstanding facility. We do not believe for a minute that members of Local 27 have this same priority. After all, why should they? This is not their community. The patients are generally not their friends nor members of their families. Their interest has nothing to do with the employees, their patients, nor our community. It is strictly financial.

Perhaps we have the union to thank for its interest and aggressiveness. For while there has been a tremendous expenditure of time and certainly some money by hospital management, both of which could have been spent on other things, this will most likely prove to be a good exercise in strengthening and expanding the communication and cooperation among the employees, management, the medical staff, and the board of governors. The rapidly changing health care environment is creating extreme stress for everyone involved in the industry, from hospital administrators to physicians to lab workers to housekeeping personnel. There are many frightening unknowns and many problems to solve. But we strongly believe that, as these challenges are tackled, a non-union environment is far superior to the alternative.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I am writing this letter in my capacity as the director of the Accident Cultural and Historical Society.

This last Saturday, under the auspices of the ACHS, the renovated and restored Drane House was dedicated. The Drane House is the oldest standing residential building in the county.

I would like to express my sincere and grateful appreciation to all involved in preparing for the line event the day turned out to be. The day left me feeling a strong sense of pride that I am a member of the Accident Cultural and Historical Society.

There are many, many people who worked to make the dedication of the Drane House happen -- those involved in the actual restoration of the building, those who contributed to the project, and those who planned for and participated in the memorable dedication day. To one and all, sincere thanks and gratitude for a successful project and day you all worked together to accomplish.

Sincerely yours,
Rev. Ernest G. Lindner
Director
Accident Cultural and Historical Society

To the Editor:

Friday the 30th is the day on which all eligible voters will have the opportunity to cast their secret ballot either for or against the representation being offered to employees of Garrett County Memorial Hospital by the United Food and Commercial Worker's Union Local 27.

This vote is as important to the employees of the hospital as the recent Primary Elections were to the residents of Garrett County. How sad it is to realize that no matter how the vote turns out, there will be losers who won't get over the loss. Some employees are threatening to quit if the union isn't voted in. Others threatening to quit if the union is voted in. A tragic loss, either way.

Local 27 is making promises and guarantees similar to those offered during all political campaigns. Promises made in order to become the popular candidate, the candidate of choice. How many times have we seen campaign promises go up in smoke, or simply not materialize once the election is final. How many times have politicians misled us into voting for representation that really wasn't what we wanted? How many times have we chosen to change our vote to a different candidate at re-election time because we realized we had been told less than the truth? Please think about all of your options before you vote for union representation by the UFCW.

Think about how easily you have been given promises and guarantees, and how difficult it is to decertify this union from representation if you get less than you bargained for.

No matter what you think about the anti-union meetings we have had to attend, the fact is that there are serious problems with the representation offered by the UFCW. Specifically, there are charges of the union failing to follow through on grievance proceedings for its own members. This is one of the main reasons you have sought union representation, but I don't see evidence of relief offered by the union for those individuals who brought charges against the UFCW for not following through and supporting them in their grievance procedures.

There is a time and a place for union representation, and there are probably a few good unions out there, but the UFCW is not among them. Of all the members in Local 27 (27,000+), why is there only one hospital which belongs to this local? Much of the literature which has been distributed throughout the hospital by the organizing committee has made reference to the "plant" in which we all work. It is obvious that much of this propaganda is simply canned literature used in all of the union's organizing attempts. I resent being thrown into the same category of employee as those in slaughtering/packing houses, sausage makers, sheep shearers, livestock handlers, trappers, leather workers, and chicken pluckers. These are the types of workers who are represented by this union -- are you one of them?

The issues which brought forth the initial contact with Local 27 are all tough issues, none of which can be corrected overnight. The union can't, and administration of this hospital can't. Please give administration another chance before you make the decision for the union. Let us try to solve our problems within the hospital through the mechanisms already in place, i.e., the employee committee, before we go to an outsider. What harm would that do? If one year from the vote in 1995 you still feel that none of the issues have been addressed by administration, contact a union again, but not this union. At least try to have one on your side which is more acquainted with hospitals and hospital workers.

For this vote, for this union, for this year, vote no.

Kathy Deniker
GCMH employee

To the Editor:

Since someone felt the need to contact the election office and question my spending, I would like to take this opportunity to make it public.

First off, you should know that I did sign a pledge to not spend more than $300 on my campaign for the board of education, and this was what is in question. Yes, I did have fliers, signs, and ads in the newspapers.

How did I do it? For starters, I used a local printer (Master-Craft Printers) for my fliers. Cost $130. Then I was able to purchase 50 signs of good quality from Master-Craft Printers for about half of what most other companies wanted for the better ones. This only gave me 25 signs when placed back to back, but the permission of property owners and careful placement across the county they were effective.

Finally, I made use of the free biography write-ups in both papers and then paid for one additional ad in each paper. Total spending to date comes to about $270.

How did I do it? I used some good financial sense, put lot of time and hard work into it, and surrounded myself with lots of good people.

Thank you,
Dale M. Carpenter

To the Editor:

As an employee of Garrett County Memorial Hospital with 27 years of service, I am writing this letter out of concern for my fellow employees, the institution for which we work and the communities we serve.

For numerous and various reasons there are employees who have embraced the idea of a union representing them. They feel the union will obtain new and improved benefits and working conditions for them. This may, or may not, prove to be true, but I think all concerned will concede that any representation by a union will cost the employees money.

No one and no organization is perfect. We all make decisions which with hindsight we see as wrong or at least more harmful than helpful.

I would ask that we, as employees, give the structure for employee concerns which is already in place (the Employee Committee) the opportunity to hear, see and feel the concerns we have. I would ask administration to allow the employees to be heard through this committee, to review its policies, and to seek employee input.

I feel we would be doing ourselves, the institution, and the communities we serve a great disservice if we did not actively explore "in-house" solutions to any concerns we have.

I ask each employee to seriously consider this alternative when they stand in line on September 30 to cast a vote concerning collective bargaining.

Why pay someone to do for us what we can do for ourselves? We at GCMH have made great strides. We can accomplish many things if we are willing to work together and continue to grow together.

I thank you for your time and the space in which to air my concerns.

Sincerely yours,
Judy Umstot

To the Editor:

The male chauvinism in this county became very apparent when the electorate defeated one of the hardest working, most effective commissioners this government has seen. The good old boys' will take over again.

It seems that the attitude not only prevails, but is perpetuated by the editor of your newspaper. In the most recent editorial concerning the letter Mr. Grotzky wrote, there was not one mention of the audacity of his writing such a letter when he hasn't even been elected yet. Also I note that in writing your editorial a reference was made to "Commissioner Groves" but the same courtesy and respect was not afforded Commissioner Butscher who was referred to as Brenda Butscher. Is it any wonder?

Yours truly,
Harry F. Dunkin

To the Editor:

Just for the record, I would like to say that I am really grateful for my job at Garrett Memorial Hospital. I've been an employee at the hospital for almost 10 years and I really enjoy working here because they make me feel like we are one big family.

Your job is what you make of it. If you enjoy doing your job, then it will treat you well. If you are unhappy and don't enjoy doing your job, then I feel it is time to make a change. Employees need to be reminded of all the privileges and benefits that we have (i.e. paid sick leave, paid vacation time, life health insurance, retirement, reimbursement for education, loans). I feel the employees better open their eyes before it is too late! We could lose these privileges and more if the union is voted in.

It seems like everyone has forgotten why we have a job in the first place -- the patients who come here! Without the patients there would be no hospital and the whole union issue would not be an issue.

Sincerely,
Brenda Gank

To the Editor:

This letter is to the irresponsible, cruel poor excuse for a human being who dropped off the two kittens (1 orange and white, 1 black) on Harvey's peninsula this past weekend. They were both hit and killed by a car on Sunday night, 9:25.

Thank God it wasn't mine; however this doesn't lessen the emotional upset of seeing them lying in the middle of the road, knowing someone deliberately left them there to starve to death (or to have someone else pick them up and take care of them) rather than use the same amount of time, gas, and energy to at least get them to the G.C. Animal Shelter where they would have been fed, housed, and given a chance to find a family (weekdays only) before being humanely put to sleep!

There's no excuse for animal cruelty and if you can't afford to be a responsible pet owner by getting your animal spayed or neutered, then you have no right to have them and expect the rest of us to pick up where you want to leave off. There is a large fine for anyone caught abandoning animals. So, people, please keep your eyes open and write down the license numbers.

Sincerely,
Nancy Clayton

OUT OF THE DARKNESS

Reason For Hope

by Carol Cox

Each year across this country thousands of mental health professionals, their patients, friends and family members come together to educate their communities during Mental Illness Awareness Week, marked this year from October 2-8.

Five million Americans experience a severe mental illness in a one-year prevalence period. (A severe mental disorder may include schizophrenia, bipolar illness, and severe forms of depression, panic disorder, and obsessive-compulsive disorder.)

Psychiatrists can help between 65-85% of those suffering with major depression to feel better within a few weeks.

Medications relieve acute symptoms of schizophrenia for 60% of those suffering with that disorder.

Medications combined with other forms of therapy can help up to 80% of those suffering from panic disorder.

Patients suffering from bipolar disorder (manic depression) can be treated with an 80% success rate.

Recent estimates place the number of Americans suffering with mild to severe panic disorders and phobias at 13 million and an estimated 2.4 million have obsessive compulsive disorder.

Learn the 10 warning signs:

1. Marked personality change.
2. Inability to cope with problems and everyday activities.
3. Strange grandiose ideas.
4. Excessive anxieties.
5. Prolonged depression.
6. Marked changes in eating or sleeping habits.
7. Thinking or talking about suicide.
8. Extreme highs and lows.
9. Abuse of alcohol or drugs.
10. Excessive anger, hostility or violent behavior.

A person displaying one or more of these warning signs should be evaluated by a psychiatrist or other physician as soon as possible.

Treatment works! Need more information? Call Joyce at 359-0808 or come to the DRADA (Depression and Related Affective Disorders Association) meeting held the second Monday of every month at 7:30 p.m. in the Community Services Building, next to Garrett Memorial Hospital in Oakland.

View From My Window

BATTEN DOWN THE HATCHES

The lights were off when I got home last Thursday night. There had been branches in the road along the way. The rain fell, and the winds blew. Despite the power failure, a glowing light appeared through the kitchen windows. There in the middle of the floor was a burning candle in a silver candlestick on a porcelain plate in the middle of a quarry tile floor. Deborah wanted to leave a light for me, and felt that no matter what happened to that candle, it would catch fire to nothing. Thus she illuminated my arrival home.

A commonplace of conversation is that you can't tell the difference from one season to another. I'll admit that does often seem the case. Nature could not, however, have sent a clearer message than if she had mailed us a letter announcing the beginning of autumn. Last Thursday's storm was the final one of summer, but fall ran all through it. The seasons officially changed on Friday morning at 2:19 a.m., the hour of the autumnal equinox. I observed the transition, by laying the first fire of the season on Friday morning.

Last Thursday's storm was curious. In many ways it felt like a tropical storm, the way it began, and the way the rain fell. As the night followed dusk, the storm felt increasingly like a northeaster. By the time I got home, the wind blew straight out of the north. Until the past two years, our weather came out of the west with occasional exceptions, but they were very occasional. When weather, especially falling weather, came from another direction it was usually severe.

During the past two years we have gotten a lot of weather out of the northeast. Here, at least, we have had two unusually cold and snowy seasons. Last Thursday night makes me think that trend will continue. Maybe that is why I hear, both from the scientific as well as the folklore predictors, that the coming winter could be rougher than the last one.

As I mentioned last week I have been reading, among other things, Root Cellaring by Mike and Nancy Bubel. The sub-title is "The Simple No-Processing Way to Store Fruits and Vegetables." The book does pertain to preserving the harvest without processing it. For example, instead of canning or freezing carrots, the book tells how to keep them through the winter packed in a crate with damp sawdust. The underlying lesson, however, is how to garden with the seasons.

Picture me last Thursday night, in bed after 11:30. The lights have come back on, and I am propped up on pillows winding down from a church meeting by reading Root Cellaring. I think to myself, "What will my garden look like tomorrow morning after this storm?" and "What do I have to do to keep things going?" With those thoughts in my head I fall asleep.

Next morning, everybody else goes off to school, and I head for the garden with two buckets to gather squash and tomatoes. The summer squash have just about had it, and yet there are some of each variety: zucchini, yellow crookneck and patty pan. I gather not only ripe tomatoes, but also the half-ripe ones because I know they will tit up with water today as a result of the rain.

I look over the rest of the garden to apply what I read the night before. Spinach and kale need only to be cut and cooked. Turnips have matured, and want only a frost to sweeten them. Beets can be pulled. Big strapping Brussels sprouts plants have healthy leaves, and look as if they are ready to start forming the sprouts. And I have actually gotten some carrot seed to grow, at long last. Never mind that they are still too young to have formed roots.

The winter squash, from which my wife despaired of ever getting a crop given when they were planted, have produced an abundance of ample, handsome fruits. They appear ripe, and now need the hardening which comes from a sun cure. I open the cold frame, which--to be honest--has not proved such a successful raised bed (and I don't know why). I make a few mental notes of adjustments in hopes of making it work better once covered with glass.

Since nature was kind enough to send me notice of fall's arrival, I have tried to be prudent enough to pay attention. And it isn't only year-round gardening. I'm doing my share of processing, too: juice, sauce, chutney, frozen packs, all put by. For a quarter year the nights shall lengthen and the hours left to work in the garden shall grow short. Nevertheless, I hope to be ready for all the storms that come.

To the Editor:

On September 13, 1994, Garrett Countians went to the polls to cast their vote for whom they thought would best serve their needs in local and state government. This was a very important decision that the people had to make. After the ballots were tallied, and some surprises came about, did anybody wonder if they had made the right choices?

Well, on September 30, 1994, another voting will take place in Garrett County. Employees of Garrett County Memorial Hospital will be casting their votes for whom they believe will best serve their needs and desires for "better improved working conditions" within their work place.

I only hope that employees will make the right decision and vote for what they "feel" is the "best" decision for them, their families, fellow employees, and the future of Garrett County Memorial Hospital. This can be done best by all eligible employees voting on Friday, September 30, 1994!

Let's not wonder on October 1 if we made the right choice!

Sincerely,
Sandy Branter,
GCMH employee

Several Persons Arrested For DWI By Sheriff's Office

Several area persons were arrested this week by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office on the charge of driving while intoxicated (DWI). Other arrests included persons charged with trespassing, destruction of property, and breaking and entering.

Stephen E. Tasker, 21, Accident, was arrested on Sept. 23 for DWI, according to the police report. He was stopped by an officer who stated the defendant was operating his vehicle in an erratic manner on the Accident-Bear Creek Road. The arrest took place at 11 p.m.

John H. Donaldson, 20, Oakland, was charged with DWI on Sept. 20. He was seen crossing the center line of the roadway, according to the police report, as he operated his vehicle on Rt. 39 near Crellin. The arrest was effected at 8:45 p.m.

A Grantsville man arrested for DWI was also accused of probation violation. Michael W. Wilburn, 33, was stopped on Sept. 26 on the Accident-Friendsville Road at 10:15 p.m., according to the report. A bench warrant was issued for the probation violation.

William W. Sweitzer, 23, Oakland, was arrested for DWI after being stopped on Rt. 135. He was originally stopped by an officer for operating a motorcycle without any headlight at 1:30 a.m., according to the report.

Bernard M. Wolford, 22, Frostburg, was charged with DWI on Sept. 24. He was operating his vehicle on Interstate 68 at the time of the arrest, according to the report.

Frank R. Shillingburg, 53, Elk Garden, W. Va., was arrested for DWI on Sept. 25. He was stopped on U.S. Route 50 at 1 a.m., according to the report.

An Oakland woman was charged with burglary, breaking and entering, destruction of property, and "rogue and vagabond" after she allegedly broke into the home of Steve Wotring Monday night. Connie L. Friend, 22, was found by police inside the Wotring home, which is located on Rt. 50 east of Table Rock Road.

According to Wotring's statement, he was in bed when he heard a noise in the basement. The noise continued, and he went to investigate. He apparently found Friend and a companion of hers in his home. Friend had a screwdriver used in gaining entry. Wotring detained the two until officers arrived on the scene.

After spending the night at the Garrett County Jail, Friend was released on her own recognizance.

In a separate case, a Frostburg man was arrested by the sheriff's office after he allegedly drove through a neighbor's fence. Lawson L. Duckworth, 52, apparently became involved in an argument with a neighbor over property rights, and during the dispute drove through a wooden fence belonging to the neighbor, Eloise Broadwater. He apparently caused $300 damage.

Duckworth is also accused of swearing at Mrs. Broadwater, according to the report. He was charged with disorderly conduct and trespassing.

Timothy S. Groves, 29, Oakland, was arrested on the strength of a warrant charging him with breaking and entering a dwelling and trespassing. The charges were filed by his ex-wife Deanna Groves, who told police that the defendant had been ordered to stay away from her Shady Dell Road residence but had entered the property anyway.

The incident took place on Sept. 23, according to the report. A body attachment order was issued for the arrest of Randall E. King, 42, Deer Park. King is accused of failing to appear at a child support hearing, according to the report.

Harry J. Ahern Jr., 27, Swanton, was arrested on the strength of a bench warrant. Ahern apparently failed to appear in court for a civil case.

County Agencies Report Progress For September

Garrett County Commissioners Elwood Groves and John Braskley heard monthly reports from representatives of several county agencies during Tuesday's commissioner meeting. Commissioner Brenda Butscher was absent because of a death in her family.

Sanitary District
Wendel Beitzel, director of the county sanitary district, said that his department is currently completing road crossings for the Chestnut Ridge sewer system in the area of U.S. Route 40. Bumps over these crossings are now being paved and the crossings will be completed in approximately two weeks, he stated.

He added that there has been a delay in the design phase of the Chestnut Ridge sewer project, but that a public hearing will be announced when these plans are complete.

Beitzel also remarked that his agency has received a $50,000 grant to replace water lines in the Powles Edition and Oak St. area of Mtn Lake Park. He concluded by stating that the new McHenry storage tank has been erected and will be complete in approximately two weeks. The tank will be connected before winter, he said.

Community Action
Duane Yoder, executive director of Garrett County Community Action, Inc., told the commissioners that the site for the Grantsville Senior Center has been purchased. He expects that plans for the facility will be finished within the next two weeks. Then the project will be bid, he said. Yoder hopes to break ground for the center next spring.

Yoder also commented that he has discussed his desire to convert Friendsville's Frazee Hotel into a senior center with Friendsville town officials and members of the local Lions Club. A technical study will need to be conducted on the building, he remarked, before any further steps can be taken on this project.

Yoder added that the self-sufficiency housing program, which helps local families in the rent assistance program to purchase homes, will finish renovation to two houses on Fairview Drive in October and two in Woodridge Village by December. Community Action is currently seeking families to occupy these homes, he said.

Community Action also has the funds to perform rehabilitation on owner occupied housing. Yoder stated, "We can meet whatever demand exists," he said.

On the subject of the Americorps program, Yoder told the commissioners that his agency will interview and select participants during the next one and a half weeks. He remarked that Garrett County has been offered eleven Americorps positions.

Health Department
Representing the county health department Tuesday was Jay Cross. He also discussed the Americorps program, stating that he had interviewed 35 to 40 applicants for seven of the Americorps slots.

Cross added that the health department recently received a grant for the governor's adolescent pregnancy program. The grant monies will go to employ a nurse practitioner in the county school system, he stated.

Cross also warned that flu season has already hit Garrett County, and flu vaccinations will be available from the health department beginning the first week in October.

General Services
County General Services Manager Gary Mullich informed the commissioners that the Federal Aviation Administration will not issue a report of the recent airplane crash at Garrett County Airport for at least 30 days. Because of this accident, Mullich stated that planned improvements to the facility may be implemented sooner than had been expected.

He explained that an automated weather observation system, or AWOS, and a computerized pilot information center, or PIC, are expected to be installed at the airport within the next several years. According to Mullich, the $70,000 AWOS will monitor the temperature, dewpoint, and wind direction. "Pilots can access this information before taking off," he stated.

Mullich said that the Garrett County Airport will receive the Washington County Airport's old AWOS when that facility receives a new one. As a result of the crash, the FAA will speed up this process, he added.

However, the installation of the PIC is still several years away, he stated. This device, which will allow pilots to access weather information through their radios, will cost $1,600 per year to operate, Mullich said. The AWOS will generate operating costs of $3,000 each year. "Both would enhance the landing and taking off at the airport," he remarked.

Library
Emily Ferren, head librarian for the Ruth Enlow Library, opened her comments by expressing her thankfulness to departing Commissioners Butscher and Groves for their help with the library. Ferren then announced that the library will hold a book sale during the Autumn Glory Festival, and that she will soon attend a meeting of the Maryland Association for Public Library Administrators.

She also stated that the upcoming staff-day seminar for library workers will be titled "The Positive Benefits of Change," that the library will be linked to the computer system Internet on June 30, 1995, and that she and the county health department are seeking a grant to promote literacy.

In conclusion, Ferren commented that the Oakland Civic Club will soon conduct a head count of all persons who use the library during a one week period. Ferren explained that this count is necessary for library funding requests.

Extension Service
Alice Hevner, county extension agent, 411 and youth, told the commissioners that this year's corn crop has been "excellent" and that the county has not yet suffered a killing frost. However, she added that this year's late hay has been poor. Also, with milk prices down, area dairy farmers have experienced a "great dollar loss," she remarked.

Hevner also welcomed all interested persons to attend upcoming workshops on beef, forestry, computers and farming, and small fruits. Hevner is currently preparing for National 411 Week to be observed next week.

Environmental Health
Edgar Harmon, county director of environmental health, stated that during the year's final rabies clinic held last week, 250 animals were vaccinated. A total of 900 were vaccinated this year, he added. So far this year, 13 cases of rabies have been confirmed in Garrett County: 12 in raccoons, one in a skunk, and one in a ground hog, he remarked.

Harmon also told the commissioners that between 25 and 30 local food workers attended a food handlers course recently held at Garrett Community College.

Community College
Steve Herman, GCC president, told the commissioners that 711 students are enrolled at the school this semester. The record enrollment for that institution is 719, he remarked.

The new GCC dormitory, Garrett Hall, was opened just in time for the start of the fall semester and is fully occupied with 60 resident students, Herman said.

However, he added that the exterior of the dorm building still requires some work before it will be complete.

The college's year-long World War II commemoration program got underway last Friday, Herman commented.

School Board
Henrietta Lease, director of personnel for the Garrett County Board of Education, stated that members of the BOE will attend the Maryland Association of Boards of Education Conference Sept. 28-30 in Solomons. She then announced upcoming events: a college expo will be held at the Wisp Resort Oct. 10, an administrative and supervisory meeting will take place Oct. 12, and county schools will be dismissed at 1 p.m. Oct. 14 so that teachers may attend a staff development meeting on the school improvement plan.

Economic Development
Tom Jones, county director of economic development, reported that the county was recently offered a grant to fund design engineering for the planned parallel taxiway and rerouted access road for the Garrett County Airport. Construction on these will begin next year, he stated.

Jones hopes to receive a Farmers Home Administration grant for engineering and construction on the intersection of State Route 495 at the Northern Garrett County Industrial Park. The intersection has been slated to receive $140,000 in safety improvements, Jones explained. The park will receive a new occupant in the next ten days, he added.

GCC Board Of Trustees Approve Personnel Manual

At a recent meeting of the Garrett Community College Board of Trustees, members of the college's Organization and Salary Committee were present to review the college's new personnel manual.

Committee members present were Jack Dubose, Judy Sconyers, Jean Tresler and Linda Fike. Fike, director of personnel at GCC, was recognized for being most responsible for the development and assembly of the document.

"It took many people, over a long period of time, to produce this document," Fike said. "We felt it was more important to do it right, rather than fast."

Efforts to assemble a personnel manual at GCC began in December 1987, according to Fike. Its main purpose has been to review the college's organizational structure, and to develop a salary structure and promotion system that is internally equitable and consistent. In order to create a working document, the committee networked with other colleges and conducted several salary surveys, looking for a style that was comprehensive and reflective of Garrett County.

The board unanimously voted to accept the manual at the request of the committee, and made it effective retroactive to July 1, so it will tie into the fiscal year.

Dr. Steve Herman, president of Garrett Community

College, noted changes will be made in personnel requirements as policy requires.

CHAIRMAN'S REPORT
Charles Bender, chairman of the GCC Board of Trustees, appointed Doug Sites, Rob Michael, and Earl Clark, chairman, to a committee to select a recipient for the Outstanding Contributions to GCC award.

Bender also reported on his recent attendance at Maryland Association of Community Colleges (MACC) meetings. The July 20 meeting, according to the chairman, was unproductive because only six community colleges were represented. But, he said, the meeting he attended on Sept. 14 was represented by all but two of the institutions. He further commented that Prince George's Community College has decided to retain its membership in MACC, and he expressed his pleasure with that decision. Another topic discussed during the Sept. 14 meeting was the strategy for the coming year as far as receiving monies for community colleges.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT
Herman introduced Jim Allen, director of technology at GCC, who was present to discuss Garrett County's Tech Prep Program, already instituted in the county's high schools. Allen was instrumental in developing the program in

Drane Descendents Attend Opening Of Historic House In Accident

Over 60 descendants of Lt. James and Priscilla Drane were welcomed into Accident Sept. 23 and 24 for the dedication of the Drane House, the oldest man-made structure in Garrett County, by the Accident Cultural and Historical Society and the community of Accident.

The Drane family had a reunion on Sept. 23 in the social room of St. Paul's Lutheran Church hosted by Margaret Beadle and Dr. and Mrs. Gary Cook.

On the following morning, the Drane descendants, former inhabitants of the Drane House, and others gathered for an informal program featuring several speakers and a video presentation by Rev. John Grant.

The afternoon program began with a 30 minute performance by the Accident Concert Band. Speakers for the afternoon included Rev. Ernest Lindner, director of AC HHS, Steve Schlosnagle, preservation consultant, Vallee Peterson, speaker for the Drane Family, and Kate Mahood, of the Maryland Historic Trust. The program concluded with a one act play, "The Story of the James Drane House," written by Beadle and directed by Peg Janney.

During a break for refreshments following the play, the Hammer and Strings Dulcettes provided music popular during the 1800's. The Pipes and Drums of Garrett Community College and a horse drawn wagon with the play's cast as passengers lead a procession to the Zion Lutheran Church Cemetery where Rev. William Carlson, Larry Drane, Frank Drane, and Dr. Gary Cook spoke to the group. Cook placed a wreath on the grave of his ancestor, James Drane.

The procession then walked to the adjacent property, the Drane House, for the official ribbon cutting ceremony and a tour of the home.

The house is open to visitors upon request at no charge. Interested persons may contact the Accident Town Hall Monday, Wednesday, or Friday, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at 746-6346.

Drane, Frank Drane, and Dr. Gary Cook. The wreath behind the marker was placed by Cook.

Levi Schmuck, James Hook, Robert Hook, Leo Schlosnagle, Amy Glottelty, Mark Bergstrom, Brian Schlosnagle, and Daymond Schmuck. The play was performed on Sept. 24.

Dinner prices are $6 adults and $3.50 for children 12 and under. Turkey dinners will be served at area restaurants throughout the weekend.

The Autumn Glory Car Show and Flea Market will be held Sunday, October 16, from 11 a.m. - 3 p.m. in the Oakland Town Parking Lot. Registration will close at 2 p.m. and the registration fee is $5 per car. Trophies will be awarded to the top 20 cars and trucks, and dash plaques will be awarded to the first 40 entries. Admission to this event is free.

The Fun Factory and Texas Barbecue will be held Friday, October 14, from 4-7 p.m. at the Dennett Road Elementary School lawn, with food and games for all ages. Among the activities will be pony rides, moonwalk, carnival games and prizes, plus Texas-style barbecue meals. Admission for this event is free.

The High Mountain Sports Annual Ski, Snowboard and In-Line Skate Swap will be held from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday and Sunday at High Mountain Sports, located on Route 219 at Deep Creek Lake. The Mountain Fresh Farmers' Market will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the Oakland Town Parking Lot, where local produce, crafts, baked goods, maple syrup, painted pumpkins and flowers will be available.

The Southern Garrett Band Boosters will host turkey dinners with all the trimmings on Saturday, October 15, from 3-6 p.m. at the Southern High School cafeteria. Take-outs are available to those who bring their own containers.

8-Hour Acetaminophen Soon To Make Debut

Our newest nonprescription pain reliever is naproxen sodium. This medicine has a relatively long duration of action, and can be taken as seldom as every 12 hours to obtain round-the-clock pain relief. On the other hand, the popular pain and fever reducer acetaminophen must be taken about every 4 hours. Now, according to Pharmacia's Letter, one acetaminophen manufacturer has obtained approval to market its product in a dosage form that releases the medicine over an 8-hour period. This adjustment will make the new acetaminophen dosage form about as convenient to take as naproxen sodium.

Quick! Before frost destroys the herb garden, pick sprigs of your favorites today for winter use. Dry bunches upside down in a cool, dark place with good air circulation. Or dry in the microwave between paper towels, one to two minutes on high.

Flavor olive oil with 1/3 cup fresh herbs—bruised with a meat pounder—per quart. Chill two weeks, then strain into another container.

Any kind of seafood loves this avocado "butter"—just an avocado puréed in the processor, then mixed with 3/4 tsp. fresh lime juice. Add salt and pepper to taste, then enjoy.

Leftover raw vegetables and dip after a party? Stir-fry the vegetables tomorrow, and spoon the dip over baked potatoes. Mmmmm!

Second thoughts about cutting boards: though some studies found that wood seems to have some natural antibacterial action, the U.S. Department of Agriculture still favors plastic nonporous boards because they can be cleaned more thoroughly.

Rams Thrash Golden Tornado, 55-6, For Second Victory

While in the minds of most area football fans the Southern High Rams were a favorite going into last Friday evening's game against Keyser, in all probability not one of them thought the Rams would record 55 points against the Golden Tornado and allow only six by the team which was celebrating its homecoming.

The Rams successfully drove the ball down the field for touchdowns on their first two possessions and it appeared from that point on that the young Keyser team simply gave up. Midway through the third period, Coach Tom Woods substituted freely and by the end of the game, every uniformed Ram had played in the contest, as Woods and his staff did all they could to not run up the score on the home team.

The Tornado also suffered a blow when three-year starting quarterback Aaron Sanders had to leave the game with a shoulder injury.

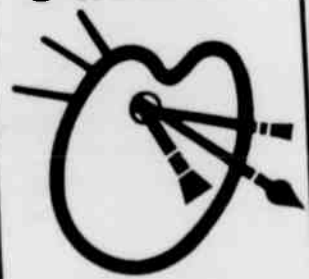

The Southern offense finished with 483 yards of offense, with all but 25 of that gained on the ground, and the Ram defense allowed just 146 yards of total offense by Keyser. Halfback Scott Dawson finished with 125 yards on 22 carries, quarterback Jeremy Fitzwater had 102 yards on just eight attempts, and David Crocco, who returned to the line-up this week and played only in the second half, added 83 yards on seven carries.

Dawson scored the first of his two touchdowns in capping a 14-play drive on the Rams' first possession and Fitzwater ran for the two-point conversion to make it 8-0.

Early in the second period, Fitzwater recorded the first of his two six-pointers when he reached the end zone on an eight-yard carry. Fullback Paul Berkenridge crashed through for the two-point conversion.

Midway through the period, Adam Moomau produced six points on a 16-yard run and on the next Ram drive, Elias Black hauled in a 14-yard scoring strike from Fitzwater, who kicked the extra points for both touchdowns and gave the Rams a commanding 30-0 halftime lead.

The Rams put three more touchdowns on the board in the third stanza, with Dawson scoring on a three-yard jaunt, Fitzwater breaking loose for a 54-yard scoring run, and Andy Woods, who relieved Fitzwater at quarterback, scoring on a five-yard carry. Fitzwater successfully booted one of the three PAT attempts in the third period.

A 61-yard carry by Crocco on the Rams' final possession set up his five-yard scoring run to cap Southern's scoring.

Keyser avoided a shutout when Steve Robinette broke through the second team Southern defense to complete a 37-yard touchdown run.

The win improved the Rams' mark to 2-1, while Keyser dropped to 1-4.

Coach Woods admitted he was surprised with the lop-sidedness of the score, but added, "I am reminded of the old philosophy that you are never as good as you look when you blow out a team, and you're never as bad as you look when you get blown out."

"After we scored twice so early in the game and they had to start trying to play catch-up, things just snowballed in a negative way for them," he said.

Woods said he believed his offensive line executed "somewhat better," but that the downfield blocking and execution in the backfield was "much improved."

"We got good performances by a lot of people," he said, "and it was nice to be able to play everyone."

The Rams are a favorite to win again this Friday night and spoil still another homecoming when they travel just east of Romney, W.Va., and take on the Hampshire Trojans; however, Woods believes that comparing records could be a big mistake.

The Trojans' unimpressive record of 1-4 is misleading, he said, considering the caliber of the teams that have defeated them.

"They lost to Hedgesville, a team that is ranked eighth in the state; they lost to Tucker County, a team that is ranked number one in the state; they lost to Allegany, ranked number five in Maryland; and they lost to Beall, who is undefeated," Woods said, adding that the combined won-loss record of those four teams is 15-1.

Hampshire's only victory was over Petersburg.

"They also really took major hit when they lost their All-Area tailback, Dana Deurr, in their first game of the season," Woods said. "He was a real leader for them, besides being an excellent player at both tailback and linebacker."

While Deurr is out for the season with a knee injury, remaining impressive players on the offensive unit include junior quarterback John Ansel (5-10, 150), junior split end Jason Fout (6-0, 145), junior back Doug Riggelman (5-7, 144), senior tackle Heath Custer (6-2, 264), and senior guard Craig See (6-2, 230).

"Their real strength is their offensive line, which averages 251 pounds and over six feet tall," Woods said, adding that the Trojans throw the ball 25-30 times per game.

The Hampshire defense, which uses 4-3, 6-2, and 5-2 formations, is anchored by Custer at tackle, senior defensive end Jason Wisner (6-1, 206), and junior linebacker Steve Oswood (6-0, 175).

"We have often had problems winning down at Hampshire," Woods said. "We won in the last 10 seconds one year when we were undefeated and we won in the last 10 seconds another year when we finished 7-3. It's tough to play there, so we anticipate an exciting game."

Woods said that the Rams are generally in good health, although nearly the entire offensive line has been out with influenza the past few days. Scott Dawson is also still nursing a sore leg.

Woods added that senior standout David Crocco, who was feared lost for the season with a back injury, will start this week in the offensive backfield and at linebacker.

Friday's kickoff at Hampshire Stadium is set for 8 p.m.

Ram Netters Drop Two More, Still Winless

The Southern High volleyball team continued to struggle this past week, as the Rams fell to host Fort Hill Monday, 3-0, and were defeated last night by visiting Mt. Savage, 3-0. The losses dropped the Rams to 0-5 on the season.

Sindy Niner led Southern in scoring against Fort Hill as she finished with six points. Debee Jo York led the Sentinels with eight points, while Dawn Lancaster and Kristen Gitt each finished with seven.

The Southern junior varsity won the preliminary match, 2-0, behind a 14-point effort by Abby Hershman. Amy Shaneybrook added seven points for the Rams, while Katie Ware led Fort Hill with seven.

The Ram varsity lost to Mt. Savage last night, 15-11, 15-3, and 15-2.

Niner led in scoring for Southern with six service points, while Carrie Blank paced the Indians with 13 points.

The Southern junior varsity lost the preliminary match, 15-4, 15-13, as Heather Abucievicz recorded 11 points and Jill Shaffer had 10 for the Mt. Savage jayvees. Abby Hershman and Elizabeth Paesani had six and five points, respectively, for Southern.

The Rams will host Beall on Monday.

Huskies Lose Defensive Struggle To Beall Mountaineers, 12-3

The undefeated Beall Mountaineers knew they were in a game after they left the Cove Friday night, most likely feeling fortunate to come away with a 12-3 victory over the Northern Huskies.

The Huskies played nose-to-nose with the 3-0 Mounties and held a 3-0 lead in the early going when Brian Heslop, one of the area's leading rushers, booted a 22-yard field goal in the first quarter.

The Huskies responded with a touchdown in the second period, scored by Jason Cutter on a five-yard run, and the score remained 6-3 until late in the fourth stanza when Shawn Holloway ramblled into the Northern end zone from 18 yards out. The conversion attempts on both Beall touchdowns failed.

Heslop finished with 106 yards to record his third straight game with over 100 yards. Holloway also broke the 100-yard mark for the Mountaineers, who led in total offense by a 258-121 margin.

"We really played well enough to win the game," stated Northern Coach Tom Vent, "but we made too many mistakes and broke down a few times, which they capitalized on."

The contest more than likely would have ended at 6-3, however the Huskies had to go for a first down on a fourth-and-25 from their own 20-yard line in the final moments of the game. The pass was incomplete, which gave Beall ideal field position and set up the final score.

"Our kids played a very tough game against a solid Beall team," Vent said. "They are young, but they are really trying hard, and I'm proud of them."

The Huskies, who lost two dozen players to graduation last spring, are starting only three seniors.

The "beefed up" Husky schedule just gets tougher this week, as the Huskies are slated to host the Mountain Lions of Tucker County, a 5-0 team that is ranked this week as the

Southern Golf Team Concludes With 17-4 Mark

The Southern High School golf team, coached by Lin Gonder, completed its season last Thursday by defeating University and Elkins high schools at the Mountain Golf Club course in Morgantown, W.Va. The Rams concluded their regular season with a 17-4 record, a mark they will take into the Potomac Valley Conference Tournament this afternoon.

Rich Orr was low medalist in Thursday's match with a score of 39.

Following today's PVC tourney, the Rams will compete in the Beall Invitational Tournament next Monday and Maryland regional play will begin Wednesday in Hagerstown.

"Considering the team's steady improvement during the season, I believe we have a reasonable chance to qualify for the state finals, which will be held in College Park Oct. 20-21," Gonder said. "Several members of the team are playing well enough to qualify for individual play in the state tourney even if we don't qualify as a team."

Team members include: James Ashby, Tom Sharpless, and Chris Mayles, seniors; Rich Orr, Alan Davidson, Dan Skipper, Jamie Bernard, and Frank Kratoch, juniors; and James Evans, Joe Swerbinsky, and Steve Shaffer, sophomores.

A 1995 single golf membership is being raffled off by the team to raise monies to cover expenses for regional and state competition. Persons desiring to make a donation or purchase tickets may do so at the Oakland Golf Club pro shop. The drawing will be held this evening following play in the PVC tournament.

The Lions have a situation opposite to that of the Huskies, as 21 lettermen are back from last season and the starting line-ups are dominated by experienced seniors. Also back after a five-year absence is Coach Bill Haddox.

Leading the Lion offense is senior quarterback Steele Kisamorc (6-1, 168), a three-year starter, along with running back Rocky Hebb, who recorded over 600 yards last year and is off to an impressive start this season.

Coach Haddox likes to mix it up on offense, with Kisamorc effective in executing the veer and option. "He also throws the ball very well," Vent said.

Excelling on the offensive and defensive line are tackle Fred Crowl (6-5, 215) and guard Scott Lambert (5-8, 200).

"They are not a super big team, but they have lots of experience and good quickness," Vent said.

"We're really excited about playing them and are going to do everything we can to pull off an upset," he said. "Winning this one would be like winning two games."

PICKING UP YARDAGE was no easy task for the Northern Huskies Friday evening against the undefeated Beall Mountaineers; however, Husky Brian Heslop, who has emerged as one of the area's top rushers, was still able to penetrate the Beall defense for over 100 yards. It was the third 100-plus yardage game in a row for Heslop, who is a junior on Tom Vent's young Northern squad. The Mountaineers held on to win the contest, 12-3, dropping the Huskies' season mark to 1-2. Northern will face another major hurdle this Friday when they host the Tucker County Mountain Lions, who are rated number one (double-A) in the state of West Virginia this week.

Vent said his team is in good health. "They are very resilient kids and we are really happy with how hard they are working," he said.

"We are trying to stay positive." The kickoff at Husky stadium is set for 7:30 p.m. Friday.

Another Oakland All-Star Team Captures State, Regional Honors

While most of the attention this summer was focused on the Oakland 11-12 year old all-star team that won the state and regional titles and nearly made it into the finals of the Little League World Series, there was another Oakland team of all-stars that was quietly enjoying similar success and ultimately finished as the 17th best team in the world for the 1994 season.

The Oakland L.L. Senior Division All-Stars (14-15) captured the District 1 title, the Sectional Tournament championship, the Northern Maryland state title, and finished as runners-up in the Mid-Atlantic region, which was farther than any other Oakland senior division team had ever advanced.

The team was on the road for more than a month in the process and outscored their opponents by a 160-36 margin. Seth Tressler, Stephen Goralski, Joel Uphold, Jaime Tasker, and Jerry Twigg all batted at least .300 throughout the playoffs, as Tressler smacked eight home runs, Uphold had five, Goralski hit three, Bernard recorded two, and Twigg, Ben Getson, Joey DiSimone, and Chad Warnick each had one.

Tressler also led the pitching effort with five wins and one loss, as he struck out 49 batters. Uphold finished at 4-2 with 50 strikeouts and one of his wins being a three-hitter. Tim Upton added three wins and 17 strikeouts.

Outstanding defensive play was provided by Bernard behind the plate, Tressler at third base, DiSimone at short stop, and Goralski at first base.

Jay Bruckey, Matt Ruff, Sean Durst, and Matt Zimmerman played well off the bench. The coach of the team was Rick Bittinger, while Chuck Ford served as manager.

Ram Jvs Fall To Fort Hill, Whip Spartans

The junior varsity football team of Southern High School was hammered last Thursday evening by visiting Fort Hill, 31-12, as Boomer Minor and Tom Welch led the Sentinels' rushing attack and scored two touchdowns each.

The Rams came back Monday evening, however, to record a big 44-0 victory over Bishop Walsh.

The Rams, who are 1-3, were down 31-0 to Fort Hill going into the final quarter before scoring a pair of touchdowns to avoid a shut-out.

Welch put Fort Hill's first points on the board with a 15-yard touchdown run in the first quarter, and also hauled in the two-point conversion pass from Pat Pennell.

Minor then scored the first of his touchdowns and ran successfully for the two-point conversion to make it 16-0 at the end of the first period.

Welch struck again in the third quarter, this time from just two yards out, and Minor scored his second touchdown to conclude Fort Hill's point production.

Matt Paul broke the ice for Southern in the fourth quarter with a 15-yard touchdown run. The pass for the extra two points was intercepted.

Joel Uphold later broke loose for a 50-yard punt return for the Rams' second touchdown.

Scott Schroyer excelled on defense for the Rams while Shawn Blank and WINNING STATE AND REGIONAL HONORS this past Little League season was not only the Oakland L.L. Junior Division All-Stars (11-12), who just missed earning a spot at the Little League World Series in Williamsport, but also this team of 14- and 15-year-old Oakland all-stars, who at the same time were winning the District 1 title, the Sectional Tournament title, and Northern Maryland title, and second place in the Mid-Atlantic championships. Team members included, front row, from left: Jay Bruckey, Aaron Newcomb, Tim Upton, Joel Uphold, Matt Zimmerman, Jamie Tasker, and Joey DiSimone; and second row, same order: Seth Tressler, Stephen Goralski, Jaime Ber-Simone, and Sean Durst, Jerry Twigg, Chad Warnick, Matt Ruff, Coach Rick Bittinger, and (partially hidden) Manager Chuck Ford. See story for details.

Darren Jones led the Sentinel defense. It was the second win in three starts for the Fort Hill javees.

In Monday's contest against Bishop Walsh, the Rams dominated the contest from their opening drive.

Aaron Newcomb, Joel Uphold, and Tim Jeffreys led the Ram offense, while Scott Schroyer, Uphold, and Nathan Rickman excelled defensively.

The Rams will host the Northern javees next Thursday.

Raiders Edge Steelers In Youth Football

Behind a three-touchdown performance by Jesse Coddington, the Oakland Raiders edged the Northern Steelers, 19-18, in Mountaintop Youth Football League action Saturday evening at Northern High School.

After a defensive first quarter, Coddington opened the scoring with a 50-yard punt return for a touchdown. The conversion attempt was no good and the score remained 6-0 for the first half.

Coddington made it 13-0 in the third quarter when he broke loose for a 58-yard touchdown run and also ran for the conversion.

The Steelers got on the board later in the third stanza when Craig Kamp recorded an eight-yard touchdown run. The conversion attempt failed.

T.J. Snelling pulled the Raiders to within a point early in the fourth quarter when he raced 43 yards for a touchdown to make the score 13-12. The conversion attempt was no good.

Coddington struck again midway through the period, this time on a 51-yard scoring run, to put the Raiders up 19-12.

The Steelers scored late in the game when Corey Sisler jumped on Snelling's fumble in the end zone. The conversion attempt, which would have tied the game if successful, was stopped just short by the Raider defense.

Coddington finished with 191 yards on 14 carries and also had 105 yards on two punt returns, while Nick Dolan added 26 yards on seven carries.

Raider coach Jim Stewart credited his entire defensive unit, while defensive standouts for the Steelers were Snelling, Sisler, Matt Settle, Ryan Savage, and Justin Hlesop.

The Raiders will play their arch rival, the Oakland Jets, this Sunday, Oct. 2, on the Southern High field, with kickoff slated for 7 p.m. The Steelers will host the Thomas-Davis Rams the same day in Terra Alta, with the kickoff set for 1:30 p.m. The Terra Alta Dolphins will play the Parsons Vikings in the 3:30 game.

Oakland Jets Whip Dolphins In Youth Game

Justin Liller passed for two touchdowns and Jason Bowers rushed for two as the Oakland Jets rolled to a 33-7 Mountaintop Youth Football League victory over the Terra Alta Dolphins Saturday evening at Northern High School.

The Jets scored on their second drive of the game, with Bowers capping the effort with an eight-yard touchdown run. The point-after attempt was no good.

A blocked punt early in the second quarter set up the Jets' second touchdown, as the ball was recovered on the Dolphins' 22-yard line by Christian Warfield. Two plays later, Liller hit Michael Panepinto with a 25-yard scoring strike. Josh Bosley booted the two-point conversion to give the Jets a 14-0 lead.

On their first drive in the second half, the Jets took over on the 36-yard line of the Dolphins and, in four plays, scored on a five-yard run by Bowers. The PAT kick was no good.

Three minutes into the fourth quarter, the Dolphins got on the board with a 20-yard touchdown run by Alan Tingley. Jason Ringer ran for the conversion, making the score 20-7.

The Jets responded with a touchdown on the next drive, as Liller connected on a 52-yard strike with a wide-open Keith Parks. The conversion attempt was no good.

Both teams inserted their junior varsity squads for the remainder of the game. On a fourth-and-12 situation, let quarterback fired a 28-yard touchdown pass to Chad Panther. Jeremy Hayhurst ran for the extra point to conclude the scoring.

The Jet coaching staff, which played all 35 members of the team, praised the efforts of their younger players.

The Jets will host their rivals, the Oakland Raiders, this Saturday, Oct. 1, in a 7 p.m. clash on the Southern High athletic field.

Ram Kickers Drop Games To Beall, Salisbury; To Meet BW

Youth and inexperience continued to plague the Southern High School soccer team this past week, as the Rams dropped a 5-2 decision to then-undefeated Beall last Thursday evening in Frostburg and then fell to Salisbury, 3-1, Tuesday evening in Oakland.

The Rams held leads in both contests, but some breakdowns on defense and a number of missed opportunities on offense allowed their opponents to rally for the wins.

Pete Sargent opened Beall's scoring Thursday night off a feed by Brad Thomas about nine minutes into the game.

The Rams came back to score the next two goals, the first on a shot by Steve Goralski off a pass from Kevin Andrews 15 minutes into the contest. Andrews then put the Rams on top 2-1 about six minutes later with a strong shot off an assist by Christian Covello.

The lead was short-lived, however, as Brad Thomas scored the first of his three goals for the evening off a feed by Chris Young about two minutes later.

Beall took the lead for good three minutes after that on Thomas's second goal. With less than two minutes remaining in the half, Thomas completed his hat trick with his third goal, giving the Mountaineers a 4-2 halftime lead.

Corey Walker took a feed from Nick Zaloga and scored a goal 13 minutes into the second half to complete the game's scoring.

The Rams were edged in shots on goal by a 25-21 margin. Tim Neumark had 18 saves for Beall and Justin Helbig recorded 21 for the Rams.

The Southern junior varsity was also defeated in the preliminary game, 3-0.

In Tuesday evening's contest against Salisbury (4-2-1), a long direct kick by Goralski was taken past the Elk defense by Dan Nelson, who fired a shot past Salisbury keeper R.C. Deer, giving Southern a 1-0 half-time lead. The goal came with 25:26 remaining in the first half.

The Rams narrowly missed a second goal with about five minutes left in the first half when Goralski's penalty kick went just over the cross bar.

The Rams lost their lead 12 minutes into the second half when Tony Ferraro drew the Southern defense to the right side of the field and then crossed to an open Jeremy Hoover, who scored. Just 30 seconds later, Ferraro broke open again when two Ram defenders slipped and took the ball unassisted into the net.

About five minutes later, the Elks added an insurance goal when Nick McKenzie passed to Hoover, whose quick shot went past Helbig and into the net.

The Rams were out-shot 30-23, with Helbig recording 16 saves and Deer, 10. Andrew Granke, who relieved Helbig late in the game, added one save.

"The team is playing some very fundamentally sound soccer," stated Southern coach, Tom Powers. "We show our youth and inexperience when we have a mental lapse defensively and continue to prove the fact that mistakes cost goals. As a whole, it's still coming together and we will win some games in the second half of the season. We simply need to improve our defensive focus."

The Rams, who are now 1-5, will face a difficult test this afternoon in Cumberland against Bishop Walsh. The next home match will be next Tuesday against Northern, with the junior varsity game beginning at 6 p.m. and the varsity at 7:30.

Deep Creek Club Tops Lonaconing In Soccer, 2-0

The Deep Creek Soccer Club, an adult team sponsored by A&A Realty, upped its season mark to 3-1 Sunday afternoon by recording a 2-0 win over Lonaconing at the Grantsville field.

Deep Creek scored in the first 30 seconds of the contest, as Seth Brownlee sent a looping chip into the penalty area and the ball bounced in front of the Lonaconing keeper, through his outstretched hands, and rolled into the goal.

Early in the second quarter, after a Deep Creek back appeared to have violently charged an opponent from behind and there was no call by the official, dissent among the visitors became increasingly vocal and abusive of the officials.

Later in the same quarter, Lonaconing's Tim Rounds pushed Deep Creek striker Mike Hoeffditz to the ground, taking away a scoring opportunity, for which Rounds was cautioned. Rounds was later sent off (suspended from the game) for abusive language against the referee.

He reportedly refused to leave the area and continued to swear at the linesman, Derek Spirk, at which time the match nearly had to be abandoned.

Tensions subsided during halftime and play resumed. A Lonaconing player was tripped in the penalty area in the third period, resulting in the awarding of a penalty kick. Deep Creek keeper John Steele stopped the ball with his legs to keep Lonaconing from tying the score.

Russell Christner then set up the second Deep Creek goal as he dribbled past several defenders into the right corner and, near the goal line, lofted a crossing pass into the goal area, which striker Spencer Richards headed into the back of the net.

According to a Deep Creek Club spokesman, much confusion in the league games could be avoided and the number of controversies reduced "if the league would abandon some of its out-dated rules and play by the laws of the game, without modification as to high school rules, college rules, or any other source, not withstanding what the players are 'used to'."

The A&A club has a bye on the regular schedule this week, but some of the members will play a pick-up game at Grantsville on Sunday, Oct. 2, beginning at 1 p.m. All interested in playing or watching are invited.

Huskies Drop Soccer Game To Wildcats, 6-1

The Northern High soccer team dropped its sixth match in as many starts last Thursday evening, falling to visiting Westmar, 6-1.

Mac Sloan paced the Wildcats by recording a pair of goals and assisting on another. It was the second win in five games for Westmar.

Sloan scored his first goal on an assist by Jeremy Kiddy about eight minutes into the game. He made it 2-0 with a successful penalty kick with 19:29 remaining in the first half.

The Huskies then cut the lead in half when Frederick Oberg recorded an unassisted goal about four minutes later.

Unassisted goals by Eric Schramm and Travis Love gave the Wildcats a 4-1 halftime lead.

Corey Alkire made it 5-1 with a goal on an assist from Sloan in the second half, and Don Bradley concluded the contest's scoring with a penalty kick.

The Huskies were out-gunned in shots on goal by a 42-14 margin, but had a 5-3 edge in corner kicks. Keeper Chris Elliott had 25 saves for the Huskies and Brian Shaw was credited with six for Westmar.

The Huskies will play again next Tuesday in Oakland against the Southern Rams, with the kickoff set for 7:30 p.m.

Southern Harriers Fare Well In Uniontown, Top Clear Spring

The Southern High School cross country teams continue to record strong finishes in area competition, as the defending state champion boys' team, coached by Carl Booth, placed second in a 13-team meet in Uniontown on Saturday and then defeated host Clear Spring Tuesday, 23-41.

The girls' team, coached by Louis Newcomb, placed fourth in the Uniontown event and also won at Clear Spring.

The Southern boys were actually tied for first place with Morgantown in the Uniontown event with 87 points, but the sixth place finishers on each team were used to break the tie. Todd Gibson was Southern's sixth place finisher and was just 1.5 seconds behind Morgantown's sixth place finisher, so Morgantown received the first place team honors.

Allegany's Chanda Merrill placed first with a time of 20:16. In the boys' race, Northern's Rich Bowser placed fifth and Dan Seaman finished eighth.

Justin Keener of Hampshire recorded a time of 16:11 to place first. The Northern teams will compete again this Saturday in the Frostburg State University Invitational at Rocky Gap State Park near Cumberland. Then they will vie in the Area Championships at Rocky Gap next Tuesday.

The Northern teams also competed against Fort Hill on Monday (see separate story).

Venom Paintball Reviews Record

The Venom competition paintball team from the Oakland area took first place Sept. 17 in a three-man competition held at Timber Ridge Paintball in Hancock.

Other tournament results for the team this year include sixth place finishes at both the Sgt. York's Spring five-man Open April 17 and the American Paintball League Eastern Regional also held at Sgt. York's near Harrisburg, Pa. At the International Amateur Open held Aug. 11-14 in Pittsburgh the team defeated many opponents from around the world including teams from Canada and Scotland, but Venom failed to make the finals because of a chronograph penalty in the first game of the tournament.

"Venom has remained a very competitive team since its beginning in 1992 despite losing some key players along the way. The team is always looking for interested people to try out this new and exciting sport," stated team captain Mike Frey. Interested persons may call Frey at 334-6151 or Scott Lohr at 387-2337. They have extra equipment available for anyone wishing to use it to play with the team.

Venom would like to thank Brad Stewart of the Stewart Funeral Home, Oakland, for his generosity in helping them with expenses incurred at these events. Also, they'd like to thank Snapple Beverage Company and Bausch & Lomb Inc. for their much needed support. Venom will have a demonstration booth set up Saturday October 15 during the Autumn Glory Festival in the driveway of the Stewart Funeral Home in downtown Oakland. Persons are encouraged to stop by and visit.

NHS Volleyball Team Wins Again, Still Undefeated

The Northern High School volleyball team recorded another win this past week and upped its record to 6-0 by topping the Wildcats of Westmar on Monday, 3-1 in Lonaconing and then defeating host Fort Hill last night, 3-1.

Northern won the first game against Westmar, 15-0, dropped the second, 15-3, and won the next two, 15-5 and 15-10.

The first game featured a seven-point streak by server Amanda Galica, followed by a five-point run by Kandi Buckel.

The Wildcats moved out to a 6-0 lead in the second game and the Huskies could never get on track, as Michelle Andrews, Cami Cutler, and Tiffanie Wilt led Westmar's attack.

The lead was tied and changed hands several times early in the third game, but after a 5-5 tie, the Huskies scored the next 10 points to win. Stephanie Kamp recorded six aces for the Huskies and Galica had the game point.

The Wildcats took a 4-0 lead in the fourth game before Buckel served five unanswered points. Westmar then went up 7-5 before Amy Platter ran off six straight points to give Northern the lead for good.

Buckel finished the match with 15 points and Galica had 11, as the Huskies made good on 68 of 71 serves for a 96% proficiency rate.

Platter led the Husky net attack with seven spikes and two kills, while Galica had five spikes with one kill. Elida Schofield and Kamp had three and two spikes, respectively. Outstanding back-row defensive plays were recorded by Chelsea Frickey, Mindy McCarty, and Leslie Buckel.

Michelle Andrews led the Wildcats with 11 service points.

Grants will largely be used in the development of these recreational items, McCain said.

The history of the town's struggle to be rid of Bradley Manor began some years ago when the Oakland Associates and the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) decided that the units could be repaired and restored for occupancy. The town, having already requested that the units instead be demolished, fought the issue in court, maintaining that the buildings were far too long neglected and that a rebuild of the area would not be in the best interest of the town. Oakland won the case.

Shortly after that victory, however, the Oakland Associates declared bankruptcy, which stalled any further effort of the town to get rid of the units. The town went to bankruptcy court, and after several hearings it was decided that the town should design a plan for the area and present it in court. Thus the design for the housing units and recreation area was completed through the efforts of Devlin, Inc., Garrettland Realty, and Community Action.

While this plan was acceptable to the judge, HUD and the Associates had some argument with some aspects of the plan, and the decision in the case continued to be delayed until yesterday.

"The debt was paid and the deed was signed over," McCain said. "All we have left to do is have the deed recorded here, and that will be done either this week or early next week."

Asked To Vote

since Commissioners Butscher and I-Iwood Groves have flip-flopped on the issue of the proposed southern elementary school during the past ten months.

In July, on the recommendation of the county planning office, the commissioners voted 2 to 1 to approve the construction of the new school on the site proposed by the school board. Commissioner I-Iwood Groves, who cast the dissenting vote, explained his position by stating that the county's comprehensive plan advocates community schools. At that time, Groves characterized the commissioners' approval of the proposed southern elementary as an "historical departure" from the county's commitment to maintain neighborhood schools.

However, in December of 1993, Groves had voted in favor of the consolidation of Red House and Southern Elementary Schools and stated, "To delay this project for another year without just cause would be irresponsible and would border on negligence."

In the December vote, it was Commissioner Brenda Butscher who was the sole dissenter. At that time, she stated that she had not been given enough time or information to make a decision on the issue. "I am also concerned that residents of Red House and Loch Lynn have been misled by the Board of Education from the beginning," she stated. In July, Butscher voted in favor of the project, but stated that her "Yes" vote was to accept the school site, not the consolidation.

serves enormous credit for their innovation."

The 30,000 brown, rainbow, and cutthroat trout currently being raised at the Mettiki plant were supplied as fingerlings by the DNR. Plans include eventually raising the number of fish that can be "housed" at Mettiki at any one time to 100,000 fish, all of which will then be used for the stocking of streams and rivers throughout Maryland.

Brown also credited Mettiki and the mining industry in general for their efforts in restoring and protecting the environment.

"The mining industry has gone from being the worst polluting industry to the best non-polluting industry," he said.

The facility at Mettiki has been modeled after the DNR's trout rearing station at the base of Jennings Randolph Lake, about 20 miles down river. The system incorporates net pens that are supported by floating docks.

The DNR is limited by a lack of cold water sources in western Maryland for rearing trout. The Mettiki plant is the largest cold water source other than the Jennings Randolph Lake dam downstream.

Mettiki had to apply for and received permission from the Maryland Department of the Environment to raise the trout in the polishing pond at Mettiki. The polishing pond is the final stage of the mine drainage treatment processes.

"This is an excellent example of what can be accomplished when state agencies and private industries work together," stated David A.C. Carroll, MDI secretary. "Mettiki's participation in this project will boost DNR's trout rearing efforts without affecting the company's wastewater treatment processes."

The Surface Mining and Reclamation Act of 1977 requires coal mining operations to control, and treat to federal standards before discharging, any stormwater runoff from their surface facilities. The water that is pumped from deep mines, such as at Mettiki, must also meet these standards before release into surface waters.

Maryland issued the permit and set the parameters for Mettiki's discharge of almost 10 million gallons of treated mine drainage every day. The treatment plant discharges into a tributary of the North Branch of the Potomac River, not far from the headwaters of the Potomac. The origin of the untreated water is from a deep mine pool approximately 535 feet below the surface. As a result of the treatment process, the discharge has a high alkalinity (non-acid) and is nearly saturated with dissolved oxygen, making it ideal for trout rearing.

"The quality and quantity of our discharge water appears to be ideal for raising trout year-round," said Jim Ashby, environmental coordinator at Mettiki, who is credited with coming up with the idea to raise the trout. "This is a longtime dream that has turned into a reality. My review of literature indicates that this is the first time trout has ever been raised in the effluent of a coal mine drainage treatment plant."

Ashby has worked closely with Mike Dean, Jennings Randolph Dam hatchery manager for the DNR, who also spoke at Tuesday's gathering.

"It is most gratifying to me that Mettiki is a coal company that is as concerned about environmental protection as they are about making a profit," Dean said. "They should be commended."

Craft, president of Mapco, also spoke and noted that the project shows that Mapco "is serious about its commitment to the environment."

He continued, "I am proud of the Mettiki staff. We have a philosophy we call 'premiership,' which means that we do the best job we can do with innovation and creativity, and that the most important factor in our success as an organization is working as a team. It is this attitude of teamwork here at Mettiki that has resulted in the creation and success of this project."

Others speaking at Tuesday's gathering were Robert Lunsford, director of Freshwater Fisheries for the DNR, and Charlie Wesley, vice president of Mettiki Coal Corporation. David Thomas, corporate affairs manager at Mettiki, served as host and master of ceremonies.

Also at Tuesday's event was the presentation of an Energy Management Award by the Potomac Edison Company to Mettiki Coal Corporation for saving some $370,000 in electricity over the past 12 months (see separate story).

ELECT TOM DABNEY STATE'S ATTORNEY

Dear Garrett County Voters:

I am running for the office of State's Attorney for Garrett County. I believe that I can make a difference in the way this office operates and functions. There is a need for change using new ideas and approaches to the business of law enforcement in our community.

One idea involves refocusing law enforcement efforts and making more effective use of manpower and available information on criminal activity. This idea has been used in Allegany County for several years and worked very well; it is called the Combined County Criminal Investigations.

I need your help if you want to see a change. If you would like to put out signs, help to contact people in your area, or donate your time or money to this campaign for change, you may do so by calling 334-9444 from 9 a.m.-4 p.m. Monday through Friday or 334-4068 at other times.

Vaccine Clinics

department spokesperson. Symptoms of the infection may include fever, chills, cough, and soreness and/or achiness in the back, arms, and legs.

Although most persons are ill for only a few days, some have a much more serious reaction and may need to be admitted to a hospital. The spokesperson said that thousands of people die each year in the U.S. from the flu or related complications.

Because influenza is usually not life threatening to healthy persons and most people recover fully, health officials emphasize that the vaccine should mainly be received by elderly persons or those with health problems.

Because the viruses that cause flu frequently change, persons who have been infected or given a flu shot in previous years may become infected with a new strain. Because of this, and because any immunity produced by the shot will possibly decrease in the year after vaccination, persons in the high-risk groups should be vaccinated every year.

The schedule of flu vaccine clinics is as follows:

Oct. 4 - Community Services Center, Oakland, 9 a.m.-6 p.m.; Oct. 5 - Friendsville and Kitzmiller senior meal sites, 10 a.m.-1 p.m.; Oct. 7 - Grantsville Health Center, 3-6 p.m.; Oct. 11 - Oakland Health Department, 3-6 p.m.; Oct. 13 - Garrett Community College and Finzel senior meal site, 3-6 p.m.

Oct. 18 - Oakland Health Department, 3-6 p.m., and Swanton senior meal site, 10 a.m.-1 p.m.; Oct. 20 - Accident Senior Center, 3-6 p.m.; Oct. 21 - Grantsville Health Center, 3-6 p.m.; Oct. 25 - Oakland Health Department, 3-6 p.m., and Gorman senior meal site, 10 a.m.-1 p.m.; and Oct. 27 - Bloomington fire hall, 3-6 p.m. conjunction with the Garrett County Board of Education. He reported the project, now in phase two of a three-phase program, is moving forward. An $800,000 grant for this year has already been awarded, and another has been guaranteed for next year.

The accomplishments of the tech prep program, according to Allen, include the enrollment of each of the county's ninth graders in one of 58 career paths combined in four main cluster areas. Each student chooses an educational program based on his or her career goals. The four cluster areas include Arts and Human Services, Business Management and Finance, Life Sciences and Natural Resources, and Engineering, Technology and Physical Science.

Another accomplishment is in the area of curriculum improvement. Organizers of the tech prep program have been working on a traditional academic curriculum, by redesigning and improving the communications program at the high school and at the college.

A third accomplishment involved with the tech prep program, according to Allen, is the development of marketing materials to promote the program as a viable, educational/career pathway to students, parents, representatives of business and industry, and the broader community. Finally, the program promotes good career development, Allen said.

Tech prep organizers are currently working on post-secondary part of the program. The high school part of the program is already in place, and now the focus will be on GCC's part.

"The results of the program seem to be pretty positive," Allen said. "All in all, we're satisfied with what we've been able to accomplish."

ACADEMIC REPORT

In the absence of Dr. Lillian Mitchell, dean of academic affairs, Herman told the board that Garrett Community College currently has 712 students enrolled. As of the freeze date (two and one-half weeks after the semester begins) one year ago, the enrollment was 719, which was a record enrollment for GCC.

The full-time equivalency (FTE) is 248, up 23 from this time last year.

OTHER BUSINESS

Dr. Herman reiterated the college's involvement in a year-long World War II commemoration. He noted a $13,000 grant has been received from the Md. Humanities Council and the National Endowment for the Humanities, and an additional grant will be funded by the GCC Foundation, in order to "turn out a first class event," Herman said.

A day-long convocation on Sept. 23 kicked off the event, with General Michael Kicklighter from the Pentagon's Office on the End of World War II Commemorations as the keynote speaker.

He also told the trustees about his presentation to the American Association of Philosophy Teachers (AAPT) during a meeting in Montreal. The material from his presentation will be published in the Journal of American Association of Philosophy Teachers.

Prior to the evening's meeting, the board of trustees visited Garrett Hall, the new residence hall on the college's McHenry campus.

"I am happy and relieved to report the residence hall opened on schedule, Sept. 4," said Herman. He noted the facility is filled to capacity and no negative incidents have occurred since the dorm opened.

New Area Agent For Snyder Security Systems

Alan and Barbara Snyder, owners of Dynamark Security Center, located in Cumberland, say they are excited and happy to have Bud Peed as a new member of their sales team. They feel this way because Peed is a happy customer but most of all because of his enthusiasm about the business.

The relationship first started when Peed and his wife, Patricia, were building their home in Red Run Heights. Snyder says the Peeds researched his business, quality, and products almost as much as they researched the area around Deep Creek Lake. The Peeds feel very strongly about investments in their lifestyle and found Garrett County to be one of the most beautiful areas they had seen.

Peed has been out talking to business people, homeowners and neighbors and letting them know he is here to stay. His wife is still employed in the Baltimore area but is anxious to be home more than just weekends and holidays. "She is still keeping up two homes but her heart is at Red Run Heights," Peed says.

Peed has a background in sales and security. He was previously employed in sales of police supplies and equipment. He worked at the Valley Police Supply and also the Maryland Troopers Association Store in Baltimore. Basically Peed has been around people who fight crime for most of his life, and now he feels great about working in the security end of the spectrum to deter the criminal from committing the crime.

Peed will be sending out letters and brochures to homeowners in the weeks to come. He has informaalert and much more. Snyder says he feels the Peeds will be a great asset to Garrett County as well as to the Dynamark team. Peed can be reached at 387-8571. Snyder says, "When you see Bud in his Dynamark hat, stop him and just say welcome!"

Autumn Glory Road Closings, Detours Noted

The Autumn Glory Festival Committee reports that because of potential traffic and safety hazards in recent years, the Maryland State Highway Administration has again recommended policy for the 27th Annual Autumn Glory Festival Grand Feature Parade, which will be sponsored by First United National Bank and Trust. The accompanying maps of Oakland indicate the road closings on Saturday, Oct. 15.

As has been customary with previous Autumn Glory events, some roads will be closed for the parade. However, the festival committee has requested that local residents note that at 7 a.m. on Saturday, October 15, Green Street will be closed for vendors to set up on the road and in the American Trust Bank drive-in parking lot.

All southbound traffic on U.S. Route 219 will be routed through Oakland via Fourth Street and trucks will be routed by Oakland via Sand Flat Road, beginning at 11 a.m. on Saturday. Also beginning at 11 a.m., Route 219 will be open to permit-holders only and all traffic will be southbound only. No parking will be allowed along Fourth Street or on Memorial Drive from Route 219 to Eighth Street.

Roads will be closed in several more locations at 11 a.m.:

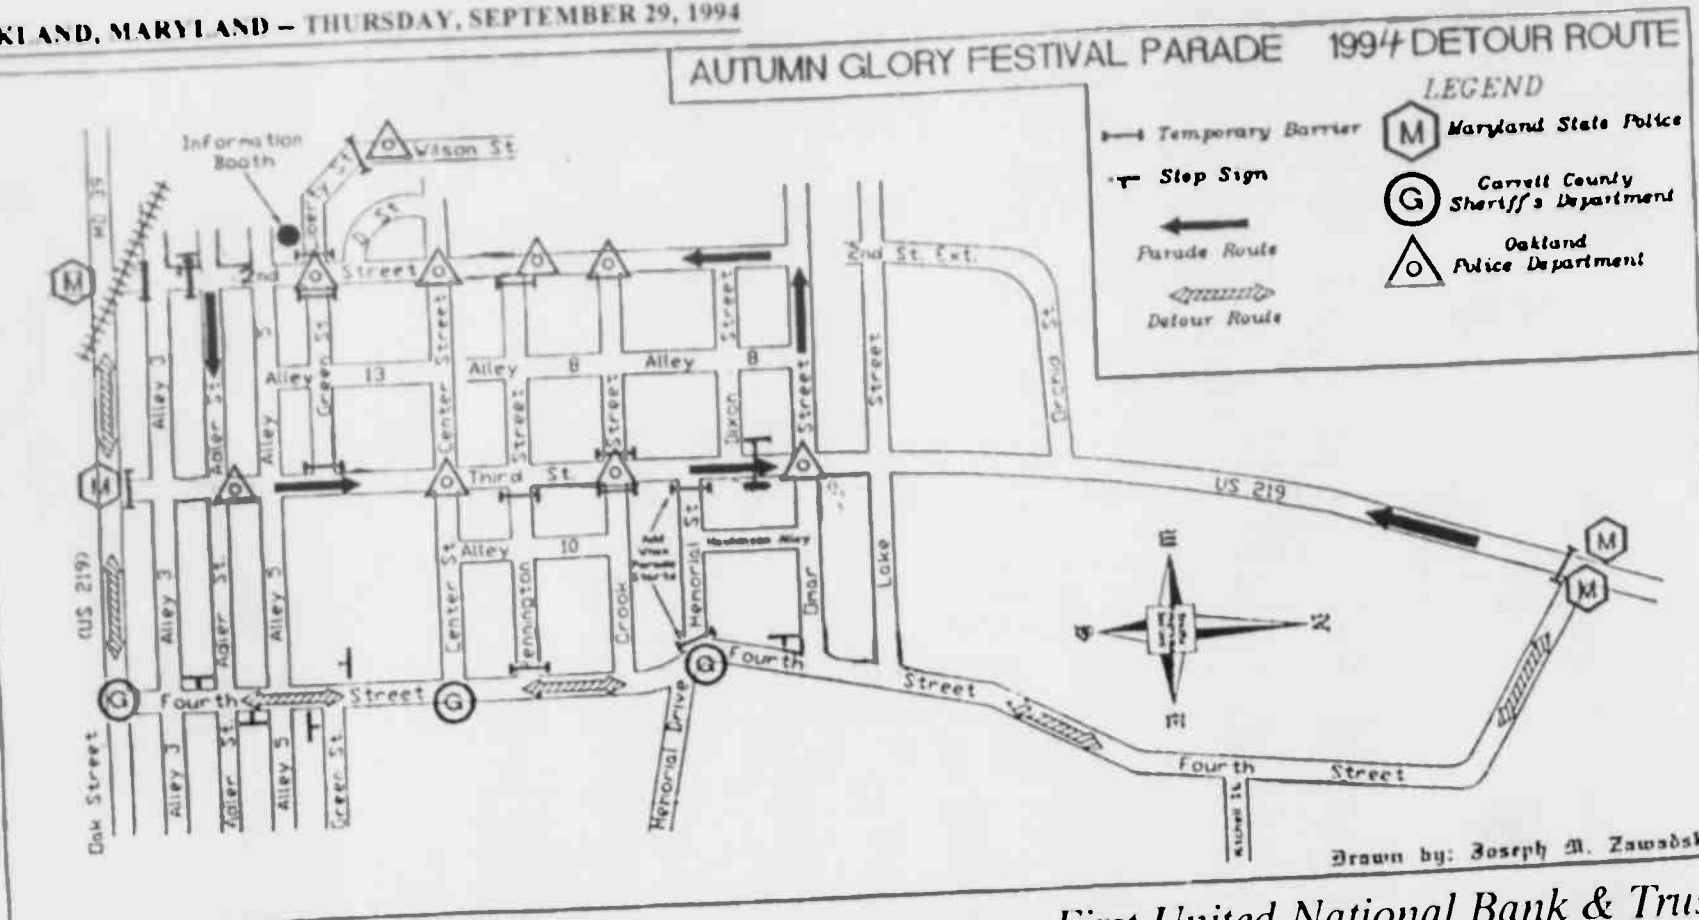

- U.S. Route 219 between Fourth Street and Oak Street.

- Memorial Drive between Third Street and Fourth Street.

- Pennington, Crook and Omar streets on both sides of Third Street.

Center Street will be open for cross-town traffic only until 12:45 p.m. Signs advising travelers of the detour will be provided by the Maryland State Highway Administration, and personnel helping travelers at closed roads will be provided by Maryland State Police, Garrett County Sheriff's Office, and the Oakland Police Department.

Permits are being issued by the festival committee to local merchants and festival participants who need to go through the roadblock. The units of the Autumn Glory Festival Grand Feature Parade will set up within the closed area, and the parade will begin at 1 p.m. Handicapped parking will be available at the Paul B. Naylor Masonic Lodge on Wilson Street.

For more information, persons should call the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council office at 334-1948.

Students will complete a total of five different craft items that will focus on fall, Thanksgiving and Christmas themes, according to a spokesperson for the college.

Tuition for the craft class is $16, plus $4 fees plus materials. Students will receive a list of needed materials from the instructor each week.

Space is limited, and persons may contact the Oakland Center of GCC at 334-8304, Monday through Friday, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Parents Encouraged To "Immunize" For Healthy Lives

Parents of 2-4 year olds are being encouraged to bring valid immunization records for their children to local WIC pick-ups this month as part of a national campaign to improve childhood immunization rates. The effort is in conjunction with the October observance of Child Health Month.

The Garrett County Health Department, in cooperation with McDonald's, the American Academy of Pediatrics, and the National Association of County Health Officials, will be offering free incentives for residents bringing valid records to pick-up sites scheduled during the first week of October. Accident's WIC pick-up will be held October 3 at the Flowery Vale Senior Center, with Friendsville's scheduled for October 5 at the Town Hall, and Grantsville's scheduled for the Grantsville Health Department on October 6.

The national campaign is designed to improve awareness of the need for childhood immunizations by distributing educational materials at McDonald's restaurants, including trayliners and brochures, in conjunction with local immunization activities where incentive coupons and gifts will be available. Achievement awards for participants at local WIC pick-ups will also be distributed.

According to a spokesperson at the health department, every child should be protected against "the big 9," including polio, measles, rubella, diphtheria, pertussis, tetanus, mumps, Hib disease, and hepatitis B. Immunizations are available at the local health department in Oakland every Monday by appointment and the fourth Thursday of each month at the Grantsville health department site.

For more information on October's WIC pick-up program or immunizations, persons may contact the health department at 334-8111.

TO REACH BOOKS HIGH UP
Everyone with a wall of bookshelves has had the problem of reaching the books on the top shelves. In the 18th century, the problem was solved in several ways.

Some libraries were made with a ladder that was attached to a railing so it could be moved around the room. In smaller libraries, the "metamorphic" library chair was popular. The chair base could be flipped so that the piece became a small step stool. This idea continued with furniture of the Sheraton and Empire styles. At the beginning of the 1900s, a few chair-stairs were made in the Mission style. Today there are many types, often made with tubular metal parts, that are used in the kitchen.

Q. My puppet is labeled "Hazel, Inc." The figure looks like an Indian boy, in very ragged clothes. The head is made of a composition material like some of the old dolls. Can you tell me about it?
A. Hazelle Hedges Rollins made marionettes from 1932 to 1984. Her early marionettes had heads, hands and feet made of painted composition material. The company began to make pieces from a tinted plastic in 1949. New characters were introduced each year. She made Mother Goose characters, Indians, gypsies, clowns, cowboys and many other animals and people.
She died in 1984 and the factory closed. The remaining stock of heads, clothes, legs and other parts now belong to the Puppetry Guild of Greater Kansas City, P.O. Box 1941, Independence, Mo. 64055. The parts are still for sale. You can get a new outfit for your Indian.

HANDY CONTAINERS — I found some great uses for those old metal bandage containers. I have one to keep spare change in, one for a small sewing kit in the car and one for storing cotton swabs.

Now they'll never get thrown out. I just write on a piece of paper what the contents are and attach it to the box. Eileen F., Pascagoula, Miss.

EASY CLEANUP — Old plastic tablecloths, plain or flannel-backed, can be used as a real timesaver when trimming evergreen bushes. Place the tablecloth under the bush, then trim. All the clippings will go on it and can be easily removed to the garbage — a real timesaver instead of picking all the little tree ends up. John G., Philadelphia, Pa.

SLIPPIN' AND SLIDIN' — My husband and I recently retired and bought an older house. The cabinets in the kitchen had gliders but they didn't slide freely. I sprayed them with silicone and they slide beautifully now. Esther K., Hammond, Ind.

NEW USE FOR OLD PRODUCT — White tub sealer can be used to caulk around floor and ceiling moldings if there are gaps. I recently replaced a carpeted floor with tile. The baseboard had large marks where the carpet pile had been and they were very obvious when the tile was installed. Rather than replace the molding which was painted white, I filled the gaps in with the tub sealer and no one ever noticed. Ronnie G., Monett, Mo.

TELEPHONE BOOK — A telephone book use: I slipped an old telephone book into my inexpensive kitchen-chair pillow, which made it feel like a more expensive, firmer pillow and added weight to my "bargain" ladder-back chairs which were slightly top-heavy.

Now I have a telephone book in each chair pillow for each chair at my table. It's comfortable, too! Lynette F., McAllen, Texas

Household Help

by John Amantea

Q. I live in a three-bedroom house, located in the midwest region. The recurring problem I have is condensation. The moisture does not build up over the entire house, but in isolated sections. For example, the bathroom generally sweats the most, as opposed to the other rooms. I also have a ventilating fan in the bathroom that helps a lot. The entire main floor of my home has windows that are up to code, as well as Are there other factors involved that might cause the condensation?

A. For starters, ventilating fans in the bathroom and kitchen are quite vital to combating moisture. Another important and overlooked solution is either inadequate wall insulation or none at all. The lack of proper insulation will definitely cause moisture problems. Try opening a window in these rooms — just a crack for about an hour. If the windows dry off in that period of time and the condensation disappears, you don't have to worry.

Another big plus for homes with dampness is to use a dehumidifier. This handy item does not have to be in operation continuously because you can take advantage of the sun's natural warmth through your windows. This alone will reduce the moisture that may exist in your walls.

If you are a lover of too many hanging house plants, be sure to reduce the amount to just a few. Plants will, of course, create a damp, greenhouse atmosphere in your home's interior. Since homes absorb moisture throughout the seasons, it would be wise to open your doors and windows for several minutes a day to expel the moist air.

Several other important factors pertaining to your basement, below-grade areas and crawl spaces are not exempt from this problem. Sealing your basement floor (if not yet finished) with a waterproofing product will greatly reduce dampness. Treating a cement floor periodically is usually necessary when there are moisture problems. If you have a crawl space beneath a deck or even below grade level, you must install a vapor barrier. Simply lay out 6-mil polyethylene (or plastic) on the entire floor and secure bricks or stones in place.

TEENS IN DANGER: As the new school year gets underway, health authorities are studying recent reports about an upsurge in gonorrhea cases among teenagers. While this STD (sexually transmitted disease) would have serious implications for anyone of any age, it has an even greater impact on teenagers, according to Peggy Clarke, president of the American Social Health Association.

The rates of infection among young people continue to rise. In recent years, girls ages 15 to 19 have had the highest gonorrhea rates among women, while boys ages 15 to 19 have had the second highest rates among men.

People under 25 account for some 8 million new cases of STDs each year or, roughly, two-thirds of all new STD infections.

Clarke explains, "Teenagers and young adults are more susceptible to STD infection than younger people. This is partly because of their anatomy. In this age group, and especially in young females, such factors as an immature immune system increase the likelihood that they will get an STD from unprotected sex." Ms. Clarke adds, "Also, sexually active young people are more likely to have sex with more than one partner, and they are more likely to choose a birth control method that offers no protection against STDs." (Note: While the "pill" may help prevent pregnancy, it does not protect against any STD. Condoms remain the best protection.)

The American Social Health Association will provide free confidential information about STDs through the National STD Hotline, 1-800-227-8922, which is operated by ASHA.

The Homemaker's Corner column appears in today's issue on page C11 and contains an error. The article states that the board meeting will take place at Garrett Community College, but the writer contacted this office after the printing of the original article and stated that the meeting will in fact be held at the Mary Browning Senior Center, located on Center Street in Oakland. Persons should use the entrance near the playground.

Storytelling Fest Organizers Seeking Effective Liars

Effective liars are currently being sought for this year's Fall Tale Festival, part of the 27th Annual Autumn Glory Festival. The liars' event will take place on Saturday, October 15, from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at St. Paul's United Methodist Church, East Oak Street, Oakland.

This festival is coordinated by Dr. Gail N. Herman, professional storyteller.

The truth can sometimes be absolutely outrageous and lies can often sound truer than the truth itself," she said. "Fact is often sprinkled with an enthusiastic joining together of fantastic memories to create tall tales, whoppers, and first-person humorous yarns. Traditionally, from Appalachia to the Ozarks, fisherman, hunters, loggers, and industrial workers have improved on actual happenings with exaggerated marvels. While being entertained, the listener is also introduced to the teller's nostalgia for the good old days and perhaps even a little resentment of the machine-addicted modern society."

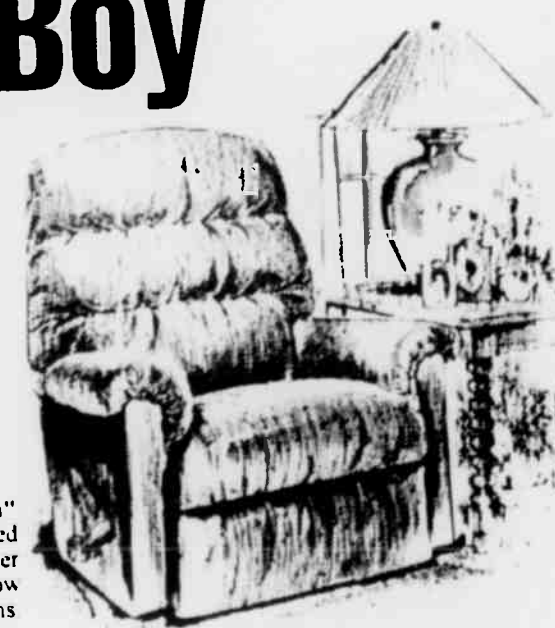

Local and out-of-town storytellers are invited to tell tall tales and "true" personal stories. Also planned is presentation of tall tales by children, with guest performances by previous winners. Student tall tales will begin at 9 a.m. and adults will begin at 10:15 a.m.

Tellers should contact Herman at Route 2, Lodge Circle, Sky Valley, Swanton, MD 21561, 387-9199 to register for telling tales at the event. Prizes to be awarded will be donated by First United National Bank & Trust, The Book Market, Jan Florists and other local businesses.

Admission to this contest will be $3 for adults and $2 for children ages 4-12. Children must be accompanied by an adult. This event is sponsored by the American Association of University Women for the benefit of the Tapestry of Talent Student Storytelling Festival of Garrett County. For more information, persons may call the promotion council at 334-1948.

Real Estate Seminars To Be Held At GCC

Chuck Bode, CRS-GRI, a real estate practitioner and national speaker, will present two real estate seminars at Garrett Community College on Oct. 17.

The first, titled "Professionally Counseling Sellers," will begin at 9 a.m. and the second, "Educating and Counseling Buyers," will begin at 1:30 p.m. The seminars, each lasting three hours, will be held in Room CE-305 of the Center for Community and Continuing Education. Both seminars have been submitted to the Maryland and West Virginia Real Estate Commissions for continuing education approval.

The morning seminar will focus on the relationship between the real estate agent and the seller while the afternoon seminar will focus on the relationship between the real estate agent and the buyer. Real estate ethics, professional standards, disclosure, and professional enhancement will be covered for the real estate professional for dealing with either the seller or the buyer.

In addition to operating his real estate practice, Bode earned his master's degree in education from the University of Nebraska. Bode is also an award-winning member and senior instructor for various real estate associations and institutes. He has been involved in real estate education for over 14 years and was a member of "Who's Who in America" in 1988, 1989, and 1990.

The tuition for each seminar is $36 plus a $4 registration fee. Non-Garrett County residents will pay an additional differential fee. Because of limited seating, prospective students should register at the continuing education office, Room CE-300, as soon as possible. The deadline for registration is October 9, and individuals who register after this date will be assessed a $30 late fee per seminar. For more information, persons may call the continuing education office at 387-3069.

COVER STORY

Series creator Kelley
Hope-ful about Chicago

BY JEFF PLASS

Five-time Emmy-winning writer and executive producer David F. Kelley (L.A. Law, Picket Fences) has engineered yet another potentially successful television series in Chicago Hope, airing Thursdays on CBS.

Hope stars Mandy Patinkin, Adam Arkin, Roxanne Hart, I.G. Marshall and Hector Elizondo. It follows the often all-too-human lives of the people at an ultramodern, high-rise hospital based in the Windy City.

Unfortunately for Kelley, CBS and the viewing public in general, NBC counters Chicago Hope on Thursdays with another Chicago-based, and some would say superior, medical drama, ER.

But the real problem is that no matter which show those zany, unpredictable Nielsen viewers prefer, the real losers are the target audience of both programs (although those clever enough to program a VCR can reserve that option).

Kelley himself gets philosophical when discussing the subject of the network posturing between the two series.

"It only makes sense," Kelley says, "that putting two shows up there, really with the same demographic appeal, the logical conclusion is that we really can only split each other's piece of the pie, so it's not something that we're happy about."

"But our position is that we're just going to try to make the best show we can, and hope that there are enough consumers out there who will come to see us."

Fans of both L.A. Law and Picket Fences won't have a hard time recognizing Kelley's stylistic stamp on Chicago Hope. Like its predecessors, Hope doesn't mind exploring potentially sensitive subject matter while trying to incorporate as many story lines and angles as possible into each episode.

Hector Elizondo

iside.

Ideally, Kelley would like to be able to split his creative time between Picket Fences and Chicago Hope evenly, although he concedes that, for a while at least, he will be concentrating on the fledgling series more.

"I would suspect that my writing focus will be split between the two shows," Kelley says, "probably writing more original episodes of Picket Fences, and more rewriting on Chicago Hope. But certainly at the beginning of the year, I'll be doing a lot of writing on Hope in order to establish the tone of the series."

"But we've brought in a good team, and it all goes according to our master plan. I'll be able to participate on both shows."

In a perfect world, Kelley would prefer Chicago Hope to air on Mondays, and Picket Fences perhaps on Wednesdays. But in the final analysis, he concedes:

"In the real world ... I still don't believe that Friday is the right time slot for Picket Fences. But we do have a strong Friday audience, and I would not want to alienate those people that now habitually show up on Fridays."

But as series star Arkin adds, only semijokingly, "You can never really talk about the real world and television programming in the same sentence."

IN FOCUS

Dana Delaney and Danney Coleman star in Texas, debuting Sunday, Oct. 2, as part of the new Directed By series on Showtime.

Coleman stars as a man who suspects his beautiful wife (Delaney) of shady dealings. His suspicions about his wife's fidelity prompt him to follow her around town.

Texas is directed by Treat Williams. The half-hour mystery is part of a new series that gives actors a chance to move behind the camera.

MOVIE MARQUEE

Thompson faces ghost, adultery in 'Blue Boy'

BY BRETT ALAN BOBO

Emma Thompson returns to the small screen in "The Blue Boy," a psychological ghost story airing Sunday, Oct. 2, on PBS (check local listings).

Airing as part of the Masterpiece Theatre series, "Blue Boy" is set in Argyll, Scotland. It is based on a local legend that tells of a boy who wandered into an icy lake while sleepwalking and drowned.

The hour-long film focuses on Marie (Thompson) and her husband, Joe (Adrian Dunbar). Marie finally has become pregnant and in her happiness asks to accompany Joe on a business trip—unaware he plans on staying at the hotel where he frequently meets his lover, Beth (Joanna Roth).

The truth about Joe's affair begins to unfold immediately as Joe and Marie leave for their trip, beginning with a photograph that captures Joe in a boat on Loch Eck, eerily surrounded by a blue fog. Once at the hotel, more clues unfold, since Joe's acquaintances find it hard to keep his secret.

As the story develops, Marie learns about the Blue Boy legend and feels herself mysteriously drawn to the boy. Strange occurrences, including an inexplicably leaking ceiling and bursting water pipes, lead Marie to realize that her relationship with Joe is somehow tied to the tale of the Blue Boy.

The story moves rather slowly, and viewers who don't pay close attention may miss the whole point of the movie. And don't expect any frightening or haunting moments; the story relegates the ghostly elements mainly to visions and dreams. Even so, the movie proves interesting for its in-depth treatment of Joe and Marie's troubled relationship, the scenic location shooting in Scotland and the marvelous accents.

Phyllida Law, Thompson's real-life mother, has a small role as Marie's mother, David Horovitch and Eleanor Bron also star.

Other movies on TV this week include For the Love of Nancy Sunday on ABC. The film, starring Tracey Gold (Growing Pains), focuses on a woman suffering from anorexia nervosa. Brian Dennehy stars in Jack Reed: A Search for Justice on NBC. The Gambler V: Playing for Keeps begins on CBS.

Someone She Knows, with Markie Post, airs on NBC Monday, Oct. 3.

Mark-Paul Gosselaar and Tiffani-Amber Thiessen fans will be happy to know they're alive and well and acting in Saved By the Bell: Wedding in Las Vegas, Friday, Oct. 4, on NBC.

Don't pass judgment too soon on Sweet Justice

BY SUZANNE GILL

Four weeks into the fall season, a lot of new series have been sampled and dismissed by viewers. One that shouldn't be judged by its pilot is Sweet Justice, airing Saturdays on NBC.

Designed as a less soapy companion to Sisters and a vehicle for the unlikely pairing of Cicely Tyson and Melissa Gilbert (the two have the same agent), Justice is the saga of lawyers and lineage in a fictional city in the modern South.

Gilbert plays Kate Delacroix, a daughter of the privileged class and the first female lawyer in a family of litigators. As her name rather heavily-handedly implies, she is the product of a Southern upbringing and a Northern education.

Ronny Cox plays Kate's widowed father, a powerfully connected and traditional man with an abiding love for his children.

Tyson co-stars as Carrie Grace Battle (another unsuitable name), a leading liberal attorney at odds with Cox's character. Years earlier Carrie Grace had befriended his wife; now she has taken Kate under her professional wing.

The pilot for Sweet Justice, which aired Thursday, Sept. 15, had serious flaws, including an inept courtroom climax and a forced romantic interlude between Gilbert and Jason Gedrick (Fox's Class of '96), who is too young to be believable as Gilbert's contemporary.

Fortunately there is a script doctor in the house. Lawyer-turned-writer Deborah Joy LeVine, who brought millions of female viewers to the first season of ABC's Lots & Larks, was dismissed in a creative shuffle, has been hired to work on Sweet Justice.

May she pursue good drama to the limit of the law.

Melissa Gilbert (left) and Cicely Tyson play two lawyers from very different backgrounds who call the same Southern city home in Sweet Justice, airing Saturdays on NBC.

TV PIPELINE

BY TAYLOR MICHAELS

Q: I love Ed Harris, but I was disappointed to see in The Firm that he was totally bald. Did he shave his head? How old is he? —Tiphonie Pugliese, Erie, Pa.

A: Harris' hairline has been receding for years, but at 43 he is far from bald. He shaved his head for both The Firm and Stephen King's The Stand.

Q: Please settle a bet. Has Mark Hamill been in any movies since 1977's Star Wars? —Michelle Caron, Newburgh, Maine.

A: He's made at least nine, including the two Star Wars sequels (did you forget them?). The Night the Lights Went Out in Georgia, Black Magic Woman, The Big Red One and Sleepwalkers.

Q: Please give me the addresses for Sharon Stone, Tom Cruise and Julia Roberts. I am a graphite pencil artist and would like to send them drawings I have done. Will Sharon Stone be in any more Basic Instinct-style movies? —George Roland Wills, no address given.

A: Write Stone and Roberts C/O ICM, 8942 Wilshire Blvd., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90211. Write Cruise C/O CAA, 9830 Wilshire Blvd., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Stone doesn't want to be limited to one genre and is unlikely to repeat herself until she has proven her versatility. (I know you requested other addresses as well, but I have to limit the number of requests out of fairness to other readers.)

Q: Please settle an argument. My brother-in-law says John Wayne was our most decorated veteran. I say the only time he was in the service was in the movies. Who is correct? —N.B., Meadville, Pa.

Ed Harris

A: You are.

Q: Where can I write to Christina Ricci (Addams Family Values)? —Jason DeHart, Lashmeer, W.Va.

A: C/O ICM, 8942 Wilshire Blvd., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90211.

Q: Is Into the Woods available on video? When will the Star Trek: The Next Generation movies begin? Has the Star Trek: Voyager series been cast yet? —Tim Tupper, Massena, N.Y.

A: Into the Woods is not available on tape, but it already has aired several times on many PBS stations. You might write to your local affiliate to see whether it plans to schedule it again. The movie Star Trek: Generations is scheduled to open later this year. Genevieve Bujold had planned to be the first female captain when Star Trek: Voyager takes off next January, but she backed out. The cast will include Robert Duncan McNeill, Robert Beltran, Robert Picardo and Ethan Phillips.

MOVIE MARQUEE

Thompson faces ghost, adultery in 'Blue Boy'

BY BRETT ALAN BOBO

Emma Thompson returns to the small screen in "The Blue Boy," a psychological ghost story airing Sunday, Oct. 2, on PBS (check local listings).

Airing as part of the Masterpiece Theatre series, "Blue Boy" is set in Argyll, Scotland. It is based on a local legend that tells of a boy who wandered into an icy lake while sleepwalking and drowned.

The hour-long film focuses on Marie (Thompson) and her husband, Joe (Adrian Dunbar). Marie finally has become pregnant and in her happiness asks to accompany Joe on a business trip—unaware he plans on staying at the hotel where he frequently meets his lover, Beth (Joanna Roth).

The truth about Joe's affair begins to unfold immediately as Joe and Marie leave for their trip, beginning with a photograph that captures Joe in a boat on Loch Eck, eerily surrounded by a blue fog. Once at the hotel, more clues unfold, since Joe's acquaintances find it hard to keep his secret.

As the story develops, Marie learns about the Blue Boy legend and feels herself mysteriously drawn to the boy. Strange occurrences, including an inexplicably leaking ceiling and bursting water pipes, lead Marie to realize that her relationship with Joe is somehow tied to the tale of the Blue Boy.

The story moves rather slowly, and viewers who don't pay close attention may miss the whole point of the movie. And don't expect any frightening or haunting moments; the story relegates the ghostly elements mainly to visions and dreams. Even so, the movie proves interesting for its in-depth treatment of Joe and Marie's troubled relationship, the scenic location shooting in Scotland and the marvelous accents.

Phyllida Law, Thompson's real-life mother, has a small role as Marie's mother, David Horovitch and Eleanor Bron also star.

Other movies on TV this week include For the Love of Nancy Sunday on ABC. The film, starring Tracey Gold (Growing Pains), focuses on a woman suffering from anorexia nervosa. Brian Dennehy stars in Jack Reed: A Search for Justice on NBC. The Gambler V: Playing for Keeps begins on CBS.

Someone She Knows, with Markie Post, airs on NBC Monday, Oct. 3.

Mark-Paul Gosselaar and Tiffani-Amber Thiessen fans will be happy to know they're alive and well and acting in Saved By the Bell: Wedding in Las Vegas, Friday, Oct. 4, on NBC.

TIME OUT

ESPN plows into 1994
NHL season coverage

BY JEFF PLASS

No, you are not hallucinating. While it may seem like the New York Rangers and Vancouver Canucks just got done duking it out for the Stanley Cup, the fact of the matter is that the 1994-95 NHL season is upon us.

And ESPN (along with sister network ESPN2) is ready to bring the hockey hungry an ice cold serving of more than 100 regular-season games this year, beginning on Tuesday, Oct. 4, when the Philadelphia Flyers take on the Florida Panthers.

ESPN lead hockey commentator Bill Clement has just barely had time to catch his breath from last season before having to be ready for this year. "It's a product of the present situation involving the sport," Clement states. "The owners have felt that revenue needs to be increased to try to support the bottom line. As a result, more games have been added."

"I don't think it would hurt the sport to have a longer off-season, but I think it remains to be seen in the owners' minds, that the sport could survive with a shorter season, if that makes any sense."

As far as whether the lengthy season's physical and emotional toll on the players affects the quality of the game from an entertainment standpoint, Clement says:

"The NHL season is as great a testament to the power of the human anatomy that there is. You saw the way the Rangers and the Canucks slugged it out until the very end. And the way the New Jersey Devils and the Rangers played, it was amazing that the Rangers had anything left for the Canucks. But they did."

Bill Clement

"And that's in spite of the 10 obligatory preseason games," Clement exclaims, "the 84 regular season games, and then four rounds of best-of-seven playoff play."

"So from an entertainment standpoint, the human anatomy is capable, and NHL players are capable, of such tremendous physical exploits, that, to me, it remains to be seen that the product has been hurt by it (the lengthy season)."

Looking into his crystal ball, Clement likes both the Toronto Maple Leafs and the New Jersey Devils. But his early favorite to take home the coveted Stanley Cup in June is the Detroit Red Wings.

"Let me just say that when (coach and director of player personnel) Scotty Bowman gets finished with the Red Wings," he says, "by the time we hit Christmas, and Scotty has made some deals, I think Detroit will have a tremendous chance to do it this year."

SOAP TALK

Tunie discusses Jessica,
Williams, a new house

BY CANDACE HAVENS

On As the World Turns, Jessica (Tamara Tunie) has lost her husband, Duncan, (also the father of her child) to another woman. The other woman is the husband's thought-to-be-long-dead ex-wife, Shannon.

Although things don't look too good for Jessica and Duncan right now, Tunie says don't give up on them just yet.

"I think Jessica has been a little too nice through this whole thing. She told Duncan to go and find his true feelings, but now that he has decided to renew his relationship with Shannon, Jessica has decided to fight back," says Tunie.

The fact that Duncan and Jessica were an interracial couple didn't seem to matter much to viewers during the romantic love triangle story line.

"In the beginning of the story line when Duncan and Jessica were getting close, I think that it was an issue with some viewers," says Tunie. "But it really has been great to receive so many letters from people who want to see Jessica and Duncan back together. It was good to see so many people get past the fact that they were an interracial couple."

When asked if Darnell Williams' character could possibly be a new love interest for Jessica, Tunie wasn't sure. "Darnell's character is actually someone out of Shannon's past," Tunie says. "I'm not really sure what the writers have planned."

"The great thing is Darnell is one of my dearest friends. It is funny, but years ago when I was in college I watched him on All My Children with Debbie Morgan. Now we are all friends."

Tunie's contract with ATWT is such that she can work on other projects when necessary. She has a recurring role on the popular police drama NYPD Blue. The actress says she was surprised by all the press she received for being so graphic. "I don't really watch much TV, but from what I have seen, NYPD Blue doesn't seem that bad," Tunie says.

Tunie says her significant other works on the other side of the camera, and that makes for a great relationship. The two have recently moved into a new house, and she spent most of the summer trying to get things in order.

We have been renovating this house for a year and things are finally coming together," she says.

Potomac Edison Rate Increase Gains Approval

The Maryland Public Service Commission has granted The Potomac Edison Company an overall net increase in annual revenues of $14.6 million. The company filed in April for new rates designed to reflect in large part its work to comply with the Clean Air Act Amendments of 1990.

Also in its Sept. 20 order, the Commission authorized that $4.9 million, which is currently being collected under the Clean Air Act Amendments Surcharge, be rolled into base electric rates. Concurrent with this increase in base rates, the surcharge will be reset to zero.

The new rates will take effect on customers' bills rendered on or after Nov. 11 and will generate 4.2 percent in additional revenues annually, with percentage increases varying among residential, commercial and industrial customer classifications. Residential customers using 1,000 kilowatt hours of electricity a month would see their costs rise $3.71, from $70.75 to $74.46, according to a PE spokesman.

The increase will allow the company to recover costs associated with the operation of the newly constructed flue gas desulfurization system (scrubbers) and other related environmental equipment at its Harrison Power Station near Shinnston, W.Va., the spokesman said. Potomac Edison shares ownership in the 1,920-megawatt coal-fired station with its affiliated companies in the Allegheny Power System (APS)-Monongahela Power Company and West Penn Power Company. The scrubbers are the least-cost, most efficient way for the APS companies to comply with Phase I of the Clean Air Act Amendments.

"When we selected our compliance strategy for the 1990 Amendments, we did so carefully and thoroughly," explained James D. Latimer, Potomac Edison executive vice president. "Quite a bit of research went into how we could best comply with the federal clean air legislation while minimizing the economic effects to our customers."

The APS operating companies have spent $550 million for the construction of environmental equipment at Harrison. Potomac Edison's share of that cost is $180 million.

"The cost of the Harrison scrubber system is about $171 million less than we initially estimated," Latimer said. "The cost savings came about because of an early construction start, good planning, favorable construction contracts, the willingness of state regulators to reflect financing costs in rates during construction and the combined efforts of the Company's employees and those of contractors and subcontractors."

According to Latimer, the Clean Air Act Amendments require the scrubbers to be on-line by Jan. 1, 1995.

"The scrubbers at Harrison Power Station are nearing completion and, when in operation, will remove 98 percent of sulfur dioxide from plant emissions from the nearly 5 million tons of coal burned there annually," Latimer said.

Potomac Edison provides electricity to 189,000 customers in seven Maryland counties.

Mental Health Awareness Week To Be Observed

Joining a nationwide coalition of mental health professionals, advocacy organizations, patients, family members and the U.S. Congress, the Garrett County Mental Health Advisory Council will recognize Mental Illness Awareness Week, October 2-8.

According to a spokesman for the local organization, this is a nationally recognized endeavor led by the American Psychiatric Association, the U.S. Public Health Service, the National Alliance for the Mentally Ill, National Depressive/Manic Depressive Association, and the National Mental Health Association. Mental Illness Awareness Week is established annually through a Joint Resolution passed by both houses of Congress and signed into law by the president.

A recent study issued by the National Advisory Mental Health Council gives sweeping evidence that treatment of mental illnesses is as effective and sometimes more effective than that for other illnesses. During any six-month period, 27 million American adults over age 18, and 12 million children suffer from a diagnosable mental illness. One in three Americans will experience a mental illness at some point in their lives. Of these, only one in five currently seeks appropriate help, according to the spokesman.

For more information, contact the American Psychiatric Association, Public Affairs Association, 1400 K St., N.W., Washington DC 20005, or call (202) 682-6220.

America THE Bountiful

Our country is known for its abundance of edible resources. From sea to shining sea, America is a smorgasbord of fish, meats, nuts, legumes, grains, fruits and vegetables.

Over the years, as immigrants and various ethnic groups settled in different parts of the country, they took advantage of the local bounty and resourcefully combined these ingredients with the cooking techniques and preferred flavors of the "old country." Soon, different regions of the U.S. became known for their unique recipes and styles of cooking featuring native ingredients.

While there was once a time when one would have to travel to Boston to get baked beans or to New Orleans for a bowl of seafood gumbo, thanks to the benefits of canned foods, today Americans can delight in any regional cuisine, wherever they live, any time of the year.

No salmon in Peoria? Out of jalapeño peppers in Minneapolis? The answer is in the can. Already heat-processed, chopped, peeled and sliced, canned foods offer the convenience of minimal preparation because they only need a quick warming. And because most have a shelf life of two years or more, they're never out of season—allowing you to fix your favorite meal any time of the year. They're nutritious, too. When prepared for the table, canned foods are equally nutritious to their fresh and frozen counterparts. Finally, in addition to being convenient, tasty and nutritious, canned food packaging is 100% recyclable.

Take a culinary tour of our country by sampling some of the regional recipes below with the help of canned foods.

SWEET POTATO BANANA PUDDING

The distinctive flavor of yams combined with bananas makes a rich, praline-flavored dessert that's perfect any time of the year. This sweet Southern pudding can be prepared a day ahead of time and chilled until ready to serve.

- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 1/4 to 1/2 teaspoon grated nutmeg, to taste
- 1 cup evaporated skim milk
- 1 can (1 lb, 1 oz) whole yams, well drained
- 1 large ripe banana (6 ozs)
- 1 egg beaten
- 1 teaspoon butter
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 firm banana, sliced
- 2 tablespoons toasted coconut

In a medium saucepan, combine sugar, cornstarch and nutmeg. In food processor or blender, puree yams and banana with evaporated milk until smooth. Pour into saucepan. Cook and stir over medium high heat until mixture comes to a boil. Gradually stir about 1/2 cup hot mixture into beaten egg. Return all to pan and continue cooking and stirring until mixture thickens. Remove from heat; stir in butter and vanilla. Cool slightly. Spoon into dessert dishes and chill. Top with sliced banana and toasted coconut before serving. Makes 4 servings, 3/4 cup each.

Southern

The enduring heritage of the old South lies in its hospitality and, perhaps even more so, in its cuisine. Strongly traditional and highly flavored, Southern cooking represents French, Spanish and African influences at their best.

If the grain on which Southern culture rests is corn, the meat is pork, usually in the form of ham and always found at its customary place at the head of the table. In fact, each Southern state had its own way of preparing ham for which it was known.

PARSLED HAM AND TURKEY LOAF

French culinary tradition is evident in this delicately flavored Parsled Ham and Turkey Loaf, napped with Creamy Mustard Sauce. An easy-to-prepare dish for an elegant dinner party, any leftovers make for a delicious sandwich.

- 1/2 cup chopped parsley leaves and thin stems, divided
- 1 can (8 ozs) stewed tomatoes, undrained
- 1/2 cup dry bread crumbs
- 1 egg white
- 1 small carrot, finely chopped
- 1 tablespoon white wine Worcestershire sauce
- 1 teaspoon Dijon mustard
- 1/4 to 1/2 teaspoon freshly ground pepper to taste
- 1/2 pound canned ham, drained, cut up
- 1/2 pound ground turkey

Reserve 2 tablespoons parsley for garnish. In medium bowl, combine remaining parsley, stewed tomatoes, broken up, bread crumbs and egg white. Stir in carrot, Worcestershire sauce, mustard and pepper. Grind ham in food processor until very fine. Add to tomato mixture along with ground turkey. Mix well. In an oblong baking pan, shape to form a 9"x3"x2" loaf. Bake in preheated 350° F oven 40 to 45 minutes, or until loaf is firm and juices run clear when pierced with tip of knife. Sprinkle with remaining parsley. Let stand 10 minutes, covered, before slicing. Cut into 1/2" slices. Makes 6 servings, 2 slices each. Serve with sauce. Leftovers may be refrigerated and used for sandwiches.

Creamy Mustard Sauce: In a small bowl, whisk together 6 tablespoons evaporated skim milk, 1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice, 1 1/2 teaspoons Dijon mustard and 1/2 teaspoon salt until slightly thickened. Makes 1/2 cup.

MINTED PEA PUREE

Peas are anything but standard when they are pureed with fresh mint and Bibb lettuce. Just a touch of sour cream adds the slightest creaminess to create the perfect side dish.

- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 3 green onions and tops, sliced
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
- 1 can (17 ozs) peas
- 4 outer leaves Bibb lettuce, thinly sliced (about 1 cup)
- 1 tablespoon dairy sour cream
- 1 tablespoon chopped fresh mint leaves

In saucepan, sauté garlic and onions in butter over low heat until soft but not brown. Drain peas, reserving juice. Add peas and lettuce to saucepan, cover and heat thoroughly. Pour into food processor or blender container. Add sour cream and mint. Puree, adding enough hot reserved pea juice or water to achieve desired consistency. Mixture should mound from a spoon. Serve immediately. Makes 4 servings, 1/2 cup each.

Note: For quicker preparation, stir sour cream and mint into hot pea mixture. Do not puree.

Pacific Northwest

Settled by westward-moving pioneers of no one particular origin, the Pacific Northwest offered a bounty of seafood, freshwater fish and many orchard fruits. Apples, pears, peaches and cherries grow abundantly in the wet, mild climate and fertile land.

WHOLE GRAIN PANCAKES WITH CHERRY SAUCE

Cherry pancakes made healthier with the addition of multi-grain oatmeal and a sweet Bing cherry sauce are a great way to start off the weekend. Any leftovers can be frozen and reheated in the microwave oven on busy weekdays mornings.

- 1 can (17 ozs) pitted dark sweet Bing cherries
- 3 tablespoons sugar, divided
- 2 teaspoons cornstarch
- 1/2 teaspoon grated orange rind
- 1/2 teaspoon ground coriander or cinnamon
- 2 cups multi-grain oatmeal or quick oats, uncooked
- 1/2 cup all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 2 cups buttermilk
- 2 whole eggs or 1 whole egg and 2 egg whites, beaten
- 1/4 cup vegetable oil
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 3 tablespoons toasted sliced almonds

Drain cherries, reserving juice. Chop enough cherries to make 1/2 cup and set aside. In small saucepan, combine 1 tablespoon of the sugar and cornstarch. Pour in remaining whole cherries and reserved juice; add orange rind and coriander. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to a simmer. Bring to a boil without stirring. Remove from heat.

In a large bowl, combine oatmeal, flour, remaining 2 tablespoons of the sugar, baking powder and baking soda. Add buttermilk, eggs, oil, vanilla and reserved chopped cherries. Mix well. Let batter stand while preheating griddle to 375° F. Pour 1/4 cup batter for each pancake onto hot, lightly greased griddle. Cook until top is bubbly and edges look cooked; turn and cook on other side 1 minute. Serve with cherry sauce. Pass toasted almonds to sprinkle on top. Makes 16 pancakes, 5 to 6 servings.

WARM FRUIT COMPOTE

Your favorite fruits are warmed to create a vibrant and healthy addition to any breakfast menu. Serve this easy-to-make compote at your next Sunday brunch.

- 1 can (16 ozs) grapefruit sections, undrained
- 1 can (16 ozs) apricot halves, drained
- 1 can (11 ozs) mandarin orange segments, drained
- 3 tablespoons light brown sugar
- 1 teaspoon grated fresh ginger root
- 1 kiwi, peeled, halved and sliced
- Fresh mint sprigs

Combine canned fruits in a 1 1/2 quart baking dish. Stir in brown sugar and grated ginger root. Cover and microwave on High for 5 minutes, stirring once. Uncover; stir in kiwi slices. Spoon into individual serving dishes. Garnish with mint sprigs. Makes 6 servings, 3/4 cup each.

Tex-Mex

Southwestern or "Tex-Mex" cooking is heavily influenced by its south-of-the-border cousins and the abundance of corn that originally grew wild here. This regional cuisine marries the traditions of native American Indians and the Spanish who settled the area in the 1500s.

SOUTHWESTERN CORN SALAD

This colorful Southwestern salad, which features a combination of Mexican flavored corn, black-eyed peas and black beans, is spiked with hot pepper, lime juice and cilantro to create a hearty salad or a light, healthful entrée.

- 1 can (15 ozs) black-eyed peas or black beans, drained, rinsed
- 1 can (11 ozs) Mexicorn, drained
- 1/4 cup finely chopped red onion
- 1/4 cup chopped cilantro leaves and thin stems
- 1/4 cup vegetable oil
- 1/4 cup fresh lime juice
- 1 teaspoon seeded, finely chopped serrano or jalapeño pepper

Combine black-eyed peas, Mexicorn, red onion, cilantro, oil, lime juice and hot pepper in a bowl. Cover and refrigerate at least 1 hour to blend flavors. Before serving, stir in 1/4 cup of each of the following: 1/4 cup each of 4 entrée servings (1 cup each).

NEW ENGLAND

Sturdy settlers, newly arrived from England, tamed the hilly, rock-strewn Yankee land and formed a new cuisine perfectly suited to the environment and climate. Thanks to good old Yankee ingenuity, they took the many varieties of foodstuffs in the new land and turned them into hearty, tantalizing dishes, such as corn in all its forms, boiled and pickled root vegetables, fish chowders, baked beans and apple pie.

RED BEET REG SALAD

Canned beets go upscale and contemporary in this composed salad that features a Yankee staple along with mixed greens, hard-boiled egg and toasted walnuts.

- 3 eggs
- 1 can (1 lb) sliced pickled beets
- Mixed salad greens
- 18 slices of cucumber
- 6 slices red onion, divided into rings
- 2 tablespoons bottled ranch style salad dressing
- 2 tablespoons toasted walnut pieces

In saucepan, cover eggs with cold water. Bring to a boil over medium heat. Remove from heat, cover and let stand 20 minutes. Drain. Cool under cold running water. Drain beet juice into 2-cup glass measuring cup or mason jar. Cover and refrigerate beets separately. Peel eggs, place in beet juice. Cover and refrigerate several hours or overnight. Drain eggs; halve lengthwise. Arrange on salad greens with beets, sliced cucumber and onion. Drizzle with dressing; sprinkle with walnuts. Makes 6 servings.

Loggers Receive Training In Best Mgmt. Practices

The Maryland Forest Association, Maryland Department of Natural Resources Forest Service recently and University of Maryland Cooperative Extension Service held a Logger Workshop on Best Management Practices for Forest Harvest Access.

This workshop met the requirements for soil erosion and sediment control training for loggers in both Maryland and West Virginia. The workshop was held on Savage River State Forest with the cooperation of the West Virginia Division of Forestry, the Garrett Soil Conservation District, and the U.S. Department of Agriculture Forest Service.

The morning classroom session focused on planning a logging job, map interpretation, and legal requirements in both Maryland and West Virginia. Loggers learned to identify good road locations and areas to avoid when constructing a logging haul road or a skid trail. They also learned how to maintain these roads during use and how to close out these areas when completed.

The afternoon session was held on a forest road in the Savage River State Forest. The loggers looked at water control measures that were properly installed and discussed the maintenance necessary to keep these control measures working. The group also critiqued poorly installed or poorly maintained water controls. They discussed why the measure was inappropriate at the given site or why the measure failed to control erosion and sedimentation. The loggers closed out the afternoon by learning how to construct a broad based dip to control water on roadways as Pete Prazee showed construction technique on the bulldozer.

Professional loggers who attended this workshop were: Paul Smith, Flintstone; Roy Yonker, Cumberland; Donald Glatfelter, Oakland; Kenneth Klahre, Clearville, Pa.; Donald and Vernon Mellott, Breezewood, Pa.; David Opel, Frostburg; James and Jason Radar, B. Groves, and James Booth III, Oldtown; Ralph E., Ralph, Ken, Doug, and Danny Sines, Richard Artice, and Phil Frantz, Friendsville; Luke McCusker, Warfordsburg, Pa.; Robert Pfaff, McHenry, and Russell Yoder, Grantsville. Others who attended the workshop were Bobbi Briggs, Oakland and E. Marshall Stacy, Swanton. The instructors were: Phil Pannill, MD-DNR Forest Service; Ed Murriner, Lowell McPherson, and Linda Carnell, WV Division of Forestry; Ken Rexrode, Westaco; Warren Groves and Larry Maxim, Savage River State Forest; Shaun Sanders and Randy Storie, Garrett Soil Conservation District; Jim Kochenderfer, USDA Forest Service, Timber and Watershed Laboratory; and, Pete Miller, Maryland Forests Association president.

Sarbanes Bill About Randolph Lake Progresses

The Senate Judiciary Committee has unanimously approved legislation introduced by Sen. Paul Sarbanes to permit Maryland and West Virginia to enter into a joint agreement for resource management and law enforcement on Jennings Randolph Lake. The measure now moves on to the full Senate for consideration and approval is expected.

The lake is on the North branch of the Potomac River in Garrett County and Mineral County, W.Va. The lake is growing in popularity as a recreational site, and better management of its resources is needed, Sarbanes said.

The lake was created with the construction of a dam across the river in 1982. This was done to enhance the water quality of the Potomac, reduce flood damage, improve the water supply, and increase opportunities for recreation. Unfortunately, the creation of the lake removed the natural boundary between West Virginia and Maryland, said Sarbanes.

The meandering nature of the former river and the depth of the lake have made it impossible to re-establish the precise location of the boundary. As a consequence, "enforcement of the natural resources and boating laws and regulations have been tentative at best, and at worst, non-existent. As recreational uses of the lake continue to increase, it is anticipated that enforcement problems will become increasingly difficult," Sarbanes said.

The Sarbanes legislation will provide the states of Maryland and West Virginia with concurrent jurisdiction over the project area to enable them to jointly enforce natural resource boating laws and regulations. Congressional approval of such an agreement between two states is required by the Constitution. The Sarbanes measure is co-sponsored by Maryland Senator Barbara Mikulski; and West Virginia Senators Robert Byrd and Jay Rockefeller.

"The lake and surrounding area are extraordinarily beautiful and include some of the most picturesque countryside in the nation. The lake and the North Branch of the Potomac River below the dam support a recreational trout fishery that is one of the best in America. Other recreational opportunities including boating, downstream whitewater rafting, hiking, and picnicking are drawing increasing numbers of visitors to the lake. This is a natural resource for us to treasure - and to preserve," the senator said.

Sarbanes has taken a number of steps in recent years to preserve the lake while making its beauty more accessible for the people of Maryland. He has worked with the governments of both states and the Army Corps of Engineers to improve the access road on the Maryland side of the lake; he has addressed acid mine drainage on the North Branch of the Potomac; and he has had language added to appropriations legislation to have the Corps of Engineers develop a new management plan for the lake

Maryland State Mountain Bike Race Scheduled

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) State Forest and Park Service announced that its annual Maryland State Mountain Bike Championship at Green Ridge State Forest in Allegany County will be held this Sunday, Oct. 2.

All entrants in NORBA's expert, veteran, master, and sport classifications will be required to complete a 20-mile circuit of the course, which consists of dirt roads and wooded trails through state forestland. New sections of the course have been added since the spring race. Entrants in the beginner class face a 14-mile circuit on the same course. Riders must wear an approved helmet and possess a valid NORBA license. Race observers may view the race from road-blocked areas in Green Ridge State Forest.

Registration will be held at Green Ridge State Forest headquarters on the day of the race from 8 to 10:30 a.m. Pre-registration entry forms and information concerning the race and requirements may be obtained by contacting Cary Colon at Pro-Time at (717) 626-7490.

Pre-registration entry fees are $20 and the fee on the day of the race is $23. A one day NORBA license may be purchased for $3. To locate the race site, persons should take Exit 64 (MV Smith Rd.) from Interstate 68 and follow signs to the Green Ridge State Forest Headquarters.

Maryland's Sales Tax Shows Gain

"Our state's economy is poised to do better, and during August, 1994 general fund revenue totalled $533.5 million or 4.7% more than the $509.3 million we collected during August, 1993," Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein told members of the Maryland State Licensed Beverage Association (MSLBA) at their 45th annual convention in Ocean City on September 21.

The growth in August revenue was led by a 7.1% increase in sales and use tax receipts. "These revenues compare favorably with national figures on consumer spending, which showed a pickup after a slowdown during May and June," Goldstein said. The state collected $156.3 million in sales and use tax revenue during August, compared with $145.9 million a year ago.

The two largest categories of sales and use tax revenue each showed increases about four percent. The taxable food and beverage group yielded $37.3 million, up 4.6% from August, 1993. "Nearly half of that revenue, $15.8 million, came from establishments with beer, wine or liquor licenses," Goldstein told the MSLBA members.

The general merchandise category produced $24.9 million, up 4.3% for the same month a year ago. The building and contractors category produced $21 million, an increase of 14%. August sales and use tax revenues reflect July retail transactions.

The comptroller said Maryland - as one of the top five defense industry states - felt the economic effects of the end of the cold war with some highly publicized defense-related layoffs in the past year. "But what hasn't shown up in the news is the growth that's taking place in small businesses like your industry. Last year, we had the best job growth in Maryland in five years," he said.

RAY TEETS AUTO ELECTRIC SERVICE was located along Oak Street in Oakland in a building next to the present Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad building (formerly the Ray Teets Garage). Prices in 1931, when this photo was taken, were somewhat lower than today's, as gasoline was 15.4 cents per gallon and car batteries cost only $4.95. Harvey Re-Certifies As Diplomate In National Society

James C. Harvey, director of physician recruitment and retention at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, has re-certified as a "diplomate" of the American College of Healthcare Executives, an international professional society representing more than 28,000 healthcare executives.

According to a 1986 college policy, college diplomates are required to re-certify their professional competence every six years. At present, there are approximately 7,000 healthcare executives in the nation who hold the status of diplomate in the college.

Harvey first attained diplomate status in 1983. To earn this credential, he had to show commitment to continuing education, progression in professional experience, and participation in voluntary and community affairs. In addition, Harvey had to complete comprehensive oral and written examinations on a variety of healthcare management topics.

GOH DONATES TO "PEOPLE FIRST" - Oakland's "People First," a self-advocacy group of persons with developmental disabilities, recently received a $250 donation from the Garrett Organization for the Handicapped (GOH). People First will use the money to host a picnic for the participants of a state-wide conference of people with disabilities who are also interested in learning more about how to plan and speak for themselves, educate their communities, and be full members of society. Pictured left to right are Rudy Cvetnick, GOH member, Renee Vincent, treasurer of People First, and Leigh Ann Hamilton, the group's advisor.

To become re-certified as a diplomate, Harvey participated in continuing education and voluntary professional, civic, and community affairs.

Highway Dept. To Resurface MD. Route 560

The State Highway Administration will resurface Maryland Route 560 in Garrett County beginning in late September.

The project will cover approximately three miles along Route 560 from U.S. Route 50 to just south of White Church/Steuer Road and includes modifying traffic barriers and installing pavement markings. "The work is necessary to improve the road surface and enhance motorist safety," a SHA spokesperson stated.

Single lane closures will occur weekdays from sunrise to sunset. Flagpersons, arrow boards, traffic cones, and drums will guide motorists through the construction site.

I. A. Construction Co., Cumberland, has been awarded the $615,000 contract for the project, which, according to the SHA, should be complete by the end of the year, weather permitting.

Conservation Tillage Event Boosts "Practical & Profitable"

National environmental issues and practical information to make conservation tillage profitable will be major topics at this year's six-state Mid-Atlantic Conservation Tillage Conference. The twenty-first annual event is set Dec. 14 at the Embers Inn and Convention Center near Carlisle, Pa.

Specific topics will deal with "rock-solid" practical and profitable no-till ideas to use next spring, clean water, soil fertility, new herbicides and workable machinery attachments. Farmers from Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Virginia and West Virginia are invited to attend.

Sponsoring organizations include Cooperative Extension, the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Soil Conservation Service and local conservation districts in the participating states, with assistance from interested agribusiness representatives. More than 400 persons are expected.

Activities on Dec. 14 will get under way at 8 a.m. with free coffee and doughnuts, plus opportunity to visit industry exhibits. The educational program will run from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., with an hour and a half off for lunch and another chance to chat with exhibitors. Tickets for the noon lunch are available at $6 each from Cooperative Extension county offices throughout the Mid-Atlantic area. They must be purchased in advance—not later than Dec. 5.

Speakers and topics for the morning program are as follows:

"30 Rock-Solid, Highly Practical and Profitable No-Till Ideas to Use Next Spring"—William F. Rohrs, coordinator, Conservation Action Project, Maumee Valley Resource Conservation & Development Area, Soil Conservation Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Defiance, Ohio.

"Clean Water Without Rigid Regulation"—Dr. Richard S. Fawcett, Farm Journal environment specialist, Huxley, Iowa.

"Soil Fertility Programs" (including manure & fertilizer inputs)—Farmer panel. "Where to Find the Profits in Conservation Farming"—Roland P. Freund, area farm management agent, Capital Region, Penn State Extension, Carlisle, Pa.

Bernice Kepple, Farm Editor

Farming In Maryland.....

"New Chemistry of Herbicides: Making Conservation Tillage More Friendly to the Environment"—Dick Fawcett, Farm Journal.

The last three topics are 45-minute breakout sessions conducted simultaneously. They will be repeated after lunch, providing opportunity to attend two of the three sessions.

The final afternoon presentation is titled "Row Cleaners, Coulters, Zone Tillage, Planter/Drill Attachments...What Works? What Doesn't?" The speaker will be John A. Halderman, owner of the College Corner Implement Company at West College Corner, Ind.

An informal discussion session will close out the afternoon for those who wish to remain.

Md. Ag Education Foundation To Hold Sixth Annual Dinner

Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Lewis R. Riley has announced that the Maryland Agricultural Education Foundation (MAEF) will be holding its sixth annual fund raising dinner November 16, at 6:30 p.m., at the Turf Valley Country Club, Ellicott City.

"I urge anyone who cares about agriculture in our state to attend this dinner. The Agricultural Education Foundation is doing a fantastic job the year around of educating teachers and putting agriculture in the classroom. Their enthusiasm is contagious. By motivating teachers to utilize agriculture as a theme in their classrooms, they are helping students all across Maryland to develop an appreciation

AFBF Recommends 5 Percent ARP For Corn In 1995

Based on an excellent corn harvest this year and crop projections for 1995, the American Farm Bureau Federation is recommending a 5 percent corn acreage reduction program (ARP) for next year.

While setting the ARP at 0 percent would provide higher farm returns, according to David Miller, AFBF commodity policy and programs coordinator, "A 5 percent ARP allows for more price strength and a more reasonable stocks-to-use ratio."

ARP is a federal program under which the Secretary of Agriculture may require producers to reduce their acreage of a particular commodity by a given percentage in order to be eligible for farm program benefits.

Farm Bureau analysis indicates a 5 percent 1995 ARP would allow for growth in consumption to record levels, but ending stocks would be a more workable 17.6 percent. At 5 percent ARP, production would reach 8.68 billion bushels and total use would climb to 8.75 billion bushels. The ending stocks would total 1.54 billion bushels of corn. This level of ending stocks is sufficient to provide for stability in the feed grain sector and increased demand both domestically and for exports, Miller said.

With a 0 percent ARP, corn production would reach 8.99 billion bushels in 1995. Total use would also rise to a record 8.8 billion bushels. Ending stocks are estimated to rise slightly to just over 1.79 billion bushels, Miller stated. This would result in a stocks-to-use ratio of more than 20 percent. When ending stocks exceed 20 percent the ARP for the following year must be set at 7.5 percent, Miller explained.

AFBF is also recommending that the ARP for grain sorghum and barley for the 1995 crops be set to zero percentage. Ending stocks for those commodities are not excessive and substantial acreage is already retired through the conservation reserve program.

The recommendation, sent to Philip Sronce, director of the Grains Analysis Division of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, will be considered in setting the ARP rates for 1995. The preliminary recommendation will be announced Sept. 30 and the final ARP level must be set by the Secretary of Agriculture by Nov. 5.

for the relationship of agriculture to food, the environment and the economy. Through agriculture, they are making learning fun," Riley said. Maryland Governor William Donald Schaefer requested that a foundation be established to coordinate both public/private sector cooperation to improve agricultural education in the classroom. The Maryland Department of Agriculture responded to the Governor's request by helping to organize the Maryland Agricultural Education Foundation. This foundation is composed of individuals representing a myriad of interests within the agricultural community.

Since it began operations in 1989, this foundation has provided financial assistance for teaching agricultural education at all levels. In addition, it sponsors a series of teacher workshops each year designed to integrate agricultural education into the curriculum. Topics have included animal and crop science, environmental resources, land management and wildlife conservation.

For ticket information those interested should call Pam Rockland at the Maryland Agricultural Education Foundation on (410) 752-0671.

Public Forums Scheduled To Re-Invent SCS Agency

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's Soil Conservation Service (SCS) is launching a series of forums to gather customer and employee input for its re-invention process.

SCS Chief Paul Johnson said that recommendations gathered in the forums will be used to anticipate future needs and to re-focus the direction of the agency's mission.

"If we are to continue to meet the needs of an ever-changing nation, it is vital that we ask those who have a stake in natural resource protection to help craft a new natural resources conservation agency. And although change is never easy, we believe it is time to ask, 'Is there a better way?'" Johnson said.

Forums will be conducted throughout the Nation from June through December 1994. Five forums will be held in Maryland with the Western Maryland forum scheduled October 20 at the Ramada Inn at Hagerstown.

All Maryland forums will begin at 9 a.m. and end at approximately 3 p.m. A survey form will also be available for those who cannot attend one of the formal sessions but who would like to offer their suggestions.

Anyone with an interest in natural resource conservation is invited to participate in a forum, especially

Pricing High Moisture Corn
 At this time of the year many of you will be buying or selling high moisture corn. To determine the price you will need to know: 1) the moisture content of the corn, and, 2) the current price per bushel of dry shelled corn. The moisture content of dry shelled corn is 15.5 percent, weighing 56 lbs. per bushel. For an example in pricing, I will use 30 percent HMC and a current price of $2.50 per bu. for dry corn.

- 30 percent HMC minus 15.5 percent dry corn = 14.5 percent difference in moisture.

- 2,000 lbs. x 14.5 percent (0.145) = 290 lbs. of extra moisture.

- 2,000 lbs. minus 290 lbs. = 1,710 lbs. HMC to equal 1 ton of dry corn.

- 1,710 lbs. divided 56 lbs./bu. = 30.53 adjusted bu./ton.

- 30.53 bu. x $2.50/bu. = $76.33 per ton for 30 percent HMC.

$76.33 per ton is the price at your farm, excluding handling and transportation. If you are selling or buying corn standing in the field, harvesting costs must be deducted. The custom combine rate in our area is between $22.00 to 26.00 per acre.

Did You Read?
 In the September 20 issue of The Delmarva Farmer, there was an article by George Haenlein, Extension Dairy Specialist, University of Delaware, titled "Coping with the Declining Price of Milk." Quoting from the first paragraph of the article, "Cheese on the National Cheese Exchange in Wisconsin recently dropped 20 cents per pound, resulting in a price decline at the farm gate of about $2 per 100 pounds of fluid milk. This translates into different income losses, depending on the level of milk production per cow per year. For a herd with 18,000 milk pounds per cow, the monthly income loss will be $3,600, and for a 20,000 pound herd, the loss will be $4,000."

In Garrett County (DIII) we average over 18,000 pounds per cow. Income losses would average $36 plus per cow per month or $462 per cow per year. As you well know, that's quite a reduction in income. Dr. Haenlein suggests ways to combat the declining prices are: increase milk level per cow; shop for feed bargains; improve labor efficiency; convert to computer nursing; keep records. If you would like a copy of the article, give me a call.

AFBF's Kleckner Says Policy Debate Demands Farm Unity

Three basic questions frame the farm policy debate, and the agriculture community must work in unity toward solutions that benefit the vast majority of the nation's farmers and ranchers, according to Dean Kleckner, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

Speaking at a Sept. 11 meeting of the Iowa Master Farmers, Kleckner said balancing the need for planting flexibility and income support stability, deciding the future of the conservation reserve program (CRP) and securing and allocating sufficient funds for agriculture programs will drive the farm policy debate.

The agriculture community cannot be fragmented by past disagreements or minor philosophical differences. According to Kleckner, "the need for unity, for cooperation, for sensitivity, has never been greater."

"There are many other people from many other walks of life who are eager to have a say in developing the next farm bill," he said. "Interests will load the legislation with measures that address food safety, land-use planning, wealth redistribution, conservation practices, government spending and trade."

In addition, Kleckner said farmers will find themselves involved in debates concerning chemical use, acceptance of advances in biotechnology and overall food costs. During these debates, Farm Bureau, he said, will work to "minimize governmental interference and maximize the ability to farm and make a profit."

Money will be "a more limiting factor than ever," according to Kleckner. It is already estimated that government deficiency payments to farmers this year will be less than $12 billion -- $14 billion less than a decade ago.

"That's an incredible reduction, especially when you consider Congress' spending record in every other sector," Kleckner said. "How the farm payment pie is carved will be a matter of great debate." Kleckner, a hog and soybean producer from Iowa, told the group his organization supports a congressional proposal to extend provisions of the 1990 farm program for five years as part of legislation to implement the recent GATT world trade agreement.

While extending the 1990 legislation "is an intriguing concept," Kleckner said, Farm Bureau also would work diligently to "implement whatever farm policy changes our delegates approve."

Another challenge confronting farmers is ensuring the protection of property rights, according to the Farm Bureau president.

"Efforts to strengthen clean air and water regulations, along with wetlands and endangered species, an expect property owners to yield their property rights without compensation," Kleckner explained.

"For years, Farm Bureau has sought common-sense regulations, balancing costs and benefits. We encourage conservation, while opposing preservation. Whenever our ability to manage our property is diminished, we should receive fair compensation."

New Hay And Straw Directory To Be Published

Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Lewis R. Riley has announced that the Maryland Department of Agriculture will put out a new Maryland Hay and Straw Directory in mid-November.

"I urge all Maryland farmers who will have hay and straw for sale this winter to contact the Maryland Department of Agriculture's Marketing Services Office or their Cooperative Extension Office to request an application to be listed in the directory. The deadline for applications is October 14," Riley said.

The Maryland Hay and Straw Directory is published as a service to buyers and sellers of hay and straw. The directory will be available to livestock producers, horsemen, contractors, and others who are trying to locate a source of hay or straw. The directory will also be mailed to more than 300 licensed horse stables throughout Maryland.

A free copy of the Maryland Hay and Straw Directory may be obtained by calling or writing: Hay and Straw Directory, Maryland Department of Agriculture, Marketing Services Office, 50 Harry S. Truman Parkway, Annapolis, MD 21401. Phone (410) 841-5770.

Kleckner Leads Farm Bureau Trade Delegation

With Asia poised as the next major market opportunity for U.S. agricultural exports, Dean Kleckner, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, is leading a trade mission, Sept. 20-31, to Hong Kong, China and Thailand. Accompanying Kleckner will be presidents of 13 state Farm Bureaus.

"The Asian market, China in particular, is the fastest growing trading arena in the world, both in terms of population and income," Kleckner said.

While in Asia, the Farm Bureau delegation will meet with local trade officials, government officials and U.S. business interests in each nation. The mission will also include visits to farms and commodity distribution points.

According to Kleckner, an Iowa soybean and hog producer, one objective of the Asian trade mission is to gauge the implications of any future free trade agreement with Pacific Rim nations. Such an agreement, he said, is being considered among nations involved in Asia-Pacific Economic Cooperation meetings. Trade experts believe such an agreement could be fully implemented by the year 2020.

The Farm Bureau delegation also will participate in the grand opening of the "Food and Hotel China '94" trade show in Beijing, where many U.S. agricultural products will be on display.

Agricultural production and distribution facilities in China and Thailand also will be closely examined, and the group will appraise the productive capability of Chinese agriculture in meeting that nation's future food needs. The Farm Bureau presidents will discuss with government officials specific issues regarding bilateral trade, including China's entry into the GATT and that nation's most-favored-nation trading status with the United States.

The delegation also will evaluate Thailand's capability of competing with U.S. ag exports in other Asian markets, including Japan and China. Hong Kong's future role as a major distribution point for trade with China also will be a major focus of the mission, according to Kleckner.

State Farm Bureau presidents participating in the trip include: Ken Ashby, Utah; Tom Geary, Idaho; Bill Knill, Maryland; Charles Kruse, Missouri; Dave McClure, Montana; James Nakatani, Hawaii; Bryce Neidig, Nebraska.

Girl Scout Event Set For Oct. 1

The Garrett County Girl Scout Roundup will be hosted by county Girl Scout leaders on Oct. 1 from 2-4:30 p.m. at the Double G Ranch.

During the afternoon of activities, scouts will have the opportunity to try country line dancing, cook "s'mores," listen to a program presented by the Maryland Department of Natural Resources titled "Scales and Tales," gather around a campfire, play games, and sing. So far, 15 area scout troops have made plans to participate in the Roundup.

The council mobile shop will be open for business during the event so scouts can purchase handbooks and other supplies. For uniform purchases, persons may call the council shop's 800 number with their orders and the items will be delivered at the Roundup. An event spokesperson stated that due to space, no uniforms will be brought to the event unless they have been prepaid. The mobile shop will be open early before the event so parents can shop with their daughters.

Event registrar Pat Williamson estimates that 250 scouts will attend this year's Roundup. 210 scouts participated last year.

Williamson remarked that the county is in need of new adults to volunteer to lead Girl Scout troops. She explained that due to a lack of adult leaders, many areas of Garrett County currently have no scouting program for girls.

Persons seeking more information on becoming a leader or starting a troop may call 746-8790.

4-H ... More than You Ever Imagined

NATIONAL 4-H WEEK KICKS OFF ON NICKELODEON

by Alice E. Hevner

The annual National 4-H Week will get a big start this year, thanks to a nationally televised event on Nickelodeon. The cable channel is sponsoring "The Big Help" campaign in an effort to expose its young viewing audience to the fun and rewarding experiences of helping people and their communities.

On October 2, day one of National 4-H Week, Nickelodeon will air a live "Help-a-thon" from noon to 8 p.m. eastern standard time. The event, which is structured as a block party, will feature booths displaying aspects of the programs of the participating organizations. In the 4-H booth, local members will use skills gained from 4-H involvement. 4-H'ers will showcase the 4-H Science and Technology curriculum "SERIES". Throughout the day, young people attending the event will make toys to donate to children. 4-H members who raise guide dogs for the blind will demonstrate how the puppies are trained. All these 4-H young people will demonstrate how youth can make very valuable contributions to the lives of others.

4-H is one of six organizations in a coalition involved with "The BIG HELP" campaign. The other groups are Second Harvest, Just Say No, Points of Light, Earth Force, and Youth Service America. Nickelodeon began airing public service announcements for these groups on Sept. 8, and will run each organization's PSA at least once daily until Oct. 2.

4-H members have always been involved with service projects and community help campaigns around the country. This campaign and the following National 4-H week will provide yet another opportunity for 4-H youth to serve their community.

The 4-H youth development program began in the early 1900s, strengthening rural education for young people. It has grown in both strength and numbers since that time, and now serves over 5.3 million urban, suburban, and rural youth across the country.

Volunteer local leaders are the backbone of 4-H. They partner with county Extension staff to provide direct leadership and educational support to youth in local neighborhoods and communities. The land-grant universities house the state 4-H headquarters.

Youth in Garrett County who are interested in 4-H programs and activities may contact Alice E. Hevner, Extension Agent-4-H, Garrett County Cooperative Extension Service, at (301) 334-1990.

The Maryland Cooperative Extension Service's programs are open to all citizens without regard to race, color, sex, handicap, religion, age, or national origin.

Steve Gretchen Joins Teaching Force At SHS

Steve Gretchen is among the 20 new teachers hired by the Garrett County Board of Education this year. He is employed as a technology education in-structor at Southern High School.

According to Henrietta Lease, director of person-nel, Gretchen comes to the area highly recommended by his college professors as an advocate for the con-cepts which are the founda-tion of the new technology education curriculum. Gret-chen said the four focus areas - construction, manu-facturing, transportation, and communication - pro-vide opportunity for high interest, hands-on activities along with textbook studies in a mix that helps develop good work habits, problem-solving skills, and an under-standing of the relationship of core subjects such as math and science. He main-tains that programs such as this will produce the type of employees needed in the 21st century.

Gretchen, a native of Ohio, recently graduated from Fairmont State Col-lege. His practice teaching experiences in technology education were completed in Clarksburg, W.Va., at South Harrison High School and Roosevelt Wil-son Middle School.

Bittinger Student Earns Scholarship

Ronald P. Knox, Bittinger, has been awarded the Anthony Wai Chu Lam Scholarship to attend Frostburg State University.

Knox is a senior at FSU, where he is majoring in physics and math and minoring in computer science. He is a member of the Engineers Club of Cumberland and the Society of Physics Students, and has also been inducted into the freshmen, math, and physics honor societies.

Knox, a 1991 graduate of Northern High School, hopes to become a geophysicist. He is the son of Ms. Doris Knox.

Students To View Science Screen Video Series

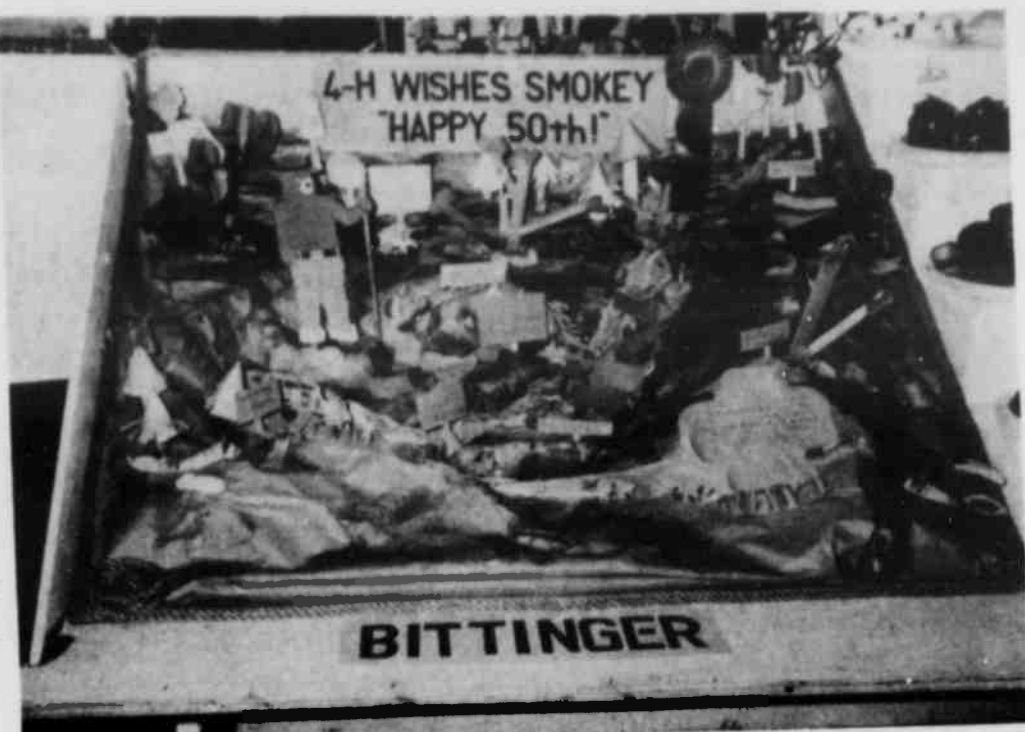

The first three issues of Science Screen Report for the 1994-95 school year are currently being distributed to local schools, according to a release from the Garrett County Board of Education.

The report is an educational video series produced in cooperation with the National Science Teachers Association. The series presents the most recent developments in science and technology in a format designed for middle and high school students.

The video subscription is provided to the county's middle and high schools by a grant from the Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

"While supporting improvement in science programs, we also hope to encourage young people in the scientific and technical fields that are essential to today's health care system," a hospital spokesperson said.

The video segments cover such topics as "Gla-

FAIR BOOTH WINNERS -- 4-H clubs throughout the county prepared booths for display and competition during the recent Garrett County Fair. The booth either promoted 4-H in general, a 4-H project, or an activity. The Bittinger 4-H Club's display, pictured above, was named champion, and reserve champion went to the Monte Vista 4-H Club, shown below. Both clubs also received red ribbons during the Maryland State Fair. Other clubs displaying booths during the fair were North Glade, blue ribbon; North Star, red ribbon; and Ryan's Glade, Country Kids, Grantsville, Shepherds and Mason-Dixon, all received white ribbons.

in the human body.

A third program is "Lime - Nature's Pollution Fighter," which teaches students how lime, a remnant of ancient algae, is one of today's most important tools in the fight against pollution.

Retired Teachers Association Holds Fall Meeting

The fall meeting of the Garrett County Retired Teachers Association was held at Will 'O the Wisp last week. Guests included Dr. Jerome Rysavage, superintendent of Garrett County Schools; and Meade Felton, coordinator of the Maryland Retired Teachers Association. Joanna Miller, a new retiree of the local school system, was also an invited guest.

Felton addressed the members about concerns of retired teachers, including the protection of funds in the retirement/pension plan to prevent "spend-down" to pay government debts.

A memorial service was conducted in memory of Lucille Sines.

Each person attending received a potted mum, and a video titled Crime and How to Prevent It was shown and discussed.

Association members noted the need of all retired teachers of the county to make concerns and issues known to area delegates and senators.

The Garrett County Crime Solvers organization is currently seeking information about a breaking, entering, and the theft of guns from a local residence.

On Sept. 19, unknown suspects entered the residence of Michael Beitzel, located on the Accident-Friendsville Road, during the daytime. Several guns were stolen from the home. The crime apparently took place between 8:10 a.m. and 2:30 p.m.

Any person who observed suspicious vehicles or persons during the day on that road should contact Crime Solvers at 334-1975. Callers do not have to give their names nor appear in court. Rewards of up to $1,000 are available to persons who provide tips that lead to arrests.

said. "We want younger generations to understand its importance and to learn about it firsthand from some of our veterans who served in the war. Their numbers are getting fewer and we need to preserve their history while we can."

General Claude Kicklighter, executive director of the World War II 50th anniversary commemoration committee, began the program with a keynote address explaining the many commemorative programs and events being held throughout the nation and at various battle sites in the European and the Pacific theaters. He told how the commemoration ceremonies began at Pearl Harbor on December 7, 1991, and will end there on Veterans Day 1995. General Kicklighter also showed a video promoting the 50th anniversary activities with the theme, "A grateful nation remembers."

Following the keynote address, General Orwin Talbott, former commander of the First Infantry Division, spoke about his experiences as a young company commander at the D-Day invasion on Utah Beach in Normandy. He told how his ship was sunk and how he and his troops were rescued by a British destroyer before they landed on the beach. Gen. Talbott returned to Normandy for the 50th anniversary of the D-Day landings last June and said he was "overwhelmed by the outpouring of gratitude" shown by the French people to the American soldiers who had liberated their country.

The afternoon sessions began with a presentation by Beth Luers, professor of social sciences, who discussed the causes of World War II. Ms. Luers began with the rise of Adolph Hitler and Nazi Germany, Hitler's invasion of Poland and the low countries, then moved to Japan's invasion of Manchuria and the attack on Pearl Harbor.

Commander Paul Stillwell, head historian of the U.S. Naval Institute, told of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, giving personal accounts of the U.S. servicemen who were there. He described the Japanese fleet bearing down on Oahu and the planes taking off from the carrier that Sunday morning, then dropping their bombs on Hickham Field and Schofield Barracks to destroy the U.S. planes on the ground. He then told how the battleships were attacked - Pennsylvania, West Virginia, California, Nevada, Maryland, and Arizona giving personal anecdotes of the men who were aboard each one. Commander Stillwell ended his presentation with a story about a man who survived the sinking of the Arizona and whose wish was to be buried with his shipmates when he died. He was too ill to attend the 50th anniversary commemoration at Pearl Harbor in 1991, but when he died, his ashes were entombed with his 1,177 shipmates in the Arizona.

Following each presentation, a question and answer period was led by Susan Crawford, judge of the U.S. Court of Military Appeals.

The next program in the World War II commemoration series is scheduled for this evening, September 29, at 7 p.m. in the Bausch & Lomb Art Gallery of the College. At that time community residents who were in the military or on the home front during the war will share their experiences.

The year-long series of programs is being funded by the Garrett Community College Foundation, the Maryland Humanities Council and the National Endowment for Humanities.

Brasky Discusses Government With Slavic Officials

Garrett County Commissioner John Brasky recently attended a lunch meeting at the Red Run Lodge with six local government officials from the Czech and Slovak Republics to discuss local economic development, finance, and environmental issues.

The six officials are visiting Maryland for six weeks to see first hand how local governments are run in the U.S. Their program is organized by the Johns Hopkins University Institute for Policy Studies and is funded by the U.S. Agency for International Development.

The six local officials have been working in different government agencies in Baltimore for the last three weeks, but wanted to see how rural governments with abundant national resources operate. Brasky took time out of his schedule to answer questions for nearly two hours during the lunch provided by the lodge. Questions included how to encourage citizen participation in local recycling programs, how to finance infrastructure investments which serve tourists, how to encourage local economic development and how to promote citizen participation in government decision making.

To show their appreciation, the officials invited Brasky, who is of Lithuanian descent, to visit their towns in the near future.

Grantsville Man Arrested Friday, Charged With DWI

A Grantsville man was arrested early Friday morning, and charged with DWI (driving while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs) and possession of a controlled dangerous substance (CDS), according to a report filed by Tfc. I.P. Johanson, Maryland State Police, Barrack W. McHenry.

Terry Allen Spiker, 33, operating a 1979 Grand Prix, was stopped by the officer after his vehicle was observed crossing the center line on Rt. 40, west of Rt. 219, according to the report. Spiker was subsequently arrested on the DWI charge. A search of the driver and his vehicle revealed suspected marijuana and CDS paraphernalia.

LOSERS CONTROL
Two Frostburg men were treated and released from Cumberland Memorial Hospital, according to a hospital spokesperson, following a one-vehicle accident on Rt. 546, in front of the Finzel fire hall, Friday evening.

State police reports indicate the driver, Tim Siegmeyer, 23, and his passenger, 27-year-old Richard Baker, were injured when the vehicle, traveling at a high rate of speed, went out of control, ran off the road, and struck mailboxes, trees and utility poles. It came to rest against a tree.

State police said Trooper 5 helicopter transported Siegmeyer to the hospital following the 9:30 p.m. accident. Also responding were the Eastern Garrett fire department and ambulance.

FALLS ASLEEP

A Swanton man was charged with negligent driving after he reportedly fell asleep at the wheel on Rt. 42, east of the Hoyes Road, according to a report filed by Tfc. M. Clapper.

John R. Lee Jr., driving a 1989 Ford pickup truck, was slightly injured after the pickup reportedly traveled off the road, struck a telephone pole and a tree, then ran onto a guardrail and down a 30- to 40-foot embankment and overturned.

Lee, who was wearing his seatbelt, refused treatment and transport.

ESCAPES FROM YOUTH CENTER

An 18-year-old detainee at the Backbone Mountain Youth Center, Swanton, who ran from his work group at 11:20 a.m. Friday, was captured less than three hours later by Maryland State Police.

The Temple Hills youth reportedly fled on foot to nearby Barton, and MSP Trooper 5 helicopter, with assistance from Westernport police, and the citizens of Barton, confined the teen to Railroad Street.

At approximately 2 p.m., Tfc. G.A. Seaman of Barrack W. located the escapee hiding in a tool shed on that same street. He had a hammer, flashlight and power saw file in his possession when he was apprehended. He reportedly took the first two items from a van parked in Westernport, and the third item he found in the shed.

Charges against the youth, who was returned to the center, include escape and two counts of petty theft.

MORE DWI ARRESTS

Six additional DWI arrests were logged during the past week at the local MSP barrack.

Douglas Wayne Keiffer, 51, Doylestown, Pa., was arrested and charged with DWI on Sept. 22 by Tfc. C.E. Goldstrom.

Clay Conrad Fazenbaker, 36, Grantsville, and Terrence Kevin Cartwright, 36, Irwin, Pa., were both arrested for DWI on Sept. 24, by Tfc. Goldstrom.

Carroll Leon Beachley, 51, no address given, was charged with DWI on Sept. 25, by Tfc. Randy Tarburton.

Tfc. Goldstrom arrested David Scott Gittere, 27, Reisterstown, and charged him with DWI on Sept. 25. William Everett Ream, no address given, was arrested for DWI on Sept. 26, by Tfc. D.W. Broadwater.

TRIVIA CHALLENGE MASTERS - The winning team of this year's WKHJ/Uno's Trivia Challenge for Charity recently gave the prize monies over to the chosen recipient - the Garrett Domestic Violence/Sexual Assault Resource Center. The "Court Jesters" of the Garrett County Parole and Probation Office competed in a several-month long contest with numerous teams from around the county, which all played for various charities. The teams were asked trivia questions over the air each weekday morning and teams were gradually eliminated through the regular play and the semi-finals. In addition to the prize money, which was a total of $1,325, the team was given a luncheon party for 25 guests at Uno's. Pictured above left to right are team members Lois Friend, Kerrie Margroff, and Lin Gonder, and Frances Callis of the resource center. The radio station and restaurant are currently planning the next Trivia Challenge for Charity, which will get underway in the next few months, according to a radio station spokesperson. Any teams interested in playing may submit their names and chosen charities to the station.

Residents Warned Of Apparent Tree-Trim Scam

The Garrett County Sheriff's Office this week has issued a warning to local residents who may be approached by a man offering to trim trees. A man identified as Edwin (or Edward) Evans of Hambleton, W. Va., has apparently gone to area homes offering to trim trees, asking for payment in advance, and then leaving without doing the work.

Evans went to a home on Dennett Road on Sept. 29, according to the police report, and presented a business card advertising E.E. Evans Tree Service. The owner of the residence told the suspect that he had 10 50-foot pines that he would like to have removed. Evans reportedly said he would do the work for $500. When the homeowner hesitated, Evans lowered the amount to $400. The homeowner became suspicious at that point and told Evans that he would think about it.

The suspect then went to a neighbor's home and offered to trim some pines for $150. Evans told the man that he would have to buy a pruner first because his partner had his. The homeowner then gave Evans a check for $150, made out to E.E. Evans Tree Service. Evans left and then returned a short time later stating that the bank would not cash the check. He was then given a new check made out to Edwin Evans.

He apparently then began to trim the trees lightly for a very short time, and then left the residence, stating that he would return the next day. He did not. The suspect apparently went to another home offering to cut trees for $200, but the homeowner refused.

Evans is described as a short male, 30-40 years old, with a thin mustache. He has been operating an orange-red or yellow pickup truck.

Simon To Give Organ Recital At St. Mark's

Dr. Geoffrey Simon, well-known organist of Washington, D.C., will present an organ recital on Friday, Oct. 14, as part of the 27th Annual Autumn Glory Festival. The performance will take place at St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Oakland, beginning at 7 p.m. The recital will be admission-free.

Dr. Simon holds the doctor of musical arts degree from the Peabody Conservatory of the Johns Hopkins University, and is a fellow of the College of Church Musicians. A past dean of the D.C. Chapter of the American Guild of Organists, he currently serves as cantor at the Lutheran Church of the Reformation on Capitol Hill. He is also the conductor of the Library of Congress Choral.

He has performed as organist or conductor throughout the United States and in Europe. In October 1992, Simon played recitals in Leipzig, Germany, and in Warsaw, Poland. The Leipzig program was played on the two organs at the world-famous St. Thomas Church, where Johann Sebastian Bach served as cantor. Dr. Simon is one of the few Americans honored with an invitation to play at this historic church.

The organist last appeared in Oakland nearly a year ago, when he presented a recital at St. Mark's.

Next Friday's program will begin with Bach's Tocatta and Fugue in D minor, followed by pieces by Frescobaldi, Krebs, Bonnet, and Vienne. After intermission, Dr. Simon will play Tocatta from Suite Gothique by Leon Boellmann; Roulette by Seth Bingham, and Comes Autumn Time by Leo Sowerby. The final pieces will be Caprice by Ratchliffe, and Charles-Marie Widor's Tocatta from Symphonie V.

Pa. Man Charged With CDS Violation

An Ebensburg, Pa., man was arrested last Friday and charged with a CDS (controlled dangerous substance) violation by Tfc. G.S. Becker, Maryland State Police, Barrack W. McHenry.

Rennie J. Stoy, 21, operating a red Ford pickup truck on Interstate 68, near the Amish Road, was arrested shortly after 3:15 p.m. The trooper, on lookout for a red Ford pickup truck involved in an armed robbery in Morgantown, W. Va., stopped Stoy's vehicle because it fit the robbery vehicle's description.

Becker reportedly determined Stoy was not the robbery suspect, but a consent search of the vehicle revealed a quantity of suspected marijuana and a brass smoking pipe.

Stoy was initially detained at the Garrett County Jail on $500 bond, but has since been released.

Delaware Campers Charged For CDS Possession By DNR

Two individuals from Lewis, Delaware, were arrested for drug possession by a Department of Natural Resources State Forest and Park Service ranger on Tuesday at the Swallow Falls State Park Campground.

Ranger Michael Cooper entered the campground site of James I. Elder, 34, and Kelly L. Rogers, 22, at 10 p.m. Tuesday and apparently discovered a moderate quantity of marijuana in the possession of the two visitors from Delaware. Elder was cited for possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia, as well as possession of a CDS in sufficient quantity to indicate distribution.

Rogers was charged with possession of the drug and possession of paraphernalia. Both defendants are currently incarcerated in the Garrett County Jail, with bond set at $5,000 for Elder and $500 for Rogers.

The French cook an omelet plain and wrap it around a filling of vegetables, cheese or whatever. The Italians saute vegetables, ham and such, then pour beaten eggs over and cook the whole thing into a big pancake (the top gets broiled). Result: frittata, great for brunch.

There's old-fashioned tuna or salmon salad made with canned fish-- and then there's the absolutely super salad made with freshly grilled fish. Marinate with lime juice and olive oil before broiling, then toss with fresh herbs and vegetables and pour over greens. Try it!

Last call for making pesto, the basil-and-garlic topping for pasta, with the last basil in the garden. Process about 1/3 cup parmesan cheese with 3 cloves of garlic, add 2 cups basil, 1/4 cup pignoli nuts, salt and pepper and enough oil to bind it, and buzz again.

You can substitute regular margarine for butter in most baking recipes (though the taste won't be quite the same), but not low-fat or whipped margarine, which has a higher water content.

Wheeling, W.Va. Man Granted Prob In Dist. Court For Battery Charges

A Wheeling, W.Va. man was granted probation before judgment on a battery charge in Garrett County District Court proceedings last week. Judge Thomas Lohm, retired district court judge, presided in the absence of Judge Ralph M. Burnett.

Robert Mead Jr., 32, was fined $1,050, and placed on 12 months of supervised probation for the offense. Conditions of his probation indicate he must satisfactorily complete a boating course approved by the Maryland Natural Resources Police (NRP). Mead was also found guilty of one count of operating a boat in a reckless manner, and a $200 fine was imposed. In plea agreements with the state's attorney's office, one additional count of battery, one count of operating a vessel in a negligent manner, one count of skimming within 50 feet of another boat, and one count of reckless endangerment were not prosecuted.

Mead had been charged with those offenses by Natural Resources Police after a May 29 incident at Deep Creek Lake, near Patterson Marina. Court records indicate he had been water skiing behind a 19-foot Ski Nautique. Correct Craft owned by his father, when he passed within 50 feet of a 12-foot aluminum skiff occupied by James Hollis and John Delosier. Water apparently sprayed the small boat and the occupants moved the vessel away to avoid further contact.

The occupants of the skiff were reportedly fishing when the defendant returned and, because he was again within 50 feet of the craft, a fishing line hit him. Court records indicate Mead shouted obscenities at Hollis and Delosier, and then boarded the 19-foot boat and took the controls. He then headed toward the skiff at a fast speed, causing a large wave to crash over its occupants. Mead then lined the craft up again and made a return attack, causing another large wave to crash over the two.

As Mead started his third run at the skiff, people on the shore reportedly called for him to stop, and he left. He later admitted to NRP officers that he had charged the skiff, and said they needed to be taught a lesson, and he was the person to teach them one. Mead also reportedly admitted he intended to swamp the small boat because the fishing line had hit him.

In other district court news, Robert A. Handley, 34, McHenry, was granted probation before judgment on his CDS possession conviction. Judge Lohm fined him $50 and placed him on six months of supervised probation for the offense. Conditions of his probation state he must also successfully complete a drug rehabilitation program. An additional charge of possession of CDS paraphernalia was not prosecuted because of a plea agreement with the state's attorney.

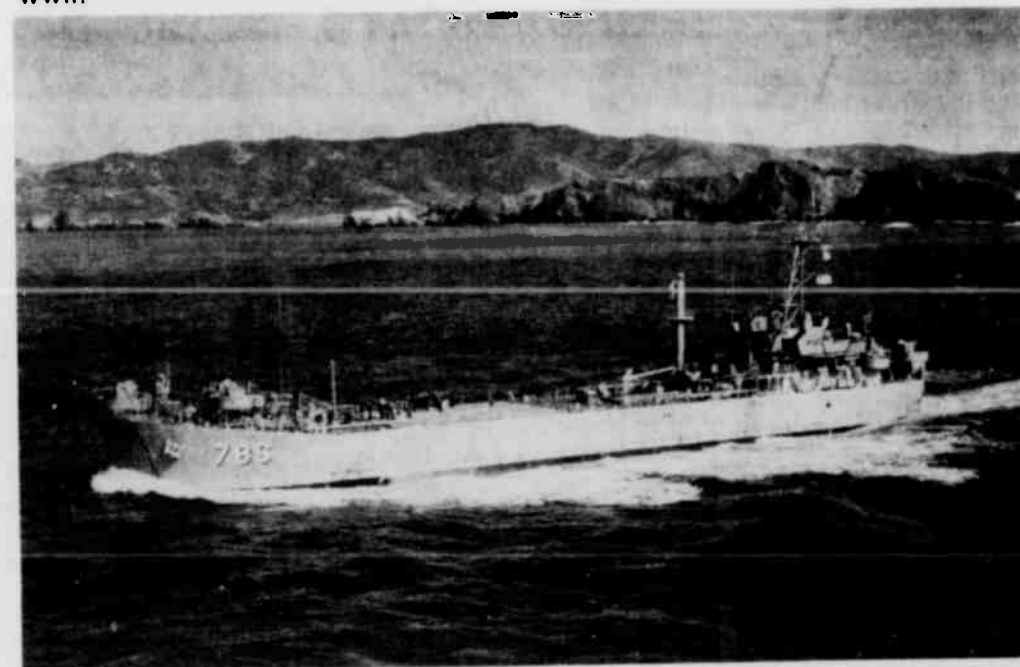

Handley's arrest and conviction stemmed from a July 8 search of his apartment, located above the Stray Cat Cafe, McHenry, by the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force, instigated by Susan Wayt, who also lived there. Wayt reportedly found suspected marijuana and paraphernalia in Handley's clothing while he was out of the state. She then notified the authorities who conducted the search.

A Hagerstown woman was also granted probation before judgment on a CDS possession conviction. Tammy L. Karn, 20, was fined $50 and placed on six months of supervised probation for the offense. A CDS paraphernalia charge was not prosecuted by the state's attorney.

Karn was arrested July 2

U.S.S. GARRETT COUNTY VETS GATHER IN OAKLAND - Veterans who served aboard the U.S.S. Garrett County in World War II converged upon Oakland from all over the United States last week for a reunion. While the ship was not officially named the U.S.S. Garrett County until 10 years after the end of the war, the veterans consider Garrett County to be their "home base" and consider it a fine place to get together. The men and their spouses spent a week in the area, and the Garrett County Museum in Oakland opened for a day so the visitors could view the artifacts and history logged there about the landing ship. Mtn. Lake Park Man Arrested On Sex Abuse Chrgs.

A Mountain Lake Park man has been arrested by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office on charges of second, third, and fourth degree sexual offense, child abuse, perverted sexual practice, and battery, according to a police report.

Robert W. Hinebaugh, 39, was charged with the offenses this week following an investigation by the Department of Social Services. He is accused of sexually abusing a 10-year-old male, according to the report. He was released from custody after posting a $10,000 unsecured bond, according to an office spokesperson.

In other sheriff's office news, a Terra Alta, W.Va., man was arrested on three counts of battery. Robert Sybolt, 32, is accused of accosting a woman in April and October 1992, and in October 1993.

James E. Maule, 65, Crellin, has been charged with reckless endangerment, battery, fourth degree sexual offense, and using a deadly weapon. The defendant is accused of attacking a woman on Sept. 30 at his home.

Maule had allegedly been drinking alcohol at the time, and when the woman was leaving to go home, he grabbed her and threatened her with a butcher knife. She stated that he attempted to rip her clothing, according to the report.

A 41-year-old Oakland man was arrested for battery and malicious destruction of property. Dwayne Ashby is accused of committing the crimes against Patricia DeBerry on Sept. 17, according to the report.

An Oakland man was charged with DWI (driving while intoxicated) last Friday. Gerald A. Coddington, 24, was stopped on Silver Knob Road at approximately 11 p.m.

Robert D. Coleman, 52, Oakland, was charged with DWI after an officer observed him drive off of Rt. 39 and then back on. The arrest took place on Oct. 3 at 10:30 p.m.

A bench warrant was issued for the arrest of Sheila A. McMillen. She allegedly failed to pay a fine of $250 stemming from a DWI case.

Gilbert E. Peterson, 25, York, Pa., was arrested on the strength of two bench warrants last week. He apparently failed to appear in court in 1992.

Eric Upperman, 20, Oakland, was arrested on the strength of a bench warrant charging him with failure to appear in court, according to the police record.

DOP Probed
An Oakland resident contacted the sheriff's office this week to report costly vandalism on her property. Ardra Sharpless told police that someone had apparently used a BB gun to shoot out 24 windows in a shed located on her property.

The damage was done sometime in the past week. The shed is located on Sharpless's Oakland Drive property.

The loss in the case has been estimated at $300, according to the report.

School Bus Stop Decision To Be Made By Board

The Garrett County Board of Education has been asked to overturn an administrative decision concerning a school bus stop on Sand Flat Road that a family has deemed unsafe for their child. James and Angie Stewart issued an appeal of a decision ultimately made by Superintendent of Schools Jerome Ryseavage, and the appeal case was heard at last month's school board meeting. A decision is expected at this month's meeting, scheduled for next week.

In their appeal, the Stewarts explained to board members that a school bus stop that had been in place for seven years was changed in 1991 based on the age of the children boarding the bus at that location. They have asked that the bus stop be reinstated in the original spot, which is located at the corner of their property, because their 5-year-old daughter is now attending school and the walk to the alternative stops - one at the top of a hill .05 miles from the original spot, and one at a church .175 miles down the hill - is too dangerous for a 5-year-old.

The Stewarts video-taped the area and showed the tape to board members. There is no sidewalk nor is there any more than two feet of walking space at the side of the road for the child. Trucks use the route as a bypass and the tape showed several large vehicles most likely surpassing the 45-mile-per-hour speed limit on the road.

Clark Sharpless, director of transportation, did offer an alternative route for the child to walk, which would involve a shortcut through a neighbor's yard, keeping her away from the road. However, the family contends that snow in the winter will block the alternative path completely. The neighbors,

B&E And Theft Cases Heard In Circuit Court

Court cases involving breaking and entering and theft were heard in Garrett County Circuit Court last week with Judge Fred A. Thayer presiding. Two defendants were sentenced to jail time while a pre-sentence investigation was ordered for a third. Thayer also revised a jail sentence for a Terra Alta woman convicted of resisting arrest.

Ray N. Lewis, 36, Silver Spring, was sentenced to 18 months in jail for an earlier conviction of misdemeanor theft. The defendant was found guilty of the charge in an August trial, according to the court document.

Lewis incurred the charge after he apparently stole several automobile tires from Glotfely Enterprises of Oakland. He took 16 tires from the business during the summer of 1993.

Lewis apparently sold some of the tires and kept others for himself. The loss for the business was estimated to be $1,307.

The defendant was also fined $500 and was ordered to pay court costs.

An Owings Mills man pleaded guilty to counts of breaking and entering, theft, and interfering with train signals. Darren D. Reynolds, 25, was sentenced to six months in the Garrett County Jail plus a $200 fine for the first count, 12 months, concurrent to the first sentence, for the second count; and six months more, concurrent, for the third offense. Thayer then suspended the sentence and placed the defendant on two years of supervised probation.

The charges stemmed from an incident in June when Reynolds apparently entered CSX railroad property in Mountain Lake Park that is marked "no trespassing." The defendant allegedly pried the lock off of the tower door, entered, and removed train property worth $450. The items he removed were directly hooked into an active train signaling system, which apparently caused an interference with signals by which the trains were being governed.

In addition to the suspended sentence, Reynolds was ordered by Thayer to pay $306 in restitution to CSX, was fined $200, and was ordered to pay court costs of $265.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered for an

A Shining Example...

For many decades the coal mining companies were labeled as the "bad guys" by environmentalists for their reckless abuse of the land and pollution of so many of our waterways with acidic drainage. In many instances, because of ignorance and/or greed of the mining company operators, the label was appropriate. Billions of dollars have been spent over the past few decades trying to restore and reclaim the raped landscapes and clean up our waters, and the government has cracked down hard on the operators to make sure that the same practices are never allowed again. As with many regulatory agencies, the government has probably gone way overboard with its requirements and regulations; but that's another editorial.

The purpose of this column today is to give credit where credit is most certainly due to the environmental department of Garrett County Mettiki Coal Company, which essentially made history last week with the unveiling of its trout rearing facility. While it seems incredible, these trout are being reared in the discharge water from the coal mines; water that for so many years, because of its extremely low pH level, would support no life whatsoever, let alone a trout.

Not only are trout surviving in this treated water, but they are thriving, showing more rapid growth than those in conventional rearing stations because the water is oxygenated and remains the same cool temperature year-round. These trout are being raised for the Department of Natural Resources and will be used to stock waterways throughout the state, much to the delight of thousands of anglers.

The management, the water treatment plant staff, and particularly the environmental coordinator of Mettiki, Jim Ashby (an Oakland native), are to be commended for their efforts on this unique project. Not only will it enhance the trout rearing program of the DNR, but more importantly it sets a shining example for other similar mining companies throughout the entire country on how to drop the "bad guy" image and become real leaders in the protection of our natural resources and the environment. Their research, innovation, and creativity have brought distinction not only to themselves, but also to Mapco, Inc., their parent company, and to Garrett County in general.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I feel it is necessary for me to explain the purpose of my letter to the Garrett County Commissioners and to clarify my intent.

The statement that requested the commissioners to "defer action of any expenditures" should have read "non-budgeted expenditures."

In no way was I attempting to alter the normal practices of the Board of Commissioners in the running of county government and payment of expenses. I was pertaining specifically to the hiring of additional personnel and/or the purchase of new equipment for which funds are not presently available. Further, I requested that, if the commissioners found themselves in a position requiring either of the above, that they at least brief all of the candidates since the ultimate responsibility for payment would lie with the new board.

I certainly hope that the present commissioners would take into consideration the new state monies now available for the purchase of air conditioning of Broad Ford Elementary School, or for any other project.

I also do not want to influence any decision that the county commissioners would make on the purchase of land for the new school or for construction of the school. I have six grandchildren in the Garrett County School System, so I certainly want the best for them and all of the county's students.

I agree with you that the present commissioners are still the commissioners of this county and should continue business as usual.

Sincerely,
Roger Giotfelty

Dear Mr. Giotfelty,

Thank you for these clarifications.

P.S. The above letter should have been published in last week's issue of The Republican, but was inadvertently omitted. We apologize to Mr. Giotfelty for the one-week delay.

To the Editor, and the Employees of Garrett County Memorial Hospital:

Thank you for voting and for the statement you made that we can be a team.

Thank you for opening our eyes to the fact that we are still one -- that we can work together and that we can be one.

Thank you for voting and speaking out to show the truth and trust for working out our problems among ourselves.

Thank you for saying we can put the past aside and go forth from here as a team to provide top quality healthcare for our community.

Thank you for voting for unity. It's not as important what happened, but what we do with it... God bless us, everyone.

Sincerely,
David T. Terlizzi

Back on the morning of May 18 of this year we lost everything we owned when we lost our home to a fire. We would like to say thank you to everyone who helped us, including the Gorman, Oakland, and Bayard fire departments. They tried to save what they could for us. We would like to say

National Fire Prevention Week

by Rebecca DeWitt

The National Fire Protection Association, U.S. Fire Administration, and the International Association of Fire Chiefs report that the United States "has one of the highest fire death rates in the industrial world." October 9-15 is National Fire Prevention Week, and the Garrett County Volunteer Fire and Rescue Association encourages citizens to practice home fire safety.

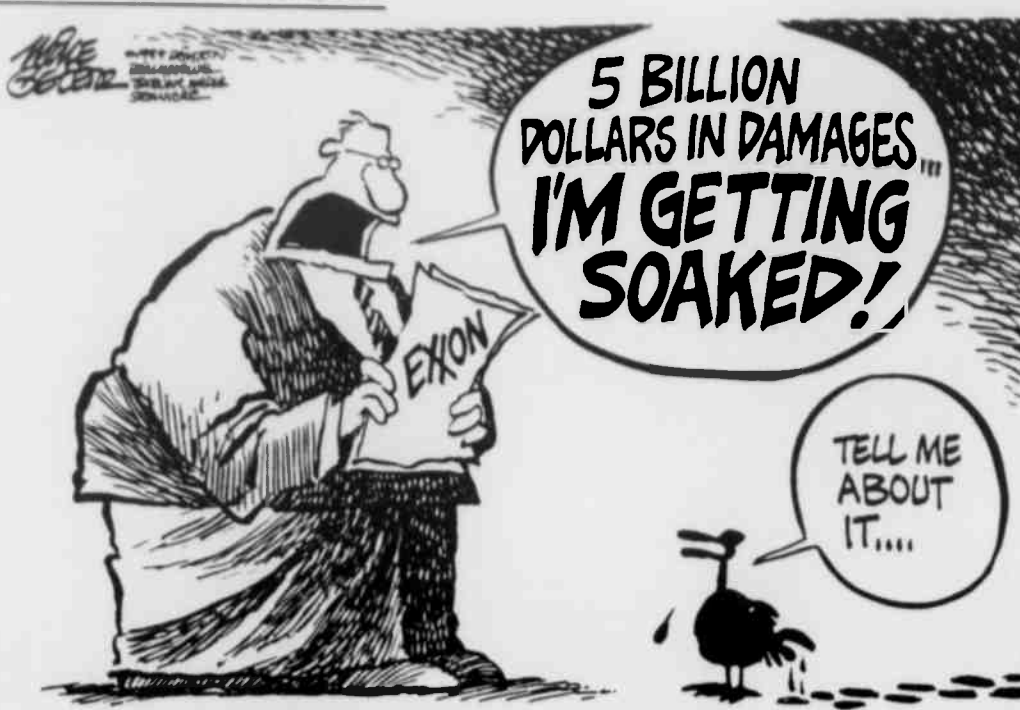

Most fire deaths occur at night, so having properly installed and maintained smoke detectors can wake residents before they are overcome by smoke; it is recommended to test your smoke detector at least twice a year. In the event of a home fire, people should know how to get out. Draw a floor plan of your house indicating two ways out of every room. Make sure there are safe ways to escape from second story windows. Keep flash lights handy, and check their batteries every month. Establish a meeting place outside, and plan to call for help at a neighbor's house. Never re-enter a burning building. Practice exiting your house a few times. Assume that an escape route is blocked and/or the lights are off. Then find another way out. Remember to get out quickly and SAFELY, too.

If you're faced with exiting a smoke filled room crawl on your hands and knees keeping your head low. Before opening doors, check to see if they're hot by feeling them with the back of your hand. If the door is hot, do not open it and find another way out. If the door feels cool, open it cautiously. You may want to consider visibly storing a fire extinguisher in the kitchen, garage, and other potential fire hazard areas.

Remove leaves and brush away from your forest residence, and clean debris from the roof. The idea is to establish a fuel break between your home and a possible fire. Consider installing a spark arrestor on the chimney which should meet NFPA Code 211. Another important part of home fire safety is keeping the chimney clean. It is recommended that chimneys be inspected and/or cleaned by professionals at least once a year, and avoid burning softwood trees. Do not allow children to play with matches and lighters, and teach them to tell an adult if someone is playing with fire. Stop, drop, and roll if your clothes catch on fire; shield your face with your hands, too. When emptying ash trays, apply water to butts and ashes before throwing away. Never smoke in bed, and inspect areas where people have been smoking. Cigarettes may fall out of ash trays when unattended.

When using space heaters, like kerosene and electric, allow at least three feet between the space heater and walls, furniture, and any other object. Inspect appliances, extension, and other electric cords for exposed wires or other damage. Damaged electrical cords are a fire hazard, and they should be replaced. Never leave cooking unattended. Turn pot and skillet handles in, and place a lid on pots and skillets if they catch on fire.

If you have any questions, contact your local fire department, or call Becky at 301-453-3375 for a free brochure.

thank you also to the Elks Club for the donation, the House of Hope for all of their help, and the Red Cross.

A lot of people don't realize what it is like to lose everything. But if it weren't for the help of the people of Garrett County, I don't know what we would have done.

We would also like to say thank you to everyone else who gave their time and any other donations. It has meant a lot to us. Thank you, Editor, for letting us to let people know what their help meant to us.

Dear Hot Meals Program, Home Service:

I wanted to thank you all for the lovely, delicious meals I received so efficiently for 2+ weeks when I was homebound following surgery in August.

I was most appreciative of them. They and the staff were very helpful to me.

The gentleman who delivered the meals to me, whose name I always failed to ask, was especially kind, very good and thoughtful. He is to be commended highly for a very excellent job he is doing.

To the Editor:

William Jefferson Clinton, the career politician who has never held a job in the private sector, is at a loss to understand, if you listen to his whining, why nearly two-thirds of thinking Americans (the ones who vote), have no faith in his "compassionate" agenda for their nation, and the world at large. A case in point: Haiti, where we are seeing Clintonian Liberal Imperialism, the colonialism of compassion, dispensing the blood (?) and wealth of the nation in Clinton's own inimitable fashion. Liberal virtue in action! He just doesn't get it, and liberal politicians will ever be thus!

Read my lips, "Mr. New Kind of Democrat", it's deeds, not words that count after the courtship! When you posture in one direction and govern in another, don't whine when the voters recognize your deceit. What you are thunders over you so that thinking Americans cannot hear anything you say to the contrary. You and your fellow "Arkansas Travelers," have grossly misjudged the intelligence, and the forbearance, of the voting public. Democrat politicians generally, and the party itself, will pay dearly in the next two elections for allowing you to devise a national strategy based on stealth, disingenuous posturing and blatant misrepresentation of the facts... at public expense. It probably would have worked in an earlier time. But not now! We, the people, have been too long abused by our so-called "servants" in both parties; only one of which, so far, seems to have gotten the message... or at least pretends they have. In all honesty; what we have received to this point from our "Ruling Class", for that's what we have made of our career politicians, we truly deserve.

We all must change!

The bright line of unacceptability is clearly crossed when any politician even flirts with the idea of trading human lives, for which he/she is totally responsible as commander-in-chief, for political gain. Anyone capable of adding two plus-two, and arriving at the sum of "four," knows that is the exact extrapolation linking Clinton, the "Black Caucus," and his ill-advised decision to commit this nation's youth and treasure to Haiti.

The Black Caucus is attempting to throw an American "welfare net" over seven million destitute blacks; perhaps with the far-fetched notion of making Haiti the 51st state, since their Washington, D.C., adventure is doomed to failure. But then, the rest of us must consider, they've got a lot of catching up to do. They are less than twelve percent (12 percent - believe it!) of the population, and the ethnic Spanish-speaking migrants who cross our borders illegally in droves daily will soon surpass blacks as the largest single minority in the country. Talk about the tail wagging the dog! This is a graphic example of what our career politicians are doing to us. Keep in mind, the Black Caucus does not even adhere to the priorities of the vast majority of black Americans. But even this anomaly is just the tip of the iceberg where "professional politicians are concerned!"

The voters, those of us who care what happens to this country, must make it clear to our elected "servants" this November 8th that we are considerably more intelligent than they, and the media, seem to think we are. Duplicity, where the lives of young Americans are concerned, is the last straw!

A good rule of thumb to at least consider before you pull that lever in the voting booth on November 8th is that career politicians, incumbents, if you will, are, generally speaking, the problem; not the solution. The applicable rule here is: do they consistently vote for what is good for the country/state as a whole, or do they project an image of a bearer of pork - for themselves, their constituents and/or special interests! They are all un-alterably corrupt!

Respectfully yours,
Ronald R. Rowan

Woodmen of the World, Lodge 11, Crellin, presented a plaque to be placed in the safety center's lobby, in recognition of retired state troopers who served in Garrett County. He also presented a three-pole flag set featuring the American, Maryland and Garrett County flags.

During the dedication, House Speaker Taylor said, "I think we should congratulate the citizens of Garrett County for receiving the first multi-purpose public safety center in the state... It represents progression to where law enforcement generally is going to be superior, and the job is going to get done better, and quicker, and everyone is going to work closer together. I hope we can duplicate this kind of effort throughout the state."

Governor Schaefer, Delegate Edwards and former state Senator John Bamachus were praised for recognizing the need for the new public safety center and making it a reality. Others instrumental in seeing the project to completion were Secretary Martin, contractor Edward D. Wilburn, and Lt. Hinant for the day to day plans and preparations.

In his remarks during the dedication, the governor noted the importance of having such a center, and stated, "I'm glad this build-

View From My Window

by Jeffrey Wilson

Where would we be without Columbus? I love Columbus Day. Granted, it does not have the religious meaning of Christmas or Easter or the sense of a national festival that Independence Day and Thanksgiving possess. It is a hard to sing songs or write poetry about this holiday. The potential for dressing up in costumes is limited. All the same, I do love Columbus Day. Each year I find myself pondering its deeper significance.

Where would we be without Columbus? Thinking about that question is a little like meeting an old girlfriend or boyfriend of one's parents. You know, the ones they might have married, but didn't. The answer is, I would not exist. Or, if I existed, I would be the result of only half the genes which make me who I am.

The question about Columbus is, of course, not just about him. After all, had Columbus as a person not discovered the western hemisphere, someone else would have. Without a doubt, that moment in history had arrived. So the question really is, what if nobody had discovered the western hemisphere?

A few weeks ago the news was full of stories about the United Nations conference on population. To hear the experts talk, one would think that over-population is a new story. It isn't. By 15th century standards, Europe was bursting at the seams back in the 1490's. There wasn't enough land or enough opportunity. Despite wars and plague, people multiplied faster than the resources. Something had to happen.

The thing that did happen was Columbus sailing the ocean blue. As a result, foods like tomatoes, corn, and potatoes became staples in Europe and food like wheat and barley could be grown in the new world where land seemed limitless. Another result was that Europeans, instead of killing each other over the available resources, could travel to the western hemisphere and there make their own opportunities.

Some critics of the Columbian discovery of America would say that Europeans only traded the certainty of killing each other for the opportunity to kill the aboriginal peoples in the western hemisphere. I would argue that the genocide of aboriginal peoples was as unnecessary as it was horrible. No one can deny that such genocide did take place, and that all of us who live in this hemisphere live with consequences of that genocide even today.

Had Columbus not (nor anybody else, either) sailed the ocean blue, most of us would be living in Europe, some in Africa, others in Asia. The peoples of those three continents had long known of each other. The European expansion of the 16th and 17th centuries would, necessarily, have pushed into Africa and Asia. If we want to imagine the results of that, we should think of South Africa, and expand it. In all likelihood, Africans would either have been subjugated or killed, and Africa would be run today by people of European origin.

Another possibility is that Europeans would have pushed eastward into Asia. The Christian-Moslem conflict which had begun in the crusades, and which continued in a Moslem counter-attack on Europe, would have intensified. Ferdinand and Isabella, who financed Columbus and his exploration, spent much of their reign driving Moslems out of Spain. Without the outlet of the new world, Christian and Moslem cultures would have fought to the death of one and possibly of both.

In a world, had Christopher Columbus not found the new world, war and genocide would probably have taken place anyway, only in a different direction. So we would still have had all the negative results of the European expansion into the western hemisphere without any of the benefits. It is hard enough to feed the world as things are; the job would have been considerably harder without corn, potatoes, and tomatoes.

As for each one of us personally, without Columbus we might be living in Europe, in one of the many countries of our forebears (for me, take your pick; England, Scotland, Ireland, France, Germany). We might also be living in Africa or Asia. I might be a Moslem instead of a Christian. And there would be no French fries with catsup, no corn on the cob and sliced tomatoes, and on and on.

I do not dwell on the "what ifs" of life, but I do pause to consider them. Thinking about how things might have been help me to attend to the things that are. I realize again what wealth stands at my daily disposal, what opportunities crowd around me. I cannot be sure of what would have happened had Columbus not sailed, but I am surely glad he did.

Two Students To Be Honored By State Commission

Two local high school students will be among Maryland's top high school scholars to be honored during a day of activities at The John Hopkins University on Saturday, Oct. 8. The students were selected as part of the state's Distinguished Scholars program, sponsored by the Maryland Higher Education Commission.

To be honored as finalists from Garrett County are Amber L. Close, Northern High School student, and Richa Bhatnager of Southern High School. The young women will be eligible for the $3,000-a-year scholarship for four years if they choose to attend college within Maryland.

Dr. Freeman A. Hrabowski III, president of the University of Maryland Baltimore County, will address the students and their parents on Saturday. All finalists and semi-finalists, as well as Maryland's National Merit and National Achievement Semi-Finalists are invited to the event. During the afternoon, students will have the opportunity to meet with representatives of colleges and universities. The recognition ceremony will begin in Shriver Auditorium at 3 p.m.

"Dollar for dollar, this is one of the best programs in the state," said Governor William Donald Schaefer. "It offers a $12,000 incentive for some of Maryland's most talented high school students to go to college in Maryland. That in turn challenges our colleges and universities to excel and makes it more likely that these students will remain in Maryland after they graduate from college."

Scholarships are awarded for both artistic talent and academic achievement. Budgeted for $4.2 million, the program will provide scholarships to 350 students in the 1995 high school graduating class. More than 3,100 students applied for the scholarships this year. Awards will be offered initially to the 360 academic finalists and 75 artistic finalists.

To be eligible for consideration for an academic award, students must have an unweighted grade point average of 3.7 or higher.

ROTARY OFFICIAL VISITS OAKLAND - The Rotary Club of Oakland recently hosted a visit by Rotary District Governor Carl Flohr, Chambersburg, Pa., who praised the Oakland club for its record of service to the community. Oakland Rotary's Garrett County Fair french fry booth grossed over $108,000 in sales during the past four years, with the net profit of $60,000 being given entirely to rotary projects and local charities. Pictured above, left to right, Oakland Rotary Club President David Moe presents a club flag to Flohr.

Matthew's GROCERY

Students are ranked on the basis of GPA and performance on the Scholastic Aptitude Test. Talent competitors must submit a portfolio for evaluation by, or audition before, a panel of professionals.

Several other local students applied for the scholarships and received honorable mention for their efforts. They were Southern students Jenny L. Reams, Kellie D. White, Johanna D. Wilson, and Maryann L. Wolfe. Those receiving honorable mention from Northern High were Ellida J. Schofield, Jennifer W. Smith, and Kerry J. Murray. Murray was the only student in the artistic talent category (visual art). All other local students competed in the academic achievement category.

Cases Heard

Oakland man accused of theft crimes. Shawn A. Meadows, 20, pleaded guilty to misdemeanor theft, burglary, and felony theft. Bail was continued pending the sentencing hearing.

Meadows allegedly entered a Ski Harbor apartment owned by Robert A. Mair on June 6 of this year. The defendant then removed a VCR, microwave oven, a compact disc player, bedding, a telephone answering machine, two pairs of skis, and other items. The loss in the case was placed at $2,478. Several of the items were later found at a Morgantown apartment rented by Meadows, according to the court report.

Thayer granted a sentence revision to a Terra Alta, W.Va. woman last week. Nancy J. Delauder, 30, was serving a three-year prison term for resisting arrest. Her request for a revision resulted in the three-year commitment being reduced to 18 months. The remaining time will be served in the local jail, according to the court document.

Delauder was originally arrested after an October 1993 traffic stop when she was cited for driving while intoxicated. She allegedly became physically and verbally abusive to the arresting officer, which led to the resisting arrest charge.

Thayer ordered Delauder to be on three years of supervised probation following her release. She was granted 105 days credit for time already served.

Cumberland Artists To Show At GCC

The Bausch & Lomb Art Gallery of Garrett Community College will exhibit the artworks of two women artists from Cumberland Oct. 8-28.

The exhibit, titled Transitions, will include watercolor paintings by Ann Townsell, a graduate of Frostburg State University, and the ceramic work of Sharon Smith Thompson, a graduate of West Virginia University.

Gallery hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday and during other events in the evenings. An opportunity to view the works and meet the artists is planned for the opening reception on Saturday, Oct. 8, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. The event will be open to the public.

small smoking pipe, resulting in her arrest.

Chris Wakefield, 18, Oakland, had one count of battery placed on the stet docket, at the request of the complainant, Jason Hale. The charge stemmed from a July 4 altercation at Broadford Park.

Michael C. Holmstadt, 22, Cumberland, was granted probation before judgment on a battery conviction in Judge Lohm's court. He was fined $550 and placed on 12 months of supervised probation for the offense. Two counts of trespassing and one count of fourth degree sexual assault were not prosecuted because of plea agreements with the state's attorney.

Court records indicate Holmstadt had been arrested on the strength of a warrant after a June 18 incident when he reportedly trespassed on private property belonging to Kathy S. Patton, who said the defendant followed her into her home, apparently under the pretense of selling books.

Patton said she called her mother-in-law and asked her to call the police. Holmstadt had followed her into the kitchen and started telling her about the books, and then reportedly asked if she thought he was good looking. He then put his hand on her leg. In the meantime, Patton received calls from her mother-in-law and from the police, and the defendant left. She reported the police arrived a short time later and began searching for the defendant.

An Oakland man was not prosecuted on two separate counts of breaking and stealing, one count of petty theft, and one count of felony theft, after two incidents in July investigated by Oakland City Police.

Curtis L. DeWitt, 21, was charged with the first offense on July 8, after he reportedly broke into Fox's Pizza Den on Liberty Street and stole a cash box containing $275 in cash. The cash box was valued at $25. Then, on July 29, charges of breaking and stealing and petty theft were imposed after he reportedly broke into a storage building on the Center Street Playground and stole four cases of Pepsi.

James J. Dean, 31, LaVelle, Pa., and Mary A. Daniels, 26, Clarksville, were each granted probation before judgment on their CDS possession charges. Judge Lohm imposed $150 fines and placed each on six months of supervised probation. Additional charges of possession of CDS paraphernalia against the pair were not prosecuted. Their charges stemmed from a June 3 incident at Swallow Falls State Park. Park rangers there were reportedly enforcing quiet hours when they noticed a corn cob pipe, typically used when smoking marijuana, and subsequently arresting Dean and Daniels on the CDS charges.

Charges of trespassing and obscene use of the telephone against Gary Ashby, 21, Oakland, were placed on the stet docket, at the request of the complainant. The charges stemmed from a June 21 incident involving Rachel A. Nine.

DWI CASES

Several DWI (driving while intoxicated) cases were heard recently in Garrett County District Court.

Scott Alan Turner, 37, Pa., pleaded not guilty, but was found guilty of DWI. The judge handed him a 60-day suspended sentence, fined him $150, and placed him on 12 months of supervised probation for the offense. Turner's arrest by Maryland State Police was on May 15.

A bench warrant was issued for Jeffrey Ervin Cosner, 27, Md., who was found to be in violation of probation from his DWI conviction. Cosner's bond was forfeited and all original conditions of his probation re-imposed. The judge also ordered him to complete an alcohol education course. His arrest for DWI by Garrett County Sheriff's Deputies was in April 1988.

A bench warrant was also issued for Eric James Upperman, 20, Md., who failed to appear for his hearing. His bond was forfeited. Upperman had been charged with being under the age of 21 with an alcohol concentration over .02.

John Edward Hsey, 54, Md., had his DWI charge amended to DUI (driving under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs). He was given a 30-day suspended sentence, fined $300, and placed on 18 months of supervised probation. His arrest for the offense by NRP was on June 25.

A violation of probation charge was imposed against Larry Wayne Maust, 29, Accident. The judge revoked a probation before judgment charge and re-imposed a guilty verdict against the defendant. His probation was then terminated and no further sentence was imposed.

David Lee Livengood, 52, Md., was convicted on a DWI charge and handed a 60-day suspended sentence. The judge also imposed a $550 fine and placed him on two years of supervised probation. A two-year alcohol restriction was also placed on his license. His arrest for the offense by MSP was on March 25.

In a sentence revision hearing last week, Debra Lynne Failing, 37, Pa., was granted probation before judgment. She had been stopped by state police in November 1993.

Edwin E. Heffelfinger, 45, was found guilty of DWI. He was given a 30-day suspended sentence, fined $350, and placed on one year of supervised probation. He had been charged by sheriff's deputies on July 4.

Bus Decision

Henry and Betty Stewart (no relation to appellants) were also in attendance at the meeting and concurred with the appellants' statement.

Also in attendance was Paul Ludwig, also a neighbor, who is a retired police officer. He testified that the snow drifts deeply along the roadway, and that the trucks rarely obey the speed limit.

"That road is too dangerous to force anyone to walk along it, let alone a little girl," Ludwig said. He suggested that the speed limit be reduced to 25 miles per hour in an attempt to slow traffic. Beverly Murphy, board president, noted that the education board does not have the authority to post speed signs.

In defense of the administration's decision, Sharpless explained that the requested stop is at the bottom of a hill, and his main concern was traffic cresting the hill may not be expecting a bus stop there and that the drivers may lose control and hit a stopped bus. He, too, cited the excess speed of many drivers on the road, and maintained that the stop would be too dangerous because drivers would not see the stop until they were upon it. He stated that he has had several persons look at the site, including Ryscavage, and they have agreed with his position.

The Stewarts stated that in the years that it was a stop, the location worked well and there were no reported accidents. Currently, Mrs. Stewart is transporting her daughter to school.

Going Smokeless Does Not Stop Health Risk

People who use smokeless tobacco -snuff- may believe they are exposing themselves only to the risk of mouth cancer. Not so, according to a study of over 135,000 male construction workers. Over a 12-year period, 440 of the 6,297 snuff users died - 220 from heart problems. These men were about one and one-half times more likely to die of heart problems than men who did not use snuff. Cigarette smokers had two and one-half times more risk as compared to nonsmokers.

Achievement Day For Homemakers Set For Oct. 12

The Garrett County Extension Homemakers will hold their Achievement Day at the Bittinger fire hall next Wednesday, Oct. 12.

Registration will be from 9:30 to 10 a.m. and the meeting will follow. The event will be hosted by the Meadow Glade Club. All homemaker club members are invited to attend.

Charlotte Beck, of Garrett County Memorial Hospital, will present a program on how to maintain flexibility in the body via exercise movements. President Opal Fazenbaker will address the group on present and future matters concerning the organization.

Also on the agenda will be the presentation of awards for each club's Homemaker of the Year, perfect attendance, and recognition of those bringing new members. Installation of officers and a show of appreciation for outgoing officers will also be held.

The drawing for the homemaker quilt raffle will be held. Chances are still available and may be purchased that day prior to the drawing.

Each club will bring a centerpiece for the tables and they will be given away as prizes. All members are also asked to supply a covered dish.

Homemaker Week is Oct. 9-15.

Southern GOP Women Discuss Voter Apathy

Voter apathy was one of the topics of conversation at the September 27 meeting of the Southern Republican Women's Club.

Statistics from the Board of Supervisors of Elections show that only 6,886 of the county's 12,588 registered voters (55%) voted in the September 13 primary election.

The club issued a reminder to those who remain unregistered that they may register up through October 11 for the 1994 general election. Forms are available at the Elections Office in the Courthouse and at the Re-publican Party Headquarters, located in the former Cee Dee Restaurant at the intersections of Routes 219 and 135, Oakland.

Information from the 1990 census, as prepared by the Maryland Office of Planning in May 1991, shows that, at that time, Garrett County had approximately 20,518 persons old enough to vote. A spokesperson for the club stated,

"We believe that participation in the election process is one of the most important duties of citizenship. It is disturbing that slightly more than 61% of the people in Garrett County who have the right to vote are even registered and that only 55% of those actually voted in September. That's one-third of the people making the decisions. We urge all voters to get out on November 8."

Applications for absentee ballots are also being distributed by the Board of Supervisors of Elections. Requests for an application can be made in person, in writing, or by telephoning 334-1962. Applications are due to the Board office by November 1. Absentee ballots must be received by 8 p.m. on Election Day.

Painting For Seniors Courses Offered By GCC

Two Painting for Seniors courses are being offered by the Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College this semester. The main focus of instruction will be oil painting.

The first class will meet Mondays from 9 a.m. until 12:15 p.m. This class will meet for four weeks from Oct. 10-31, at the Flowery Vale Senior Center in Accident.

The next class is scheduled for Nov. 11-Dec. 2. This class will meet on Fridays from 9 a.m. until 12:15 at the Mary Browning Center, Oakland.

Maryland senior citizens, persons 60 years of age or older, may attend this course tuition free, but will be charged a $12 fee. They must also supply their own materials, which includes a canvas panel about 18-by-24 inches, oil paints, brushes and pencils. A fee of $15 plus materials will be charged for others wishing to enroll.

For more information, persons may call Patricia Baer, associate program director at the college, at 334-8304, or 387-3069.

DCL Lioness Club Convenes

The regular meeting of the Deep Creek Lake Lioness Club was held Sept. 27 at Garrett Community College. Attending were 12 members and one prospective member, Sheila Tedesco.

Gail Miller will serve again this year as chairperson of the club's Autumn Glory activities. A food booth will be set up at the Dennett Road School on Sept. 15 and 16. On the menu will be hot dogs, sloppy joes, barbecued ham, doughnuts, coffee and soda.

A "thank you" will appear in The Republican thanking all the business people who donated to the Basket of Cheer raffle based on the Sept. 3 Lottery number. Marge Funk was the winner of the basket. Club president Janet Davis thanked all who put time and effort into this project.

Chairperson for the annual Christmas party, which the Lioness Club will share with the Deep Creek Lake Lions, will be Marie McCarty. Also serving on the committee will be Gail Miller, Jane Frawley, and Goldie Shugars.

Goldie Shugars, chairperson of the Christmas Giving project, reported that she has asked Community Action to supply names of five needy families. Also serving on this committee are Janet Davis and Marie McCarty.

A check was recovered from the Deep Creek Lake Lions Club for the members' participation in their annual Boat Party.

The Strides Against Cancer project with Lioness Agnes Franz participating received $200 in pledges.

The Lionesses are also preparing another shipment to send to the Sight Conservation Committee. Old glasses and hearing aids are being requested. These may be brought to the Lioness meeting. Persons may call 387-5814 to have their do-

GARRETT HOSTS UKRAINIAN FARMERS - A group of Ukrainian agriculturists recently visited Garrett County as part of a two-month tour of the U.S. organized by Cross-currents International Institute. The Ukrainians crossed the Atlantic to learn techniques of American agriculture and methods of agri-business in a free market system. The visitors hope to put these concepts into practice in their homeland. Miroslava Rozdolskaya, who heads the Ukrainian delegation, remarked, "I can see with what great interest the members of our group absorb the information they hear and see, how quickly they pick up the seeds of ideas in order to plant them in Ukrainian soil." Lioness Edie Weiland, who recently underwent surgery, is reported to be doing well. Vaughan Vitez, husband of Lioness Phyllis Vitez, is also reported to be recovering following a plane accident.

In the last several months, the Lioness Club has made donations to the Lutheran Braille Workers, Accident Library for large-print Reader's Digest, Society to Prevent Blindness, Strides Against Cancer, Candy Days, and Salem Trust.

The next Lioness Club meeting will be held Oct. 25, at 7 p.m. at Garrett Community College.

O'Connell Home Will Be Among Those On Tour

The Victorian home of Mike and Becky O'Connell, located at 102 S. Sixth Street, Oakland, will be among five homes featured on the annual holiday house tour sponsored by the Garrett County Chapter of the American Red Cross, slated for December.

Originally a three-story home, the third floor was destroyed by fire a number of years ago and was never rebuilt. For many years the structure served as the rectory of the Episcopal Church. It has undergone a number of renovations over the years, including the addition of a large game room with cathedral ceiling and stone fireplace in the 1960s, contrasting the Victorian architecture of the original house.

The house, which will be decorated for Christmas in time for the tour, is furnished with an eclectic mix of antique and contemporary furniture.

One of the more interesting features of the house is the dining room, which is painted red, a decision Mrs. O'Connell blames on her "temporary insanity" resulting from her first winter in Garrett County (1993). The five large windows in the room are free of draperies so that as much sunlight as possible can come into the room.

The O'Connells are also presently restoring the old Anderson Chapel in Swanton, with hopes of opening an antique shop there within a year.

Other homes on the 1994 ARC tour will be featured in coming issues of The Republican. Tickets for the house tour will be available at pharmacies in Oakland, Deep Creek Lake, McHenry, and Grantsville.

Local Author To Sign Books

Esther Bender, a teacher in the Garrett County School System and author of a children's book titled Katie and the Lemon Tree, will be available at K's Korner along U.S. Rt. 40 just east of Grantsville on Sunday, Oct. 16, to sign copies of her book.

Persons are invited to visit there between the hours of 1 and 4 p.m. to have their books signed by Mrs. Bender.

The book has been described by the Provident Readers Club as follows: "Ideal for ages 8 through 12, this delightful illustrated book provides fascinating historical fiction that all ages will enjoy."

Residents Recall WWII During Community Forum

by Joan B. Crawford

A history of World War II told by people who were there in Europe, in the Pacific, and on the homefront in Garrett County came vividly alive last week at the Community Forum, second in the year-long series of programs being presented by Garrett Community College to commemorate the final year of that war. For two hours the audience heard community residents tell "how it was" and share their memories, some of which had been too painful to discuss for many years.

Paul Shogren, coordinator of the World War II Commemoration, introduced the program by giving an overview of the beginnings of the war.

Polly Hant remembered how life in Garrett County changed rapidly during the early '40s, as many men went to war and others including her late husband, formed a defense organization called the Minute Men to protect their homes and families against a possible invasion. She told of the ration coupons needed to purchase food and gasoline, the victory gardens where people grew much of their own food, the clothing and sheets made from feed-sacks, and the strong feeling of togetherness in the community.

"It was an exciting time for homemakers," Hant said. "We all did things we didn't know we could do and learned to be productive people. Our children never had the fears of war, even though there were great tragedies all around us as friends and neighbors lost loved ones. Living through those war years was an experience I have never gotten over. I still save everything."

A familiar WWII veteran, Charles McIntyre of Mtn. Lake Park, related some of his experiences fighting with the Third Armored Division in Europe. McIntyre landed on the Normandy beach two days before D-Day and was the first man to climb the cliff at Point du Hoc. His outfit fought all the way across France to the Elbe River and was trapped in December 1944 at the Battle of the Bulge. He told how on Christmas night 400 of them blackened their faces, hid their helmets, swam the river and crawled single file through the German artillery positions. He also told how his outfit liberated three concentration camps and of the atrocities they found there. McIntyre, winner of five Purple Hearts, a Silver Star and two Bronze Stars, brought some of his medals, numerous photographs, and two Nazi flags to display.

Irving Day, Deep Creek Lake, recounted some of his experiences as a bombardier on an 8th Air Force B-24 and later as a prisoner of war in Germany. He told how he and other crew members were up before dawn on mission days, donning their electric suits and sheepskin lined flight jackets, and how they always flew the same route from England to Germany. The commanding general announced the target each day and this allowed the Germans to position their anti-aircraft guns on the flight pattern. On his 25th mission, that fateful day when their bomber was shot down, Day remembered seeing the ack ack shells bursting ahead and knowing it would be bad.

"When we were hit," he said, "I heard the pilot call, 'Pilot to crew: Bail out.' With some help from my wife and a push from God, I got out." Day then told of his experiences as a prisoner of the Luftwaffe where American airmen received somewhat better treatment than other prisoners.

A different perspective of the allied bombings of Germany was presented by Klaus Nielenz, a resident of Alpine Lake, who was a boy in Berlin when the war began. He told how German youth grew into war as a way of life and how when the war ended in 1945 as a 16 year old, he could not understand how his parents did not know about the atrocities being committed. Berlin had been bombed so heavily that his apartment had no windows and no inside walls. Nielenz has lived in America for 35 years and says he has always been treated fairly. He also expresses his gratitude to the brave American soldiers who fought and defeated Hitler's armies, thereby saving Europe and America.

A gripping account of the beginning of the war for the United States was given by James Jackson, Pleasant Valley, who was an ambulance driver at Schofield Barracks in Honolulu when the Japanese bombed Pearl Harbor. Jackson remembers that he had gone to take a shower that Sunday morning and on his way back saw the bombs falling on the barracks. He immediately got to his ambulance and began picking up the wounded airmen. He was sent to Pearl Harbor where he picked up wounded and took them to the hospital all morning. In the afternoon he picked up the dead. That night he watched ships burning as their magazines exploded and said he was never so scared in his life. From Pearl Harbor, Jackson was sent to Guadalcanal, then Vella la Vella, and finally to the Philippines.

At the close of the meeting, Shogren introduced Carolyn McKinney of Meyersdale, Pa., who told about her new book, The Gentle Giant of the 26th Division, written about her uncle, a World War II Congressional Medal of Honor winner.

GCC Library Receives Book About WWII Hero

A box of old letters found in an attic and a strong determination to learn more about her uncle, hero of World War II, led Carolyn McKinney to write the book The Gentle Giant of the 26th Division. McKinney recently presented a copy of the book to the Garrett Community College library.

Subject of the book Cpl. Alfred L. Wilson, Fairchance, Pa., was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor posthumously for his bravery in saving the lives of others at the Battle of the Bulge. McKinney, who never knew her mother's brother, tells how, after reading the letters in 1989, she felt compelled to tell his story. She searched for and interviewed survivors of that battle and other men who had served with Wilson, and traveled to France and Germany to re-trace his experiences of 1944. On Nov. 8 she sat in the field near the little French town Bezange LaPetite where he had been mortally wounded 46 years before.

That day as German artillery shells took their toll among the men of Charlie Company, Wilson was wounded, but continued to help other wounded so that they could be evacuated to the aid station, refusing help for himself, according to the book. He was the last man off the hill and by the time he was

McKinney's book tells the story of the quiet, gentle man who became a medic because he could not kill, and who was loved and respected by all who knew him. The book contains many of the letters to his sister and the author's narratives of his war experiences.

Dear Citizens,

As a ten year veteran of the sheriff's office, I am familiar with the operations of the office. I have been instrumental in establishing D.A.R.E. (Drug Abuse Resistance Education) in our schools. I was the first D.A.R.E. instructor to be in the schools. I have also been instrumental in forming the community crime watch programs currently active in the county.

I am a Certified Maryland Police Officer and a Certified Maryland Police Supervisor; both of these qualifications are completely necessary to provide you, the citizens, the most effective law enforcement at the most effective cost.

Being a life-long resident of the county, I have the knowledge and understanding of the needs of you, the citizens. I will lead the sheriff's office into the 90's and will endure through the good and bad times which may lie ahead.

On election day, think of my qualifications and Maryland Certifications. Also, I would ask you to recognize my endorsements from fellow law enforcement officers throughout the state:

1. Fraternal Order of Police-Maryland State Lodge
2. Fraternal Order of Police-Garrett Co. Lodge #99
3. Maryland State Troopers Association and Lodge #40 Fraternal Order of Police.

Yours Truly,
Corporal Randy Sines

Bayard TOPS Note Weight Loss, Contest Winners

Members of Take Off Pounds Sensibly (TOPS) #WV411, Bayard, met during July and August and note the following contest and weight loss winners:

JULY
The club conducted a Picnic Basket Contest, with winners receiving baskets full of picnic supplies for low calorie summer picnics. Division A winner was Margaret Guthrie; Division B, Edana McDaniel; Division C, Mystery Member; and Keep Off Pounds Sensibly (KOPS), Mystery Member.

Best weekly losers during the month were: Dora Parrish, July 6; Myrtle Liller, July 13; Edana McDaniel, July 20; and Margaret Guthrie, July 27. The monthly best loser was Margaret Guthrie, and Armeda Townsend received her seventh Like and Bike Award for walking 100 miles.

Several local members attended TOPS 1994 International Recognition Days (IRD) in Charleston, W. Va. More than 3,500 TOPS members from the U.S., Canada and overseas were on hand to honor others who accomplished weight loss during 1993. More than 300,000 members in 11,500 chapters lost 887 tons, with West Virginia's 4,775 members losing more than 14 tons.

A member of the Bayard TOPS, Dolores Hutzel, received her KOPS diploma during the IRD. Hutzel lost more than 20 pounds and reached her goal weight during October 1993, and since that time, she has maintained her weight loss.

The theme of the TOPS 1994 IRD was "The Land of AHHHS." Many before and after pictures of the state's best losers, over 100-pound losers, and KOPS alumni.

Parades, Royalty Among Highlights Of 53rd Annual Buckwheat Festival

An estimated 120,000 people enjoyed the sunny skies, and warm fall weather that prevailed during most of the 53rd Annual Preston County Buckwheat Festival last week in Kingwood. Temperatures remained fall-like throughout the four-day event, with the only rain falling Saturday evening just after dark.

Thursday evening's Firemen's Day Parade boasted more than 100 units from Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, Ohio, and West Virginia. Bands receiving trophies for their performances included: high school - Albert Gallatin, Class AAA; Southern High School, Class AA; and Carmichael's, Pa., Class A; junior high - West Preston; and adult band - the Terra Alta Community Band.

Fire departments receiving awards were: North Union, Pa., best pumper; Westover, best mini pumper; Cheat Lake, best tank truck, 1,000 gallons or more; Point Marion, Pa., best equipped brush fire fighting unit; Oakland, Md., best fire department with two or more units; and Maestros, Pa., best fire department rescue unit.

The Waynesburg, Pa., fire department received an award for having the oldest restored antique fire apparatus in the parade; and the most authentically restored antique fire apparatus award was presented to the Oakland VFD. A large crowd gathered under sunny skies for Friday's School-Community Day coronation of Queen Ceres III and King Buckwheat III on Central Preston Junior High School's football field. Amber King, daughter of Gene and Connie King, Kingwood, and Scott Wolford, son of Kermit and Peggy Wolford, Rowlesburg, received their crowns from coronation official Don Wilcox, director of bands at West Virginia University.

Following the ceremony, the king and queen, along with maids of honor Kristina Gregg and Shanda Reynolds, the senior princesses and their escorts, the junior princesses, and the children's court boarded their floats and joined the gigantic parade down the streets of Kingwood. Saturday's Farmer's Day Parade, like its predecessors, featured bands and floats, but added the winners of the livestock judging: grand champion market steer, Kirby Clark; reserve champion steer, Adam Hayes; grand champion market hog, Rodney Childs; reserve champion market hog, Lauren Beeghly; grand champion market lamb, Travis O'Brien, and reserve champion market lamb, Mistie Snider. The Huskies will have to be focused this Friday night if they hope to defeat their cross-county rivals, the 3-1 Southern Rams, who are extremely hungry for a win over the Huskies after losing to them the past two the fourth straight week and is pictured above about to collide with a Tucker defender. Also identifiable in the photo for the Huskies (1-3) is #76, David Schofield. The Huskies will face another tough opponent this Friday night in Oakland in the Southern Rams.

"In some of our alignments, these two guys will literally be facing each other, which should really be interesting," he said.

A Raider fumble in the first quarter set up the Jets' first touchdown, as Jordan Uphold recovered the loose ball on the Raider 15-yard line. Jason Bowers carried the ball into the end zone on the first play to give the Jets a 6-0 advantage.

Still another interception stopped the next Raider drive, as Justin Liller stole a pass from Cannon, giving possession to the Jets on their own 34-yard line. Bosley broke through the middle of the Raider defense on the next play and scampered 66 yards for the final touchdown.

The fourth quarter was suspended because of lightning.

The Jet coaching staff praised the efforts of their offensive linemen, including Mike Pamepinto, Tracy Riley, Eric Rexrode, Andrew Rickman, Eric Archer, and John Hayhurst. Defensive standouts for the Jets were: Nathaniel Panther, Lenny Ford, Jeremy Hayhurst, and Chris Warfield.

Leading the Raider defense were Dolan, Coddington, Chris Williams, Todd Tasker, and Jesse Black.

The Jets and Raiders will face each other again this Sunday afternoon in the Rams Take Control In Fourth Quarter To Defeat Hampshire

After a low-scoring, defensive struggle through three quarters Friday night near Romney, W.Va., the Southern High Rams broke an 8-8 tie early in the fourth period and went on to record a 22-8 victory over the host Hampshire High Trojans.

It was the third straight win against one defeat for the Rams, while the Trojans dropped to 1-5 on the season.

The Rams took an 8-0 lead when senior tailback broke loose for a 50-yard touchdown run in the second quarter and Scott Dawson ran successfully for the two-point conversion.

The Trojans knotted the score in the third stanza when John Ansel connected with Doug Riggelman on a 10-yard scoring aerial and then carried the ball across the line himself on the conversion play.

The third period was much like the first, with the Rams controlling the ball most of the time, but unable to put it in the end zone. Then with 11:08 remaining in the game, senior quarterback Jeremy Fitzwater raced 14 yards for a touchdown to give the Rams a 14-8 advantage. The conversion run was no good.

A 10-yard touchdown pass from Fitzwater to Elias Black with just 3:41 to play iced the win for the Rams. Crocco ran for the two-point conversion to conclude the scoring.

The Rams finished with about twice the yardage and twice the number of first downs, as they finished with 317 yards compared to 153 yards by Hampshire and held a 13-7 edge in first downs. All but 27 yards were tallied on the ground by the Rams, while Hampshire had 108 yards through the air.

Dawson finished with 88 yards on 21 carries. Crocco picked up 72 yards on just three carries, and Fitzwater added 50 yards of rushing.

Ansel connected on nine of 16 passes for the Trojans, with Steve Oswood hauling in five of them.

"We knew going in that Hampshire's record was not indicative of the caliber of their team," stated Southern Coach Tom Woods. "The combined records of the five teams that have beaten them is 20-2."

"I thought they had a great game plan against us," he said. "We had worked all week long planning to defend against the double slot offense, and then they went to a power-I. It took us two or three series to adjust."

Woods said his team was "somewhat flat" in the first half, and added, "For some reason, this happens every time we travel to Hampshire."

He said that he believed his team played "exceptionally well" in the fourth quarter and he noted specifically the performances of Paul Berkeridge, Dawson, Crocco.

"Paul ran very well for us, as did Scott and David," he said. "David also played extremely well for us defensively."

He also noted the outstanding downfield blocking of Adam Moomau, Andy Woods, Jason Miller, Jeff Droppelman, and Elias Black.

"These kids are doing a great job and have made the option one of our most effective offensive weapons," he said.

Woods said his team is healthy, with the exception of "some bangs and bruises," and are "extremely anxious" to play their next opponent and county rivals, the Northern Huskies.

The Huskies have won the last two meetings between the two teams after several Ram victories were recorded, and the junior and senior members of Woods' team who were on the squad the past two seasons are hoping to avenge those defeats.

"We are having our most focused week of practice of the entire season this week," Woods said. "They really, really want this win."

The Ram coach is certainly not ready to chalk up a win, however, as he was quick to point out that he expects the "typical Northern-Southern game, when strange things usually happen."

"Both sides can remember seasons when there were major upsets in this game, so we are anticipating another exciting, emotion-filled contest," he said. Woods said he expects the Huskies to be well prepared for the challenge.

"Tom (Vent) has a very young team, but they are showing tremendous improvement," he said. "Offensively, they have found the veer to be their best weapon, and certainly a real threat to us is Brian Heselop."

The junior halfback (6-1, 170) has rushed for over 100 yards in every game this year.

"D.J. Durst (5-11, 165 senior) is also emerging as a very good back for them. Jeremy Brennenman (senior quarterback, 5-11, 160) has improved immensely, and Lee Collins (senior tight end, 6-3, 210) is absolutely one of the best tight ends we have seen all season," Woods said. "And Steve Savage (6-3, 232 senior tackle) is an excellent lineman."

The Huskies are bigger from tackle to tackle than the Rams.

Defensively, Woods believes that Savage and William Spicher (6-0, 225 junior) at the tackle spots and Collins at defensive end are outstanding players on the line.

"Their linebackers are fairly small, but they are very quick, so they do a lot of blitzing," Woods said, "and their secondary also has very good speed."

Woods believes that the Huskies (1-3) have been their own worst enemy most of this season. "They have moved the ball against every team they've played this year, but so many times they seem to get stopped by a fumble, or a penalty, or some other mistake," he said.

Friday's game, which is slated to kick off at 7:30 p.m., will be the 1994 homecoming game for the Rams.

The Southern and Northern freshman and junior varsity teams will also meet each other this evening on the Rams' field, with the freshman game set to get underway at 5:30 and the jayvee contest at 7:30.

Rams Continue To Struggle On Volleyball Court

The Southern girl's volleyball team is continuing to struggle on the court, as the Rams fell to 0-7 this past week with 3-0 losses to visiting Beall on Monday and to host Westmar last night.

The Rams were whipped by the Mountaineers on Monday, 15-6, 15-1, and 15-5, as Rachel Hinsdale and Jennie Malloy recorded 11 and 10 points, respectively, for the winners. Katie Giotfely and Jenny Panther led Southern with four and three points.

The Southern junior varsity was victorious, however, in the preliminary match, rolling to 15-4, 15-0 win. Joy Sister led the Rams with 14 points.

The Ram varsity fared better against Westmar last night in terms of numbers of points scored, but were defeated by scores of 15-8, 15-7, and 15-6. It was the fifth win in seven matches for the Wildcats.

Michelle Andrews scored 16 service points to pace Westmar, while Panther led Southern with eight points.

The Southern jayvees won again in the first match, dropping the first game, 15-9, and then winning the next two, 17-15 and 15-8. Sister again led the Rams with an 11-point effort. Keisha Miller recorded 20 for the Wildcats.

Southern's next opponent will be Oldtown next Wednesday evening in Oakland.

Ram Booters Blanked By BW, Then Record Win Over Huskies

The Southern High varsity soccer team split a pair of games this past week, as the Rams were shut out by host Bishop Walsh last Thursday afternoon, 7-0, and then recorded a 5-1 win over the Northern Huskies Tuesday evening in Oakland. The split left Coach Tom Powers' young team with a 2-6 record, while Coach Tom Ables' squad is still seeking its first win of the season with an 0-8 mark.

BW Spartan Jeff Harbel caused most of the problems for the Rams last Thursday, as he scored four first-half goals, all on assists. His first came about eight minutes into the game off a feed from Todd Robertson. He scored his second less than two minutes later on an assist by Andy Searles.

The Spartans, who upped their record to 7-2 with the win, took a 3-0 advantage at the 21:54 mark when Gus Stern crossed to Harbel. Eight minutes later, Harbel made it 4-0 on a feed from Ryan Nelson.

Robertson, Nelson, and Stern each scored an unassisted goal in the second half.

The Rams were out-shot only by a 17-15 margin and led in corner kicks, 5-3, but could not convert any opportunities. Andy Tichnell recorded 11 saves for BW, while Andrew Granke had nine for the Rams.

The Southern junior varsity team was topped in the preliminary game, 3-0, as Patrick Linan, Andrew Searles, and Mike Bowman each scored a goal for the Spartans. Justin Helbig had nine saves for the Rams, while Nathan Price recorded three for BW (3-3-1).

The Northern Huskies came to Oakland planning to win Tuesday evening's contest, as they held a 1-0 lead most of the first half, and played the Rams close until midway through the second period.

Frederick Oberg put Northern on top 1-0 at the 32:28 mark when he fired a shot past an injured Andrew Granke in the Southern goal. Granke had been hurt moments earlier in a collision and then left the game after Oberg's goal.

The Huskies clung to their lead with a solid defensive effort, as the Rams out-gunned their visitors in the first half by a 21-4 margin. A penalty kick by Derek Spirk with 7:56 remaining in the first half knotted the score.

Matt Sincell broke the tie and gave the Rams the lead for good at the 20:56 mark of the second half when he fired a looping shot from his right forward position off a feed from Kevin Andrews. The Rams stole the ensuing Husky kickoff and, just 12 seconds after Sincell's goal, scored again, this time on a shot by Christian Coviello off an assist by Josh Pressley.

Sincell made it 4-1 when he sent another shot into the net off a feed by Spirk at the 13:50 mark and Coviello also scored his second goal of the night one minute later off an assist by

The Rams led in shots on goal, 59-15, and in corner kicks, 3-1. Joey DiSimone spent some time in goal for the Rams after Granke was injured and then Jim Burns took over. Burns was credited with eight saves, while Chris Elliott and Matt Fritz stopped 21 shots for the Huskies.

Granke, who sustained an ankle injury, was awaiting a report from the hospital as to whether or not he has a fracture.

"We had a week off and really didn't know what to expect out of our kids," stated Coach Ables. "But they played their best game of the season. We let ourselves down with some mistakes, but we really built some confidence even though we lost the game."

The Rams are playing again this afternoon at Salisbury and will host Bishop Walsh next Thursday. Northern will host Hyndman this evening at 7 p.m. and will play at Bishop Walsh on Monday.

A Special Thank You

Words can never express the gratitude we feel toward our friends, neighbors and loved ones for all the cards, phone calls, food and sincere expressions of caring and sympathy during the recent illness and following the death of our wife and mother, Margaret Shank. Especially a heartfelt thank you to the Home Health nurses and aides for their gentle way. They bathed and cared for Mom like she was one of their own. We are all so lucky to have them. Our Hospice friends Judy Wilt, Sharon King, Ida Maust and Gladys Collins who stayed up with us several nights and made our family feel comfortable. Mark Durst and the Southern Rescue Squad who were also very kind and considerate. Last but not least, Don Matthews, not only for the beautiful service, but for all the nights he sat with us and shared his kind words. We love and respect him so much. May God bless you all.

DRUGS FOR SALE

Marijuana, cocaine, crack, and other illegal drugs now available at discount prices.

For some voters this is the only thing drug pushers haven't done - advertise in the newspaper. According to some, there are drug pushers who have been in business for years. Voters are tired of seeing only users prosecuted. They want to see drug pushers charged, convicted, and sentenced as drug pushers.

The current State's Attorney hasn't made any real effort to deal with this problem. In past years, he would start a major program during an election year. This year he didn't even do that.

In the past year the sheriff's department pulled out of the Drug Task Force. Instead of making the sheriff's department participate, he condoned this action. This action can result in dual investigations and disputes between agencies, and could have placed the lives of certain police officers in jeopardy. We can't let this continue!

I pledge to make illegal drug sales a top priority. Garrett County citizens want drugs off the streets and out of our schools now!

Youmans added that the company's market studies had determined "that during the peak building season in this region truss orders are back-logged up to 200 per day making delivery time for the finished product average 3 to 5 weeks during these periods."

On behalf of the Board of County Commissioners, Commissioner John Braskey welcomed New England Truss and Joist into the Northern Garrett Park. "This facility typifies a business which will capture the advantages of our prime location on I-68 and the efficient labor force that we have in Garrett County," Braskey said.

The board of education will likely now request an extension for their purchase option on the site from the current land owner. If granted, this would give the board time to submit an emerging wetland mitigation request to the state Water Resources Authority.

The request, if approved, will enable the education board to exchange one acre of wetland, recently discovered near the center of the site, with an acre of dry land from the edge of the site, and thus permit contractors to construct the school building in the area planned while at the same time not disturbing the wetland habitat. Approval from the WRA could be granted in three to six months.

pioneer took place at the employee's residence. As a result of this incident, the union representative, Timothy Bruce Goines, and the employee, Kimberly Shirer, filed charges against each other in Garrett County District Court.

After the votes were officially tallied last Friday, Rosenthal remarked, "We thank the employees of Garrett County Memorial Hospital for their support of our hospital. Because our employees are integral to the successful operation of our hospital, it has always been important to us to be supportive of their concerns. To improve on this, administration will continue to develop ways to improve communication, to address employee concerns, and work closely with the employees' committee."

"Now that the employees have chosen a union-free work place, [I am] anxious to resume with continuing and improving upon Garrett Memorial's mission of providing state-of-the-art, quality health care to area residents."

of one year to allow residents and businesses to notify correspondents and magazines and to use up stationary and checks with former addresses on them."

The white information packets will be delivered by field crews made up of local residents supervised by MSAG Data Consultants, Inc., Orange, Va., the firm hired by the county to handle rural addressing and other tasks necessary for the implementation of the county 911 system.

"Everyone who receives an information packet should take time to read the official letter of notification and then carefully follow the instructions for answering the questionnaire," Torrington stated. "The information supplied by residents and businesses is required by the telephone company to prepare our county's 911 emergency telephone system."

"Remember, 911 is for your benefit. With 911 service, you and everyone in your family - and everything that you and your family own - stand a better chance of surviving an emergency. That's why these questionnaires are so important."

To be included in the 911 system, residents and businesses must complete the questionnaire and return it within ten days in the postage-free envelope.

"Even persons without telephones are requested to answer and return the questionnaire so that they, too, can be quickly located in case of an emergency," Torrington said.

"We're at a crucial stage in the development of our county's 911 emergency telephone system," Torrington explained. "We're counting on the cooperation of our citizens to help make it a success."

Persons having questions or needing assistance in completing the questionnaire may call the Garrett County Office of Planning and Zoning Monday through Friday, between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., at 334-1920.

Disaster Awareness Day Declared in Md.

Governor William Donald Schafer has declared October 12, 1994 to be "Natural Disaster and Mitigation Awareness Day" in Maryland in support of the International Day for Natural Disaster Reduction. "This is a day for Marylanders to take a look at their lives and find ways to reduce or eliminate the effects that a disaster could have on them in the future," Schafer said.

The International Day for Natural Disaster Reduction is an effort by the United Nations to increase public awareness of natural hazards and what we can do to reduce the impact of those hazards.

"The Maryland Emergency Management Agency is working with the Department of Natural Resources and other departments and agencies to identify areas in the state that are vulnerable and take steps to reduce the potential for damage," said MEMA Director David McMillon.

GCC To Offer "Advertising On A Shoestring"

A new class titled "Advertising on a Shoestring" will be offered this fall at Garrett Community College. Taught by Cathy Clocer, the class will provide business owners, managers, and staff with the opportunity to learn good basic advertising skills.

Participants in the class will learn how to make intelligent choices when placing advertising instead of taking risky gambles, a GCC spokesperson said. Areas that will be covered will include give-aways as a draw, ways to advertise without cash, in-house referral clubs, how to buy newspaper and radio spots wisely, and marketing idea brainstorming.

Mrs. Clocer has been the promotions coordinator for the past three years at Radio Station WKJJ. Recently, she received her radio marketing masters certification. She specializes in marketing analysis and planning advertising campaigns, and broadcasts live specials and feature stories. Since she has spent most of her life in Garrett County and has worked previously in retail, Clocer has personal insight into the problems and needs of local businesses, the spokesperson said.

This class will meet on three Tuesday evenings, from October 25 through November 8, from 6:30 until 9:45 p.m. at the McHenry campus of GCC. Persons may call Ruth Pinter or Sandy Major at 387-3080 to obtain information on the class. Registration can be made through the Continuing Education Division.

Oakland High Grads Convene To Celebrate 60th Anniversary

The 60-year reunion of the Oakland High School Class of 1934 was held recently at the Will O'the Wisp, Deep Creek Lake, with 14 class members and 15 guests in attendance.

Ethel Rae Snyder served as mistress of ceremonies, while Nordeck Shaffer provided the invocation and benediction. Following a buffet meal, a memorial service, led by Kay Lewis, was conducted for the 45 deceased class members.

There was no formal program, but each class member was given an opportunity to speak and relate some of their memories and situations in their lives today.

According to Mrs. Snyder, who co-chaired the event with Nordeck Shaffer, in the fall of 1929 when the Class of 1934 started as freshmen at Oakland High School it was "quite a change for some" as most of the students were bussed in from various elementary schools in the southern area of Garrett county.

"But it didn't take long for us to adjust and make friends, many of whom remain good friends today," Mrs. Snyder said. "There were many fine students in this class. There were a number of fine athletes, and others who were involved in drama and music."

The Great Depression took its toll on the members of the class and their families.

"Believe me, not too many of us had very much," Mrs. Snyder said. "Jobs were not available and not more than four or five of our class were financially able to attend college. Instead of having a year book, we had to be satisfied with the school paper, The

She said that the G.I. Bill eventually afforded an opportunity for a number of students in the class to go to college, such as Robert and Dr. Fred Beckman, who resided on a farm in Pleasant Valley.

"Today Bob is a retired executive of an insurance company and has interests in other businesses," Mrs. Snyder said, "and Fred is an eye specialist who is still practicing. Both of them live in Fort Worth Texas and say they are happy to have been raised here and educated in our school system."

Other classmates include Loraine Weeks, Mtn. Lake Park, a retired executive of the Allegheny Power Company, and Nordeck Shaffer, retired president of the Garrett National Bank (now American Trust Bank).

"Even though this class had many obstacles, many members went on to achieve considerable success," Mrs. Snyder said.

There were 89 members of the class, the largest of any class up until that year, and the school stage could not accommodate all of them for their graduation exercises, so the 5,000-seat Mtn. Lake Park Amphitheatre was utilized for the purpose.

"The Class of 1934 was a great one," Mrs. Snyder said, "and I am proud to be listed among its members. At that time, with little to do outside the home, families were mostly full of love for each other, love for their church and God, and respect for all. Today much of this is called family values; then we called it common sense."

Others serving on the reunion committee were Mary

Helbig Michael, Lena Lambert Wolfe, Mary Kay Forman Lewis, Sally Jones Ritchie, Oneda Johnson Davis, and Robert Alstetter. Stella Shaffer and Helen Alstetter, spouses, also assisted.

Mrs. Snyder said that, because of the age of the classmates and difficulty in traveling from long distances to Garrett County, the 60-year reunion of the class would be the last one.

Home Tips

COLORFUL CLIP — We use a large, colorful three-inch plastic paper clip to mark the day in the television listing book. We move the clip each day and usually keep it on the 7-11 p.m. schedule. This saves opening the booklet and looking through page after page for the right day and time. Janet C., Huntsville, Ala.

BROWN-BAGGING IT — When someone in the family is sick, especially with a cold or flu, here's what I do to keep the spread of germs down.

We use large brown paper grocery sacks, brightly colored by my children, in the sick room. When one is full, we close the top and toss it out. No germs allowed! Nellie O., Washington, Mich.

CAR RENTAL KNOW-HOW — For anyone thinking about renting a car, be sure to first check the car carefully for any damage, and if you find any, have it clearly noted on the rental form.

I didn't once and there were several dents in the trunk and rear fender. I almost had to cover the costs. They would not believe that I was not at fault until a young man from their car wash remembered seeing them before I rented it. Hank G., Salem, Ore.

BETTER SPOON — A small pancake turner makes a better "spoon" for stirring foods that are apt to stick to the bottom of the kettle. Jane T., Little Rock, Ark.

BROWN SUGAR — One day I had a recipe that called for brown sugar, but then found that it had gotten so hard, it was impossible to use. I used my cheese grater and it solved my problem.

Household Help

by John Amantea

Q. I live in a small ranch-style home. I have a metal storage shed in my yard and a one-car garage which is attached to my home. My problem is lack of storage space and how to make the most of what I have. Can you give me some ideas on how to organize the space that exists?

A. Any homeowner I've ever spoken to has a similar problem, no matter what the size of the living space. However, people with smaller spaces are usually far better organized due to the lack of available room. The good news is, you can create more room by using vertical space and organizing it properly.

The type of shelves and space dividers I'm referring to need not be costly or examples of fine, expensive carpentry. It all depends on the particular room in your home as to what type of durable shelf you'll need. For example, basement and garage shelves need only be strong enough to hold what you will put on them. A pegboard with metal hooks is an excellent tool organizer and can be installed anywhere in your basement or garage. I'm sure your family has bicycles that clutter up the garage or other areas. The best means of overhead storage for bikes is to install large, square-bend screws along with big eyescrews or eyebolts that fasten to joists and rafters, if accessible. Your home improvement center can give you more detailed information regarding joist gear on ropes for overhead storage.

If your dresser or clothing closet is inadequate, consider a floor-to-ceiling combination wardrobe and closet. This piece of furniture does not have to be as tasteful as your others, but will certainly blend if you choose the right one.

One other important room to improve upon is your living room and/or family room. There are countless variations of book shelves and constricted shelves available just for the do-it-yourselfer. Solid wood boards, such as pine, are most common and your best choice for painting shelves. You could also add a decorative touch to your construction by attaching molding strips. When all your work is done, paint, stain or varnish at will.

Long-term care insurance provides coverage for health care expenses that result from aging, a chronic illness, or a debilitating disease, such as Alzheimer's or Parkinson's diseases. Some policies also cover expenses for adult day-care centers, speech, physical or occupational therapy, services of home health aides, and even housekeeping. Policies also may cover traditional medical care and custodial care in case of mental impairment.

Monthly premiums for long-term care coverage may range from $20 to several hundred dollars, with lower premiums for younger individuals. However, if you are under age 40 and no chronic diseases run in your family, you may be better off investing in tax-deferred retirement plans.

Most people purchase long-term care insurance when they reach age 60. At this point, premium amounts are still relatively low for individuals in good health.

You may benefit from long-term care policies if you have a long life expectancy and substantial assets. Since people who meet these criteria will not qualify for Medicaid, long-term care may quickly deplete their assets and leave little for a spouse or children.

On the other hand, if you have few assets and a modest income, long-term care insurance may not be worth the price. If you required long-term care, you would most likely qualify for Medicaid in a relatively short period of time.

The benefit amount and deductible period influence the cost of long-term care insurance. Policies will offer you a choice of daily maximum benefits ranging from $50 to $200. You also can select a lifetime maximum benefit, usually equivalent to three, five or 10 years at your daily maximum benefit amount. In selecting a benefit amount, consider the average cost of nursing home care in your area.

Some policies offer inflation riders, giving you the option to increase your daily and lifetime maximums by a specific amount.

The deductible period — that is, the amount of time until insurance kicks in — also affects your premium amount. For example, your coverage may begin after 20 days, 60 days, or 90 days.

BOXERS ON THE SIF

Collectors are fighting to buy 19th-century pottery and porcelain that pictures any type of sporting event. Some of the most interesting English pieces show boxers. They were the major sports heroes of the day.

Today there would probably be little market for a flower-decorated milk pitcher that pictured the latest heavyweight champion and contender. There was no television, no illustrated newspapers and no easily available color pictures. The decorations on the pitcher were colorful and they inspired young boys to become champions. One rare pitcher shows boxers Spring and Langan, who fought in 1824. Spring was the winner after 77 rounds.

Q. My metal belt buckle, 3 1/2 by 2 1/2 inches, has the following in relief on the front, "Souvenir Coca Cola of Atlanta, GA U.S. Trans Pan Exposition San Francisco" and a picture of a dancing lady. On the reverse is imprinted, "A Coca Cola creation Trans Pan Exposition, San Francisco 1915."

A. Several Coca Cola belt buckles similar to yours have been made. All of them are "concoctions" or imaginary designs based on several old designs. They were never made by the Coca Cola company. Experts believe the oldest of these strange buckles is less than 20 years old. There are many antique-looking belt buckles being sold for use on belts. All of them are of little value.

Q. I have a cherry dresser that was purchased in the 1950s. It doesn't have a Mission-style look. I call it Early American. When was this made? Is it Stickley?

A. There were several Stickley furniture companies. The most famous is the firm founded by Gustav Stickley. They went out of business before 1920. Their Mission-style pieces are popular with collectors.

The Stickley Brothers Co. was founded by George and Albert Stickley, brothers of Gustav. They made furniture in Grand Rapids, Mich., from 1891 to 1907. They marked some pieces "Quaint Furniture."

L.J.G. Stickley Co. was run by Leopold and George Stickley, brothers of Gustav. They worked in Fayetteville, N.Y., and later bought Gustav's factory in Eastwood, N.Y. They made Mission and many other styles of furniture, including the "early American" pieces you own. They are still working and are now recreating some of their old Mission styles.

Zembower Is New Carpentry Teacher At SHS

Christopher Zembower, one of 20 new employees of the Garrett County Board of Education, has taken over the instruction of carpentry at Southern High School this fall. The culminating project of this program is the construction of a house which will be sold when completed.

Junior and senior students in the program spend most of their class time building the house under Zembower's direction.

The carpentry curriculum is based on competencies developed by the Association of Builders and Contractors, which includes both residential and commercial skills. Sophomores begin the program with a focus on safety and then move on to topics such as the names of tools, their proper use, and basic carpentry concepts. These textbook concepts are then applied in small construction projects.

Some projects, such as tables, cabinets, and storage buildings will be sold, with proceeds used to purchase additional materials and to supplement the program. Students are also responsible for the design of the house, in conjunction with the school's drafting students.

Zembower, a graduate of Allegany Community College and Frostburg State University with a major in secondary education, is a native of Allegany County. He was a self-employed builder prior to being hired by the local education board. During his college years, he spent one semester studying in Limerick, Ireland. His student teaching experiences were completed at Frankfort Middle and Westmar High schools.

He and his family reside in Spring Gap. He and his wife, Deborah, are the parents of two daughters, Jessica and Lauren, ages 14 and 9.

October Named Breast Cancer Awareness Month

October has been designated as National Breast Cancer Awareness Month, and Avon representatives across the country, including Garrett County, will again promote breast cancer education and access to early detection during the annual observance.

Embodying the theme "Women Helping Women,"

Avon reps from across the country raised more than $6 million for Avon's Breast Cancer Awareness Crusade last year. This cause-related marketing program is dedicated to addressing the issue of breast cancer, according to a spokesperson from Avon Products, Inc.

During the month, representatives will renew their efforts to generate increased awareness of the issue by selling pink ribbon key rings and pins at a cost of $2 each. All profits will be used to provide funding for community-based organizations that offer education and early detection programs to low income, minority and older women -- the women who are most at risk for breast cancer and least likely to get this kind of support, the spokesperson added.

According to the National Cancer Institute, breast cancer is the most commonly diagnosed cancer among women ages 35 to 54 in the United States. A report filed by the institute indicates if breast cancer is detected early, a woman has as much as a 90-percent chance of survival.

The money raised last year has funded 54 core-plus breast cancer programs across the country through the YWCA, and 52 community-based programs through the Avon Breast Health Access Fund, which is administered by the National Alliance of Breast Cancer Organizations. All of these programs provide access to breast cancer education and early detection for underserved women in their areas, the spokesperson said.

For more information about the breast cancer awareness program, persons may call the National Cancer Institute at 1-800-4-CANCER. Women with breast cancer who need help and support may call the Y-MI National Breast Cancer Organization at 1-800-221-2141. Additional information about Avon's Breast Cancer Awareness Crusade can be obtained by calling 1-800-FOR-AVON.

A Man with a Mission

On August 3, 1492, Christopher Columbus, born in Genoa, Italy, an intelligent and determined young man, set sail from Palos, Spain, believing that he could reach the East by sailing westward, thereby establishing a shorter trade route between the East and the West. After much difficulty, Columbus convinced Queen Isabella of Spain to support his mission. Though he did not find that which he sought, Columbus discovered America on October 12, 1492, landing in the Bahamas, thereby exposing a kingdom hidden from the known civilized world at that time for the lack of a man with a mission...that place where we dwell today.

The Bible instructs us in Matthew 6:33, "Seek first the kingdom of God..." There is a place for you in God's house, a kingdom waiting for one with a mission, the mission of discovering that place in the heart where God can dwell. "Set sail" this Sabbath. Discover the kingdom of God.

ON BEING LIFE-SIZED
 October 9, 1994

Background Scripture: Judges 6:1 through 8:21
 Devotional Reading: Psalms 33:10-22

For me, Gideon has always been one of these larger-than-life heroes of the Bible. But, now, just having re-read that story once again, I am not so sure. Today he seems more life-sized.

What makes me say that? Well, for one thing, if you read the whole story, Gideon is not exactly a man of overwhelming faith, is he? When an angel of the Lord salutes him with "The Lord is with you, you mighty man of valor," how does Gideon respond? "Pray, sir, if the Lord is with us, why then has all this befallen us? And where are all his wonderful deeds which our fathers recounted to us..."

When the angel assures him that the Lord will be with him he answers "Pray, Lord, how can I deliver Israel? Behold, my clan is the weakest in Manasseh, and I am the least in my family" (6:15). And God answers, "But I will be with you, and you shall smite the Midianites as one man" (6:16). And the Lord also provided him with an impressive demonstration of his power when Gideon brought his sacrifice to him. "Then Gideon perceived that he was the angel of the Lord" (6:22).

TOO AFRAID
 So, now Gideon is ready to obey his revelation? Not entirely, for when God tells him to pull down the altar to Baal and the Asherah beside it, Gideon agrees, "but because he was too afraid of his family and the men of the town to do it by day, he did it by night" (6:27). Finally, we are told, "the

COVER STORY

Never a dull moment on CBS' new Daddy's Girls

BY AMY HIBBERT

Once again, Dudley Moore takes to the television screen, this time as a father trying to rebuild his life while dealing with his three Daddy's Girls, airing Wednesdays on CBS.

In the Witt-Thomas production, Moore portrays Dudley Walker, a couturier and father who has had some recent personal and professional problems.

"Dudley plays very funny, when he's a man in trouble," says Tony Thomas, co-executive producer for the show. "So, we wanted to stack the deck against him."

And they do just that by having both Dudley's marriage and fashion business partnership crumble when his wife and his best friend/partner dump him (for each other), leaving him with as many personal problems as professional ones.

On the home front, Dudley's three grown daughters have distinct personalities, creating more conflict for the characters to deal with and resulting in more comedy.

"You need diverse characters to create that conflict," Thomas says, "and he certainly has three very different daughters and each has to be dealt with differently."

Stacy Galina plays Amy, the oldest, who does everything for everybody but herself.

Meredith Scott Lynn is Samantha, the brutally honest middle daughter who is more than happy to take over her father's business.

Phoebe, played by Keri Russell, is the youngest and distinctively innocent.

Dudley has always left the parenting to his wife, but now he must learn to guide and advise his three daughters.

Having never done it before, he finds himself in many messes.

At work, Dudley has an equally colorful staff to deal with, including Dennis Sinclair, a creative and high-strung fashion designer, played by Harvey Fierstein.

Dudley Moore

Fierstein's character is a milestone for television. Fierstein says, "I am very proud to be the first openly gay actor to be playing an openly gay role on family hour."

While this is a big topic for the show, Thomas says the main story line for at least the first season will be Dudley's relationship with his daughters and Dennis' relationship to all of them.

"As a show goes on in years, we explore everybody's character and everybody's background," Thomas comments.

"But, for the first year, the most important thing we'll be exploring is Dennis' relationship with Dudley and the daughters."

Moore's ability to make people laugh at his problems works well in this show.

He gets in trouble and makes mistakes, yet he still manages to keep control.

Having a talented cast to work with also helps.

"When you're working with someone incredible, there's no way you can be bad," Russell says. "Because if that person is so good and so funny, you have to have funny reactions to it."

With the help of the creative talents of the cast, there is never a dull moment on this show.

Dazzling visual imagery drives Future Quest

BY JOHN CROOK

A seductive brunette reclines on a sofa and gazes directly into the camera. "I'm ready for my future, Mr. DeMille," she says huskily.

Toto, I don't think this is Nova anymore.

What it is, though, is Future Quest, premiering Monday, Oct. 10, on PBS (check local listings).

The dazzling new half-hour series, with host Jeff Goldblum, leads viewers into a world where pure science and pop culture collide.

"Future Quest really is a very unique piece of television," says Drew Levin, one of the show's executive producers.

"The only way I can describe it from a simplistic point of view is that the first episode that was sent to me, several months ago, had 700 edits during the half-hour."

"We realized early on that we did not want Future Quest to be yet another high-tech gadget show," says Jim Coane, Levin's colleague. "We wanted to interject a human presence into our discussion of the future."

"So we built our 22 shows around basic but eternal questions: Who will we become? Where will we live? How will we live? And the most important question of all, why should we care about the future?"

The producers wanted to attract a young, visually jaded audience, so they secured the hip Goldblum as host and hired award-winning science writer Timothy Ferris as technical consultant.

"We then hot-wired our basic format with feature film and TV clips, classic science-fiction images, offbeat commentary and high-octane interviews," says Coane. Those interviews encompass subjects ranging from poet Andrei Codrescu to comic Paula Poundstone.

Jeff Goldblum serves as host of Future Quest, a new series combining science and pop culture. It premieres Monday on PBS (check local listings).

TV PIPELINE

BY TAYLOR MICHAELS

Q: Information, please, on the late Colleen Dewhurst. We saw her in Red & Blue. What other movies was she in? Any info you have would be greatly appreciated.

—Wanda Davis, Charlottesville, Va.

A: Thanks for asking about one of my favorite actresses. Born in Montreal on June 3, 1926, this two-time Tony Award winner was the reigning performer of Eugene O'Neill's plays in her time, appearing several years ago in a still-talked-about Broadway repertory run as the mothers in Ah, Wilderness! and the towering Long Day's Journey Into Night. Both plays co-starred her ex-husband, George C. Scott, and their son, Campbell.

One of my most vivid childhood TV memories is a chilling Hallmark Hall of Fame production (never released on tape, alas) of Arthur Miller's The Crucible, with Scott and Dewhurst as John and Elizabeth Proctor and Tuesday Weld as Abigail.

Her movies on video include Annie Hall, Between Two Women, A Fine Madness, Ice Castles, Medea and The Nun's Story, among many others. When the Murphy Brown producers were looking for a powerhouse actress to play the mother of their title tigress, they found her in Dewhurst, who won an Emmy for her guest appearances on the show. Shortly before her unexpected death in 1991, a still-vivacious Dewhurst appeared with her son in their only film together. The title? Dying Young.

Q: Has the sequel to The Thorn Birds been on TV yet?

—Judy Call, Montandon, Pa.

A: It hasn't been made yet and Richard Chamberlain (Father Ralph) has firmly said he wants nothing to do with it.

Colleen Dewhurst

Q: Several months ago TNT aired Young Catherine, with Vanessa Redgrave. I only taped one night. I wrote TNT directly but have had no reply. How can I see the whole thing?

—Fran Roberts, New Smyrna Beach, Fla.

A: Catherine has aired more than once on TNT (it's a 1990 production). It's on tape from Turner Home Entertainment Co., P.O. Box 105366, Atlanta, Ga. 30348-5366.

Several ANDY GRIFFITH fans, including Curtis Smith of Columbus, Kan., recently responded to a query from A.D. DeFer of Michigan about finding a copy of Griffith's "What It Was, Was Football" routine. Sorry, but I cannot give out readers' addresses or phone numbers, nor can I forward or return mail, which is not kept on file after answering.

Have faith, A.D. Several people apparently have a copy of the routine. Scout around your local newspaper classifieds or garage sales. Good luck.

Dudley Moore, Keri Russell, Stacy Galina, Harvey Fierstein and Meredith Scott Lynn (clockwise from bottom) star in Daddy's Girls, airing Wednesdays on CBS.

IN FOCUS

The history of North America's 500 tribes of Indians is told in their own words and through their own eyes in The Native Americans, premiering Monday, Oct. 10 on TBS.

This three-part documentary is divided into six segments, each focusing on a different geographic section of the United States before and after Europeans made contact.

A council of American Indian tribal leaders from each region acts as a bridge to the past, sharing their rich histories.

IN FOCUS

Kathryn Harrold (The Larry Sanders Show) stars as a female novelist in The Companion, premiering Thursday, Oct. 13, on USA Network.

The lonely novelist takes a "male" android, played by Bruce Greenwood, with her to an isolated cabin, where he is programmed to act as her human lover.

However, the android becomes more of a human than Harrold's character hoped for, as he develops a jealous streak that results in deadly actions.

MOVIE MARQUEE

McEntire has lead role in CBS' Is There Life?

BY PETE BUCCI

Two-time Grammy Award winner Reba McEntire steps into her first lead acting role in the made-for-television movie Is There Life Out There? It airs Sunday, Oct. 9, on CBS.

Inspired by McEntire's song and video of the same name, the movie focuses on Lily, a woman who returns to college while taking care of her family.

McEntire is believable in this role, which she says could have been her life had she not become an entertainer. She says she prefers a leading role over a supporting one.

"I liked it better because you're there every day; you know what's going on," she says. "You know all the crew, all the cast—everybody. I liked it better instead of just popping in one day, or like a week out of the whole schedule."

Keith Carradine (The Will Rogers Follies) stars as Lily's carpenter-husband, Brad, who is initially supportive but begins to feel alienated by her college life and threatened by a tutor's interest in her.

While Carradine also turns in a fine performance, his character seems just a little bit too good-natured in the beginning. His constant smile, a possible side effect of Will Rogers, fades as the drama unfolds and a more realistic character emerges.

Donald Moffat (Tales of the City) also stars as Lily's father, Walter. McEntire describes working with Carradine and Moffat as "wonderful."

"They're such pros, and I gained two great friends," she says. "Everyone on the whole project was wonderful to work with, from the catering to the lighting guys. There wasn't an attitude on the whole set."

Reba McEntire

Elsewhere on Sunday, NBC airs the 1991 thriller Shattered, in which an amnesiac is tormented by disturbing memories. HBO has two blockbusters: The Bodyguard, starring Kevin Costner and Whitney Houston, and The Fugitive, starring Harrison Ford and Tommy Lee Jones.

On Monday, Oct. 10, Stephanie Zimbalist (Remington Steele) plays a woman with multiple personalities in Voices From Within on NBC.

Susan Dey (L.A. Law) stars in Beyond Betrayal Tuesday, Oct. 11, on CBS. Dey plays a woman who changes her name and relocates to escape her abusive husband (Richard Dean Anderson).

Saturday, Oct. 15, on HBO, Jim Varney takes a break from his Ernest character (the incredibly stupid "Hey, Vern" guy) to play millionaire Jed Clampett in the 1993 theatrical version of The Beverly Hillbillies.

TIME OUT

Saved by the bell: Sweet science back on CBS

BY JEFF PLASS

It's been a couple of years, but now, in the wake of the sports void left by the NFL's departure, CBS proudly announces the return of world championship boxing to its Eye on Sports anthology series, airing Saturdays on the network.

The series began last Saturday, Oct. 8, and continues this Saturday, Oct. 15, with IBF World bantamweight champion Orlando Canizales (37-1-1, 28 KO's) defending his title against 1992 Olympian Sergio Reyes (10-0-0, 3 KO's), from Laredo, Texas.

With the opening bell, Canizales will have broken the record for consecutive title defenses by a bantamweight champion.

And there to call all the action is CBS blow-by-blow man Tim Ryan and expert analyst Gil Clancy.

Clancy is thrilled to have boxing back on the network and hopes CBS can continue its tradition of introducing the world to the boxing superstars of the future.

"I thought CBS had a great history with our boxing program before," Clancy says. "We introduced most of the brightest young stars that later went on to bigger and better things. For example, Tommy Hearn, Marvin Hagler, Ray 'Boom Boom' Mancini—these are all fighters that first appeared on network television with CBS."

And I think that given the opportunity again, I think we will put on some good, solid fights, and some other, new superstars will emerge from the program.

The veteran analyst has called countless fights in his 14-year history with the network ("I really couldn't judge," he says, "more than 100 I would imagine") and says he really likes this week's matchup.

"Well, you know," Clancy says, "Canizales, to a lot of people, is like an undiscovered superstar. A lot of people think he's the best fighter in the world, pound for pound. He's a good puncher, a good, solid boxer. And Reyes is a real, real tough guy, who's gonna press him and make him work. Their two different styles should make it an excellent fight."

Future scheduled matchups include Detroit's Tom "Boom Boom" Johnson (36-2-1, 23 KO's) putting his IBF featherweight title on the line against Francisco Pancho Segura (25-6-1, 11 KO's) in Atlantic City, N.J., on Saturday, Oct. 22.

And on Saturday, Oct. 29, WBC lightweight champion Miguel Angel Gonzalez faces veteran Marty Jakubowski from Minneapolis, Minn.

SOAP TALK

Wagner on Melrose; Francis gives birth

BY CANDACE HAVENS

For months fans have been asking when Jack Wagner (Frisco, General Hospital) might return to daytime. Well, Wagner is back on a soap of sorts, but as a regular cast member of Melrose Place.

The actor will play Peter Burns, who will appear sometime in October. Peter will be linked in some way to Heather Locklear's character.

Wagner and his wife, Kristina Malandro (Felicia, GH), are expecting their second child later this year.

Speaking of babies: Genie Francis (Laura, GH) and husband, Jonathan Frakes (Star Trek: Next Generation), welcomed their first child on Aug. 20. Benjamin Ivor weighed 8 pounds, 6 ounces. A source close to the show says both the actress and baby are doing well.

On GH, Laura left with her baby several weeks ago because they were being threatened. A return date for Francis has not been set yet.

Dear Candace: Could you please tell me if the actress who plays Hope on The Young and the Restless is blind in real life? She does such a wonderful job acting the part if she is not.

—Joan Moyer, Gilbertville, Pa.

Dear Reader: Signy Coleman (Hope) is not blind. She did extensive research about the blind and it has paid off.

Dear Candace: On All My Children, Mona passed away. Is this because the actress was tired of the part or is she ill in real life? —A fan in West Palm Beach, Fla.

Dear Reader: Francis Hefflin

Jack Wagner

(Mona) died of cancer on June 1, 1994. The actress had waged a battle with the deadly disease for several years.

Dear Candace: I was so angry when Holden interrupted Lily and Damian's renewing-of-the-vows ceremony on As the World Turns. If he ruins their relationship, I will never watch the show again.

Lily and Damian are my favorite couple, and I hate what Holden is doing to them. They belong together. Holden should be written off of the show. He better not ruin everything.

—Mary Gillikin, Kingston, NC.

Dear Reader: Holden and Lily have a long history, and Damian isn't exactly innocent of all the charges Holden has brought against him. Still, Damian and Lily do make a dramatic couple, and the writers know this. There is no telling what might happen.

CABLE OVERVIEW

Gay comedy highlights Out There II special

BY JOHN CROOK

Amanda Bearse is a logical choice as host of Out There II, an hour of comedy by openly gay and lesbian performers premiering Tuesday, Oct. 11, on Comedy Central.

The actress, who plays Marcy D'Arcy on Fox's hit comedy Married... With Children, last year publicly acknowledged that she herself is a lesbian.

The comedy special's title is a play on the phrase "coming out of the closet" and revealing one's sexual preference, and Tuesday is National Coming Out Day. This year's show features a diverse group of performers that is more gentle and less confrontational than the lineup in last year's original Out There.

Kate Clinton (no relation to the president) offers wry recollections of how she and her lover used to hide anything even subliminally gay when her family would visit. "We call it 'straightening up,'" she laughs. "Just a little tip for you: Do not come out to your dad in a moving vehicle," she adds.

The biggest laughs of the special go to San Francisco comic Scott Silverman, whose rubber-faced Valley Boy delivery lends a quizzical innocence to his barbed accounts of meeting straight audience members after one of his shows.

"One guy said to me, 'Well, I'm straight, but I've had a homosexual experience,'" he recalls with a wince. "I'm like, 'Oh, really? What did you do? Buy a pair of shoes and a belt that matched?'"

On a far weightier topic, TBS premieres The Native

Amanda Bearse

Americans, a six-hour, three-part documentary on Monday, Oct. 10. The special, which continues on Tuesday and Thursday, Oct. 13, attempts to convey the vast diversity of the Indian population in North America. Robbie Robertson, former leader of The Band, composed the original score.

Sunday, Showtime's Directed By gives Kathleen Turner a chance to move behind the camera as director of Leslie's Folly. Anne Archer, Mary Kay Place and Charles Durning star in the drama about a middle-aged woman facing an unplanned pregnancy.

Biography, Monday on A&E, takes an in-depth look at the abrasive broadcaster and controversial sports figure Howard Cosell.

George Lucas presents Young Indiana Jones and the Hollywood Follies Saturday on The Family Channel. The first of four Young Indy movies based on the critically acclaimed but low-rated ABC series has Sean Patrick Flanery re-creating the title role.

GCC Offering Two-Week Body Language Course

The Continuing Education Department of Garrett Community College is offering a two-week course in the art of reading body movements and gestures.

"This six-hour course provides information beneficial in various situations," according to a spokesperson for the college. "Parents can learn what their child's folded arms or wandering eyes can mean. Sales people could benefit from reading the attitude expressed in their client's actions. Employees might better understand the unspoken position of their boss, while employers might read hidden messages of their staff. Spouses might enjoy learning that the action of their mate may indeed speak much louder than words. Even the actions of a stranger can give clues that we can learn to recognize."

The Art of Reading Body Language class will meet two nights, Oct. 19 and Oct. 26, from 6-9 p.m. at the Oakland Center of GCC. Class enrollment is limited.

For more information, or to register, persons may call 334-8304, or 387-3069.

Cases Of Arson Increase During First Six Months

Maryland State Fire Marshal Rocco J. Gabriele has announced an overall increase in arson offenses for the first half of 1994 for the State of Maryland.

According to data collected through the Uniform Crime Reporting Program, arson offenses increased by approximately 12% during the first six months of 1994, as compared with the same period last year. There were 1,272 arsons recorded between January and June of this year as compared with 1,132 such incidents for the first half of 1993.

The most significant increase in arson occurred in the Southern Maryland region, which consists of Charles, St. Mary's and Calvert counties. In this region, arson rose by approximately 29.3% during the first half of this year. There were 53 reported arsons in the region during the first six months of 1994 as compared with only 41 such incidents for this same period last year.

The Western Maryland region, consisting of Garrett, Allegany, Washington, Frederick and Carroll counties, recorded the second highest increase in arson offenses with an increase of 25.7% for the first six months of 1994.

The Baltimore-Metropolitan region, consisting of Baltimore City, Baltimore, Anne Arundel, Harford and Howard counties, recorded an increase of 13.4% in arson offenses for the first half of this year. There were 577 reported arsons during the first six months of 1994 as compared with 507 such incidents in the region for this same period last year.

The Washington-Metropolitan region, which includes the counties of Prince George's and Montgomery, also had an increase in arson offenses during the first six months of 1994. The region recorded an 11.4% increase in arsons with 371 such incidents documented during the first six months as compared with only 333 for this same period last year.

The Eastern Shore region, which includes Caroline, Cecil, Dorchester, Kent, Queen Anne's, Somerset, Talbot, Wicomico and Worcester counties, recorded a dramatic decrease in overall arson offenses for the first six months of 1994. There were 66 recorded arsons in the region for the first half of this year as compared with 78 such incidents for this same period last year, for an overall decrease of 15.4%.

During the first six months of 1994, there were four Marylanders who died as a result of arson related fires compared to five of these similar incidents last year.

The state fire marshal is urging anyone with information regarding any arson fire in Maryland to contact the Arson Hotline at 1-800-492-7529. An Arson Tip reward of up to $5,000 may be provided to anyone supplying information of an arson crime which leads to an arrest or indictment of the person or persons responsible for committing the crime.

and well thought-out solutions to a complex problem."

"This is one effort that I want to see maintained," the governor said. "We've come up with some good solutions that represent an important start in the right direction. Now we must have the political will to see them through."

Many of the commission's recommendations fit in with the governor's early intervention and prevention strategy in recognition that, for many youth who become involved in violence, the behavior has its roots in early childhood. The commission calls on the Subcabinet for Children, Youth, and Families to strengthen efforts to support and preserve families and efforts to identify families at risk and provide early intervention services to support healthy development of their children.

The commission recommends the consolidation of legal actions that affect children and families, including divorce, adoption, custody and other actions. Included in this consolidation would be educational issues such as truancy, suspensions, and expulsions if judicial intervention is warranted. The commis-

Disruptive Youth Report Received By State Board

The Governor's Commission on Disruptive Youth, chaired by the Honorable Henry B. Heller, last week recommended to the governor and the State Board of Education "a cohesive, coordinated statewide effort" to reduce the violence and disruptive behavior that threatens students and the orderly environment they need for learning.

Governor William Donald Schaefer commended the commission for "an outstanding job of coming up with concrete and clear sion's recommendations call for a holistic approach involving families and other government and private agencies. Nonetheless, the commission addresses many of its recommendations at the schools because of their "unique position in a young person's life."

The commission calls on schools to address the problem of disruptive behavior and violence through teacher training, curriculum strategies, and instituting programs designed to help students deal with conflict in non-violent ways. Some of the specific recommendations call for the State Department of Education and local school systems, with support from other agencies, to:

- Establish an interagency case management process to refer chronically disruptive students to appropriate services.

- Create an Interagency Student Services Plan (ISSP) for each referred student. The plans would be similar to the individualized education programs for disabled students.

- Provide school staffs training in conflict resolution.

- Support staff in modifying school and classroom structures and practices that exacerbate disruptive behavior.

- Strengthen state guidelines and regulations relating to the maintaining of safe and secure school environment

- Strengthen the training of teachers in being sensitive to cultural and gender differences, in classroom management, and in substance abuse education.

- Infuse cultural, ethnic, and gender awareness information into the curriculum

- Develop a plan for communicating about gang activities, strategies for dealing with disruptive youth, and related matters.

The commission urges the media to take initiatives to reduce the portrayal of violence and to increase the portrayal of achievement and positive activities by youth.

When the noon bell rings, 25 million school children each day head to the cafeteria for a school lunch. Schools are making a special effort to serve meals that appeal to those young appetites. Using new technology and a greater understanding of nutrition, they can provide healthier selections too.

"There are many more choices in school lunchrooms today," explains Ana Optiz of the American School Food Service Association. The ASFSA represents the school foodservice industry, which is responsible for providing school lunches.

Optiz, who edits the ASFSA publication, School Foodservice & Nutrition, says that schools "are being more creative in their formats, such as food courts, with ethnic menu selections, deli's, salad bars and potato bars."

More than just a midday meal, school lunches can help shape lifelong healthy eating habits. Because of nutrition's critical role in child development, the National School Lunch Program is undergoing significant changes.

Noting the important link between diet and health, the U.S. Department of Agriculture, which oversees the school lunch program, is proposing federal regulations that would require all schools to meet specific nutrient standards for lunches and breakfasts.

School lunches will now be analyzed for key nutrients and recommended levels of fat and saturated fat, as well as calories, cholesterol, sodium and dietary fiber.

"Chronic disease often begins in childhood," the USDA stated. "Since eating habits are firmly established by age 12, it is essential that dietary patterns be formed early."

Canned pears are a popular fruit in the nation's schools. Today, with the increased emphasis on fruit and vegetable consumption, U.S. canned pears are also being used as an ingredient in a variety of new menu items — entrees, breads and salads, as well as desserts. Mark Miller of the Pacific Coast Canned Pear Service notes that "nowadays, it's not unusual to find cafeterias serving nutritious dishes kids love, such as chicken-and-pear pita pockets, or even pear-and-cheese pizza."

The following recipes, provided by the Pacific Coast Canned Pear Service, were introduced to school lunchrooms last year and have been adapted for home use. Each complies with the Dietary Guidelines for Americans. Try them and see for yourself just how good school lunches can be.

Wherever school lunches are served, the food industry is an important player on the school nutrition team. Food producers often provide schools with excellent nutrition education materials which are used in the classroom and the lunchroom to teach children about good nutrition. In fact, according to the ASFSA, schools rely primarily on these food industry groups to provide them with nutrition education.

Representing growers and processors of canned pears, the Pacific Coast Canned Pear Service has been helping foodservice managers educate kids about good nutrition. Through their award-winning "The Great Pear-a-Mid" program, the canned pear folks have helped school foodservice staff foster nutritious eating habits for thousands of students.

The main attraction of the program is the dinosaur duo of Pearsaurus Snax and his sidekick, Dr. Megalosaurus Frooti (pictured). These curious cartoon characters learn about the five food groups by venturing into "The Great Pear-a-Mid," a rendition of the USDA Food Guide Pyramid. Interactive lesson plans and a colorful classroom poster demonstrate the basics of healthy eating.

The school cafeteria often joins in by featuring pears on the lunch menu to further instill the good habits kids learn. "Nutrition lessons taught in the classroom are reinforced and practiced at lunchtime," said school foodservice specialist L. Gene White.

"Canned pears have been a favorite of school children for decades," explains Mark Miller of the Pacific Coast Canned Pear Service. "We recognize the need for nutrition education, and it makes sense to provide this service to schools, since they are major consumers of canned pears."

25 million children eat school lunches in 92,000 schools every day — more than half the 42 million children enrolled in the nation's schools. Five million breakfasts a day are served in schools.

The National School Lunch Program is the largest child nutrition program in the world. Lunches provide at least one third of the child's daily nutrient requirements.

The President of the United States, by proclamation, establishes one week in October each year as "National School Lunch Week."

More than 300 million servings of canned pears are consumed each year in school lunches.

on the implementation of new programs, and recognized Evans for 21 years of service in law enforcement in Garrett County.

Landfill

A tour of the county landfill was given by Rodney Giotfelty. At this time tires cannot be taken to collection sites, but must only be taken to the landfill where they are sent out to disposal areas. Giotfelty said officials hope to buy a shredder in the future so the recycling can be done within the county.

One of the jury's concerns is the hours the sites are open on Saturdays. This is already under investigation by the county commissioners and, as the program is new, there are several difficulties that have to be worked out.

The three jurors who visited the landfill stated that the construction of the site has been well-done, as well as the collection sites.

Treasurer's Office

Patty Glover, county treasurer, reported on the responsibilities of her office. The main function of the office is the collection of county taxes. Jim Fratz briefly reviewed the accounting procedures with Ms. Glover, and reported that he felt "very comfortable" with the procedures described to him, according to the jurors' submitted report.

One recommendation made by the Grand Jury was that tag renewal be done by the local Motor Vehicle Administration Office at instead of the Treasurer's Office in order to free county personnel for other responsibilities.

FIRST FEDERAL SPONSORING BANJO-FIDDLE CHAMPIONSHIPS -- Banjo and fiddle players from throughout the state will compete on stage Saturday, Oct. 15, during the 27th Annual Autumn Glory Festival. An annual part of the festival, the "official" Maryland State Banjo and Fiddle Championships will be held at the Southern High School gymnasium in Oakland. The banjo competition will begin at 7 p.m., followed by the fiddle championship at 8 p.m. Trophies and prize money will be awarded. Amateur fiddle contestants will be judged in three age categories: 60 and older; 13-59 years; and youth. The fiddle contest will also feature a championship/professional category. To enter either contest, persons may register at the door, or pick up a form at the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Office. Both contests are being sponsored by First Federal Savings Bank of Western Maryland. Representatives from First Federal, pictured above with Diane Wolfe, representing the promotion council (center), are, from left to right: Rose Matthews, Dave Sweltzer, Renee Savage, Gale Wilt, Connie Devens, Kelli Fulmer and Louise Beckman. Not present for the photo were Denise Skeweris and Brenda Maffett. Tickets are available at the Oakland branch of First Federal Savings Bank, 305 E. Oak Street, the promotion council office, and at the door. Seating is limited. Admission is $7.50 for adults and $3 for children under 12. Doors open at 6:15 p.m.

County Board of Education office was conducted by Dr. Ryscavage. The facility is old and not yet in compliance with the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA). Repairs are essential to the roof, the second floor ceiling, the planetarium stairway, and the outside walkways. In addition, more storage space is needed.

Despite these drawbacks and limitations, the superintendent and his staff continue to provide Garrett County children with efficient and effective education, the report states. Particularly noted were the programs initiated to aid students with problems or special needs, to help students finish school, and to prepare non-academically oriented students to enter the work force.

The Grand Jury recommended 1) that an aggressive program of maintenance and repair be undertaken at the board of education building, with particular attention paid to the aforementioned problems; 2) that the school system, in conjunction with the health department, initiate an aggressive program of alcohol usage prevention education in the senior high schools; 3) with regard to pupil transportation, the Grand Jury recommends that the use of off-road loading zones be abolished; that no student be discharged without stopping traffic; and that safe pull-off zones be established on regular bus routes where drivers may pull over (without discharging children) to allow traffic to pass.

Roads Department
Terry Spear, administrative assistant for the Garrett County Roads Department, spoke to three members of the Grand Jury. Although the previous Grand Jury report indicated that a county maintenance bridge crew was to be formed, Spear stated this has not been done yet and is still considered a future project.

Spear told the jurors that the county hired 30 new employees this year. He also explained their hiring practice.

The use of prisoners from the jail as laborers was discussed and this seems to be working well.

Each employee takes a safety course twice a year.

All three garages - Oakland, Accident, and Grantsville - have their own paving crew. Renovations are being made to the Oakland building for persons with disabilities. New office space is planned, as is a specialized washroom for persons with disabilities.

The facility was clean and in order. All roads that have been repaved will be line-painted before winter.

The consensus of the jury was that the county roads department is "doing an excellent job."

County Commissioners
Commissioners John Braskey, Brenda Butcher, and Ilwood Groves discussed several issues with the jury members. They stated that the ability of the county to mandate that Garrett County residents be hired on contracts let by the county is limited by law and by how much funding the county provides for the project.

With reference to the recent death of the child at a bus stop on Rt. 219, they stated that final decisions about pupil transportation must be made by the board of education. They also noted that a county traffic advisory committee is investigating the use of loading zones for picking up and discharging students. The commissioners said their job is to make citizens more aware that school has opened and school buses are back on the road.

Hospital

Jurors were greeted at Garrett County Memorial Hospital by Charlotte Bock, administrative director of community services. The tour included an overview of the entire hospital, and jurors reported that all was clean and well kept.

However, space appears to be limited because with the advancement of technology the departments are growing. The jury found the hospital to be adequate for the community and advanced in technology.

It was also reported that the hospital has purchased equipment to compact waste so it could be taken to the landfill. This equipment should be installed within one month.

The report states that the jury felt the hospital is a safe, sound, environment and an asset to the community.

Health Department

Dr. Rex Archer, health officer, presented the Grand Jury with an overview of the Garrett County Health Department's mission and programs. The strong program in preventative medicine and the focus on promoting healthy behavior were commended by the jurors.

Given the need of private mental health professionals in the county, the increasing number of county residents needing mental health services, and the long waiting period for entrance to existing programs, the Grand Jury recommends the following: 1) that more staff be added in this area, especially child social work specialists, child psychiatrists, and adult mental health workers; 2) that the health department coordinate with the superintendent of schools to develop and implement an aggressive program of alcohol usage prevention education in the high schools; 3) that immediate space problems be solved by making greater use of satellite offices and that funding and land be found for the development of a facility apart from the hospital.

The Grand Jury extended gratitude to His Honor Judge Fred A. Thayer, and noted that the members "were honored to serve as the 60th Grand Jury under his guidance." They also commended his long years of service to the judicial system and citizens of Garrett County.

Thanks was also expressed to James I. Sherbin, state's attorney; Wayne Wilt, court bailiff; David Martin, circuit court clerk; Brian Schlossnagle, deputy clerk; Ruth Warnick, court stenographer; Kim Yoder, secretary to Sherbin; Debra Heselbach, forelady; Sue Anna McKenzie, clerk; Marilyn M. Michael Receives GCBR's '94 Affiliate Of The Year Award

The Garrett County Board of Realtors (GCBR) has announced the selection of Rob Michael of State Farm Insurance as the recipient of the 1994 Affiliate of the Year Award.

The selection was announced recently by Cheryl Henderson, committee chairperson, at the board of realtors' membership breakfast meeting. The yearly award is given to affiliate members including lenders, attorneys, home inspectors, pest controllers and many others who participate on all levels of sponsorship, programming and services exemplifying a commitment to and support for realtors and the real estate industry.

Nominees are judged in six categories: participation in local board and service committees, sponsorship of education and other programs for realtors, overall community service, business accomplishments, fair business practices and affiliate spirit and MAR involvement.

Michael has been an affiliate member since 1989, and has served on the Realtor of the Year committee. "As landlord for the GCBR office (1986-92), Rob was cooperative and supportive of the needs of the office and staff," said Henderson. "Each year he supplies a complete set of all paper products needed for the GCBR crab feast."

Michael serves on the Garrett Community College Board of Trustees, the Garrett Memorial Hospital Board of Directors, he founded the GCC Alumni Association, and has served as past president. He sponsors admission annually to a GCC basketball game, received an award for outstanding contributions to GCC athletic programs, donated a television set for an after prom party giveaway at Northern High School, and was designated as Employer of the Year by the Garrett County Business and Professional Women's Organization.

"Rob is extraordinarily helpful and supportive of the real estate community," Henderson said. "Agents know that he will take care of their customers in a friendly, honest, and professional manner. He is held in high esteem by his customers in the area, who know that he will respond quickly to their insurance needs, whether for quotes or claims."

Lighthouse Notes Membership Drive

The Garrett County Lighthouse, Inc., Board of Directors is seeking community residents to join its "Keepers of the Light."

According to a spokesman for the organization, the "Keepers of the Light" will support the mission of Lighthouse, which is to serve the needs of individuals with psychiatric disabilities in a manner that is respectful, responsive, and responsible.

"Public support will enable Lighthouse to maintain our good relations with the communities in which we serve, help to educate citizens on mental health issues, and demonstrate advocacy in securing future funding," the spokesman said.

Persons interested in serving in this program, or obtaining more information, may call 334-9126.

Baby-Sitters Complete Recent Training Course

Nineteen area students recently completed a six-week professional baby-sitting course, sponsored by the Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College.

Alice Heyner from the Cooperative Extension Service, led a class about caring for children, and the responsibilities of a sitter. A second class, instructed by David Moon from the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad, dealt with emergency situations; and teaching the students the art of entertaining youngsters with arts, crafts and games, was Nancy Geisler.

Discipline strategies was the topic covered by Nancy Lazenbaker from Head Start, during the fourth week of classes. Developing positive bedtime and mealtime procedures was the focus of Sue Timmerman's class, and the sixth-week class involved a basic review of information and responsibilities provided by Patricia Baer, assistant program director for continuing education at GCC.

During the final class, students visited Kids Hut Day Care Center with Hala Laverdure, and covered injury prevention with Joelle Plauger from the Garrett County Health Department. The course concluded with a CPR instruction, led by Laurie Grant, at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Each student received a citation for the number of contact hours she/he completed. The names of students who completed all 12 hours are available through GCC's Continuing Education, Oakland Center.

A new series of courses are scheduled to begin Oct. 18, and will meet each Tuesday from 6-8 p.m. for six weeks. New and expectant parents are also encouraged to attend the course. For more information, or to register, persons may call Baer at 334-8304, or 387-3069.

Maxwell's Work To Be Shown

Watercolor artist Christine Maxwell will exhibit her works at the Windrush Gallery in Friendsville Oct. 2 through 15.

The show, titled Solo Shore, features much of Maxwell's newer work with an emphasis on her impressionistic and abstract style.

"Christine believes that a painting should stimulate emotion in the viewer and achieves this with style and flair," explained Gallery Director Carol Calhoun.

"I like my fish and other creatures to have humor. I like them to look like they might be able to talk to you," Maxwell stated.

Wife of the late Dr. H.J. Maxwell, Christine is the mother of four daughters. A former school teacher, Maxwell graduated from West Virginia University in 1950.

According to Calhoun, Maxwell began painting in 1981 and "has found in her art a source of inspiration to continue even after the death of her husband who was also her closet friend and painting partner."

"My husband made me promise to continue with my painting. At first it was very difficult, but I was able to work through much of the pain and it helped. My painting has given me strength," Maxwell stated.

Maxwell has been juried into numerous state, regional, and national watercolor shows. Most recently she was juried into a New York City art show at Lincoln Center. She is the new West Virginia State president of the West Virginia Association of the League of American Pen Women Inc., which is headquartered in Washington, D.C., and is made up of a juried membership of professionals in the categories of art, letters, and music.

CA Workshop Offered At GCC

A Criminal Awareness Workshop is being offered by the Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College.

This course is scheduled to meet Wednesday, Oct. 12, for one session at the Oakland Center of the college, from 6-9 p.m. Students must pre-register for this course.

"National statistics indicate that one out of three persons in the United States will be victimized by an attacker this year," said a spokesperson for the college. "Unfortunately, crime is no longer foreign to our local area. We, too, need to be more aware of ways to notice and avoid potentially dangerous situations."

This awareness course will consist of discussions, demonstrations, and a video presentation. The video helps to show each person how well he/she can recognize signs of a hazardous scene, the spokesperson said. Instruction will be provided in cooperation with GCC, the Maryland State Police, and the Domestic Violence Resource Center.

Tuition for the course is $5. Students must be 16 years of age to register. Registration will be limited to 25 students and will be taken on a first-come, first-serve basis. A second offering of this course will be considered if public interest warrants such an offering. For more information and registration, persons may call Patricia Baer, associate program director at GCC, at 334-8304, or 387-3069.

Keeping Your Savings Safe From Con Artists

In only a few minutes, an unscrupulous con artist or fast talking "financial advisor" can swindle an unsuspecting consumer out of a nest egg that took a lifetime to build. Unlike muggers and thieves, investment fraud artists don't take your money against your will, they persuade you to hand it over willingly.

Here's how one convicted con man describes the way he targeted senior citizens. "The key is to become friends with the victim first. I always talked to someone several times before ever asking for a sale. I asked them about their life, listened to their stories, kept them company, flattered them. 'Edie, you couldn't possibly be 75 years young. Why my wife is only 35 and you sound just like she does over the phone! Once they were my friends and trusted me, I could sell them until they ran out of money.'

You don't have to be rich to capture the attention of a con artist. Many of their prime targets are older consumers with little or no experience investing money.

Don't Be a Target

The most common way for swindlers to victimize investors is through unsolicited telephone calls. You can reduce the likelihood of falling victim by refusing to talk with unsolicited callers, no matter how honest and reputable they sound. Should you receive a call from someone you don't know, be very cautious and don't reveal any personal or financial information.

Salespersons who use high-pressure tactics to force you into making a decision on the spot are almost always pitching frauds. They're afraid you might figure out the scam if you think over the investment, consult with your family or seek a professional's advice. They may try to convince you that you'll lose a lot of money if you hesitate and don't "get in" right away.

Don't be pressured into making a quick decision. Use your own transportation to any meeting that's arranged, rather than depend upon the salespersons. That way you can leave whenever you want. Leave your checkbook and credit cards at home.

Swindlers often like to develop a false bond of friendship. They may offer gifts or unsolicited financial advice to gain your trust. Never feel pressured to invest out of courtesy. You're under no obligation to stay on the phone or remain at a meeting with promoters, no matter how much time and effort they've taken to persuade you to make an investment.

Suspicious Sales Pitches

Beware of any promoter whose investment presentation

♦Preys on fear. Con artists know senior citizens often worry about outliving their savings or experiencing a catastrophic event that could wipe out savings. They may say the investment is a way to build up so much savings you won't have to worry.

♦Promises great return on your investment at little or no risk. Remember, the higher the return, the greater the risk.

♦Involves the latest trend. Be skeptical of promises of instant profits, as in pyramid schemes, where you must enlist others. Other recent frauds involve investments in wireless cable or telecommunications licenses or stations, so-called "prime bank instruments," precious metals and mines, international deals, and gas and oil drilling ventures.

♦Pushes you to invest money in a plan you don't understand.

♦Offers testimonials you have no way to check out.

If You're Considering Investing
Get everything in writing, review it thoroughly, and make sure you understand all the risks. Walk away from any promoter who won't give you references and information in writing.

But just because the promoter has glossy, complicated looking brochures does not mean the operation is legitimate. To find out, you must check out the company. A financial expert not connected with the seller should look over the information, give an unbiased opinion and explain the investment to you.

Confirm that the promoter is registered and in good standing. The Maryland Securities Division (410-576-7784) maintains and has access to databases with this information. Many investment opportunities must be registered in Maryland before sale, and investment promoters must be licensed. The National Association of Securities Dealers (800-289-9999) can also provide information on brokers and financial advisers.

After You Invest

Stay in charge of your money. Be suspicious of any planner who says, "I'll take care of everything for you." Instead, insist on regular statements and monitor the activity on your account. Ask lots of questions about activity on your account that looks excessive or unauthorized. If the promoter makes excuses or stalls when you demand your money, you may be dealing with a swindler.

If you suspect something is amiss with your investment and cannot resolve your concerns, demand your money and call the Securities Division immediately. Don't let embarrassment or fear keep you from reporting fraud. The longer you wait, the harder it is for the authorities to track down a con artist.

Con artists understand the panic you'd feel after a financial loss. It's the ideal time for them to approach you again, promising a "sure" way to recover your lost money. Don't fall victim twice. For more information on avoiding investment fraud, write Securities Division, Attorney General's Office, 200 St. Paul Place, 20th floor, Baltimore, MD 21202.

Brought to you by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office and Seniors and Law Enforcement Together (SAL7).

Bill To Reorganize Agriculture Department Passes House

The House last week passed by voice vote a bill that will give the secretary of agriculture broad authority to reorganize the Agriculture Department and streamline its operations.

The bill, which closely mirrors a measure passed earlier by the Senate, will consolidate the department by reducing the number of agencies from 43 to 29 through merging and paring. The bill also authorizes the closing of 1,200 of the department's 3,700 field offices nationwide.

The combined field office closures and agency consolidations will help decrease the USDA work force by 7,500 staff years over the next five years, which will equate to an estimated $1 billion in budget savings.

Under the House version, farmer services such as federal crop insurance, the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service and Farmers Home Administration farm lending programs will be handled by a single new agency known as the Agricultural Service Agency. Backers of the bill said the new ASA will help to provide farmers with "one-stop" farm program service.

The House language guarantees that each county, regardless of USDA field office location, will have ASCS county committee-like representation. The new committees will be local producer-elected committees comprised of three to five persons and will replace current ASCS and FmHA committees. Farmers also must approve, through referendum, any attempts to merge county and area committees.

The House-passed measure directs the department to encourage greater diversity in the nominees for the local committees and directs the General Accounting Office to study whether minorities are "under represented" on producer committees, and if such under representation exists, whether it has led to unfair or inequitable program administration, according to the House Agriculture Committee.

The bill also includes a provision that will require the department to conduct a cost-benefit and risk-assessment analysis of proposed major regulations that could affect public health, public safety or the environment. The cost-benefit and risk-assessment amendment, originally offered in June by Rep. Gary Condit (D-Calif.), was a political sticking point in bringing the bill to the floor. Much of Condit's original language was included in the bill, but was softened somewhat by an amendment offered by House Agriculture Committee Chairman Kika de la Garza (D-Texas).

De la Garza's amendment establishes an Office of Environmental Risk Assessment to determine what impact proposed regulations will have.

In a move to separate food safety issues from marketing activities within the department, the bill calls for the creation of a new under-secretary's post to solely handle food safety issues. The new position could effectively quash future moves to take USDA out of the primary food safety role.

In order to finalize the legislation and send it to President Clinton for signature, House and Senate staff will iron out the details in both bills to avoid a time-consuming conference committee. If the bill were forced into conference, it is possible that Congress could adjourn without final action, in effect killing the measure. Farm Bureau will closely monitor the staff conference.

Corn Harvest Lagging Behind

For the week ending October 2, the average number of days suitable for fieldwork during the week was 5.1 days, according to the Maryland Agricultural Statistics Service. Across the state, topsoil moisture was 12 percent short, 76 percent adequate, and 12 percent surplus. Subsoil moisture was 6 percent short and 94 percent adequate.

Statewide, hay supplies were adequate with continued cutting of both alfalfa and other hay. Pastures improved to excellent condition due to recent rains. National 4-H Week celebrates the accomplishments of 4 H youth during the week of October 2-8. The theme for 1994, "4 H... more than you ever imagined" reflects the variety of 4 H programming and the diversity of the lives and backgrounds of 4 H youth throughout our country.

Diverse groups of youth from across our country participate in 4-H activities. Young people from ages 5 to 19 develop leadership, citizenship, and interpersonal skills in a wide variety of 4 H programs. Of the total number of youth in 4-H, 26 percent are from minority racial-ethnic groups. These diverse groups of youth participate in 4-H projects that fall within 4 major academic disciplines: biological sciences, social sciences, arts and humanities, physical sciences. Our greatest number of young participants are active in the biological sciences. The biological sciences have an enrollment of 50 percent of youth in 4-H projects.

House Panel Hears Testimony On Livestock And Poultry Issues

Farm Bureau told a House Agriculture panel that it does not support provisions of two animal welfare bills because the nation's livestock producers already provide quality care and living conditions for their animals.

The House Agriculture Subcommittee on Livestock heard testimony last week on four bills, one concerning downed animals (H.R. 559), a humane poultry slaughter bill (H.R. 649), an egg refrigeration bill (H.R. 4625) and a measure allowing the interstate shipment of state-inspected meat that meets or exceeds federal inspection requirements (H.R. 3646).

Farm Bureau opposes the "downer" bill and humane poultry slaughter bill and supports the other two. "Our opposition is based on the fact that legislation is unnecessary, is founded on misguided emotional perceptions, has detrimental effects on the livestock and poultry industries and would result in increased costs to American consumers," Farm Bureau said in a statement to members of the committee. "The livestock industry does not tolerate or defend mistreatment of farm animals. Good care is simply good business."

Farm Bureau told lawmakers that figures show more than 99.9 percent of all U.S. livestock marketed are healthy and in good condition. And although some accidents during transit result in injured or sick animals, the industry currently is involved in intensive efforts to educate handlers at all levels on the proper care of non-ambulatory animals.

On humane poultry slaughter requirements, Farm Bureau said the poultry industry is already committed to the most advanced science, technology and management methodology in the rearing, housing, feeding, transportation and slaughter of poultry.

"Improper handling during processing just does not make sense because stress and suffering at best cause a low quality food product and at worst the death of the animal," Farm Bureau said.

The farm organization supports initiatives to require refrigeration and labeling of eggs after packaging to ensure a safe egg supply and to reduce the possibility of a bacteria outbreak that could cause a public health problem.

Farm Bureau also supports the bill that would allow small and mid-sized meat packers and processors to ship meat across state lines, if their products meet state inspection requirements that are equal to federal standards.

"The current regulations impair small and mid-sized red meat packers and processors by not allowing them to compete" in a market that is dominated by the nation's major packers and processors, Farm Bureau said. "If, in the long run, small and mid-sized Cutting Alfalfa!

The frost we had last Tuesday morning should have put alfalfa to "sleep". Therefore, you can harvest without damaging the plants. I would suggest that you mow a little higher than normal. Leaving the extra length of stem protects the buds.

Managing Potatoes That Have Late Blight

Late blight was a serious problem this year in both potatoes and tomatoes. Late blight is caused by a fungus that can overwinter in the vines. If possible, I would suggest that you remove the vines from the area where the potatoes were grown. The tubers should be harvested when the soil is dry. Storing potatoes affected with the blight is difficult. Temperatures above 50 degree F. will allow the fungus to continue growing causing the potato to rot. If possible, you should store the potatoes around 38-40 degrees F. Try to keep the relative humidity low with good air circulation. My advice would be to have potatoes with every meal so you can use them up as fast as possible. Don't save seed from affected tubers. Make sure you have all of the potatoes out of the soil. Leaving diseased potatoes can cause problems next season.

Last Call For Listing In The Maryland Hay And Straw Directory

This Monday is the deadline for listing hay and straw in the sales directory published by the Maryland Department of Agriculture. If you are interested in the listing, call my office and my secretary will take the information (301-334-1990).

New Resource Conservation Chief Named At Maryland Dept. Of Ag

Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Lewis R. Riley has announced the appointment of Royden Nathan Powell, III as Assistant Secretary of Resource Conservation at the Maryland Department of Agriculture.

He replaces Rosemary Roswell who left the department in August to move to Wyoming. Powell has been with the department since 1992.

"Maryland's agricultural community is fortunate to have someone of Royden Powell's abilities working in the resource conservation area. He is a farmer himself and he understands the need to keep farming profitable while at the same time meeting environmental standards," Riley said.

Powell has a degree in Environmental Science and Natural Resource Management from the University of Virginia. From 1989 until 1992, he served as President of the Maryland Association of Soil Conservation Districts.

"I am looking forward to continuing my work of helping Maryland farmers to be leaders in resource management. I believe the Maryland Department of Agriculture needs to continue to be responsive to the technical and financial needs of implementing soil conservation and water quality plans and nutrient management plans in Maryland," Powell said.

Powell lives in Queen Anne's County along with his wife and son where he manages Emory Creek Farm, Inc.

Info Available For Domestic Violence Victims

The Garrett County Commission for Women (GCCW), under the leadership of Sue Sines, chairperson for the organization's education committee, recently developed and distributed information cards to city, county and state police officials who will, in turn, give the cards to victims of domestic violence. The cards contain information about services available to the victims, as required by a domestic violence bill that went into effect Oct. 1. Phyllis Trickett, chairperson of the GCCW, and Domestic Violence Sexual Assault Resource Center staff met with representatives from the area law enforcement agencies on Sept. 29 to distribute the information cards. Those present were Garrett County Sheriff Van Evans; 1st Sgt. Daniel F. Stanton, Maryland State Police; Barbara W. McHenry, Chief John Sines, Oakland City Police; Frances Callis, executive director of the Domestic Violence Sexual Assault Resource Center; James Sherbin, state's attorney; and Bill Ferry, county criminal investigator for the state's attorney's office.

HEALTH PROCLAMATIONS ISSUED - The Garrett County Board of Commissioners have proclaimed Oct. 2-8 to be Respiratory Care Week and October to be Breast and Cervical Cancer Awareness Month. Pictured above are Commissioner Brenda Butscher, health department Breast and Cervical Cancer Program Coordinator Carol Clark, Commissioner Elwood Groves, Pam Braskey of the health department's community outreach office, and Commissioner John Braskey. Pictured below, left to right, back row, are Garrett County respiratory health professionals Fred Callis, Dan Galtner, Eric Tribbey, Linda Nezelrod, Ernest Colaw, and Robert Lave. In the front row are Butscher, Groves (holding the respiratory care mascot stuffed bear,) and Braskey.

Respiratory Care Week Underway

The American Association for Respiratory Care (AARC) has announced that Respiratory Care Week is now underway, October 2-8. The theme for the week is "Respiratory Care Cares."

The AARC is the professional association for respiratory therapists and technicians and others involved in pulmonary and respiratory related fields. Respiratory care practitioners work with patients in hospitals, the home, and nursing homes.

"National Respiratory Care Week gives the AARC opportunity to increase awareness of the respiratory care profession and the importance of respiratory health," said Sam Giordano, the AARC's executive director. "This year we are focusing on all of the various roles that respiratory care practitioners play in helping people breathe easier."

The AARC has for many years been active in supporting programs and issues that deal with respiratory health promotion and disease prevention. The AARC was instrumental in the successful passage of recent legislation banning smoking on all national airline flights. In addition to the public health issues the AARC will focus on during the week, many respiratory care practitioners will use this opportunity to recognize and reflect on the work that respiratory care practitioners do across the country. Eric Tribbey, director of cardiopulmonary services at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, said that his department will commemorate the event by having it proclaimed by the Garrett County commissioners.

"I believe we need to make time for Respiratory Care Week. Often, we get so involved with day-to-day work that we lose contact with the significance of our efforts and what we represent. It's good to periodically step back to view the big picture and put our mission into perspective," said Tribbey.

At Garrett Memorial, respiratory care services are provided 24 hours per day, every day of the week, according to Tribbey. A multi-skilled staff of the hospital's cardiopulmonary department provides services that include cardiology, pulmonary function testing, electroencephalography (EEG), vascular flow testing, and mobile medical home oxygen, and simple off-premises diagnostic testing.

The AARC is a professional membership association for respiratory therapists and technicians. Respiratory care practitioners work under the direction of a physician and assist in the diagnosis, treatment, and management of patients with pulmonary disorders. The AARC provides educational programs for the respiratory care community and works to promote the art and science of the respiratory care profession.

MARYLAND'S GENERAL ELECTION VOTE FOR DAVE BEARD

I have always held the belief that community service is a responsibility shared by all. Having lived and raised a family in Garrett County for many years, I have tremendous respect for the volunteers who make our county a safer and richer place to live.

Volunteer firemen, rescue squad personnel, coaches, scout leaders and members of service organizations as well as the people who donate time and money to support community oriented associations, deserve much admiration and gratitude.

Since I am a civic-minded individual, I am proud of my own accomplishments and involvements in various community service, school and government oriented organizations and boards. For example, as an active member of the Oakland/Mt. Lake Park Lions Club, I was honored as "Lion of the Year" in 1991. As a charter member and staunch supporter of the Southern Garrett Athletic Association, I was named "Citizen of the Year" for 1987. I also have served on the Garrett County Board of Election Supervisors for several years, holding the office of president for the last four.

My continued involvement in the community has kept me in touch with the needs and goals of the people of Garrett County, and I believe if we all work together we can build a better future for all of us.

As your county commissioner your concerns will be my concerns.
